RESOLUTION No. L.S.-G.-2F-72/48.

Calcutta, the 14th June 1948.

Government are pleased to appoint a Committee consisting of Sri Bimal Comar Ghosh, M.L.A., Chairman, Mr. A. Zaman, Deputy Secretary, Local Self-Government Department and Sri S. C. Das Gupta, Director, Fire Service, West Bengal, to examine and report—

(i) Whether, having regard to the value of property saved or likely to be saved from fire risk, the expenses of having a West Bengal Fire Service is justified;

(ii) Whether there should be a unified service combining the Calcutta Fire Brigade and the West Bengal Fire Service, or whether the two should remain separate as now;

(iii) What should be the set-up in either case;

(iv) What provision should be made for the recruitment and training of Fire Service staff;

(v) What should be the scale of pay of different categories of officers; and

(vi) What are the financial implications of having a West Bengal Fire Service and the Expanded Calcutta Fire Brigade; on whom should the burden of expenditure fall and what special legislation is necessary to distribute this burden.

2. Sri S. C. Das Gupta will act as Secretary of the Committee.

3. The Committee is to submit its recommendations to Government within a month from the date of publication of this resolution in the Calcutta Gazette or as early thereafter as possible.

RESOLUTION No. Medl. 2942/4M-18/47.

Calcutta, the 23rd June 1948.

READ—

This department resolution No. 4M-20/45Medl., dated the 20th January 1947, constituting a Visiting Committee for the Medical College Group of Hospitals, Calcutta.

The Government of West Bengal are pleased to reconstitute the Committee as shown below:—

President.

Member, Board of Revenue, Bengal (ex-officio).

Secretary.

Secretary, Board of Revenue, Bengal (ex-officio).

Members.

(1) Dr. Bamandas Mookherjee, representative of the Indian Medical Association.
(2) Dr. A. D. Mukherjee, representative of the All-India Medical Licentiates' Association.
(3) Major Dabiruddin Ahmad.
(4) Mr. J. K. Biswas.
(5) Swami Dayananda, representative of the Ramkrishna Mission, Belur.
(6) Mr. D. J. Cohen.
(7) Srijut L. N. Birla.
(8) Dr. Mrs. Suborna Mitra.
(9) Mrs. Nilima Mukherjee.
(10) Mrs. M. C. H. Rustomjee.
(11) Lady Ranu Mookerjee.
(12) Mrs. S. C. Roy of Aryasthan Insurance.
(13) Mrs. J. N. Roy of Vagyakul.
(14) A lady member of the Committee of the Hospital Nurses' Institution (to be selected by the Committee).

The manner in which the Committee will discharge its duties is as follows:—

The members will not visit the hospitals individually; the Committee will form itself into groups of not less than three members, each group in turn will, according to a roster to be kept for the purpose, visit the hospital on a fixed day and at a fixed time in each month. In addition to these visits at fixed times the members will pay unexpected visits to the hospitals. Members while paying surprise visit should on arrival at the hospital immediately contact the Superintendent and in his absence his Deputy before entering the wards. If all the three members of the group are not present, the remaining members can go round without the absentee or absentees, as the case may be. The members constituting the group should inspect the internal arrangements and offer such suggestions regarding the administration of the institution as they think proper.

A visitors' book will be kept in the hospitals in which the recommendations of the Committee will be recorded. The Superintendent will note on the margin, the action taken on each recommendation with any other remarks or explanations that he may wish to offer. He will transmit a copy of the entries without delay to the Director of Health Services, West Bengal, for consideration. The Director of Health Services will take such further action as may seem necessary will bring to the notice of Government any matter which he thinks sufficiently important.

The Committee as a whole will meet at least once a quarter, review the report of the visiting groups and discuss the remedial measures adopted. The Superintendent of the Medical College Hospitals should attend the meetings of the Visiting Committee.

The Committee will send copies of the resolutions passed at their quarter meetings to the Secretary to the Government of West Bengal, Department of Medical and Public Health, and also to the Director of Health Services who will submit to Government a report of the action taken or proposed to be taken on the points raised in those resolutions.

The members will hold office, for three years or until the next reconstitution of the Committee. Any member who fails to visit the hospitals during three successive months without sufficient reason will automatically cease to be a member, and Government will appoint a new member in his or her place. Visitors' book should be submitted by the Superintendent to Government once every quarter for noting the names of habitual absentees.

By order of the Governor,
A. C. CHATTERJI,
Secretary to the Government of West Bengal.

month. The following table will show the basic wages demanded by the Union and the existing rates of pay of the monthly and daily-rated workers:—

Serial No.	Particulars of work.	Basic wage demanded by the Union.	Existing rate of wages.	Existing rate of dearness allowance.
		Rs	Rs.	Rs.
1.	Body machine ..	65	55	16
4.	Calender	46	36	16
5.	Cooly	40	30	16
15 & 17.	Rib-cutting, also called Ribetter.	40	30	16
16	Stamper . ..	40	30	16
18.	Boile-man	65	38	16
19.	Machineman, Card Board Department.	45	35	..
20.	Worker in Card Board Department.	40	20	..
	(These are all monthly-rated people.)
		Rs.
2.	Winding	45	At Re. 1-5-6 per day (works up to Rs. 34-15 per month).	At 14½ pies per hour (works up to Rs. 16 per month of 26 working days of 8 hours each)
3.	Dyeing ..	42	At Re 1-3-8½ per day (works up to Rs. 32 per month).	Ditto.
	(These are the only daily-rated workers in existence The system is to be abolished as set out above.)
		Rs.
6	Body-cutting .	80	.
7.	Shoulder .	75	..	..
8.	Down	80	..	..
9.	Neck cutting	75	..	..
10.	Chain .. .	80	..	..
11.	Overlock .. .	80	..	..
12.	Thread cutting .	40	..	..
13.	Mending	75	..	..
14.	Finishing	75	..	..

(These are all the piece-rated workers.)

As the daily-rated workers also have to be absorbed in the monthly-rated staff the monthly wages of the people doing the work of winding (serial No. 2) is fixed at Rs. 35 and the same of the people doing the dyeing work (serial No. 3) at Rs. 32. It will appear that with the exception of the boiler-man (serial No. 18) and the worker in the Card Board Department (serial No. 20), the Union claims the minimum wages for the time-rated workers at a figure arrived at adding Rs. 10 to the existing monthly rates. No materials have been placed before me why the monthly wages of these categories (other than serial Nos. 18 and 20) should be altered. As regards boiler-man, however, I should note that the rate of his pay, viz., Rs. 38, is inadequate in consideration of the work he has to do. His pay should be increased to Rs. 45. Regarding worker in the Card Board Department (serial No. 20) it is said that there are only 5 or 6 boys there and they have to work not more than 5 or 6 hours a day. So it was contended on behalf of the management that their pay at Rs. 20 per month is adequate. I am unable to be at one with this view and having regard to the recommendation of the Pay Commission and the accepted principle that every one must have a living wage, if of course the Company has capacity to pay, I consider that the minimum basic wage of these workers also should be Rs. 30. It is no excuse to say that they have to work for 5 or 6 hours only in justification of the existing rate of Rs. 20.

It will appear that dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 16 per month is allowed to all the time-raters excepting the machineman and the worker in the Card Board Department. These two categories also should not be deprived of dearness allowance. The workers doing the work of body machine and getting a pay of Rs. 55 per month should get Rs. 35 per month as dearness allowance. The other time-rate workers should get Rs. 30 each as dearness allowance per month.

This award regarding basic pay and dearness allowance should come into force from the 26th April 1948, the date of the order of reference.

Issue No. 4.

The demand of the Union in regard to leave and holidays is as follows:—

A—1 month's privilege leave with full pay.
B—15 days' festival holidays with full pay.
C—15 days' casual leave with full pay.
D—15 days' sick leave with full pay and 2 months with half pay.

The Company grants 10 days' statutory annual leave to all workers and in addition grants about 20 days' festival leave with pay to all time-rate workers.

It appears from the list of holidays supplied by the management at the time of hearing that in 1946 the workers were allowed holidays for 11½ days and in 1947 for 15½ days only.

I consider that it will be fair and consistent with the leave conditions prevailing in different industries in this province to grant 15 days' privilege leave on full pay to the workers. The time-rated workers should be allowed 20 days' leave in addition which should include festival leave as also casual leave during any particular year. In addition the time-rated workers will be entitled to 15 days' sick leave on full pay on production of medical certificate.

Issue No. 5.

The Union wants introduction of Contributory Provident Fund system by contribution at the rate of 6¼ per cent. of the pay by the worker and a like amount by the employer. The Company resists this demand on the allegation that such system is not in vogue in any of the units of the hosiery industry.

It is only fair that some sort of retiring benefits should be given to a worker and the purpose will be served if the Provident Fund system be introduced. The workers and the Company will therefore each pay 1 anna in the rupee monthly as contribution to the Provident Fund. The Company should incorporate in the service rules a provision that in the case of workers in the employment of the Company before the introduction of the Provident Fund the sum due on retirement will be made up to the sum which the workers would have received had the Provident Fund been in existence during the whole of their service, subject to certain deductions to be made by the employers from their full contribution at a sliding scale. The employer's contribution is to be on a sliding scale whereby after certain number of years the Company covers the worker's contribution by contributing the same amount, but covers only a portion of that contribution for short periods of service. The Company will not cover the whole contribution unti a worker has served for 25 years. Deductions by the employers from their full contribution shal be at the following rates:—

Less than 3 years—100 per cent.
Less than 6 years—50 per cent.
Less than 9 years—25 per cent.
Over 9 years—Nil.

It will thus appear that the employer's contribution is fully covered by the Company at 10 years' service.

Gratuity was also demanded on behalf of the workers. It was claimed that one month's pay for each year of service in the Company should be paid to a worker at retirement or to his heirs in the event of his death, as gratuity. In view of the introduction of Provident Fund system there is no need to provide for any gratuity scheme in addition. Provident Fund system should be introduced immediately on publication of the award.

Issue No. 6.

The Union claims 6 months' wages as compensatory bonus for the last year and 3 months' wages as yearly bonus.

Though in the written statement of the Company it was said that in the past bonus had been paid at the rate of 15 days' pay, at the time of hearing it was said that as a matter of fact 21 days' wages have been paid annually as bonus in the past.

It was admitted in paragraph 4 of the Company's written statement that after the War the Mill was to a certain extent in a prosperous condition owing to the elimination of foreign competition and also to its advantages in securing controlled goods. It was however alleged that after the decontrol of cotton goods the Mill is faced with serious competition. Taking everything into consideration I consider that the Company should pay one month's wages as yearly bonus.

Issue No. 7.

It is claimed on behalf of the workers that they should be provided with housing accommodation or should be paid in lieu thereof a house rent equivalent to 15 per cent. of the pay subject to a minimum of Rs. 15.

The Company's position is that it is not in a position to undertake housing accommodation for the workers. With respect to the demand for house rent it is pointed out that it is linked up with the question of wage, in assessing which it has taken into account the basic necessities of life such as food, clothings, housing, etc.

Difficulties in collecting building materials in these times are too well known to be recounted. Housing is a matter regarding which some responsibility rests with other authorities than the employers alone, and the entire responsibility of making provision for housing cannot be laid at the employers. Besides the workers are generally selected from people living in or near the place of the industry and they being mostly local people live in quarters of their own. Besides in view of the other advantages that the workers are getting under this award and substantial increase in the dearness allowance I do not consider that any provision regarding housing or house allowance in favour of the workers need be made.

Issue No. 8.

For the workers it is contended that one medical man with a dispensary should be arranged to attend to the workers and their family members and free medicine should be supplied from this dispensary.

The Company has made some arrangement for first aid and this in its opinion is sufficient. On hearing the parties I am satisfied that the first aid arrangement made by the Company is not at all adequate. It should arrange for free medical advice and medicines for its workers by employment of a part-time doctor and arrange for a dispensary. This should be done immediately on the publication of the award.

Issue No. 9.

On behalf of the workers it is claimed that working hours should be 40 in a week.

In this matter the Company is governed by the Factories Act and follows its provision. Maximum number of working hours has been fixed by legislation and I do not think that in this case there is any need for prescribing anything regarding working hours.

Issue No. 10.

It relates to welfare schemes on the heads of educational facilities and co-operative society.

The claim for establishment of co-operative society is not an industrial dispute at all. Co-operative movement depends upon self-help, and if the workers like to have any co-operative society they are free to start it without any aid from the management.

As for educational facilities the Union wants the Company to start a free primary school for the children of the workers. It would be too much to ask the Company to undertake the duty of educating the children of the workers or to establish a school considering the fact that the factory is not very large having in its employ 80 to 100 workers only. This is a duty of the society at large and not of the employer alone. I, therefore, decline to decide this issue in favour of the employees.

Issue No. 11.

The Union demands that a general board of employer and employees should be immediately formed with an equal number of representatives. The demand is very cryptic. What the Union really wants is the formation of some Works Committee. This is a matter which rests with the Labour Commissioner and I do not think that any direction of the Tribunal is necessary in this behalf.

Issue No. 12.

The demand of the Union is that it should be recognised.

The question of recognition of a Union does not strictly come within the definition of industrial dispute in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act and thus the question cannot be adjudicated by a Tribunal under the Act. Special procedure has been laid down in the Amended Trade Union's Act for the purpose and that machinery is open to the Union for agitating the question of its recognition. The workers, therefore, will have to settle the question by negotiation with the employers or wait for its decision in a proper proceeding under the Amended Trade Union's Act.

ORDER.

No. 2055Lab.—22nd June 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No. 960-Lab., dated the 30th March 1948, the Industrial Dispute between the Curex Laboratories (India), Ltd., Head Office, 34, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, Laboratory, 204/1, Russa Road, South Tollygunj, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Chemical Industries Mazdoor Union, 17B, Ekdalia Place, Ballygunj, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S.;

And whereas the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the 1st June 1948.

ANNEXURE.

PRESENT: Sri S. K. SEN, I.C.S.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Curex Laboratories (India), Ltd., and their workmen represented by Chemical Industries Mazdoor Union.

For the Company: Sri S. C. SEN, Advocate.

For the Union: Sri Sushil Guha, President.

By Government of West Bengal, Order No. 960-Lab., dated 30th March 1948, an industrial dispute between the Curex Laboratories (India), Ltd., and their workmen represented by the Chemical Industries Mazdoor Union was referred to me for adjudication. The parties appeared before this tribunal in due course and filed their written statements. On perusing the written statements and after hearing the parties, the following issues were framed:—

Issues.

1. Was there any agreement between the employers and the workers' representatives on 19th March 1948? If so, can the Chemical Industries Mazdoor Union represent the workers in the present dispute and agitate the demands presented?

2. Recognition of the Union.

3. Minimum basic pay and scales of pay for various categories of workers.

4. Fitting the workers into the new scales of pay.

5. Dearness allowance.

6. Annual general bonus.

7. Privilege leave, casual leave, sick leave and festival holidays.

8. Medical facilities.

9. Free tiffin and cheap canteen and supply of rations.

10. Free quarters or house rent allowance—

(a) Improvement of existing quarters.

11. Conditions of service—

(a) Period of probation.

(b) Dismissal, discharge.

(c) Standing Orders.

12. Retiring benefits, Provident Fund and Gratuity.

13. Supply of aprons or overalls to acid workers.

DECISION.

Issue No. 1.

The Company urges that there was an agreement between the employers and the workers' representatives on 11th March 1948 (not 19th March 1948 as stated in the written statement of the Company and in the issue) and that therefore in view of section 19, sub-section (2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, the settlement remains binding and therefore the Chemical Industries Mazdoor Union cannot agitate the demands presented. The Union, however, does not admit that there was any settlement within the meaning of section 19 of the Act. The Union's version is given in the Union's written statement. The Union says that the Union and the Company were invited by the Labour Commissioner for a joint discussion towards the end of January 1948, but no agreement could be arrived at; and the Assistant Labour Commissioner Sri K. K. Mitra, who was in charge of the case, advised the parties to have a mutual discussion and to report the result to him; but though there was a mutual discussion on 3rd February 1948, there was no compromise and the matter was reported to the Labour Commissioner on 6th February 1948. The Labour Commissioner then fixed another date, 24th February 1948, for another joint discussion, but on that date the Company did not turn up, and then the Labour Commissioner referred the matter to Government for appointment of a Tribunal. The Company's case is that though there was no settlement before the Assistant Labour Commissioner, two of the representatives of the employees, viz., Haradhan Jasu and K. B. Samanta, met the employer privately on 11th March 1948 and then an agreement was reached and signed by the parties and this matter was communicated to the Assistant Labour Commissioner. The original agreement signed by the parties has been produced before me. On behalf of the Union, it is urged that though the proprietor induced the two representatives to come to certain agreement and sign the agreement on 11th March 1948, the representatives themselves repudiated the agreement by a subsequent letter, and that the other employees did not consider themselves bound by the settlement. Section 12, sub-section (3) of the Industrial Disputes Act, provides that if a settlement is made before a Conciliation Officer, the officer should send a report to the appropriate Government with a memorandum of the Settlement. Section 19, sub-sections (1) and (2), operate only when there is such settlement in the course of a conciliation proceeding before the Conciliation Officer. In the present case, however, no report under section 12, sub-section (3), was made to the Government by the Conciliation Officer or the Assistant Labour Commissioner. On the other hand, it is found on reference to the Assistant Labour Commissioner's file in connection with the case that he sent a report under section 12, sub-section (4), which provides that if no such settlement is arrived at between the parties, the Conciliation Officer shall submit to the Government a full report together with the reasons why the settlement could not be arrived at. The Assistant Labour Commissioner actually sent such a report and recommended the appointment of a Tribunal and the Government referred the matter to the Tribunal by an Order, dated 30th March 1948. Thus I hold that section 19, sub-sections (1) and (2) have no application in this case, and that therefore though there was an agreement between the employer and the two representatives of the employees on 11th March 1948, it was not a settlement, which would bar the Chemical Industries Mazdoor Union from representing the workers in the present dispute and agitating the demands presented.

Issue No. 2.

The second issue relates to the question of recognition of the Union. The employer contends that the Union is not a representative Union and that the majority of the employees are not members of the Union. The Union, on the other hand, contends that the employer is using coercion to induce the employees not to join the Union. There may be some truth in the contention of the Union, because one term of the agreement, dated 11th March 1948, was that the employees would not join any Union. It is not possible, therefore, that there should be recognition of the Union by mutual agreement. That being so, the question of recognition of the Union must be left to the Labour Court which is expected to be established shortly under the amended Trade Unions Act; and so far as this Tribunal is concerned, this issue is left open.

Issues Nos. 3, 4 and 5.—Minimum basic pay, scales of pay, fitting the workers into the new scales of pay and dearness allowance.

These three issues are taken up together as they are closely inter-related. The Company is a very small Company making some medicines and chemicals. The capital is Rs. 33,000 only and the total number of employees including the Manager is 22 only. The Company has filed a complete statement showing the names of the employees, dates of their appointment and the present salary. The scales of salary which include dearness allowance must be regarded as very low. There is one boy drawing Rs. 14 per month only; he was paid Rs. 12 before the agreement of 11th March 1948 under which the employer agreed to increase the pay of the people drawing below Rs. 30 by Rs. 2 and of the people drawing above Rs. 30 by Rs. 3 per month. The Manager is paid Rs. 125 and the Chemist on whom the Laboratory mainly depends is paid Rs. 153. The Assistant Chemist is paid Rs. 68. The clerical staff and other Assistants like Chemical Boiler, Packing-in-charge and Store-keeper are paid Rs. 53 per month.

The pay scales must be considered as inadequate in view of the high cost of living at the present time. The Union has demanded that the minimum basic pay must be raised to Rs. 30, that the pay of all the employees drawing above the minimum must be increased by Rs. 15 per month, and further that dearness allowance at the flat rate of Rs. 25 per month must be given. It cannot be said that the demands are unreasonable in view of the level of the cost of living at the present time. I have already mentioned, however that the Company is a very small company with a capital of Rs. 33,000 only. Further it was converted into a public limited Company only two years back and in these two years it incurred losses. The loss came to Rs. 955-4 in 1947 and Rs. 1,017-13-6 in 1946. It has been urged, therefore, on behalf of the Company that if the pay scales are enhanced as demanded, the Company would be forced to close down. In view of the circumstances of the Company, it is impossible that the demand of the Union should be granted in full. On the other hand, the pay scales now in existence are so inadequate that they cannot be maintained. Accordingly, I direct that the following minimum basic pay and scales of pay be introduced for the various categories:—

Boys.

Basic pay Rs. 15 in the scale, Rs. 15—1—20, plus dearness allowance of Rs. 15.

1. Dewa Nath Khan (Abdul).
2. Niranjon Naskar.
3. Ajit Chandra Das.
4. Golam Hossain.

Bottle Washers and Packers.

Basic pay Rs. 25 in the scale, Rs. 25—1—30, plus dearness allowance of Rs. 20.

5. Raghunandan Lall.
6. Soloman Khan.
7. Jamil Khan.
8. Ejahar Mollah.
9. Abdul Samad Naskar.
10. Rahman Ali.
11. Haridas Gowala.

Durwan: Odd-job man.

Basic pay Rs. 30 in the scale, Rs. 30- 1—35, plus dearness allowance of Rs. 20.

12. Tej Bahadur.
13. Janak Mahato.

Tablet Maker: Despatch Clerk: Assistant Store-keeper.

Basic pay Rs. 40 in the scale, Rs. 40—2—60, plus dearness allowance of Rs. 25.

14. Pratul Chandra Dey or his substitute.
15. Bejoy Kumar Mondal.
16. Jogesh Chandra Sarkar.

Store-keeper: Head of Packing Department: Chemical Boiler.

Basic pay Rs. 50, in the scale, Rs. 50—2—70, plus dearness allowance of Rs. 25.

17. Sisir Kumar Chakravorty.
18. Ram Kinkar Bannerjee.
19. Sitanath Naskar.

Assistant Chemist.

Basic pay Rs. 70, plus dearness allowance of Rs. 25.

20. Haradhan Jasu.

Chemist.

Basic pay Rs. 150, plus dearness allowance of Rs. 25.

21. Anil Chandra Chatterjee.

Manager.

Basic pay Rs. 125, plus dearness allowance of Rs. 25.

22. Tulsi Charan Sarkar.

In the case of the Manager, Chemist and Assistant Chemist, I am fixing only the minimum pay, but not the grade. Success of the Company depends largely on the work of these three men and if these three men, by their labour, can make the Company successful, the proprietor will, no doubt, give them an adequate increase of pay, but in view of the present position of the Company, the Company would be unable to bear the burden of the enhanced pay for these officers.

In the case of the employees other than the Manager, the Chemist and the Assistant Chemist, they will be put at the appropriate stage of the time-scale proposed in accordance with the length of their service.

Issue No. 6.—Annual general bonus.

The Company has not paid any annual general bonus in course of the two years of its existence. It paid puja bonus of half a month's pay in October 1947. But that was an ex-gratia payment, made because the wage structure was very low. That cannot be made a basis for demanding an annual general bonus. In view of the bad financial condition of the Company, the claim for annual general bonus is rejected.

Issue No. 7.—Privilege leave, casual leave, sick leave and festival holidays.

The Union demands that there should be privilege leave on full pay for one month, that there should be casual leave on full pay for 15 days; that there should be festival leave on all gazetted holidays; that there should be 15 days' sick leave on full pay and 15 days' sick leave on half pay in a year. The reply of the Company is that the Company grants 16 holidays in a year, besides Sundays, on full pay (as all the employees are on a monthly basis) and that it cannot afford further holidays. In view of the fact that the Company is a small Company, the demand for holidays on the scale that the Union has demanded, cannot be entertained. I direct that henceforth leave and holidays will be granted at the following scale:—

Privilege leave—15 days in a year on full pay.

Sick leave—15 days in a year with half pay.

Casual leave—7 days in a year with full pay.

Festival holidays—8 days in a year with full pay, the days being fixed by agreement between the employer and the employees.

The number of festival holidays is fixed at 8, because it is necessary that the number of working days in the laboratory should be increased. Eight days in a year is also given in some of the big Companies and this Company should also follow the same standard.

Issue No. 8.—Medical facilities.

The Union demands that a qualified doctor should be in attendance during the working hours, and that free medical aid and free medicine should be supplied to the workers. In view of the present position of the Company, the demand is excessive. Moreover, as only 22 employees are engaged including the Manager, there is no case for a whole-time or even part-time doctor. Only a first-aid box with necessary equipment should be kept in the workshop and should be available during working hours.

Issue No. 9.—Free tiffin, cheap canteen and supply of rations.

These demands are rejected in view of the small size of the workshop.

Issue No. 10.—Free quarters or house rent allowance: (a) Improvement of existing quarters.

The workshop is situated within Tollygunge Municipality outside the Calcutta Corporation. Therefore, the demand for a house rent allowance in addition to pay and dearness allowance is unreasonable, for the Central Pay Commission contemplates a house rent allowance for the Calcutta Corporation area and not for smaller Municipal towns. Apart from this question, the Company is unable to bear the burden on account of house rent. As to the demand for improvement of the existing quarters, it is said that the proprietor owns a bustee where 4 or 5 workers are housed on payment of rent. It is stated on behalf of the Company no worker lives in the bustee. Accordingly the question of improving the bustee does not arise.

Issue No. 11.—Conditions of Service: (a) Period of probation, (b) Dismissal, discharge, (c) Standing Orders.

As the Company is a very small Company, it is not necessary that elaborate rules should be made regarding service conditions. The Standing Orders Act applies only to factories having 100 or more workmen. Thus under the law, this Company is not required to have Standing Orders. I, however, recommend that some few rules to be framed regarding the conditions of service. In the case of dismissal of any worker, the charges should be given to him in writing and the employee should have the chance of answering the charges, before disciplinary action is taken against him. The period of probation should be fixed at 6 months.

Issue No. 12.—Retiring benefits, Provident Fund, Gratuity.

The Union urges that there should be a contributory Provident Fund and that the employer should also undertake to pay gratuity. As the Company is a small Company, employing 21 or 22 workers, it is not possible for the Company to maintain a separate Contributory Provident Fund and the accounts for such a fund. It is also unnecessary that any rule as to gratuity should be framed at present, because in the normal course, it will not be necessary for any employee to retire within the next 12 months. Further it is expected that the Government will come up with the scheme for old age and unemployment benefit. If, however, no such scheme is made in the near future and the finances of the Company improve, gratuity rules may be made by a future Tribunal.

Issue No. 13.—Supply of aprons or overalls to acid workers.

The only people who handle acids are the Chemist and the Assistant Chemist and the Chemical Boiler. I am told by the Company's representative that the Chemist and the Assistant Chemist are supplied with aprons and the Chemical Boiler is supplied with short and half shirt. Accordingly, it is unnecessary that any direction should be given for supply of aprons to acid workers.

Accordingly the following award is made:—

(I) The minimum basic pay and scales of pay for the various categories of workers are fixed as follows:—

Manager—Rs. 125, plus dearness allowance Rs. 25.

Chemist—Rs. 150 plus dearness allowance Rs. 25.

Assistant Chemist—Rs. 70 plus dearness allowance Rs. 25.

Store-Keeper, Head of the Packing Department, Chemical Boiler—Rs. 50 in the grade, Rs. 50—2—70, plus dearness allowance Rs. 25.

Tablet Maker, Despatch clerk, Assistant Storekeeper—Rs. 40 in the scale, Rs 40—2—60, plus dearness allowance Rs. 25.

Durwan and Odd-job man—Rs. 30, in the scale, Rs. 30—1—35, plus dearness allowance Rs. 20.

Bottle Washers and Packers—Rs. 25, in the scale, Rs. 25—1—30, plus dearness allowance Rs. 20.

Boys—Rs. 15, in the scale, Rs. 15—1—20, plus dearness allowance Rs. 25.

(II). The workers should be put at the appropriate stage of the time-scale proposed according to their length of service.

(III) The Company should grant the following leave and holidays to the workers:—

Privilege leave with full pay—15 days.

Casual leave with full pay—7 days.

Sick leave with half pay—15 days.

Festival leave with full pay—8 days in a year.

(IV) The Company should make some rules regarding conditions of service. The period of probation should be 6 months. In case of misconduct, a written charge-sheet should be supplied to the employee concerned and he should have the chance of meeting the charges, before disciplinary action is taken against him.

(VI) The claims for bonus, free tiffin, cheap canteen, supply of rations, free quarters and house rent allowance, retiring benefits and supply of aprons, are rejected.

(VII) The claim for medical facilities is also rejected, but the Company must maintain a fully equipped first-aid box in charge of a responsible person within the laboratory.

This award will come into force from 1st June 1948 or any other date that may be fixed by the Government.

The 2nd June, 1948.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 2068Lab.—23rd June 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No. 135Lab., dated the 17th January 1948, the industrial disputes that had arisen or were apprehended between the employers of mercantile firms and their associate firms specified in column 1 in the two lists Nos. 1 and 2 annexed to the said order, and their clerical and all subordinate staff in their offices as represented by some trade unions mentioned against firms in column 2 of the lists aforementioned, and others represented by such other registered trade unions as might have been permitted by the Industrial Tribunal hereinafter mentioned to be represented individually for legitimate reasons, were referred for adjudication to a tribunal constituted by Sri Ashutosh Das Gupta, Additional District Judge, as Chairman and Sri Sailesh Chandra Chakravarty and Sri Sudhir Chandra Dutta Gupta, Additional District Judges, as Members;

And whereas the said Tribunal has given the award in respect of the industrial dispute between the Bata Shoe Co., Ltd., one of the said firms being item No. 169 of list No. 1 appended to the said order and their employees as represented by Bata Shop Employees' Union, Bata Shop Mazdur Union, Indoxco Workers' Union and Bata Workers' Union, as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Tribunal shall bind the firm aforesaid and their employees as specified therein.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of industrial disputes between 267 mercantile firms of Calcutta and their employees referred for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No. 135Lab., dated the 17th January 1948, to a Tribunal constituted of Sri Ashutosh Dasgupta, Sri Sailesh Chandra Chakravarty and Sri Sudhir Chandra Dutta Gupta, and in the matter of Bata Shoe Company, Limited, Batanagar, 24-Parganas (serial No. 169 of List No. 1) and Bata Mazdoor Union, 18, Mirzapur Street, Calcutta.

AWARD.

Pursuant to the provisions 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, Government of West Bengal constituted the Tribunal with ourselves, Sri Ashutosh Dasgupta as Chairman, and Sri Sailesh Chandra Chakravarty and Sri Sudhir Chandra Dutta Gupta as Members to adjudicate upon disputes between 267 mercantile firms of Calcutta and their employees. The names of the firms have been mentioned in two lists appended to the Government order. The Bata Shoe Co., Ltd., is serial No. 169 of the first list and for the sake of convenience it is proposed to maintain throughout the serial numbers given in the list appended to the Government order. In column 1 of the list against serial No. 169 of list No. 1 appears the name of the firm, and in column 2 the names of as many as 4 Unions representing the employees of the firm have been stated, but none of these Unions appeared before this Tribunal. The Federation of Mercantile Employees' Union appeared on behalf of the Bata Mazdoor Union on an authority signed by Sri Tejen Bose, Secretary of the said Union. The Federation of Mercantile Employees' Union appeared for Unions and the employees of several other firms and filed a common charter of demands for all the Unions, which the Federation represented. Only in a very few cases special demands were made. Subsequently, on 27th May 1948 the said Sri Tejen Bose wrote to this Tribunal stating that the members of his Union have no dispute against the firm and withdrawing the authority in favour of the Federation of Mercantile Employees' Union. A date was fixed for hearing the Federation of Mercantile Employees' Union and Sri Jitendra Nath Banarji, Secretary of the Federation, was informed of the letter of the Secretary of the Bata Mazdoor Union personally by the Chairman of the Tribunal on 28th May 1948. No one turned up for the Federation to say anything against the letter of the Secretary of the Bata Mazdoor Union, dated 27th May 1948. The result is that the Bata Mazdoor Union having withdrawn its authority which it had given to the Federation of Mercantile Employees' Union, the Federation of Mercantile Employees' Union can no longer represent the Bata Mazdoor Union and the charter of demands filed by the Federation of Mercantile Employees' Union can no longer be regarded as one for the Bata Mazdoor Union. The result is that there is no demand of the Bata Mazdoor Union on record. We accordingly give our award that the existing terms and conditions of service will continue.

ORDER.

No. 2071Lab. — 23rd June 1948. —Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No. 1496Lab., dated the 11th May 1948, the industrial dispute between the Management of Messrs. Cooke & Kelvey, Ltd., 20, Old Court House Street, Calcutta, and their employees represented by the Federation of Mercantile Employees' Unions, 102-B, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, in connection with the case of Mr. Henry N. Das, one of the employees, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. C. Datta Gupta, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri S. C. Datta Gupta, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri S. C. Datta Gupta, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company aforesaid and their employees as specified therein.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Management of Messrs. Cooke and Kelvey, Ltd., 20, Old Court House Street, Calcutta, and their employees represented by the Federation of Mercantile Employees' Union, 102-B, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

Sri S. C. DATTA GUPTA, Tribunal.

For the Union: Sri Jitendra Nath Banerjee, General Secretary of the Federation of Mercantile Employees' Union.

For the Company: Sri S. C. Mitter, Solicitor.

AWARD.

This industrial dispute between Messrs. Cooke & Kelvey, Ltd., and their employees was referred to me for adjudication by the Order No. 1496Lab., dated the 11th May 1948, of the Commerce, Labour and Industries Department (Labour) under the Government of West Bengal. The parties filed their written statement and the following issue was raised for decision: —

> Is Mr. Henry N. Das entitled to any old age amenity in the form of either pension or gratuity? If so, how much?

The firm of Cooke & Kelvey was owned by one Mr. Dicks and one Mr. Binns. One Mr. Kishori Lal Khemka entered into an agreement with Messrs. Dicks and Binns for the purchase of the stock in trade, goodwill and other assets of the firm. The contract between the parties provided for the sale to Mr. Kishori Lal Khemka and/or his nominee or nominees. The Company was incorporated as a Public Liability Company under the Indian Companies Act on or about the 27th day of March 1947, the object being amongst others to take over the said business carried on under the name and style of Cooke & Kelvey and the business has in fact been taken over by the Company as from the 1st day of November 1946. The Company is now a limited concern.

Mr. Henry N. Das was an employee of the old concern Cooke & Kelvey. On the 5th March 1948 Mr. J. C. Lindsay, Assistant Manager, on behalf of Cooke & Kelvey, Ltd., addressed a letter to him terminating his services with effect from the 1st April 1948. By this letter which was in the form of a notice Mr. Henry N. Das was given the option to take one month's pay in view of the notice. The reasons for the termination of his services as given in the letter were that he had to be warned about his carelessness, typing mistakes, wrong filing, etc., almost daily, and that even after these warnings he failed to improve himself. On behalf of the Federation it has been urged that Mr. Das had served the said Company for 31 years and that he is at present about 60 years old and has got six children of whom two are still school-going. On the ground of these circumstances a prayer was made on his behalf that some provision in the nature of old age amenity in the form of either pension or gratuity should be made by the new Company. The position of the new Company is that it is not aware of the length and quality of service of Mr. Das under the old firm. He is an old man by appearance and it appears from the letter No. LC/2/5/48, dated the 13th March 1948, from the General Secretary, Federation of Mercantile Employees' Union, to the Labour Commissioner to the Government of West Bengal that on 15th April 1947 Mr. C. A. Binns, one of the partners of the old firm, appreciated the services of Mr. Das in the following terms: —

> "I have no hesitation in recommending his services as a typist of no mean skill and speed. The length of his service, uninterrupted all these years, is no mean testimonial and is a record of which any man can be proud. He has a fair knowledge of stenography too, which is useful at a pinch.........".

There is no doubt therefore that Mr. Das was in the employ of the old firm for a very long time and his old masters were satisfied with his work. It is possible that with the advancing years he had passed his best and the quality of his work deteriorated with the result that the termination of his services was found necessary by the new Company. He does not however claim any reinstatement. All that he wants is that some sort of old age amenity either as pension or as gratuity should be provided for him.

At the time of hearing it was pointed out by the Solicitor appearing for the Company that the retired partners did make some arrangement for their employees in the shape of a gratuity or otherwise by depositing certain amounts with their Solicitor. The new Company however was not aware of the details of that fund. The Federation also does not know anything about it.

It is to be noticed that there was no system of paying any gratuity or pension to the employees by the old firm. As regards pension, it is obvious that this claim should have been raised and settled by the old Company. Undoubtedly it would be very hard for the new Company to have to pay a man any pension after he has worked for a little over one year only under it. The question of grant of any pension to the employees in these circumstances cannot be entertained.

On behalf of the Federation it was urged that the services of none of the old employees were terminated by the Management of the new Company when it took over the business. It was urged that no fresh letter of appointment was given to the employees when the new Company took over the business from the 1st of November 1946 and so it was contended by Mr. Banerjee that the service of the employees and for the matter of that the services of Mr. Das must be regarded as continuous service. The legal position however is different. Legally with the change of employers there must be a break in the continuity of the service of the employee. The employees therefore are not entitled to ask their past services to be counted for the purpose of gratuity. It must be taken that their services under the new Company commenced from the 1st of November 1946. That being so gratuity cannot be reasonably claimed by any of the employees of the new Company from its Management. Gratuity is a free gift. Ordinarily payment of gratuity to an employee who has put in about 15 years of service is recognised in commercial houses. As Mr. Das had put in barely a little over one year's service under the new Company, I do not feel I shall be justified in directing it to pay him any amenity in the shape of gratuity, though in view of his total length of service it will be very hard for him. There is however no getting over the legal difficulty and the Tribunals in my view will remain powerless in such matters before any change in the law by legislature is made. Thus I give my award by deciding the issue against the employees.

S. C DATTA GUPTA,
Tribunal.

The 12th June 1948

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P MUKHERJEE, Jt , Secy.

ORDER.

No. 2078Lab.—24th June 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No 949-Lab., dated the 30th March 1948, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Adeco, Limited, 29-3A, Chetla Central Road, Alipore, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Adeco Karmi Samity, 28/6, Nakuleswar Bhattacharyya Lane, Kalighat. Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri N C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri N. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri N C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of this order

ANNEXURE.

Award.

This industrial dispute between Messrs. Adeco, Limited, 29-3A. Chetla Central Road, Alipore, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Adeco Karmi Samity, 28/6, Nakuleswar Bhattacharyya Lane, Kalighat, Calcutta, has been, by Government Order No. 949Lab., dated the 30th March 1948, referred to me as the Tribunal for adjudication under the Industrial Disputes Act.

2. Sri Prasun Ghosh, Advocate, assisted by Sri Adhir Banerjee and Sri Nistaran Chakrabarty appeared for the Adeco Karmi Samity which hereafter shall be referred to as the Union Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, assisted by Sri N. C Mukharji appeared for Messrs. Adeco, Limited, which hereafter shall be referred to as the Company.

3. The Company was started originally in 1941 under the name and style of Associated Drugs and Chemicals Concern by three middle class young men, on a partnership basis, with a capital of Rs. 200 only. In 1942 it was converted into a private limited concern under the name and style of Adco, Limited It was converted into a public limited company in 1946 with an authorised capital of Rs 25,00,000 of which about Rs. 90,000 only have been paid up. The Management is with, Messrs. Gience Traders, Limited, which was formed by the original founders of the Adeco, Limited, with some others as partners. Five of the partners of the firm of the Managing Agents hold specific offices in the Adeco, Limited. As their remuneration they collectively receive Rs. 600 per month. Besides this sum the Managing Agents are entitled to receive 20 per cent. of the net profits. In 1946 this amounted to Rs. 513 only. In 1946 there was some labour trouble which the Company got over. On 30th September 1947 Kedar Nath Chakrabarty, one of the employees, was discharged. The present Union was formed on 4th October 1947 It was registered on 17th December 1947. Even before its registration the Union demanded its recognition by the Company on 8th October 1947. On the 21st November 1947 the Union had presented to the Company a charter of demands. The charter of demands did not receive favourable consideration from the Company. In November and December 1947 and in February 1948 a number of employees were discharged by the Company. In December 1947 there was a threat to strike. Conciliation proceedings failed to attain satisfactory results and the dispute was referred to me for adjudication on 30th March 1948 On 31st March 1948 Nistaran Chakrabarty, an employee, was discharged by the Company.

4. The following issues were framed:—

(1) Recognition of the Union.

(2) Reinstatement of (i) Kedarnath Chakrabarty, (ii) Gobinda Tanti, (iii) Nityananda Mukherji, (iv) Upendra Nath Ghosh, (v) Jagatbandhu Batabyal, (vi) Aniruddha Jha, (vii) Nistaran Chakrabarty, and (viii) Radhikajiban Chakrabarty.

(3) Demotion of (i) Harihar Chakrabarty, (ii) Kantish Roy Chowdhury and (iii) Jagatbandhu Batabyal.

(4) Notice for vacating the mess (i) Jagatbandhu Batabyal, (ii) Benimadhab Chatterjee, (iii) Sudhirchandra Datta and (iv) Lakshmikanta Das.

(5) Wages of Dhrubaranjan Das withheld

(6) Service Rules

(7) Leave and holidays

(8) Working hours

(9) Medical aid

(10) Minimum basic wages for each category of manual and clerical workers.

(11) Dearness allowance

(12) Provident Fund.

(13) Bonus.

(14) Extra allowance for workers in the filling and sealing department.

(15) Is there any industrial dispute now existing?

Issue No. 1.—Recognition of the Union.

5. There is no doubt that a dispute exists on this issue. But the dispute is not an "industrial dispute" within the meaning of the term in so far as it is not connected with employment or non-employment, terms of employment, or conditions of labour. In the circumstances this Tribunal has no jurisdiction to adjudicate on it The Company had objections against recognition on the ground that the Union was not representative. Under the amended Trade Unions Act a procedure has been laid down for obtaining recognition by the Unions. Labour Courts under the Trade Unions Act shall deal with disputes concerning recognition of Trade Unions. For the reasons above the Union should adopt the procedure as laid down in the Trade Unions Act.

No recognition can be ordered by this Tribunal. This is my award.

Issue No. 2. Reinstatement of (i) Kedarnath Chakrabarty, (ii) Gobinda Tanti, (iii) Nityananda Mukherji, (iv) Upendra Nath Ghosh, (v) Jagatbandhu Batabyal, (vi) Anurudda Jha, (vii) Nistaran Chakrabarty and (viii) Radhikajiban Chakrabarty.

6. (i) Kedar Nath Chakrabarty—He was originally appointed in 1943. He was not in Company's employ from some day in April 1945 to July 1946. He was in charge of stock of ampoules. He used to receive them from supplier. By about July 1947, it was the case of the Company, that they noticed that more ampoules were being purchased than what could reasonably have been used up. The Company asked Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta, one of the Chemists, to check up the stock. According to a report, dated 30th July 1947, by Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta, Exhibit R, 65,564 ampoules were recovered by him on 26th July 1947 from an open spot on the roof of the building in which the Company is at present situated. There was no want of accommodation in this building. The Company charged Kedar Nath Chakrabarty for neglect of duty in not taking proper care of the ampoules left in his charge. Kedarnath Chakrabarty explained before me that the ampoules had been kept on the roof by the Company. The explanation was meaningless in so far as he had admitted that it was his duty to receive the ampoules from the suppliers. It was also he who used them. Therefore it was his clear duty to take proper care of them. On a matter like this the Company, as contra-distinguished from its employees, has no separate existence. The Company was therefore justified in holding Kedarnath Chakrabarty guilty of neglect of duty. After the recovery of the ampoules the system of work was changed. All the ampoules were sent to the stores and Kedar Nath Chakrabarty had to send out daily requisitions for ampoules required by him. On the 1st of August 1947, which was only two days after the report by Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta and six days after the actual recovery of the ampoules on the roof of the building, Kedarnath Chakrabarty sent a requisition to the Stores Department for 5,984 ampoules. Under the new system he was also to report the number of ampoules used up daily. That day he reported that of the 5,984 ampoules he had used up only 2,456 and that the rest were broken. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta had certain business over checking up these requisitions. The number of ampoules broken attracted his suspicion and he brought the matter to the notice of the Managing Agents. The explanation of Kedar Nath Chakrabarty before me was that he did not intentionally destroy 3,528 ampoules. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta, who was examined by the Union, however, came up with the story to help Kedarnath Chakrabarty that all the ampoules were broken before issue. He contradicted however at another stage and I have no doubt that he was supporting Kedarnath Chakrabarty improperly. The Management was justified in thinking that on the 1st of August 1947 Kedarnath Chakrabarty must have intentionally caused loss to the Company by breaking 3,528 ampoules. There was, therefore, a proper cause for the Company to refuse to keep him further in employment.

(ii) Gobinda Tanti.—According to Company's version Gobinda Tanti was irregular in attendance. From 4th November 1947 he absented himself without notice. He was discharged on 25th November 1947. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta, on behalf of the Union, stated that Gobinda Tanti had cut his foot while at work and that he could not attend to his duties as the cut wound became septic. He stated further that Gobinda Tanti sent him information and that he had verbally informed the Managing Director, N. C. Mukherji. The Managing Director denied the story that any such information was given to him. The story advanced by Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta is not in the statement of the case for the Union. Gobinda Tanti had previously applied in writing for leave. During the hearing Gobinda Tanti did not come up to say that he sent any information to the Management regarding his absence. The Union took the position that the Company was wrong in discharging Gobinda Tanti without notice. Where a workman absents himself without notice, the employer is entitled to presume that the workman has terminated his employment. The duty is upon the workman to notify his intention and to obtain leave for the absence. I think therefore that the Company had good grounds to consider that the contract of service with Gobinda Tanti had been terminated. In such a case a formal order of discharge, though unnecessary, was expedient.

(iii) Nityananda Mukherji.—He was a laboratory Assistant. His duty was to prepare quinine solution. At the relevant time about 2,300 to 2,400 c.cs. of quinine in ampoules of the strength of 5 grains per c.c. were being made with two lbs. of quinine. A block of quinine solution prepared by him was tested by Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta, one of the chemists, and was found to contain approximately 4·9 grains of quinine per c.c. The quinine ampoules were sold out but objections were received on the ground that they were under the requisite strength. On further test they were found to contain only 3·65 grains of quinine per c.c. Explanations of Nityananda Mukherji were obtained. The Company was not satisfied with the explanations and suspected him of having stolen quinine given to him for preparing the solution. Nityananda Mukherji's explanation submitted to the Company was that he was not a technician and that he was unable to explain the under-strength unless it was due to defective testing by the chemist. In his second explanation he wanted to say that for that block of quinine solution he was given much less quantity of quinine than necessary. During his examination before me he confessed that his second explanation was not correct on facts. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta wanted to help Nityananda Mukherji by saying that under-strength of the quantity of solution in question might have been due to the quality of the quinine, percentage of moisture and theft during manufacturing process. Under-strength of a quinine solution, if due to quality of quinine or the percentage of moisture, would certainly be detected on test by the chemist. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta was the chemist who tested this block of solution and certified that it had the requisite strength. Therefore one may be sure that on none of these grounds is the under-strength of the quinine solution explained. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta apparently to save himself and also Nityananda Mukherji, stated that even the test by him might have been incorrect. I should consider this to be an unsatisfactory explanation. Therefore the Company was justified in thinking that under-strength was due to theft during the manufacturing process. It is true that anybody from the person who brought out the quinine for making the solution up to him who filled the solution in the ampoules might have equally been suspected of theft as Nityananda Mukherji had been. In a case like this the Company would have been justified in dispensing with the services of all these persons concerned, even in the absence of specific evidence to fix up the guilt with anyone in particular. The Union was wrong in taking the position that in a case like this evidence must be forthcoming to justify a finding of guilt as in a criminal trial

The relationship between a master and a servant is one of confidence. Either party is entitled to part with the other immediately as there is a breach in that confidence. For this reason an employer is justified in taking collective action against a group of persons suspected of theft like this. In that view of the matter Nityananda Mukherji has nothing to complain that he has been selected out. There has been in this case no improper discrimination. The Management of the Company, on their own grounds, thought that Nityananda Mukherji was the right person to pursue. I cannot say that the action of the Company was improper.

(iv) Upendra Nath Ghosh.—He was appointed as a probationary chemist and was employed as an assistant to Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta was engaged on a synthetic product named Vioenterol. By elapse of time confirmation of Upendra Nath Ghosh became due. The Company asked him to put down in writing the details of the manufacturing process of Vioenterol just to ascertain the efficiency acquired by him. The manufacturing process of this medicine is of a complicated nature and even Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta, who claimed to have found out the formula, confessed that he had to consult the formula daily for manufacturing the drug. Upendra Nath Ghosh refused to put down the formula in writing on the plea that it was the personal property of Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta. The Company was not satisfied and asked him to carry out its directions. Upendra Nath Ghosh instead of complying with the directions of the Company submitted a certificate from Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta as to his competency. The Company did not confirm Upendra Nath Ghosh on that certificate and has, for disobedience to comply with its directions, discharged him. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta was employed by the Company for research work. He got the formula for Vioenterol while working under the Company. He was paid by the Company for the whole period he took on his research work over this synthetic product. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta was therefore wrong in claiming the formula for preparation of Vioenterol to be his personal property. Upendra Nath Ghosh was equally wrong in finding justification from Das Gupta's claim, and in refusing to comply with Company's directions. It should be mentioned that since Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta and Upendra Nath Ghosh had left the Company. the formula for the preparation of Vioenterol is missing from Company's records. In the circumstances the Company was justified in refusing to confirm Upendra Nath Ghosh and to keep him further in employment.

(v) Jagatbandhu Batabyal.—He was employed as a general assistant. There is a practice of performing Saraswati Puja in the Company. The Union complained that on the occasion of the last Saraswati Puja, the Management refused to join with the members of the Union. The version of the Company was that the members of the Union wanted to exploit the occasion for seeking indirectly recognition of the Union and that therefore the Management took individual employees in the Puja Committee and over this here was a difference between the Management nd some of the members of the Union. On the Saraswati Puja day some of the members of the Union stood at the gate and prevented the guests rom entering into the Company's premises where he Puja was being performed. The guests ncluded some of the shareholders and members of he public including some ladies. Jagatbandhu Batabyal was said to be one of these picketers. He confessed that he picketed at the gate and complained to the guests about the grievances of the employees against the Management and requested them not to attend the function. A warning notice was issued to him for this. I should consider that the conduct of Jagatbandhu Batabyal was extremely improper and that the warning notice was issued on good grounds. Anuruddha Jha, one of the employees of the Company, had gone on 15 days' leave on the 27th January 1948. He did not report for duty on expiry of the leave. The Company addressed a notice to Anuruddha Jha telling him that unless he reported by 21st February 1948 he would be treated to have terminated his services. Jagatbandhu Batabyal was at that time the despatcher through whose hands this notice passed. Soon after the despatch of this notice a friend of Anuruddha Jha came to the Company with an application written in English for an extension of leave beyond the date fixed by the Company. It was admitted at the hearing that the application was not signed by Anuruddha Jha. The Company had doubts even then that the signature in the application was a forged one. The Company took Jagatbandhu Batabyal to task suspecting that he must have disclosed the contents of the notice which disclosure led to certain complications. The Company considered that Jagatbandhu Bataybal should no longer be employed as the despatcher. He was therefore transferred to the Packing Department where there were three or four general assistants like him engaged for the time being. In the Packing Department Jagatbandhu Batabyal refused to do any work. During the hearing he explained that he refused to do that work because he had never done that work before. The Union took the position that in the Packing Department the work was manual while the work of the despatcher was clerical and that therefore Jagatbandhu had justification in refusing to do the manual work. It should be noted that Jagatbandhu Batabyal did not advance this as his explanation for refusing to do any work in the Packing Department. He was appointed as a general assistant. His educational qualification is low. Three or four general assistants were at that time engaged in the Packing Department. Therefore there was no earthly reason for Jagatbandhu Bataybal to refuse to do work in the Packing Department along with other general assistants there holding equal status with him. I consider that the Company had good grounds to dispense with the services of Jagatbandhu Batabyal on the score of his refusal to do the allotted work.

(vi) Anuruddha Jha.—I have already mentioned the facts of his case. While on leave he overstayed. He was called upon to join on 21st February 1948 and in default he was notified that his services would be treated as terminated. He however reported for duty on 23rd February 1948. In the circumstances, his discharge was the legal effect of his remaining absent without leave. The Company was justified in refusing to re-employ him.

(vii) Nistaran Chakrabarty.—He was discharged after the date of reference to me of the present case for adjudication. Therefore his case cannot be considered under the present reference.

(viii) Radhikajiban Chakrabarty.—He was on leave for 21 days from 21st January 1948. He applied for extension of leave and 7 days' extension was granted. He again applied for extension of leave which application was refused. As he failed to join, the Company discharged him. Radhikajiban Chakrabarty did not appear before me to state what his case was and what wrong the Company did to him in refusing to extend leave. I find that there is nothing for holding that the Company dispensed with his services on an improper cause.

7. All the above 8 discharged employees were members of the Union. Some of them held important offices in it. Kedarnath Chakrabarty was discharged on 30th September 1947. Gobinda Tanti was discharged on 25th November 1947. Nityananda Mukherji was discharged on 11th December 1947. Upendra Nath Ghosh was discharged on 30th December 1947. Radhikajiban

Chakrabarty was discharged on 20th February 1948. Anuruddha Jha was discharged on 21st February 1948. Jagatbandhu Batabyal was discharged on 26th February 1948. Nistaran Chakrabarty was discharged on 31st March 1948. The Union was formed on 4th October 1947. Recognition was sought on 8th October 1947. The Union was registered on 17th December 1947. Referring to the synchrony of the discharge orders with the formation of the Union, it was contended on behalf of the Union that the discharge orders were issued to victimise important Union members for their legitimate Trade Union activities. The contention cannot stand because in each case there was good ground for the Company to take action for misdemeanour. There are some instances of gross misdemeanour such as no employer can ignore merely because the actions taken would not be liked by the members of the Employees' Union. The Union cannot also expect that employees, because of their membership with the Union, should enjoy immunity from proper action against gross misdemeanour. For the reasons above, I find that none of the 8 employees can be directed to be reinstated. This is my award on this issue.

Issue No. 3.—Demotion of (i) Harihar Chakrabarty, (ii) Kantish Roy Chowdhury and (iii) Jagatbandhu Batabyal.

8. (i) Harihar Chakrabarty.—He was the Chief Accountant. The charge against him was that he was making propaganda against the interests of the Company by alleging that the financial position of the Company was unsound. Harihar Chakrabarty explained during the hearing that he had told the workers in their meeting that the financial position of the Company was bad because Narayan Mukherji, the Managing Director, had requested him to say this to overcome labour troubles. The explanation is extremely flabby to receive reliance. Harihar Chakrabarty admitted that Narayan Mukherji had once confronted him in the absence of one Dr. Imam with the charge of making a false propaganda about the financial stability of the Company. Harihar Chakrabarty no doubt denied the charge. It transpired that certain information contained in the vouchers kept in the Accounts section of which Harihar Chakrabarty was in charge was supplied to the police for creating some troubles. Harihar Chakrabarty was naturally suspected of having permitted leakage of the information. The Company charged Harihar Chakrabarty for activities prejudicial to the real interest of the Company and had reduced him to the position of an assistant to the Store-Keeper. His salary was to be fixed, later on, befitting his new post. Harihar Chakrabarty asked the Company to withdraw the order of demotion. As it did not do so, he complained against the Company to the Deputy Commissioner of Police, Enforcement Branch. The case of the Company was that Inspector S. K. Banerji over that complaint came to the Company and inspected its accounts and that Harihar Chakrabarty was then with the Inspector. Harihar Chakrabarty was not in a position to give a categorical denial. He admitted the complaint but pleaded that he did not know that he was with the Inspector when the latter checked the Company's accounts. Later, Harihar Chakrabarty applied for leave and he was granted only three days' leave. He applied for extension of leave which application was rejected. He did not thereafter report to the Company for duty. By his absence without leave Harihar Chakrabarty has, in law, terminated his services with the Company. Therefore the subject of his demotion cannot be a matter for adjudication. Even if it be so, I find that Harihar Chakrabarty was moving against the interests of the Company and that for that reason he was guilty of serious misconduct for which the order of demotion was rather a lenient punishment.

(ii) Kantish Roy Chowdhury.—He did not appear before me to say that he had been demoted and that he had any grievance on that account against the Company. The Union at the hearing did not press his case.

(iii) Jagatbandhu Batabyal.—I have already found that his was not a case of demotion. He has since been discharged. Therefore the case of his alleged demotion does not arise for adjudication. The issue is therefore found against the Union. This is my award on this issue.

Issue No. 4.—Notice for vacating the mess—(i) Jagatbandhu Batabyal, (ii) Benimadhab Chatterjee, (iii) Sudhir Chandra Dutta and (iv) Lakshmi Kanta Das.

9. These four persons were some of those employees who were involved in the Saraswati Puja incident already mentioned. They had been accommodated in the Company's Employees' mess. In this mess the employees are permitted to reside free of rent and the Company pays for the establishment charges. Because of misbehaviour for picketing during the Saraswati Puja the Company served these four persons with notices to vacate the mess. Jagatbandhu Batabyal has since been discharged. The other three, according to Company's version, had offered complete and sincere apology for the part taken by them in the incident and for that reason the Company had waived the notice. The Company was justified in issuing the notice. The Company was free also to be kind to its employees in waiving the notice. This is a matter in which the Adjudicator should not interfere. This is my award on this issue.

Issue No. 5.—Wages of Dhrubaranjan Das withheld.

10. The Company's charge against Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta was that he had taken away the formula for preparation for the synthetic product Vioenterol from Company's records. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta denied the charge. But the Company was not satisfied and had withheld payment of the wages for December 1947 pending settlement of the difference. Dhrubaranjan Das Gupta has applied to the Authority under the Payment of Wages Act, section 15. That matter is pending. In the circumstances, I do not consider that this is a subject on which the Adjudicator can give any award. The authority under the Payment of Wages Act is the proper person to deal with it.

Issue No. 6.—Service Rules.

11. The Company submitted draft service rules to which the Union suggested certain amendments. Having considered the amendments suggested, I have settled the Service Rules as in Schedule I attached to this award. This shall be the Service Rules for the time being.

Issue No. 7.—Leave and holidays.

12. The subject has been dealt with in the Service Rules in paragraph 13, sub-section (e). The employees shall be entitled to leave and holidays according to Service Rules now settled. This is my award on this issue.

Issue No. 8.—Working hours.

13. The working hours in the Company are 43 in a week. At present the daily working hours are 9-30 a.m. to 5-30 p.m. with a midday recess of half an hour on the week days. On Saturdays, the working hours are 9-30 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Union wanted the working hours to be changed to 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on week days including the midday recess. This will reduce the weekly working hours below 43. I do not consider that it shall be fair to the interests of the Company further to reduce the weekly working hours which are already low. The parties have preferred to classify the Company as a Shop and Establishment within the meaning of Bengal Shops and Establishments Act, 1940. It is not a factory within the meaning of the Factories Act. Under section 6 of the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act, 1940, the shop must be closed on at least one and half days in a week. The Company allows Sundays as holidays. The working hours must be so re-arranged as to give to the employees a half holiday on Saturdays. The working hours during the remaining week days must be so re-arranged as to make up a total number of 43 working hours in a week. The Company shall prepare a fresh programme of working hours on the lines directed above. In doing so I recommend that the Company should duly consider the request of the employees to start work at 10 a.m. For helping the employees on this point the Company will be free to prepare a programme of working hours beyond 5-30 p.m., if necessary. This is my award.

Issue No. 9.—Medical aid.

14. The subject has been partially dealt with in paragraph 20 of the Service Rules. Over and above the benefits mentioned there, the Company shall maintain a duly equipped first-aid room with a medicine chest under a competent person trained in rendering first-aid. There are only 60 persons employed in the Company. It would therefore do if the Company would engage the part-time service of a qualified doctor. There is a hospital close to the Company's premises. The Company offered to make arrangement for treatment of the employees in that hospital by making a contribution to the hospital fund. The Company shall start negotiation with the hospital authorities to that end and complete the arrangement, if possible, within the shortest possible time. This is my award on this issue.

Issues Nos. 10.—Minimum basic wages for each category of manual and clerical workers, 11. Dearness Allowance, 12, Provident Fund, 13. Bonus, and 14. Extra allowance for workers in the filling and sealing department.

15. I take up all these issues together for convenience of treatment. Wages paid by the Company are low. The Chief Chemist is getting Rs. 132 including dearness allowance per month and the lowest wage is Rs. 32 including dearness allowance. The Company is a young one and has yet got to be built up. Five of the partners of the Firm of the Managing Agents are employed as officers in the Company on a pay of Rs. 120 only each per month. The commission allowed to the Managing Agents in 1946 was only Rs. 513-10. Therefore it cannot be said that the promoters of the Company are taking larger share out of the profits depriving the employees of their legitimate wages. The Company pleaded, and their plea is supported by the statement of accounts filed before me, that no further increment of wages is possible just now. The Company appears to be alive to the needs of the workers who are certainly ill-paid. The Company prepared a scheme according to which 25 per cent. of the profits were to be kept in for building up a reserve fund, 25 per cent. of the profits were to be expended on research work which in a firm of chemical manufacturers is the most important work, 25 per cent. of the profits was to be paid to the shareholders and the remaining 25 per cent. was to be distributed ratably amongst the workmen. The scheme at the present does not mean to the workmen much in money, but it has a promise and a possibility of redressing the grievances of the workmen satisfactorily in the near future. All depend on how with the combined efforts of the promoters of the Company and of the workmen the Company makes progress. At the earliest stage of the proceeding before me the Company asserted that by far the largest number of its employees had accepted the above scheme and had refused to do anything with the present claims made by the Union. The Union challenged the assertion of the Company to be untrue. It was arranged that I should visit the Company and ascertain the truth of the assertion personally from each individual employee. It was further arranged that the employees would be questioned by him confidentially in the absence of both the parties. According to the arrangement I had gone to the Company on the 21st of May 1948 and had questioned the individual employees found present that day. The total number of employees on the Rolls was 60. 15 of them were absent that day. Of the 45 employees present that day, 37 supported the assertion of the Company and agreed to continue to serve the Company according to the scheme formulated. Only 8 persons supported the claims of the Union. Of the 45 employees, 17 had never been members of the Union, 15 who were members have since resigned. Only 13 employees are at present members of the Union and of these, 5 supported the Company. In the circumstances, the Adjudicator will not be justified to interfere with the Company's scheme supported by so vast a majority of employees. The vast majority of employees are prepared to put up with privations for the present in the expectation of a better future. For the reason of 8 employees who are dissatisfied with their present remuneration there cannot be any justification to upset the scheme. In the circumstances, my award on this issue is that no alteration in wages, dearness allowance, and other benefits claimed in these issues should be made but that Company's scheme mentioned above and already put into operation must continue to remain in operation.

Issue No. 15.—Is there any industrial dispute now existing?

16. From all that have gone forward, it is clear that there is an industrial dispute existing. The Company at the final hearing did not urge this issue. I decide the issue against the Company.

N. C. CHAKRABORTI,

Tribunal, Industrial Disputes.

The 8th June 1948.

SCHEDULE I.

Service Rules.

1. The Company and the employees are subject to the following conditions of service.

2. Definitions.—In these rules unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context:—

(a) "The Company" means Adeco, Ltd.

(b) "Manager" means General Manager of the Company.

(c) "Employee" means a person belonging to a service or holding a post under the administrative control of the Company, and includes clerks, chemists, etc., but does not include contractors, commission agents, and Covenanted hands.

(d) "Management" means Managing Agents of the Company.

(e) "Managing Director" means Managing Director of the Managing Agents of the Company.

(f) "Pay" means basic pay.

Classification.—All employees are classified as follows:—(i) Permanent, (ii) Temporary, (iii) Learner or Apprentice.

(i) Permanent employee is one who has been employed on a permanent basis either on a monthly or daily or piece rate of pay and is confirmed as such by the Company.

(ii) Temporary employee is one who has been engaged for work which is of an essentially temporary nature, and will also include an employee who has been appointed on probation and has not been confirmed as permanent.

(iii) Apprentice or learner is a person selected to undergo a course of training in the trade or business of the Company with a view to employment. An apprentice or learner may or may not be paid any allowance during the period of such training.

4. Appointment.—No appointment is valid until an appointment letter setting forth the name of candidate, job and rate is signed by the Managing Agents. On appointment an employee's name with his rate of pay will be recorded in a Register to be maintained for the purpose, and a letter of appointment will be handed over to employee concerned intimating his rate of wages, etc.

All appointments, unless specifically mentioned, will be for a probationary period of six months or more and will be considered as temporary. On the expiry of six months, the Company will consider each case for confirmation and if found suitable, the employee will be confirmed, and made permanent; otherwise he will be discharged or his probationary period may be further extended. The Company has the right to discharge an employee at any time during this probationary period with one month's notice or with one month's pay in lieu of notice.

An Attendance Register for the employees will be maintained at the office which they must sign at the time of entry.

5. Manner of notification of period and hours of work.—The period of hours of work for different classes of employees and different shifts will be notified in the Notice Board at the office and shall be as the Management may from time to time decide.

6. Manner of notification of holidays and pay days.—Notices specifying the days observed as holidays for different employees shall be posted on a Notice Board. Provided that if any particular employee is required to work on a holiday, he should be personally notified to that effect in advance He shall be entitled to a substitute holiday.

Notices specifying the "Pay Day" for different groups of employees shall be displayed in the Notice Board.

7. Unclaimed wages.—Back wages or unclaimed wages shall be paid to employees or their legal representatives as soon as possible after the application of the employees concerned or their representatives is received by the Managing Director. But the claim to such wages will be barred if made after three years from the date on which the wages become due to the worker concerned.

8. Transfer.—Services of all employees are liable to be transferred from one station to another or from one department to another or from one section to another.

9. Shift working.—Shift working shall be regulated in accordance with the Factory Act. More than one shift may be worked in a department or departments, or in a section of department at the discretion of the Company. If more than one shift is worked, worker shall be liable to be transferred from one shift to another. Shift working may be discontinued at any time after putting up notices in the time-keeper's office or in the Notice Board.

10. Attendance and late coming.—All employees shall be at work at the time fixed and notified to them. A grace period of ten minutes may be allowed at the discretion of the Management. If any employee is late more than 10 minutes he shall be shut out and treated as absent. On being satisfied as to ground of late attendance the Managing Director may permit such a late comer to join his duties on such conditions which he thinks fit and proper; and in such cases the pay of the employee concerned may be deducted proportionately.

An employee found absent during working hours from his proper place, without permission or without sufficient reason, will be treated as absent and deduction will be made from his wages proportionately for the period of such absence.

11. Exit and entry and liability to search.—All employees entering or leaving the factory and at any time whilst on duty are liable to be searched by any person authorised by the Management provided that no search shall be made unless in the presence of one witness. All employees must enter and leave the factory premises by the gates appointed for this purpose. Factory gates may be closed during working hours at the discretion of the Management and employees must not leave the factory premises during working hours without permission.

12. Stoppage and shut-down.—(a) The Company may at any time or times in the event of fire, catastrophe, breakdown of machinery, shortage or non-availability of materials, epidemic, civil commotion, strike or other cause whatsoever beyond their control, stop any section or sections, department or departments wholly or partially for any period or periods, without notice and without compensation in lieu of notice, the workers involved being treated as suspended during such period or periods and the said period will be considered as "Dies Non".

(b) The Company may at any time, in the event of shortage of orders or for any other trade reasons, stop any section or sections, department or departments, wholly or partially and discharge all employees of that section or department by giving one month's notice to all monthly-rated permanent employees and one week's notice to all daily-rated employees who have completed one year's continuous service prior to such discharge. Alternatively these employees may be given pay and allowances for the notice period in lieu of notice. The other employees will not be paid any compensation.

(c) An employee laid off under Order Nos. (a) or (b) may be considered as temporarily unemployed and will be given prior rights to reinstatement on the resumption of normal work provided he presents himself for work when normal operations are resumed. Reasonable notice will be given before such resumption of work.

13. Leave and holidays.—(a) Employees are not entitled to get leave as a matter of right. In the case of exigencies the Management can refuse or revoke any leave granted to any employee.

(b) Any employee who desires to obtain leave shall apply in writing to the Managing Director through his Departmental Head. If leave asked for is granted a "Leave Pass" shall be issued to the employees and unless this is received by the employee he must not leave his work in so far as he is likely to be treated as absent without authority. If, however, leave is refused or postponed, the fact of such refusal or postponement and the reason therefor shall be recorded in the leave application and the employee, if he so desires, can see the same for himself.

(c) Extension of leave.—Except under special circumstances extension of leave will not be granted. No employee will be permitted to overstay his leave unless he has previously secured written permission to extend leave originally granted. Such overstay will be treated as absence without leave.

(d) If any employee absents himself without leave or remains absent beyond the period for which leave has been originally granted or subsequently extended, he may lose his lien on his appointment. The Managing Director, however, may condone such absence if the employee concerned returns within three days of the expiry of leave and (2) gives satisfactory explanation as to his inability to return on expiry of leave.

(e) Subject to the aforesaid rules the employees will get leave as follows:—

(i) Privilege leave.—All permanent employees on completion of 12 months' service will be entitled to get 30 days' privilege leave with pay. Privilege leave can be accumulated up to 90 days. Pay in lieu of leave may be allowed to an employee in any year if the employee concerned (1) has not taken in the previous year the full compliment of leave which he was entitled to in a year, and (2) has intimated in writing his desire to have pay in lieu of his unspent leave instead of the said leave being accumulated to his credit. Temporary employees are not entitled to this leave.

(ii) Sick leave.—All employees will be granted sick leave with pay up to 10 days in a year on the recommendation of the Company's medical officer or on furnishing a medical certificate to the satisfaction of the Management. Sick leave will not accumulate.

(f) Holidays.—Weekly holidays will be granted to employees according to the provisions of Bengal Shops and Establishments Act, 1940. Festival holidays, if granted, will be notified in the Notice Board.

14. Misdemeanours.—The following acts or omissions shall be treated as misdemeanours for which an employee is liable to suspension, fine or warning:—

(a) Failure to carry out promptly the orders of the departmental-in-charge and their superior officers;

(b) Failure to observe safety instructions;

(c) Committing a nuisance on the factory premises;

(d) Careless work;

(e) Laziness and inefficiency;

(f) Bad time-keeping;

(g) Quarrelling;

(h) Sleeping while on duty;

(i) Improperly leaving his place of work during working hours.

The Management shall maintain a register into 'hich details of each misdemeanour in respect of 'hich an employee is suspended, fined or warned hall be entered and a warning in writing shall be iven to the employee concerned.

No warning or order of fine or suspension shall e made unless the employee concerned is given n opportunity of explaining the circumstances alleged against him. If on enquiry an order of suspension is confirmed or modified, the employee shall be deemed to be absent from duty for the period of suspension and shall not be entitled to any remuneration for such period. If, however, the order is rescinded the employee shall be deemed to be on duty during the full period of suspension and shall be entitled to the same pay as he would have received if he had not been suspended.

15. Major misdemeanour.—The following acts or omissions shall be considered as major misdemeanours:—

(a) Wilful insubordination or disobedience;

(b) Inciting others to take part or joining in an illegal strike;

(c) Conduct which endangers the lives and safety of other employees;

(d) Theft, fraud or dishonesty;

(e) Demanding, offering or accepting bribe;

(f) Drunkenness;

(g) Riotous or disorderly behaviour;

(h) Extortion;

(i) Wilful damage to Company's goods or property.

(j) The commission of a misdemeanour after two previous warnings, fines or suspensions;

(k) Wilful interference with the work of other employees;

(l) Gross negligence in the performance of duties;

(m) Systematic bad and careless work.

(n) Absence without leave;

(o) Conduct in private life prejudicial to the reputation of the Company;

(p) Jobbing in a workers' own account on the premises of the Company.

An employee may be dismissed without notice or any compensation in lieu of notice if he is found guilty of a major misdemeanour. No order of dismissal shall be made unless the employee concerned is informed and given an opportunity of explaining the circumstances alleged against him. But to avail himself of this privilege, such worker must attend before the Management when directed to do so. Service of any notice or direction upon an employee to attend under this rule may be made by communicating the same orally to the employee concerned and/or by fixing the same on Company's Notice Board.

16. Termination of employment.—Except in case mentioned in paragraph 12 and subject to rules hereinbefore stated the employment of a permanent employee may be terminated by notice or on payment of compensation in lieu of notice on either side as follows:—

In case of monthly-rated permanent employees one month's notice and in case of daily-rated and other permanent employees 14 days' notice.

No temporary employee or apprentice shall be entitled to any notice or pay in lieu of notice if his services are terminated.

A permanent employee who leaves the service without notice as mentioned above, shall be liable for breach of contract.

17. Complaints by employees.—All complaints arising out of the employment including those relating to unfair treatment or exaction on the part of the employer or his agent or servant shall be submitted by an employee to the Manager of the Company. All such complaints shall be carefully investigated by the Company. Workers shall have a further right of appeal to the Managing Agents.

18. Appeal.—An employee will have right of appeal from the order of the Managing Director to the Board of Directors in case he is dismissed. In all other cases; Managing Director's decision is final.

19. Overtime.—All employees are to be considered as whole-time servant of the Company and are liable to work overtime if and when necessary. But in case so ordered, he will be paid extra pay in accordance with the provisions of the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act, 1940, for such overtime work.

20. Accident and medical aid.—(a) All employees shall immediately report any injury sustained during the course of their work to the dispensary of the Company for attention and necessary action. The Company shall arrange for their treatment at Company's expense.

(b) (i) All employees and their dependants (parents, wife, children and minor sisters and brothers only) presenting themselves at the Company's dispensary will be provided free medical attention and treatment.

(ii) Except in cases where the illness is a result of an injury or accident sustained during the discharge of the Company's duties, all patent and proprietary medicines, special drugs and injections which may be necessary are to be purchased by the patients at their own cost. Drugs manufactured by the Company shall however be supplied free of cost.

21. Certificates of service.—Each worker shall be entitled to service certificate at the time of leaving service, dismissal or discharge, but not if he has participated in an illegal strike.

22. Company's rights.—The Company's rights under these conditions shall not be affected or prejudiced by its rights relating to fines and deductions under the Payment of Wages Act and Rules. Additionally the Company's right to discharge or to dismiss any employee without notice for proper cause shall not be affected or prejudiced.

23. Amendments.—The Company may from time to time amend these Orders in accordance with the provisions of the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946, or any amendment thereof.

N. C. CHAKRABORTI,

Tribunal, Industrial Disputes.

The 8th June 1948.

By order of the Governor,

D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 2080Lab.—24th June 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 770-Lab., dated the 6th November 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Ivan Jones, Limited, 28A, Pollock Street, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Secretary, Ivan Jones, Limited, Employees' Union, 33, Grey Street, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein. The said award shall take effect from the 1st May 1948 and shall remain in operation for a period of one year from that date except with regard to the question of dearness allowance which shall remain in force for one year with effect from 1st January 1948.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Ivan Jones, Limited, of 28A, Pollock Street, Calcutta, and their employees as represented by the Secretary, Ivan Jones, Ltd. Employees' Union, 33, Grey Street, Calcutta.

Present: Sri P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Mr. G. F. Kennedy of Messrs. Fowler & Co., Solicitor.

For the Union: Sri Sushil Chandra Dutta, Advocate, Calcutta High Court.

AWARD.

By Government order No. 770Lab., dated the 6th November 1947, I was appointed a Tribunal for adjudication of the above dispute.

The Ivan Jones, Ltd. Employees' Union was registered under the Trade Unions Act, 1927, and is composed of altogether 24 members of the staff of the Company and consists of three classes of employees, viz., (1) clerical staff, (2) skilled mechanics and (3) menials including durwans, peons and bearers. The European staff and the lorry driver attached to the Company are not in the Union. Messrs. Ivan Jones, Limited, is a joint stock company carrying on its business at 28A, Pollock Street in Calcutta.

It is alleged that almost all the clerical staff and the workers in the section and godown have put in more than 20 years' service and that there has been no substantial increment regarding wages and salaries. It is further alleged that the Company stopped dearness allowance since January 1944, notwithstanding the fact that the Company was making huge profits. The Union submitted a charter of demands on 14th August 1946 and after a good deal of deliberation and discussion, the Company took up only some of the essential items of the said demands and settled them and embodied them in a Memorandum of Agreement duly executed on 1st November 1946. It was understood that the remaining items of the demands would be considered later on on return of the Managing Director who had proceeded home in England at that time.

The terms of Agreement, however, were strictly adhered to and were fully complied with by both the parties and all payments were made up to December 1946, in conformity to the same. Unfortunately, since January 1947, it is so alleged by the Union that the Company intervened and refused to abide by the terms of the said Agreement and that the overdue bonus for the year 1946 was not paid although the Company made considerable profits and declared dividend. The Union submitted thereafter a further charter of demands on 22nd July 1947, but the Company not having responded satisfactorily to the demands, the case had been ultimately referred by the Government to this Tribunal.

According to the Company, the grievances of the Union are exaggerated and inflated and against the canons of equity and justice inasmuch as by the above Agreement of 1st November 1946, all disputes were settled.

Regarding dearness allowance, it is urged that it had been paid at the scale fixed by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and that the Company used to regularly pay the same from 1st January 1943 and it was at the express request of the employees that the dearness allowance was amalgamated with their wages and has consequently ever since been paid. The rates of such dearness allowance were 25 per cent. on salaries under Rs. 100 per month and 20 per cent. on salaries above that figure.

Issues.

1. Is the Agreement, dated the 1st November 1946, between the Company and its employees, based on the charter of demands at Annexure A to Union's statement final and binding upon the parties? To what extent, if any, it is to be modified?

2. Is the Union to be recognised by the Company? Can Tribunal pass orders of recognition?

3. What should be the amount of dearness allowance and from which date should it be paid? Was any dearness allowance paid since June 1944? If not, is it to be included in the award?

4. What should be the scale of pay of the different class of employees? Should a grading system be introduced?

5. What should be the working hours? Should there be an alteration in working hours in force since October 1946?

6. What payment, if any, should be made for overtime to (a) clerical staff and (b) to other employees?

7. Has Tribunal jurisdiction to order payment of bonus and if so, in respect of what specific past year or years and future years?

8. Should employees and their dependents be given free medical aid, if so, on what terms?

9. Should any alteration to be made in the leave rules in force in October 1946?

10. Is free tiffin to be supplied by the Company for all employees and at what rate?

11. Should Company pay railway fares when employees proceed on leave and if so, at what rate?

12. What, if any, loan facilities should be given by the Company to its employees?

13. What further provision should be made to give employees security of service?

14. What should be the conditions of the rules of Provident Fund?

15. What amount, if any, should be paid as gratuity?

16. Is any pension scheme to be introduced?

Issue No. 2.—Recognition of the Union.

This is a duly registered Union and it must be presumed that all formalities requiring registration have been gone through. It is clear that except the European staff and one lorry driver, all the workers are members of this Union. So the Union has gained allegiance of almost all the workers of the Company. It is further evident in this case that the Company has recognised this Union all along and carried on negotiations with Sri Sushil Chandra Dutta, Advocate of the Calcutta High Court, and Secretary of the above Union. The several correspondences clearly show that the Company had in fact recognised this Union—not only this but the Company entered into an Agreement on 1st November 1946 with this Union regarding terms of pay, dearness allowance, Provident Fund, etc. It still lies in the mouth of the Company now to say that it will not recognise this Union. This is not a very happy attitude. The Company should remember that the advantages it may expect from a Union of its employees are too numerous to mention, for the Company can deal with the individual worker through the Union. Censure through the Union or Association to which the employees belong is much more effective than the censure by an employer. The Legislature appreciated the usefulness of a registered Union and gave the registered Union the power to represent the workers in any dispute before a Tribunal. According to statute, the Union of workers is to be consulted in framing the standing orders of an industrial concern and in fact the standing orders cannot be effective without notice to the registered Union of the workers. Having considered the immense advantages that are to accrue to both the employer and the employees from recognition of the Union, I hereby direct the Company to recognise the present Union voicing the sentiment and feeling of its workers. The point is answered accordingly.

Issue Nos. 1, 3 and 4.—The Agreement, dated 1st November 1946, in relation to the claim for scale of pay and gradation thereof and also dearness allowance.

It is admitted on both hands that the workers' Union submitted a charter of demands on 14th August 1946 and that this charter of demands was considered by two of the Directors and an Agreement regarding salary, wages and Provident Fund was gone into. This Agreement was accepted by both the Company as also by the Union, and was to come into effect from 1st November 1946 and the Company had since implemented the terms of the said Agreement and all payments were made up to December 1946 in conformity to the same. But since January 1947 the Company refused to abide by the terms of the said Agreement and allowed all the benefits to be enjoyed by some section of the staff. It is also alleged that the above Agreement was not a complete one as the then Managing Director Mr. Nawe had been in England at the relevant time and that Mr. Barke, the then Acting Managing Director, gave them an assurance that other terms would be gone into after the return of Mr. Nawe. Whatever that may be, the Tribunal is to see if the terms of the Agreement were fully implemented and were accepted by the Company. If that be so, then the Tribunal as a Court of Peace would like to enforce its decision in the interest of both the employer and the employees, in terms of the Agreement arrived at by both parties concerned. It is immaterial if this Agreement settled the full claim of the parties, for if the Tribunal be convinced of the other just claims of the Union, which were not embodied in the Agreement, there can be no bar to entertain the same now. It is never too late to define the terms of Peace in an industrial dispute.

This industrial concern has three branches (1) office, (2) godown and (3) section; there are clerks and semi-skilled and unskilled workers—these are described as mistries, durwans, bearers, coolies and one lorry driver. The wages and salaries were increased by the Agreement, dated 1st November 1946. It is clear that the salaries shown there were inclusive of dearness allowances which were then being paid. Over and above, the Company granted a flat rate increase at the rate of Rs. 30 for all clerical staff except Barababu (K. K. Chatterjee) who got an increment of Rs. 40 at flat rate at that time. Similarly there were increments in case of other employees in section, godown, etc. This decision was accepted by the Union. Regarding salary, there was no further grumble except that the Union insisted that some of the items had been left out in the Agreement to be considered later on.

The Union urged here for introduction of gradation of pay. I shall deal with the question of pay as decided and agreed upon by the parties in November 1946, and shall consider if it was a proper wage and can now be revised. It is clear that none of the clerks in this concern is a graduate and that except one who is an I.Sc., all are Matriculates and that H. K. Chatterjee (Barababu) is a non-matriculate. Regarding clerical staff who are mostly recruited from middle class bhadralok families, the Central Pay Commission recommended Rs. 55 as the minimum basic pay of the clerical grade and considering the high cost of living in Calcutta, the starting pay may be fixed at Rs. 65 per month (Rs. 10 per month being the City allowance as recommended by the Pay Commission). In this particular case, however, I am inclined to adopt the scale of pay as per Bengal Chamber of Commerce Circular No. 13, dated 1st March 1947, which compares favourably with the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission in the long run. The reason for adopting the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Circular is that the present firm is an European concern and has followed the directions of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce regarding dearness allowance, etc., in the part. The Financial position of the Company is also sufficiently strong to bear the burden.

Now the Bengal Chamber of Commerce prescribes the following grades for C and D categories of clerks:—

Grade D ... Rs. 60—2—90 per month.

Grade C ... Rs. 60—4—124 per month.

Taking the ratio decindii of the above circular and following the spirit underlying the same, it is clear that the above Chamber of Commerce intended that after 15 years service, the minimum pay of a clerk should not be less than Rs. 90 per month (the maximum in Grade D) and after that the annual increment should be at the rate of Rs. 4 till the maximum, i.e., Rs. 124 is reached. In no case a clerk should be allowed to rot at Rs. 90 but is entitled to go on time scale C and annual increment of Rs. 4 after reaching the scale of Rs. 90 till the maximum, i.e., Rs. 124 is reached. I find, however, that this Company had not in the past granted suitable increment; nor basic pay was a happy one. It is a matter of common experience that Indians marry early in their life and that before attaining the age of 32, their family unit exceeds by more than 3. Besides, Indians maintain some dependants such as widowed sister, mother and other near relations. Indian life is not self-centered like Europeans and as such I would like to fix the wages of the clerks on the principle laid down in the above circular of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.

The principle of calculation mentioned above will apply to all the clerical staff in office, section and godown and they should be entitled to the increased pay on the above scale thus found with effect from 1st May 1948. This will not in any way affect the claim for dearness allowance. This increased pay should be considered as the solid salary and pay for the clerks.

The above chart does not include the grade of Barababu who is at present drawing a basic salary of Rs. 290 per month. He is a non-matriculate and is drawing now more than what a A Grade clerk would have drawn now, the maximum pay of an A Grade clerk according to Bengal Chamber of Commerce is Rs. 250 per month. So, I leave the case of Barababu out of account and he should continue in the same pay as before and may be given further increment if the Managing Director so thinks it proper.

Similarly the other clerks who will reach the maximum in Grade C may be promoted to higher scale if the Managing Director thinks any or all of them so efficient.

Regarding unskilled and semi-skilled workers:

Regarding unskilled workers, the Company, I find, is paying from Rs. 18 to Rs. 22 per month as wages. This is inadequate and is certainly not the living wage according to the Report of the Pay Commission. It is clear that according to the Report of the Pay Commission the minimum wage standard for unskilled worker should be on a scale of Rs. 30—1—35. This calculation is on the basis of the cost of living index of 165 to 175. Living index has since gone high up over 300 but considering the fact that the present Company is willing to pay a very suitable term of dearness allowance according to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce recent circular, I do not prescribe any higher scale of wages. I, therefore, fix the scale of unskilled workers in the Company at Rs. 30—1—35.

Regarding semi-skilled workers, i.e., mistries Prosad Chandra Das, K. C. Mondal, N. L. Adhikari and Kunja Lal Das, they are now drawing Rs. 91, Rs. 66-8, Rs. 47-8, and Rs. 35, respectively. In my opinion, the rates fixed in the Pay Commission's Report for semi-skilled workers being Rs. 35-1-50, I do not see any reason to increase the wages of these semi-skilled workers who are already drawing much higher pay than what had been prescribed by the Pay Commission. In any view of the matter, the wages paid to these semi-skilled workers are certainly much above the proverty line and are certainly good living wages and call for no revision.

There are some probationers and I do not want to interfere with their present scale of pay.

Dearness allowance:

The Company was paying dearness allowance since 1943 at the rate of 20 per cent. of the basic salary in the case of clerks drawing salary of more than Rs. 100 per month subject to a minimum of Rs. 20 per month. In the case of others, it was much less than Rs. 25 which was prescribed as the minimum dearness allowance by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. Now the question is at what rate dearness allowance should be given—whether according to the scale prescribed by the Central Pay Commission or by the recent circulars of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. The Company is willing to pay dearness allowance as per recent circular of Bengal Chamber of Commerce. Thanks to the generosity of Mr. Nawe, the Managing Director, for thus conceding to pay dearness allowance at this rate. I find that the recent scale of dearness allowance as fixed by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce is 60 per cent. of the basic pay on first 100 rupees and 30 per cent. on the next hundred and 15 per cent. on the next hundred subject to a minimum of Rs. 37 per month.

Usually Tribunals are slow and should be reluctant to grant dearness allowance with retrospective effect for reasons more than one. In the first place, it may prove a heavy burden on the Company and secondly, it is not always legal to award back allowances to take effect from a time when the case was not before the Tribunal. But the present case is quite different. The Company is quite solvent and I understand, has ear-marked some money as dearness allowance to be paid as per Bengal Chamber of Commerce circular provided the Tribunal makes a suitable award. To do justice to all, I think that it will be quite reasonable to order payment of dearness allowance with effect from 1st January 1948.

The above scale is laid down in the September Circular of Bengal Chamber of Commerce (1947) and I hope the Company will not hesitate to implement the circular of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce if the rate prescribed now proves higher than above. All the clerical staff of godown, section and office and the semi-skilled and unskilled labourers and all employees should get benefit of dearness allowance at that rate and this scale will be payable with effect from 1st January 1948.

In calculating the wages of the unskilled and semi-skilled workers, the solid basic wages as it stood in 1946 should be calculated and the dearness allowance which was incorporated with the pay at the time of November Agreement, 1946, should be left out of account.

Issue No. 5.—Working hours.

At present the existing hours of work for office staff and godown are on week days from 9-30 a.m. to 5 p.m. with half an hour tiffin and on Saturday from 9-30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and for section from 8-30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on week days and 8-30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday with half an hoour recess as above.

Regarding factory workers, I am inclined to think that the weekly duration of work do not exceed 48 hours. But the Union wanted working time to be retarded by half an hour but the Company was not willing to change the present time table. I however leave the matter to the good sense and discretion of the Management in as much as it is a matter of common experience that it is very difficult for clerks and workers to attend office and workshop at the prescribed hour especially in winter.

Issue No. 6.—Overtime work.

Regarding clerical staff, no extra payment can be made for overtime work on week days but if the clerks are asked to work on Sundays or holidays, they will get one day's pay plus dearness allowance extra. Regarding workmen in the factory, they should get double the wages as prescribed under the law for overtime work.

Issue No. 7.—Claim for Bonus for past and future years.

It is not disputed that the Tribunal is fully competent to award bonus though the same is an ex gratia payment. In this case, however, the Company had been always generous enough to pay 3 annual bonuses equivalent to 3 months' pay. This is certainly a very nice rate. The Company has all along paid bonuses for the last 3 years. A complaint has been made that there has been a discrimination regarding payment and that only European staff has got the benefit of that bonus, i.e., the December Bonus, 1946 and the Indian staff were excluded. The Company usually pays bonus once in April, and then during the Puja time and lastly in December. It is evident from the balance sheet submitted by the Company that in the year 1946, the Company made a good profit. It is not the case of the Company that December bonus of 1946 was not paid to Indian employees because the financial position was unhappy. But it is urged that the December bonus had been paid to the European staff because they were not getting the benefit of Provident Fund like the Indian staff.

In my opinion, the Company cannot escape liability to pay this bonus altogether on the ground that the scheme of Provident Fund has been introduced, for in the series of awards that had been made by the Calcutta Tribunals, bonus had been ordered to be paid on profit inspite of the fact that there is a Provident Fund scheme in force. The Company has introduced Provident Fund scheme only in 1946 as a result of the agreement and that does not exonerate the Company from the liability to pay bonus, for in the Agreement the Company stipulated to pay bonus on the profit. That being so, the Company will be well advised to pay the unpaid bonus of 1946 to the Indian employees, as there has been sufficient profit in the year in question. The principle on which bonus is granted is that it is not always an ex gratia payment but may be in some cases a return for the work done, as in this case. If the Company makes profit, it is due no doubt to the capital invested, brain of Management of the employer, but it is no less due to hard contribution made by the labour as well. The worker is entitled not only to a living wage but something more for amenities, change of diet, education to children, etc. If the income of the industry permits, such amenities should be granted. I, however, want to impress on the Management that the existing scale of bonus should not be withheld if the Company maintains the average scale of profit for the last 3 years and I hope the Company would be as generous as before.

Issue No. 8.—Free medical aid.

In view of the good scale of wages prescribed and dearness allowance already granted on somewhat lavish scale, I do not see any reason to entertain this claim. The prayer is rejected.

Issue No. 9.—Leave rules.

The November Agreement of 1946 made provision for leave as follows:—

(1) One month's holiday on full pay per year, accumulative up to three years.

Casual leave.

Two weeks holiday on full pay per year but is not accumulative.

Medical attention.

On medical certificate up to three months free after that at the Directors' discretion. In future salary will be deducted for absence without leave.

The Company wanted that this provision of leave should not apply in the case of the section. The Agreement above referred made no such reservation and was directed to cover all the departments of the Company. I see no reason why the section people should be treated differently.

Issue No. 10.—Free tiffin.

The claim is rejected.

Issue No. 11.—Granting of railway fare to employees proceeding home on leave.

I see no reason to entertain this claim.

Issue No. 12.—Loan facilities.

The Company at present advances loans without interest. I direct that this facility should not be withheld.

Issue No. 13.—Security of service.

Security of service is one of the boons which shall be given to the employees to ensure efficiency. Efficiency cannot be expected from an employee who is always labouring under an apprehension of dismissal or some such punishment. A guarantee for security of service is one of the means for ensuring good feelings between the employees and the employer which is undoubtedly the basis of efficiency. I accordingly direct that whenever any act of employee calls for punishment or warning, the charge must be placed before him in writing and he shall be given an opportunity to explain. There shall not be any discharge or dismissal for acts of commission or omission not justifying such discharge or dismissal. It is also advisable that in case of minor faults, punishment by way of warning or small fines may be made instead of taking a drastic course of dismissal or discharge which should only be resorted to in case of gross misconduct or act involving criminal breach of trust. The Company will be well advised not to resort to what is commonly known as unfair labour practice.

Issue No. 14.—Provident Fund.

By the November Agreement of 1946, compulsory Contributory Provident Fund scheme had been introduced by the Company by which the Company contributes 10 per cent. of the net salary and the employee makes a similar contribution each month. The Company wanted to withhold the benefit in the case of the menials. In the Agreement, there is no reservation made in the case of menials and I see no reason why the menials who, it is a matter of common experience to find, spend almost all they earn and make no saving, should be deprived of the benefit. It is all the more desirable that they should be compelled to make some desirable compulsory saving. Moreover, the scheme of Provident Fund is by way of retiring benefit. I direct, therefore, that the benefit of the Provident Fund should be maintained in case of all categories of employees as per Agreement of November 1946. The administration of the Fund should be guided by the Government of India Model Rules which the Company will be well advised to consult.

Issue No. 15.—Gratuity.

The Union pressed the claim of gratuity only in respect of the clerical staff numbering 8. It is a matter of common experience that these clerks who come from the middle class bhadralok family are scarcely able to make any substantive saving and considering the fact that almost all of them have completed service for more than 20 years, they are likely to retire very soon. It is also a significant fact that the Company had granted no substantial increment of pay till 1946. These clerks are made to work from day to day and have contributed by the sweat of their brow to swell the purse of the Company but the Company became charitable to them only when the Bengal Chamber of Commerce took the case of these poor clerks. The Company had no Provident Fund scheme either, and that scheme had been introduced only in 1946; therefore it is highly desirable that gratuity scheme as claimed should be introduced. The principle of granting gratuity or pension in lieu thereof in addition to Provident Fund has been accepted in several awards of the Bombay Industrial Courts and several other Tribunals in Calcutta. It is but proper that an employee who has put in certain years of service, should be entitled to the benefit of gratuity and the amount will depend on the length of service and he should be paid when he leaves the service, or retires or dies. I make the award that gratuity at the rate of one month's pay for every year of service up to a maximum of 15 months' pay calculated on the average monthly pay during the last 3 years of service for workers dying or retiring after 10 years of service will be a liberal scale. The gratuity should be paid to the clerks only and the salary for the purpose of calculating gratuity should be the substantive salary exclusive of allowances at the time of retirement. The Company however may at its discretion grant gratuity in excess of the above. Gratuity will not be paid to employee who is dismissed for dishonesty or misconduct. This payment of gratuity should be over and above the Provident Fund deposit to which an employee is otherwise entitled.

Issue No. 16.—Pension.

In view of the claim of gratuity having been allowed, this prayer is rejected.

Summary of the awards.

1. The Ivan Jones Ltd. Union must be recognised by the Company.

2. The scale of wages of unskilled workers is fixed at Rs. 30—1—35 per month. The scale of wages of semi-skilled is not disturbed—existing wages to remain.

3. Regarding clerical staff, the scale of wages as per Grades C and D of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce will apply. Salary of Barababu is not revised—it will remain as before.

4. Dearness allowance.—Monthly at 60 per cent. on first hundred rupees, 30 per cent. on the next hundred, and 15 per cent. on the next hundred, subject to a minimum of Rs. 37.

5. Overtime Work—

For clerks—One day's pay and dearness allowance extra.

For others—Double the daily allowance.

6. Bonus—Bonus of December 1946 to be paid. In future same scale of bonus is to be maintained provided there is same scale of profit.

7. Claim for free medical aid, free tiffin, railway fare and pension is rejected.

8. Leave facilities.—Same as in November Agreement 1946.

9. Security of service—Charge against employee in writing to be placed before him and he must be given an opportunity to explain. No discharge or dismissal for minor offences—only grave offences or gross misconduct or act involving criminal breach of trust to result in dismissal.

10. Provident Fund Scheme.—As per November Agreement 1946.

11. Gratuity.—Fifteen months' pay calculated on the average monthly pay of last 3 years. Only clerks will get the benefit and no other employee.

This award will come into force with effect from 1st May 1948 except in case of dearness allowance which will come into effect from 1st January 1948. This award will remain in force for one year.

I place on record here the very able arguments advanced by Sri Sushil Chandra Dutta, Advocate Calcutta High Court, who appeared on behalf of the Union and I am also thankful to Mr. Kennedy for very kind and sympathetic way in which he dealt with the case.

This notification is made under the provisions of section 4 of Act I of 1894, to all whom it may concern.

A plan of the land may be inspected in the office of the Superintending Engineer, South-Western Circle (Irrigation and Works Directorate), at Anderson House, Alipore.

In exercise of the powers conferred by the aforesaid section, the Governor is pleased to authorise the officers for the time being engaged in the undertaking, with their servants and workmen to enter upon and survey the land and do all other acts required or permitted by that section.

Any person interested in so much of the above land as are not waste or arable, who has any objection to the acquisition thereof, may, within thirty days after the date on which public notice of the substance of this notification is given in the locality, file an objection in writing before the Collector of Midnapore.

In exercise of the powers conferred by section 17(4) of the Land Acquisition Act, I of 1894, as amended by Act XXXVIII of 1923, the Governor is pleased to direct that the provisions of section 5A of the Act shall not apply to the waste or arable portions of the land in this case.

Nadia-24-Parganas.—No. 4989L.A.(P.W.).—24th June 1948.—Sri Sati Kumar Maitra and Sri Dhirendra Nath Banerji, Sub-Deputy Magistrates and Sub-Deputy Collectors, Nadia, are vested with the powers of a Collector under the Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894), in that district and in the district of 24-Parganas in connection with the acquisition of lands for the Haringhata project.

Hooghly.—No. 5006L.A.(P.W.).—24th June 1948.—Whereas it appears to the Governor that land is likely to be required to be taken by Government at the public expense for a public purpose, viz., for the re-excavation of the Saraswati River (section from the southern boundary of Manber at the district border up to the northern boundary of Krishnapur), it is hereby notified that for the above purpose pieces of land altogether measuring, more or less, 19·32 acres and comprising cadastral plots as detailed below, are likely to be required in the district of Hooghly:—

PART V—Acts of the Indian Legislature assented to by the Governor-General and Ordinances promulgated by the Governor-General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Ministry of Law.

New Delhi, the 15th April 1948.

The following Act of the Dominion Legislature received the assent of the Governor General on the 15th April 1948, and is hereby published for general information:—

ACT NO. XXIX OF 1948.

An Act to provide for the development and control of atomic energy and for purposes connected therewith.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the development and control of atomic energy and for purposes connected therewith;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short title and extent.—(1) This Act may be called the Atomic Energy Act, 1948.

(2) It extends to all the Provinces of India.

2. Declaration as to expediency of Central Government's control.—It is hereby declared that it is expedient in the public interest that the Central Government should take under its control the development of—

(a) any industry connected with the production or use of atomic energy, and

(b) any mineral which is or may be used for the production or use of atomic energy or research into matters connected therewith.

3. Definitions.—In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "atomic energy" means the energy released from atomic nuclei as a result of any process, including the fission process, but does not include energy released in any process of natural transmutation or radioactive decay which is not accelerated or influenced by external means;

(b) "minerals" includes all substances obtained or obtainable from the soil by underground or surface working;

(c) "plant" includes any machinery, equipment or appliance, whether affixed to land or not;

(d) "prescribed substance" means uranium, thorium, plutonium, neptunium or beryllium or any of their respective compounds or any other substance which the Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, prescribe, being a substance which in its opinion is or may be used for the production or use of atomic energy or research into matters connected therewith.

4. General powers of the Central Government.—The Central Government shall have power—

(a) to produce, use and dispose of atomic energy and carry out research into any matters connected therewith;

(b) to manufacture or otherwise produce, buy or otherwise acquire, store and transport any articles which in its opinion are, or are likely to be, required for or in connection with the production or use of atomic energy or such research as aforesaid, and to dispose of any articles manufactured, produced, bought or acquired by it; and

(c) to do all such things (including the erection of buildings and the execution of works and the working of minerals) as the Central Government considers necessary or expedient for the exercise of the foregoing powers.

5. Power to obtain information of materials, plant and processes.—(1) The Central Government may, by notice in writing served upon any person, require him to make such periodical and other returns, at such times and containing such particulars and accompanied by such plans, drawings and other documents as may be specified in the notice—

(a) of any prescribed substance, specified in the notice, in his possession or under his control;

(b) of any minerals so specified in his possession or under his control or present in or on land owned or occupied by him, being minerals from which, in the opinion of the Central Government, any of the prescribed substances can be obtained;

(c) of any plant in his possession or under his control designed or adapted for the production or use of atomic energy or research into matters connected therewith;

(d) of any contract entered into by him or any licence granted by or to him relating to the production or use of atomic energy or research into matters connected therewith;

(e) of any other information in his possession relating to any work carried out by him, or on his behalf or under his direction, in connection with the production or use of atomic energy or research into matters connected therewith.

(2) If any person—

(a) fails to comply with any notice served on him under this section, or

(b) knowingly makes any untrue statement in any return made in pursuance of any such notice,

he shall be guilty of an offence under this Act.

6. Power of entry and inspection.—(1) Any person authorised by the Central Government may, on producing, if so required, a duly authenticated document showing his authority, enter any premises where he has reasonable grounds for believing that work is being carried out for the purpose of or in connection with the production or use of atomic energy or research into matters connected therewith, or that any of the prescribed substances, or any minerals from which any such substance can be obtained, or any such plant as is mentioned in clause (c) of sub-section (1) of the last foregoing section are situate, and may inspect the premises and any articles found therein.

(2) The person carrying out the inspection may make copies of, or extracts from, any drawing, plan or other document found in the premises and, for the purpose of making such copies or extracts, may remove any such drawing, plan or other document after giving a duly signed receipt for the same and retain possession thereof for a period not exceeding seven days.

(3) If any person wilfully obstructs any person exercising powers under this section, he shall be guilty of an offence under this Act.

7. Power to do work for purpose of discovering minerals.—(1) The Central Government may, subject to the provisions of this section, do on, over or below the surface of any land such work as it considers necessary for the purpose of discovering whether there is present in or on the land, either in a natural state or in a deposit of waste material obtained from any underground or surface working, any mineral from which in its opinion any of the prescribed substances can be obtained, and the extent to which such mineral is so present.

(2) Before any powers are exercised under sub-section (1) in relation to any land, the Central Government shall serve on every owner, lessee and occupier of the land a notice in writing specifying the nature of the work proposed to be done and the extent of the land affected, and the time, not being less than twenty-eight days, within which and the manner in which objections can be made thereto, and no such power shall be exercised otherwise than in pursuance of the notice or before the expiration of the time specified therein for making objections.

(3) The Central Government may, after giving the person making the objection an opportunity of appearing before and being heard by a person appointed by the Central Government for the purpose and after considering any such objection and the report of the person so appointed, make such orders as it may deem proper but not so as to increase the extent of the land affected.

(4) Compensation shall be determined and paid in accordance with section 16 of this Act in respect of any diminution in the value of any land or property situate thereon resulting from the exercise of powers under this section.

(5) If any person wilfully obstructs or interferes with the exercise of powers under this section, he shall be guilty of an offence under this Act.

8. Compulsory acquisition of prescribed substances, stock of minerals and plant.—(1) The Central Government may, subject to such rules as may be made in this behalf, compulsorily acquire—

(a) any prescribed substance;

(b) any minerals, being minerals from which in the opinion of the Central Government any of the prescribed substances can be obtained;

(c) any plant not affixed to land which is designed or adapted for the production or use of atomic energy or research into matters connected therewith.

(2) Compensation in respect of the acquisition of any article under this section shall be paid in accordance with the provisions of section 16 of this Act.

9. Compulsory acquisition of certain other rights.—(1) The Central Government may serve on any person who is a party to a contract relating to the production or use of atomic energy or research into matters connected therewith, not being a contract for the rendering of personal services, a notice in writing stating that on such date as may be specified in the notice his rights and liabilities under the contract will be transferred to the Central Government, and thereupon, subject to any withdrawal of the notice under the following provisions of this section, the contract shall, as regards any rights exercisable, or liabilities incurred, on or after the said date, have effect as if the Central Government were a party to the contract instead of the person on whom the notice was served, and as if for any reference in the contract to that person there were substituted a reference to the Central Government.

(2) A notice served under sub-section (1) shall contain a statement to the effect that an objection may be made thereto within such time and in such manner as may be specified, and if any such objection is duly made and not withdrawn, the Central Government shall afford an opportunity to the person making the objection of appearing before and being heard by a person appointed by the Central Government for the purpose.

(3) After considering any such objection and the report of the person appointed by it under sub-section (2), the Central Government may make such orders as it may deem proper.

(4) Where the rights and liabilities of a party to a contract are transferred to the Central Government under this section, there shall be paid to that party such compensation in respect of any loss suffered by that party as may be agreed between him and the Central Government, and in default of such agreement, as may be determined by arbitration.

10. Control of production and use of atomic energy.—(1) The Central Government may, by order published in the official Gazette, prohibit except under a licence granted by it,—

(a) the working of any minerals specified in the order, being minerals from which in the opinion of the Central Government any of the prescribed substances can be obtained;

(b) the acquisition, production, treatment, possession, use, disposal, export or import—

(i) of any of the prescribed substances; or

(ii) of any minerals specified in the order, being minerals from which in the opinion of the Central Government any of the prescribed substances can be obtained; or

(iii) of any plant designed or adapted or manufactured for the production or use of atomic energy or for research into matters connected therewith;

and any such order may contain such incidental and supplementary provisions, including provisions for seizure, retention and disposal of any article in respect of which there are reasonable grounds for suspecting that a contravention of the order has been committed, as the Central Government considers necessary.

(2) Any person who contravenes or fails to comply with an order made under this section or any conditions subject to which a licence is granted under this section shall be guilty of an offence under this Act.

11. Restriction on disclosure of information relating to plant.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, any person who, without the consent of the Central Government, communicates to any other person not being an authorised person, or obtains or attempts to obtain, any documents, drawing, photograph, plan, model or other information whatsoever which to his knowledge describes, represents or illustrates—

(i) an existing or proposed plant used or proposed to be used for the purpose of producing or using atomic energy, or

(ii) the purpose or method of operation of any such existing or proposed plant, or

(iii) any process operated or proposed to be operated in any such existing or proposed plant, shall be guilty of an offence under this Act:

Provided that it shall not be such an offence to communicate information with respect to any plant of a type in use for purposes other than the production or use of atomic energy, unless the information discloses that plant of that type is used or proposed to be used for the production or use of atomic energy or research into any matters connected therewith.

Explanation.—In this sub-section "authorised person" means in relation to information on any subject to which this sub-section applies, a person to whom, by virtue of a general authority granted by the Central Government, information on that subject may be communicated.

(2) The Central Government may, by order, grant exemption from this section in such classes of cases and to such extent and subject to such conditions, as may be specified in the order.

(3) Where any information has been made available to the general public otherwise than in contravention of this section, any subsequent communication of that information shall not constitute an offence under this Act.

12. Special provisions as to inventions.—(1) Where an application has been made to the Controller of Patents and Designs (hereafter in this section referred to as the Controller) for the grant of a patent and it appears to the Controller that the invention which is the subject matter of the application relates to the production or use of atomic energy or research into matters connected therewith, he shall serve a notice in writing on the Central Government to that effect, and may, notwithstanding anything in any law, omit or delay the doing of anything which he would otherwise be required to do in relation to the application, and give directions for prohibiting or restricting the publication of information with respect to the subject matter of the application, or the communication of such information to particular persons or classes of persons.

(2) Upon receipt of notice under sub-section (1) the Central Government may make such orders as it may deem proper.

(3) Any person who contravenes any direction given by the Controller or any order made by the Central Government shall be guilty of an offence under this Act.

13. Delegation of powers.—The Central Government may by order direct that any power conferred on it by this Act shall be exercised or discharged by such officer or officers in such circumstances and under such conditions as may be specified in the order.

14. Disclosure of information obtained under Act.—Any person who, without the authority of the Central Government, discloses any information obtained in the exercise of powers under this Act, shall be guilty of an offence under this Act.

15. Offences and penalties.—(1) Any person guilty of an offence under this Act shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees or with both.

(2) Where any offence under this Act has been committed by a body corporate, every person who at the time of the commission of the offence was a director, general manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body corporate, or was purporting to act in any such capacity, shall be deemed to be guilty of that offence, unless he proves that the offence was committed without his consent or connivance and that he exercised all such diligence to prevent the commission of the offence as he ought to have exercised having regard to the nature of his functions in that capacity and to all the circumstances.

(3) Proceedings in respect of an offence under section 11 shall not be instituted except with the consent of the Advocate-General of India.

16. Principles relating to payment of compensation.—(1) Where by reason of the exercise of any powers under this Act, any compensation is payable, the amount of such compensation shall be determined in the manner and in accordance with the principles hereinafter set out, that is to say,—

(a) where the amount of compensation can be fixed by agreement, it shall be paid in accordance with such agreement;

(b) where no such agreement can be reached, the Central Government shall appoint as arbitrator a person having expert knowledge as to the nature of the right affected who shall determine the amount of compensation payable.

(2) In making his award the arbitrator appointed under sub-section (1) shall have regard—

(a) in the case of any compensation payable under section 7 of this Act,—

(i) to the nature of the work done,

(ii) the manner, extent and duration of the exercise of any powers under that section,

(iii) the diminution in the rent at which the land and the property situated thereon might reasonably be expected to let for any period or in the market value of the land and property on the date when the exercise of powers comes to an end, and

(iv) the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 23 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (I of 1894), in so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the exercise of powers under section 7 of this Act; and

(b) in the case of any compensation payable under section 8 of this Act, to the price which the owner might reasonably have been expected to obtain on a sale of the article effected by him immediately prior to the date of the acquisition.

(3) An appeal shall lie to the High Court against an award of the arbitrator except in cases where the amount claimed thereof does not exceed an amount prescribed in this behalf by the Central Government.

(4) The Central Government may make rules prescribing the procedure to be followed in arbitrations under this Act and the principles to be followed in the apportionment of the costs of proceedings before the arbitrator and on appeal.

(5) Save as provided in this Act nothing in any law for the time being in force relating to arbitration shall apply to arbitrations under this Act.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Ministry of Law.

New Delhi, the 16th April 1948.

The following Acts of the Dominion Legislature received the assent of the Governor-General on the 16th April 1948 and are hereby published for general information:—

ACT NO. XXXI OF 1948.

An Act to provide for the constitution of a National Cadet Corps.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the constitution of a National Cadet Corps;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short title, extent and application.—(1) This Act may be called the National Cadet Corps Act, 1948.

(2) It extends to the whole of India and applies to all persons enrolled or appointed under this Act, wherever they may be.

2. Definitions. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

"corps" means the National Cadet Corps constituted under this Act;

"enrolled" means enrolled in the Corps under this Act;

"prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act;

"school" includes any institution recognised in this behalf by the Central Government or the Provincial Government;

"university" means any university established by law in India and includes colleges affiliated to universities, intermediate colleges and such technical institutions of collegiate status, as are recognised in this behalf by the Central Government or the Provincial Government.

3. Constitution of the National Cadet Corps.—There shall be raised and maintained in the manner hereinafter provided a Corps to be designated the National Cadet Corps:

Provided that the Central Government may establish all or any of the units of the Corps as and when necessary.

4. Constitution and disbandment of units.—The Central Government may constitute in any Province or acceding State one or more units of the Corps, members of which shall be recruited from amongst the students of any university or school, and may disband or reconstitute any unit so constituted.

5. Division of the Corps into Divisions.—There shall be three Divisions of the Corps, namely:—

(i) the Senior Division, recruitment to which shall be from amongst the students of the male sex of any university;

(ii) the Junior Division, recruitment to which shall be from amongst the students of the male sex of any school; and

(iii) the Girls' Division, recruitment to which shall be from amongst the students of the female sex of any university or school.

6. Enrolment.—(1) Any student of the male sex of any university may offer himself for enrolment as a cadet in the Senior Division, and any student of the male sex of any school may offer himself for enrolment as a cadet in the Junior Division if he is of the prescribed age or over.

(2) Any student of the female sex of any university or school may offer herself for enrolment as a cadet in the Girls' Division:

Provided that in the latter case she is of the prescribed age or over.

7. Central Government may raise other units.—Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, the Central Government may, by notification, provide for the constitution of any other units of the Corps in any place and prescribe the persons or class of persons who may be eligible for enrolment therein.

8. Discharge.—Every person enrolled under this Act shall be entitled to receive his or her discharge from the Corps on the expiration of the period for which he or she was enrolled or on his or her ceasing to be borne on the roll of the university or school to which he or she may belong:

Provided that any person enrolled may be discharged at any time by such authority and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed.

9. Appointment of officers.—The Central Government may provide for the appointment of officers in or for any unit of the Corps either from amongst members of the staff of any university or school or otherwise and may prescribe the duties, powers and functions of such officers.

10. Duties of persons subject to this Act.—No person subject to this Act shall by virtue of being a member of the Corps be liable for active military service, but subject thereto any such person shall be liable to perform such duties and discharge such obligations as may be prescribed.

11. Punishment for offences under this Act.—Any person enrolled under this Act may be punished for the contravention of any rule made under this Act with fine which may extend to fifty rupees to be recovered in such manner and by such authority as may be prescribed.

12. Power to appoint Advisory Committees.—(1) The Central Government may for the purpose of advising it on all matters of policy connected with the constitution and administration of the Corps appoint a Central Advisory Committee consisting of the following persons, namely,—

(a) the Minister for Defence, who shall be the Chairman of the Committee;

(b) the Secretary to the Government of India, Ministry of Defence, ex-officio;

(c) the Secretary to the Government of India, Ministry of Education, ex-officio;

(d) the Financial Adviser, Defence, ex-officio;

(e) the Chief of the Army Staff and Commander-in-Chief, Indian Army, ex-officio;

(f) the Chief of the Air Staff and Air Marshall Commanding, Royal Indian Air Force, ex-officio;

(g) the Chief of the Naval Staff and Flag Officer Commanding, Royal Indian Navy, ex-officio;

(h) five non-official members to be nominated by the Central Government; and

(i) two members elected by the Central Legislature.

(2) The Central Government may also appoint, for the same purpose as is specified in sub-section (1), such Provincial or State Advisory Committees as it may consider deriable from time to time and may prescribe their duties and functions.

13. Power to make rules.—(1) The Central Government may make rules to carry out the objects of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power such rules may—

(a) prescribe the conditions subject to which universities or schools shall be allowed to raise units under this Act;

(b) prescribe the persons or class of persons who may be eligible for enrolment under section 7;

(c) prescribe the manner in which, the period for which and the conditions subject to which any person or class of persons may be enrolled under this Act;

(d) provide for the medical examination of persons offering themselves for enrolment under this Act;

(e) prescribe preliminary and periodical military training for any person or class of persons subject to this Act;

(f) prescribe the military or other obligations to which members of the Corps shall be liable when undergoing military training and provide generally for the maintenance of discipline amongst members of the Corps;

(g) prescribe the duties, powers and functions of officers appointed under this Act;

(h) prescribe the allowances or other remuneration payable to persons subject to this Act;

(i) provide for the removal or discharge of any person subject to this Act;

(j) prescribe the offences for which any person subject to this Act may be tried and provide for the trial thereof;

(k) prescribe the manner in which fines levied under this Act may be recovered;

(l) prescribe the duties, powers and functions of Central, Provincial or State Advisory Committees; and

(m) provide for any other matter which under this Act is to be or may be prescribed.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Ministry of Law.

New Delhi, the 19th April 1948.

The following Act of the Dominion Legislature received the assent of the Governor General on the 19th April 1948 and is hereby published for general information:—

ACT NO. XXXIV OF 1948.

An Act to provide for certain benefits to employees in case of sickness, maternity and "employment injury" and to make provision for certain other matters in relation thereto.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for certain benefits to employees in case of sickness, maternity and employment injury and to make provision for certain other matters in relation thereto;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. Short title, extent, commencement and application.—(1) This Act may be called the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948.

(2) It extends to all the Provinces of India.

(3) It shall come into force on such date or dates as the Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint, and different dates may be appointed for different provisions of this Act and for different Provinces.

(4) It shall apply, in the first instance, to all factories (including factories belonging to the Crown) other than seasonal factories.

(5) The appropriate Government may, in consultation with the Corporation and with the approval of the Central Government, after giving six months' notice of its intention of so doing by notification in the official Gazette, extend the provisions of this Act or any of them, to any other establishment or class of establishments, industrial, commercial, agricultural or otherwise.

2. Definitions.—In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "appropriate Government" means, in respect of establishments under the control of the Central Government or a federal railway or a major port or a mine or oilfield, the Central Government, and in all other cases, the Provincial Government;

(2) "benefit period" means such period of twenty-six consecutive weeks or six consecutive months corresponding to the contribution period, or in the case of the first benefit period, such longer or shorter period, as may be specified in the regulations;

(3) "confinement" means labour resulting in the issue of a living child, or labour after twenty-six weeks of pregnancy resulting in the issue of a child whether alive or dead;

(4) "contribution" means the sum of money payable to the Corporation by the principal employer in respect of an employee and includes any amount payable by or on behalf of the employee in accordance with the provisions of this Act;

(5) "contribution period" means such period of twenty-six consecutive weeks or six consecutive months, or in the case of the first contribution period, such longer or shorter period, as may be specified in the regulations

(6) "Corporation" means the Employees' State Insurance Corporation set up under this Act;

(7) "duly appointed" means appointed in accordance with the provisions of this Act or with the rules or regulations made thereunder;

(8) "employment injury" means a personal injury to an employee caused by accident or an occupational disease arising out of and in the course of his employment in a factory or establishment to which this Act applies, which injury or occupational disease would entitle such employee to compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923), if he were a workman within the meaning of the said Act;

(9) "employee" means any person employed for wages in or in connection with the work of a factory or establishment to which this Act applies and—

- (i) who is directly employed by the principal employer on any work of, or incidental or preliminary to, or connected with the work of, the factory or establishment, whether such work is done by the employee in the factory or establishment or elsewhere; or
- (ii) who is employed by or through an immediate employer on the premises of the factory or establishment or under the supervision of the principal employer or his agent on work which is ordinarily part of the work of the factory or establishment or which is preliminary to the work carried on in or incidental to the purpose of the factory or establishment; or
- (iii) whose services are temporarily lent or let on hire to the principal employer by the person with whom the person whose services are so lent or let on hire has entered into a contract of service;

but does not include—

- (a) any member of His Majesty's naval, military or air forces; or
- (b) any person employed on a remuneration which in the aggregate exceeds four hundred rupees a month.

(10) "exempted employee" means an employee who is not liable under this Act to pay the employee's contribution;

(11) "family" means the spouse and minor legitimate and adopted children dependent upon the insured person and where the insured person is a male, his dependent parents;

(12) "factory" means any premises including the precincts thereof whereon twenty or more persons are working or were working on any day of the preceding twelve months, and in any part of which a manufacturing process is being carried on with the aid of power or is ordinarily so carried on but does not include a mine subject to the operation of the Indian Mines Act, 1923 (IV of 1923);

"seasonal factory" means a factory which is exclusively engaged in one or more of the following manufacturing processes, namely, cotton ginning, cotton or jute pressing, decortication of groundnuts, the manufacture of coffee, indigo, lac, rubber, sugar (including gur) or tea or any manufacturing process which is incidental to or connected with any of the aforesaid processes;

The expressions "manufacturing process" and "power" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in the Factories Act, 1934 (XXV of 1934);

(13) "immediate employer", in relation to employees employed by or through him, means a person who has undertaken the execution, on the premises of a factory or an establishment to which this Act applies or under the supervision of the principal employer or his agent, of the whole or any part of any work which is ordinarily part of the work of the factory or establishment of the principal employer or is preliminary to the work carried on in, or incidental to the purpose of, any such factory or establishment, and includes a person by whom the services of an employee who has entered into a contract of service with him are temporarily lent or let on hire to the principal employer;

(14) "insured person" means a person who is or was an employee in respect of whom contributions are or were payable under this Act and who is, by reason thereof, entitled to any of the benefits provided by this Act;

(15) "occupier" of the factory shall have the meaning assigned to it in the Factories Act, 1934 (XXV of 1934);

14. Filling of vacancies.—(1) Vacancies in the office of nominated or elected members of the Corporation, the Standing Committee and the Medical Benefit Council shall be filled by nomination or election, as the case may be.

(2) A member of the Corporation, the Standing Committee or the Medical Benefit Council nominated or elected to fill a casual vacancy shall hold office only so long as the member in whose place he is nominated or elected would have been entitled to hold office if the vacancy had not occurred.

15. Fees and allowances.—Members of the Corporation, the Standing Committee and the Medical Benefit Council shall receive such fees and allowances as may from time to time be prescribed by the Central Government.

16. Principal Officers.—(1) The Central Government may, in the case of the first appointments itself and in the case of subsequent appointments, in consultation with the Corporation, appoint the following officers (hereinafter referred to as Principal Officers) of the Corporation, namely:—

(a) a Director-General of Employees' State Insurance;

(b) an Insurance Commissioner;

(c) a Medical Commissioner;

(d) a Chief Accounts Officer; and

(e) an Actuary.

(2) The Director-General shall be the Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation.

(3) The Principal Officers shall be whole-time officers of the Corporation and shall not undertake any work unconnected with their office without the sanction of the Central Government.

(4) A Principal Officer shall hold office for such period, not exceeding five years, as may be specified in the order appointing him. An outgoing Principal Officer shall be eligible for reappointment if he is otherwise qualified.

(5) A Principal Officer shall receive such salary and allowances as may be prescribed by the Central Government.

(6) A person shall be disqualified from being appointed as or for being a Principal Officer if he is subject to any of the disqualifications specified in section 13.

(7) The Central Government may at any time remove a Principal Officer from office and shall do so if such removal is recommended by a resolution of the Corporation passed at a special meeting called for the purpose and supported by the votes of not less than two-thirds of the total strength of the Corporation.

17. Staff.—(1) The Corporation may employ such other staff of officers and servants as may be necessary for the efficient transaction of its business provided that the sanction of the Central Government shall be obtained for the creation of any post with a maximum monthly salary of five hundred rupees and above.

(2) The Corporation shall, with the approval of the Central Government, make regulations regarding the method of recruitment, pay and allowances, discipline, superannuation benefits and other conditions of service of the members of its staff.

(3) Every appointment to posts carrying a maximum monthly pay of five hundred rupees and above shall be made in consultation with the Federal Public Service Commission:

Provided that this sub-section shall not apply to an officiating or temporary appointment for an aggregate period not exceeding one year.

18. Powers of the Standing Committee.—(1) Subject to the general superintendence and control of the Corporation, the Standing Committee shall administer the affairs of the Corporation and may exercise any of the powers and perform any of the functions of the Corporation.

(2) The Standing Committee shall submit for the consideration and decision of the Corporation all such cases and matters as may be specified in the regulations made in this behalf.

(3) The Standing Committee may, in its discretion, submit any other case or matter for the decision of the Corporation.

19. Corporation's power to promote measures for health, etc., of insured persons.—The Corporation may, in addition to the scheme of benefits specified in this Act, promote measures for the improvement of the health and welfare of insured persons and for the rehabilitation and re-employment of insured persons who have been disabled or injured and may incur in respect of such measures expenditure from the funds of the Corporation within such limits as may be prescribed by the Central Government.

20. Meetings of Corporation, Standing Committee and Medical Benefit Council.—Subject to any rules made under this Act, the Corporation, the Standing Committee and the Medical Benefit Council shall meet at such times and places and shall observe such rules or procedure in regard to transaction of business at their meetings as may be specified in the regulations made in this behalf.

21. Supersession of the Corporation and Standing Committee.—(1) If in the opinion of the Central Government, the Corporation or the Standing Committee persistently makes default in performing the duties imposed on it by or under this Act or abuses its powers, that Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, supersede the Corporation, or in the case of the Standing Committee, supersede in consultation with the Corporation, the Standing Committee:

Provided that before issuing a notification under this sub-section the Central Government shall give a reasonable opportunity to the Corporation or the Standing Committee, as the case may be, to show cause why it should not be superseded and shall consider the explanations and objections, if any, of the Corporation or the Standing Committee, as the case may be.

(2) Upon the publication of a notification under sub-section (1) superseding the Corporation or the Standing Committee, all the members of the Corporation or the Standing Committee, as the case may be, shall, as from the date of such publication, be deemed to have vacated their offices.

(3) When the Standing Committee has been superseded, a new Standing Committee shall be immediately constituted in accordance with section 8.

(4) When the Corporation has been superseded, the Central Government may—

(a) immediately nominate or cause to be nominated or elected new members to the Corporation in accordance with section 4 and may constitute a new Standing Committee under section 8;

(b) in its discretion, appoint such agency, for such period as it may think fit, to exercise the powers and perform the functions of the Corporation and such agency shall be competent to exercise all the powers and perform all the functions of the Corporation.

(5) The Central Government shall cause a full report of any action taken under this section and the circumstances leading to such action to be laid before the Central Legislature at the earliest opportunity and in any case not later than three months from the date of the notification superseding the Corporation or the Standing Committee, as the case may be.

22. Duties of Medical Benefit Council.—The Medical Benefit Council shall—

(a) advise the Corporation, the Standing Committee and the Medical Commissioner on matters relating to the administration of medical benefit, the certification for purposes of the grant of benefits and other connected matters;

(b) have such powers and duties of investigation as may be prescribed in relation to complaints against medical practitioners in connection with medical treatment and attendance; and (c) perform such other duties in connection with medical treatment and attendance as may be specified in the regulations.

23. Duties of Principal Officers.—The Principal Officers shall exercise such powers and discharge such duties as may be prescribed. They shall also perform such other functions as may be specified in the regulations.

24. Acts of Corporation, etc., not invalid by reason of defect in constitution, etc.—No act of the Corporation, the Standing Committee or the Medical Benefit Council shall be deemed to be invalid by reason of any defect in the constitution of the Corporation, the Standing Committee or the Medical Benefit Council, or on the ground that any member thereof was not entitled to hold or continue in office by reason of any disqualification or of any irregularity in his nomination or election, or by reason of such act having been done during the period of any vacancy in the office of any member of the Corporation, the Standing Committee or the Medical Benefit Council.

25. Regional Boards, Local Committees, Regional and Local Medical Benefit Councils.—The Corporation may appoint Regional Boards, Local Committees and Regional and Local Medical Benefit Councils in such areas and in such manner, and delegate to them such powers and functions, as may be provided by the regulations.

CHAPTER III.

FINANCE AND AUDIT.

26. Employees' State Insurance Fund.—(1) All contributions paid under this Act and all other moneys received on behalf of the Corporation shall be paid into a fund called the Employees' State Insurance Fund which shall be held and administered by the Corporation for the purposes of this Act.

(2) The Corporation may accept grants, donations and gifts from the Central or any Provincial Government, Indian State, local authority, or any individual or body whether incorporated or not, for all or any of the purposes of this Act.

(3) All moneys accruing or payable to the said Fund shall be received by such officers of the Corporation as may be authorised by it in this behalf and shall forthwith be paid by them into the Reserve Bank of India or such other bank as may be approved by the Central Government, to an account styled the account of the Employees' State Insurance Fund.

(4) Such account shall be operated on by such officers as may be authorised by the Standing Committee with the approval of the Corporation.

27. Grant by the Central Government.—The Central Government shall, every year during the first five years, make a grant to the Corporation of a sum equivalent to two-thirds of the administrative expenses of the Corporation not including therein the cost of any benefits provided by or under this Act.

28. Purposes for which the Fund may be expended.—Subject to the provisions of this Act and of any rules made by the Central Government in that behalf, the Employees' State Insurance Fund shall be expended only for the following purposes, namely:—

(i) payment of benefits and provision of medical treatment and attendance to insured persons and, where the medical benefit is extended to their families, the provision of such medical benefit to their families, in accordance with the provisions of this Act and defraying the charges and costs in connection therewith;

(ii) payment of fees and allowances to members of the Corporation, the Standing Committee and the Medical Benefit Council, the Regional Boards, Local Committees and Regional and Local Medical Benefit Councils;

(iii) payment of salaries, leave and joining time allowances, travelling and compensatory allowances, gratuities and compassionate allowances, pensions, contributions to provident or other benefit fund of officers and servants of the Corporation and meeting the expenditure in respect of offices and other services set up for the purpose of giving effect to the provisions of this Act;

(iv) establishment and maintenance of hospitals, dispensaries and other institutions and the provision of medical and other ancillary services for the benefit of insured persons and where the medical benefit is extended to their families, their families;

(v) payment of contributions to any Provincial Government, Indian State, local authority or any private body or individual, towards the cost of medical treatment and attendance provided to insured persons and, where the medical benefit is extended to their families, their families including the cost of any building and equipment, in accordance with any agreement entered into by the Corporation;

(vi) defraying the cost (including all expenses) of auditing the accounts of the Corporation and of the valuation of its assets and liabilities;

(vii) defraying the cost (including all expenses) of the Employees' Insurance Courts set up under this Act;

(viii) payment of any sums under any contract entered into for the purposes of this Act by the Corporation or the Standing Committee or by any officer duly authorised by the Corporation or the Standing Committee in that behalf;

(ix) payment of sums under any decree, order or award of any Court or Tribunal against the Corporation or any of its officers or servants for any act done in the execution of his duty or under a compromise or settlement of any suit or other legal proceeding or claim instituted or made against the Corporation;

(x) defraying the cost and other charges of instituting or defending any civil or criminal proceedings arising out of any action taken under this Act;

(xi) defraying expenditure, within the limits prescribed, on measures for the improvement of the health and welfare of insured persons and for the rehabilitation and re-employment of insured persons who have been disabled or injured; and

(xii) such other purposes as may be authorised by the Corporation with the previous approval of the Central Government.

29. Holding of property, etc.—(1) The Corporation may, subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the Central Government, acquire and hold property both movable and immovable, sell or otherwise transfer any movable or immovable property which may have become vested in or have been acquired by it and do all things necessary for the purposes for which the Corporation is established.

(2) Subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the Central Government, the Corporation may from time to time invest any moneys which are not immediately required for expenses properly defrayable under this Act and may, subject as aforesaid, from time to time re-invest or realise such investments.

(3) The Corporation may, with the previous sanction of the Central Government and on such terms as may be prescribed by it, raise loans and take measures for discharging such loans.

(4) The Corporation may constitute for the benefit of its staff or any class of them, such provident or other benefit fund as it may think fit.

30. Vesting of the property in the Corporation.—All property acquired before the establishment of the Corporation shall vest in the Corporation and all income derived and expenditure incurred in this behalf shall be brought into the books of the Corporation.

31. Expenditure by Central Government to be treated as a loan.—All expenditure incurred by the Central Government for and in connection with the establishment of the Corporation up to the date of its establishment shall be treated as a loan advanced by the Central Government to the Corporation and such loan shall be adjusted against grants from the Central Government to the Corporation.

32. Budget estimates.—The Corporation shall in each year frame a budget showing the probable receipts and the expenditure which it proposes to incur during the following year and shall submit a copy of the budget for the approval of the Central Government before such date as may be fixed by it in that behalf. The budget shall contain provisions adequate in the opinion of the Central Government for the discharge of the liabilities incurred by the Corporation and for the maintenance of a working balance.

33. Accounts.—The Corporation shall maintain correct accounts of its income and expenditure in such form and in such manner as may be prescribed by the Central Government.

34. Audit.—(1) The accounts of the Corporation shall be audited, at such times and in such manner as may be prescribed, by auditors appointed by the Central Government.

(2) The auditors shall at all reasonable times have access to the books, accounts and other documents of the Corporation and may, for the purposes of the audit, call for such explanation and information as they may require or examine any principal or other officer of the Corporation.

(3) The auditors shall forward to the Central Government a copy of their report together with an audited copy of the accounts of the Corporation.

(4) The cost of the audit as determined by the Central Government shall be paid out of the funds of the Corporation.

35. Annual report.—The Corporation shall submit to the Central Government an annual report of its work and activities.

36. Budget, audited accounts and the annual report to be placed before the Central Legislature.—The annual report, the audited accounts of the Corporation, and the budget as finally adopted by the Corporation shall be placed before the Central Legislature and published in the official Gazette.

37. Valuation of assets and liabilities.—The Corporation shall, at intervals of five years, have a valuation of its assets and liabilities made by a valuer appointed with the approval of the Central Government:

Provided that it shall be open to the Central Government to direct a valuation to be made at such other times as it may consider necessary.

CHAPTER IV.

CONTRIBUTIONS.

38. All employees to be insured.—Subject to the provisions of this Act, all employees in factories or establishments to which this Act applies shall be insured in the manner provided by this Act.

39. Contributions.—(1) The contribution payable under this Act in respect of an employee shall comprise contribution payable by the employer (hereinafter referred to as the employer's contribution) and contribution payable by the employee (hereinafter referred to as the employee's contribution) and shall be paid to the Corporation.

(2) The contributions shall be paid at the rates specified in the First Schedule, and in case where the provisions of this Act are made applicable to any employee or class of employees in any factory or establishment or class of factories or establishments in such manner that they are excluded from some of the benefits under this Act, at such rates as the Corporation may fix in this behalf.

(3) A week shall be the unit in respect of which all contributions shall be payable under this Act.

(4) The contributions payable in respect of each week shall ordinarily fall due on the last day of the week, and where an employee is employed for part of the week, or is employed under two or more employers during the same week, the contributions shall fall due on such days as may be specified in the regulations.

40. Principal employer to pay contributions in the first instance.—(1) The principal employer shall pay in respect of every employee, whether directly employed by him or by or through an immediate employer, both the employer's contribution and the employee's contribution.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other enactment but subject to the provisions of this Act and the regulations, if any, made thereunder, the principal employer shall, in the case of an employee directly employed by him (not being an exempted employee), be entitled to recover from the employee the employee's contribution by deduction from his wages and not otherwise:

Provided that no such deduction shall be made from any wages other than such as relate to the period or part of the period in respect of which the contribution is payable, or in excess of the sum representing the employee's contribution for the period.

(3) Notwithstanding any contract to the contrary, neither the principal employer nor the immediate employer shall be entitled to deduct the employer's contribution from any wages payable to an employee or otherwise to recover it from him.

(4) Any sum deducted by the principal employer from wages under this Act shall be deemed to have been entrusted to him by the employee for the purpose of paying the contribution in respect of which it was deducted.

(5) The principal employer shall bear the expenses of remitting the contributions to the Corporation.

41. Recovery of contribution from immediate employer.—(1) A principal employer, who has paid contribution in respect of an employee employed by or through an immediate employer, shall be entitled to recover the amount of the contribution so paid (that is to say the employer's contribution as well as the employee's contribution, if any) from the immediate employer, either by deduction from any amount payable to him by the principal employer under any contract, or as a debt payable by the immediate employer.

(2) In the case referred to in sub-section (1), the immediate employer shall be entitled to recover the employee's contribution from the employee employed by or through him by deduction from wages and not otherwise, subject to the conditions specified in the proviso to sub-section (2) of section 40.

Explanation.—For the purposes of sections 40 and 41, wages shall be deemed to include payment to an employee in respect of any period of authorised leave, lock-out or legal strike.

42. General provisions as to payment of contributions.—(1) No employee's contribution shall be payable by or on behalf of an employee whose average daily wages are below one rupee.

Explanation.—The average daily wages of an employee shall be calculated in the manner specified in the First Schedule.

(2) Contribution (both the employer's contribution and the employee's contribution) shall be payable by the principal employer for each week during the whole or part of which an employee is employed.

(3) Where wages are payable to an employee for a portion of the week, the employer shall be liable to pay both the employer's contribution and the employee's contribution for the week in full but shall be entitled to recover from the employee the employee's contribution.

(4) No contribution shall be payable in respect of an employee for any week during the whole of which no services are rendered by an employee and in respect of which no wages are payable to him.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-section (4), contribution shall be payable, in respect of any week during which no services are rendered by and no wages are paid to an employee, at the rate at which contribution was last paid, where the failure to render such services is due to the employee being on authorised leave, or is due to a lock-out or a legal strike, if in respect of the period covered by such legal strike the employee receives wages in full or in part.

43. Method of payment of contribution.—Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Corporation may make regulations for any matter relating or incidental to the payment and collection of contributions payable under this Act and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power such regulations may provide for—

(a) the manner and time of payment of contributions;

(b) the payment of contributions by means of adhesive or other stamps affixed to or impressed upon books, cards or otherwise and regulating the manner, times and conditions in, at and under which, such stamps are to be affixed or impressed;

(c) the entry in or upon books or cards of particulars of contributions paid and benefits distributed in the case of the insured persons to whom such books or cards relate; and

(d) the issue, sale, custody, production, inspection and delivery of books or cards and the replacement of books or cards which have been lost, destroyed or defaced.

44. Returns by employers.—Every principal and immediate employer shall submit to the Corporation or to such officer of the Corporation as it may direct such returns in such form and containing such particulars relating to persons employed by him, as may be specified in regulations made in this behalf.

45. Inspectors, their functions and duties.—(1) The Corporation may appoint such persons as Inspectors, as it thinks fit, for the purposes of this Act, within such local limits as it may assign to them.

(2) Any Inspector appointed by the Corporation under sub-section (1) (hereinafter referred to as Inspector), or other official of the Corporation authorised in this behalf by it may, for the purposes of enquiring into the correctness of any of the particulars stated in any return referred to in section 44 or for the purpose of ascertaining whether any of the provisions of this Act has been complied with—

(a) require any principal or immediate employer to furnish to him such information as he may consider necessary for the purposes of this Act; or

(b) at any reasonable time enter any office, establishment, factory or other premises occupied by such principal or immediate employer and require any person found in charge thereof to produce to such Inspector or other official and allow him to examine such accounts, books and other documents relating to the employment of persons and payment of wages or to furnish to him such information as he may consider necessary; or

(c) examine, with respect to any matter relevant to the purposes aforesaid, the principal or immediate employer, his agent or servant, or any person found in such factory, establishment, office or other premises, or any person whom the said Inspector or other official has reasonable cause to believe to be or to have been an employee.

(3) An Inspector shall exercise such functions and perform such duties as may be authorised by the Corporation or as may be specified in the regulations.

CHAPTER V.

BENEFITS.

46. Benefits.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the insured persons or, as the case may be, their dependants shall be entitled to the following benefits, namely:—

(a) periodical payments to any insured person in case of his sickness certified by a duly appointed medical practitioner (hereinafter referred to as sickness benefit);

(b) periodical payments in case of confinement to an insured woman, certified to be eligible for such payments by an authority specified in this behalf by the regulations (hereinafter referred to as maternity benefit);

(c) periodical payments to an insured person suffering from disablement as a result of an employment injury sustained as an employee under this Act and certified to be eligible for such payments by an authority specified in this behalf by the regulations (hereinafter referred to as disablement benefit);

(d) periodical payments to such dependants of an insured person who dies as a result of an employment injury sustained as an employee under this Act as are entitled to compensation under this Act (hereinafter referred to as dependants' benefit); and

(e) medical treatment for and attendance on insured persons (hereinafter referred to as medical benefit).

(2) The Corporation may, at the request of the appropriate Government and subject to such conditions as may be laid down in the regulations, extend the medical benefits to the family of an insured person.

47. When person eligible for sickness benefit.—A person shall be qualified to claim sickness benefit during any benefit period, if during the corresponding contribution period, weekly contributions in respect of him were payable for not less than two-thirds of the number of weeks during which he shall be deemed to have been available for employment within the meaning of section 48, subject to a minimum of twelve contributions:

Provided that the Corporation may waive the minimum number of contributions during the first contribution period.

48. When person deemed available for employment.—A person shall always be deemed to have been available for employment in any week, except when during the whole of such week,—

(a) he was unable to work on account of sickness which had been duly certified whether entitling him to receive sickness benefit or not, or

(b) he was qualified to receive disablement benefit for temporary disablement, or

(c) in the case of an insured woman, she was entitled to the maternity benefit provided in section 50 or she would have been entitled to such benefit if she had fulfilled all other conditions entitling her thereto.

49. Sickness benefit.—Subject to the provisions of this Act and the regulations, if any, a person qualified to claim sickness benefit in accordance with section 47 shall be entitled to receive such benefit at the rates specified in the Second Schedule for the period of his sickness:

Provided that he shall not be entitled to the benefit for an initial waiting period of two days except in the case of a spell of sickness following, at an interval of not more than fifteen days, the spell of sickness for which sickness benefit was last paid:

Provided further that sickness benefit shall not be paid to any person for a number of days in excess of the number which taken together with the number of days for which he has already received the benefit makes up a total of fifty-six days during any continuous period of three hundred and sixty-five days.

50. Maternity benefit.—(1) An insured woman shall be qualified to claim maternity benefit for a confinement occurring in a benefit period if during the corresponding contribution period, weekly contributions in respect of her were payable for not less than two-thirds of the number of weeks during which she shall be deemed to have been available for employment within the meaning of section 48, subject to a minimum of twelve contributions:

Provided that at last one contribution has been paid between thirty-five and forty weeks before the week in which the confinement takes place or in which notice of pregnancy is given before confinement whichever is more advantageous to the insured person.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act, and the regulations, if any, an insured woman who is qualified to claim maternity benefit in accordance with sub-section (1) shall be entitled to receive it at the rate of twelve annas a day for all days on which she does not work for remuneration during a period of twelve weeks of which not more than six shall precede the expected date of confinement.

51. Disablement benefit.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, and the regulations, if any, disablement benefit shall be payable—

(a) to a person who sustains temporary disablement, during the period of such disablement;

(b) to a person who sustains permanent partial disablement, during his life;

(c) to a person who sustains permanent total disablement, during his life; and

(d) to a person, in all cases of disablement not falling under sub-clauses (a), (b) or (c) of this sub-section, as may be provided in the regulations.

(2) Disablement benefit shall be paid on the scale and subject to the conditions specified in this behalf in the Second Schedule.

52. Dependants benefit.—Where an insured person dies as a result of an employment injury sustained as an employee under this Act, dependants' benefit shall be payable subject to the provisions of this Act and the regulations, if any, to his dependants at such rates and for such period as is specified in the Second Schedule.

53. Disablement and dependants' benefits.—Where an insured person is or his dependants are entitled to receive or recover, whether from the employer of the insured person or from any other person any compensation or damages under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923), or otherwise, in respect of an employment injury sustained by the insured person as an employee under this Act, then the following provisions shall apply, namely:—

(i) The insured person shall, in lieu of such compensation or damages, receive the disablement benefit provided by this Act [but subject otherwise to the conditions specified in the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923)] from the Corporation and not from the employer or other person.

(ii) If the insured person dies as a result of the employment injury sustained as an employee under this Act (whether or not he was in receipt of any periodical payment for temporary disablement in respect of the injury), dependants' benefit shall be payable at the rates and in the proportion specified in the Second Schedule to his widow or widows during her or their widowhood, and to minor legitimate or adopted sons and minor legitimate unmarried daughters.

(iii) In case the insured person does not leave him surviving any widow or children as mentioned in clause (ii) or in the case of an insured woman if she does not leave her surviving any children as mentioned in clause (ii), dependants' benefit shall be paid to the other dependants of the deceased at such rates as may be determined by the Commissioner appointed under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923).

(iv) The amount of dependants' benefit payable under clause (iii) shall not exceed one-half of the amount which would have been payable to the insured person as benefit on permanent total disablement.

(v) Save as modified by this Act, the obligations and liabilities imposed on an employer by the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923), shall continue to apply to him.

54. Medical examination.—All medical examinations and treatment referred to in the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923), shall for the purposes of this Act, be carried out by duly appointed medical practitioners.

55. Review of benefits.—(1) Any payment of disablement benefit may be reviewed by the Commissioner appointed under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923), on the application of—

(a) an Insurance Officer of the Corporation, or

(b) the person receiving the benefit, and such application shall be accompanied by a certificate of a duly appointed medical officer:

Provided that such application may be made without such certificate in such circumstances as may be specified in the regulations made in this behalf.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Commissioner may, on such review as aforesaid, direct that the disablement benefit be continued, increased, reduced or discontinued.

56. Medical benefit.—(1) An insured person or (where such medical benefit is extended to his family) a member of his family whose condition requires medical treatment and attendance shall be entitled to receive medical benefit.

(2) Such medical benefit may be given either in the form of out-patient treatment and attendance in a hospital or dispensary, clinic or other institution or by visits to the home of the insured person or treatment as in-patient in a hospital or other institution.

(3) A person shall be entitled to medical benefit during any week for which contributions are payable in respect of him or in which he is qualified to claim sickness benefit or maternity benefit or, as provided under the regulations, is in receipt of disablement benefit:

Provided that a person in respect of whom contribution ceases to be payable under this Act may be allowed medical benefit for such period and of such nature as may be provided under the regulations.

57. Scale of medical benefit.—(1) An insured person and (where such medical benefit is extended to his family) his family shall be entitled to receive medical benefit only of such kind and on such scale as may be provided by the Provincial Government or by the Corporation, and an insured person or, where such medical benefit is extended to his family, his family shall not have a right to claim any medical treatment except such as is provided by the dispensary, hospital, clinic or other institution to which he or his family is allotted, or as may be provided by the regulations.

(2) Nothing in this Act shall entitle an insured person and (where such medical benefit is extended to his family) his family to claim reimbursement from the Corporation of any expenses incurred in respect of any medical treatment, except as may be provided by the regulations.

58. Provision of medical treatment by Provincial Government.—(1) The Provincial Government shall provide for insured persons and (where such benefit is extended to their families) their families in the Province, reasonable medical, surgical and obstetric treatment:

Provided that the Provincial Government may, with the approval of the Corporation, arrange for medical treatment at clinics of medical practitioners on such scale and subject to such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon.

(2) Where the incidence of sickness benefit payment to insured persons in any province is found to exceed the all-India average, the amount of such excess shall be shared between the Corporation and the Provincial Government in such proportion as may be fixed by agreement between them:

Provided that the Corporation may in any case waive the recovery of the whole or any part of the share which is to be borne by the Provincial Government.

(3) The Corporation may enter into an agreement with a Provincial Government in regard to the nature and scale of the medical treatment that should be provided to insured persons and (where such medical benefit is extended to the families) their families (including provision of buildings, equipment, medicines, and staff) and for the sharing of the cost thereof and of any excess in the incidence of sickness benefit to insured persons between the Corporation and the Provincial Government.

(4) In default of agreement between the Corporation and any Provincial Government as aforesaid the nature and extent of the medical treatment to be provided by the Provincial Government and the proportion in which the cost thereof and of the excess in the incidence of sickness benefit shall be shared between the Corporation and that Government, shall be determined by an arbitrator (who shall be or shall have been a Judge of the High Court of a Province) appointed by the Chief Justice of India and the award of the arbitrator shall be binding on the Corporation and the Provincial Government.

59. Establishment and maintenance of hospitals, etc., by Corporation.—(1) The Corporation may, with the approval of the Provincial Government, establish and maintain in a Province such hospitals, dispensaries and other medical and surgical services as it may think fit for the benefit of insured persons and (where such medical benefit is extended to their families) their families.

(2) The Corporation may enter into agreement with any Indian State, local authority, private body or individual in regard to the provision of medical treatment and attendance for insured persons and (where such medical benefit is extended to their families) their families, in any area and sharing the cost thereof.

GENERAL.

60. Benefit not assignable or attachable.—(1) The right to receive any payment of any benefit under this Act shall not be transferable or assignable.

(2) No cash benefit payable under this Act shall be liable to attachment or sale in execution of any decree or order of any Court.

61. Bar of benefits under other enactments.—When a person is entitled to any of the benefits provided by this Act, he shall not be entitled to receive any similar benefit admissible under the provisions of any other enactment.

62. Persons not to commute cash benefits.—Save as may be provided in the regulations no person shall be entitled to commute for a lump sum any periodical payment admissible under this Act.

63. Persons not entitled to receive benefits in certain cases.—No person shall be entitled to sickness benefit or maternity benefit or disablement benefit for temporary disablement in respect of any day on which he works and receives wages.

64. Receipts of sickness or disablement benefit to observe conditions.—A person who is in receipt of sickness benefit or disablement benefit (other than benefit granted on permanent disablement)—

(a) shall remain under medical treatment at a dispensary, hospital, clinic or other institution provided under this Act and shall carry out the instructions given by the medical officer or medical attendant in charge thereof;

(b) shall not while under treatment do anything which might retard or prejudice his chances of recovery;

(c) shall not leave the area in which medical treatment provided by this Act is being given, without the permission of the medical officer, medical attendant or such other authority as may be specified in this behalf by the regulations; and

(d) shall allow himself to be examined by any duly appointed medical officer or sick visitor or other person authorised by the Corporation in this behalf.

65. Benefits not to be combined.—(1) An insured person shall not be entitled to receive for the same period—

(a) both sickness benefit and maternity benefit; or

(b) both sickness benefit and disablement benefit for temporary disablement; or

(c) both maternity benefit and disablement benefit for temporary disablement.

(2) Where a person is entitled to more than one of the benefits mentioned in sub-section (1), he shall be entitled to choose which benefit he shall receive.

66. Corporation's right to recover damages from employer in certain cases.—(1) Where any employment injury is sustained by an insured person as an employee under this Act by reason of the negligence of the employer to observe any of the safety rules laid down by or under any enactment applicable to a factory or establishment or by reason of any wrongful act of the employer or his agent, the Corporation shall notwithstanding the fact that the employer has paid the weekly contributions due under this Act in respect of such insured person be entitled to be reimbursed by the employer or the principal who is liable to pay compensation under section 12 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923), the actuarial present value of the periodical payments which the Corporation is liable to make under this Act.

(2) For the purposes of this Act, the actuarial present value of the periodical payments shall be determined in such manner as may be specified in the regulations.

67. Corporation's right to be indemnified in certain cases.—Where an insured person is entitled to receive or to recover (but has not received or recovered), whether from his employer or any other person, compensation or damages under any law for the time being in force in respect of any employment injury caused under circumstances creating a legal liability in some person other than the employer or his agent, the Corporation shall be entitled to be indemnified by the person so liable:

Provided that the Corporation shall not be entitled to be indemnified by an employer who has paid contributions in respect of the employee sustaining the employment injury as an employee under this Act, except in cases covered by section 66.

68. Corporation's rights where a principal employer fails or neglects to pay any contribution.—(1) If any principal employer fails or neglects to pay any contribution which under this Act he is liable to pay in respect of any employee and by reason thereof such person becomes disentitled to any benefit or entitled to a benefit on a lower scale, the Corporation may, on being satisfied that the contribution should have been paid by the principal employer, pay to the person the benefit at the rate to which he would have been entitled if the failure or neglect had not occured and the Corporation shall be entitled to recover from the principal employer either—

(i) the difference between the amount of benefit which is paid to the said person and the amount of the benefit which would be payable on the basis of the contributions which should have been paid by the employer, or

(ii) twice the amount of the contribution which the employer failed or neglected to pay, whichever is greater.

(2) The amount recoverable under this section may be recovered as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

69. Liability of owner or occupier of factories, etc., for excessive sickness benefit.—(1) Where the Corporation considers that the incidence of sickness among insured persons is excessive by reason of—

(i) insanitary working conditions in a factory or establishment or the neglect of the owner or occupier of the factory or establishment to observe any health regulations enjoined on him by or under any enactment, or

(ii) insanitary conditions of any tenements or lodgings occupied by insured persons and such insanitary conditions are attributable to the neglect of the owner of the tenements or lodgings to observe any health regulations enjoined on him by or under any enactment, the Corporation may send to the owner or occupier of the factory or establishment or to the owner of the tenements or lodgings, as the case may be, a claim for the payment of the amount of the extra expenditure incurred by the Corporation as sickness benefit; and if the claim is not settled by agreement, the Corporation may refer the matter, with a statement in support of its claim, to the appropriate Government.

(2) If the appropriate Government is of opinion that a prima facie case for inquiry is disclosed, it may appoint a competent person or persons to hold an inquiry into the matter.

(3) If upon such inquiry it is proved to the satisfaction of the person or persons holding the inquiry that the excess in incidence of sickness among the insured persons is due to the default or neglect of the owner or occupier of the factory or establishment or the owner of the tenements or lodgings, as the case may be, the said person or persons shall determine the amount of the extra expenditure incurred as sickness benefit, and the person or persons by whom the whole or any part of such amount shall be paid to the Corporation.

(4) A determination under sub-section (3) may be enforced as if it were a decree for payment of money passed in a suit by a Civil Court.

(5) For the purposes of this section, "owner" of tenements or lodgings shall include any agent of the owner and any person who is entitled to collect the rent of the tenements or lodgings as a lessee of the owner.

70. Repayment of benefit improperly received.—(1) Where any person has received any benefit or payment under this Act when he is not lawfully entitled thereto, he shall be liable to repay to the Corporation the value of benefit or the amount of such payment, or in the case of his death his representative shall be liable to repay the same from the assets of the deceased, if any, in his hands.

(2) The value of any benefits received other than cash payments shall be determined by such authority as may be specified in the regulations made in this behalf and the decision of such authority shall be final.

(3) The amount recoverable under this section may be recovered as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

71. Benefit payable up to and including day of death.—If a person dies during any period for which he is entitled to a cash benefit under this Act, the amount of such benefit up to and including the day of his death shall be paid to any person nominated by the deceased person in writing in such form as may be specified in the regulations or, if there is no such nomination, to the heir or legal representative of the deceased person.

72. Employer not to reduce wages, etc.—No employer by reason only of his liability for any contributions payable under this Act shall, directly or indirectly reduce the wages of any employee, or except as provided by the regulations, discontinue or reduce benefits payable to him under the conditions of his service which are similar to the benefits conferred by this Act.

73. Employer not to dismiss or punish employee during period of sickness, etc.—(1) No employer shall dismiss, discharge, or reduce or otherwise punish an employee during the period the employee is in receipt of sickness benefit or maternity benefit, nor shall he, except as provided under the regulations, dismiss, discharge or reduce or otherwise punish an employee during the period he is in receipt of disablement benefit for temporary disablement or is under medical treatment for sickness or is absent from work as a result of illness duly certified in accordance with the regulations to arise out of the pregnancy or confinement rendering the employee unfit for work.

(2) No notice of dismissal or discharge or reduction given to an employee during the period specified in sub-section (1) shall be valid or operative.

CHAPTER VI.

ADJUDICATION OF DISPUTES AND CLAIMS.

74. Constitution of Employees' Insurance Court.—(1) The Provincial Government shall, by notification in the official Gazette, constitute an Employees' Insurance Court for such local area as may be specified in the notification.

(2) The Court shall consist of such number of Judges as the Provincial Government may think fit.

(3) Any person who is or has been a judicial officer or is a legal practitioner of five years' standing shall be qualified to be a Judge of the Employees' Insurance Court.

(4) The Provincial Government may appoint the same Court for two or more local areas or two or more Courts for the same local area.

(5) Where more than one Court has been appoined for the same local area, the Provincial Government may by general or special order regulate the distribution of business between them.

75. Matters to be decided by Employees' Insurance Court.—(1) If any question or dispute arises as to—

(a) whether any person is an employee within the meaning of this Act or whether he is liable to pay the employee's contribution, or

(b) the rate of wages or average daily wages of an employee for the purposes of this Act, or

(c) the rate of contribution payable by a principal employer in respect of any employee, or

(d) the person who is or was the principal employer in respect of any employee, or

(e) the right of any person to any benefit and as to the amount and duration thereof, or

(f) the actuarial present value of the periodical payments referred to in section 66, or

(g) any other matter which is in dispute between a principal employer and the Corporation, or between a principal employer and an immediate employer, or between a person and the Corporation or between an employee and a principal or immediate employer, in respect of any contribution or benefit or other dues payable or recoverable under this Act, such question or dispute shall be decided by the Employees' Insurance Court in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(2) The following claims shall be decided by the Employees' Insurance Court, namely:—

(a) claim for the recovery of contributions from the principal employer;

(b) claim by a principal employer to recover contributions from any immediate employer;

(c) claim under section 66 or 67 made by the Corporation against the employer or other person liable thereunder;

(d) claim against a principal employer under section 68;

(e) claim under section 70 for the recovery of the value or amount of the benefits received by a person when he is not lawfully entitled thereto; and

(f) any claim for the recovery of any benefit admissible under this Act.

(3) No Civil Court shall have jurisdiction to decide or deal with any question or dispute as aforesaid or to adjudicate on any liability which by or under this Act is to be decided by the Employees' Insurance Court.

76. Institution of proceedings, etc.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act and any rules made by the Provincial Government, all proceedings before the Employees' Insurance Court shall be instituted in the Court appointed for the local area in which the insured person was working at the time the question or dispute arose.

(2) If the Court is satisfied that any matter arising out of any proceeding pending before it can be more conveniently dealt with by any other Employees' Insurance Court in the same Province, it may, subject to any rules made by the Provincial Government in this behalf, order such matter to be transferred to such other Court for disposal and shall forthwith transmit to such other Court the records connected with that matter.

(3) The Provincial Government may transfer any matter pending before any Employees' Insurance Court in the Province to any such Court in another Province with the consent of the Provincial Government of that Province.

(4) The Court to which any matter is transferred under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) shall continue the proceedings as if they had been orginally instituted in it.

77. Commencement of proceedings.—(1) The proceedings before an Employees' Insurance Court shall be commenced by application.

(2) Every such application shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars and shall be accompanied by such fee, if any, as may be prescribed by rules made by the Provincial Government in consultation with the Corporation.

78. Powers of Employees' Insurance Court.—(1) The Employees' Insurance Court shall have all the powers of a Civil Court for the purposes of summoning and enforcing the attendance of witnesses, compelling the discovery and production of documents and material objects, administering oath and recording evidence and such Court shall be deemed to be a Civil Court within the meaning of section 195 and Chapter XXXV of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (V of 1898).

(2) The Employees' Insurance Court shall follow such procedure as may be prescribed by rules made by the Provincial Government.

(3) All costs incidental to any proceeding before an Employees' Insurance Court shall, subject to such rules as may be made in this behalf by the Provincial Government, be in the discretion of the Court.

(4) An order of the Employees' Insurance Court shall be enforceable as if it were a decree passed in a suit by a Civil Court.

79. Appearance by legal practitioners, etc.—Any application, appearance or act required to be made or done by any person to or before an Employees' Insurance Court (other than appearance of a person required for the purpose of his examination as a witness) may be made or done by a legal practitioner or by an officer of a registered trade union authorised in writing by such person or with the permission of the Court, by any other person so authorised.

80. Benefit not admissible unless claimed in time.—An Employees' Insurance Court shall not direct the payment of any benefit to a person unless he has made a claim for such benefit in accordance with the regulations made in that behalf, within twelve months after the claim became due:

Provided that if the Court is satisfied that there was reasonable excuse for not making a claim for the benefit within twelve months after it became due, it may direct the payment of the benefit as if the claim had been made in time.

81. Reference to High Court.—An Employees' Insurance Court may submit any question of law for the decision of the High Court and if it does so, shall decide the question pending before it in accordance with such decision.

82. Appeal.—(1) Save as expressly provided in this section, no appeal shall lie from an order of an Employees' Insurance Court.

(2) An appeal shall lie to the High Court from an order of an Employees' Insurance Court if it involves a substantial question of law.

(3) The period of limitation for an appeal under this section shall be sixty days.

(4) The provisions of sections 5 and 12 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908 (XL of 1908), shall apply to appeals under this section.

83. Stay of payment pending appeal.—Where the Corporation has presented an appeal against an order of the Employees' Insurance Court, that Court may, and if so directed by the High Court shall, pending the decision of the appeal, withhold the payment of any sum directed to be paid by the order appealed against.

CHAPTER VII.

PENALTIES.

84. Punishment for false statement.—Whoever, for the purpose of causing any increase in payment or benefit under this Act, or for the purpose of causing any payment or benefit to be made where no payment or benefit is authorized by or under this Act, or for the purpose of avoiding any payment to be made by himself under this Act or enabling any other person to avoid any such payment, knowingly makes or causes to be made any false statement or false representation, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or with both.

85. Punishment for failure to pay contributions, etc.—If any person—

(a) fails to pay any contribution which under this Act he is liable to pay, or

(b) deducts or attempts to deduct from the wages of an employee the whole or any part of the employer's contribution, or

(c) in contravention of section 72 reduces the wages or any privileges or benefits admissible to an employee, or

(d) in contravention of section 73 or any regulation dismisses, discharges, reduces or otherwise punishes an employee, or

(e) fails or refuses to submit any return required by the regulations or makes a false return, or

(f) obstructs any Inspector or other official of the Corporation in the discharge of his duties, or

(g) is guilty of any contravention of or non-compliance with any of the requirements of this Act or the rules or the regulations in respect of which no special penalty is provided,

he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to three months or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

86. Prosecutions.—(1) No prosecution under this Act shall be instituted except by or with the previous sanction of the Insurance Commissioner.

(2) No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence under this Act.

(3) No Court shall take cognizance of any offence under this Act except on a complaint made in writing in respect thereof, within six months of the date on which the offence is alleged to have been committed.

CHAPTER VIII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

87. Exemption of a factory or establishment or class of factories or establishments.—The appropriate Government may, by notification in the official Gazette and subject to such conditions as may be specified in the notification, exempt any factory or establishment or class of factories or establishments in any specified area from the operation of this Act for a period not exceeding one year and may from time to time by like notification renew any such exemption for periods not exceeding one year at a time.

88. Exemption of persons or class of persons.—The appropriate Government may, by notification in the official Gazette and subject to such conditions as it may deem fit to impose, exempt any person or class of persons employed in any factory or establishment or class of factories or establishments to which this Act applies from the operation of the Act.

89. Corporation to make representation.—No exemption shall be granted or renewed under section 87 or section 88, unless a reasonable opportunity has been given to the Corporation to make any representation it may wish to make in regard to the proposal and such representation has been considered by the appropriate Government.

90. Exemption of factories or establishments belonging to Government or any local authority.—The appropriate Government may, by notification in the official Gazette and subject to such conditions as may be specified in the notification, exempt any factory or establishment belonging to the Crown or any local authority, if the employees in any such factory or establishment are otherwise in receipt of benefits substantially similar or superior to the benefits provided under this Act.

91. Exemption from one or more provisions of the Act.—The appropriate Government may, with the consent of the Corporation, by notification in the official Gazette, exempt any employees or class of employees in any factory or establishment or class of factories or establishments from one or more of the provisions relating to the benefits provided under this Act.

92. Power of Central Government to give directions.—The Central Government may give directions to a Provincial Government as to the carrying into execution of this Act in the Province.

93. Corporation officers and servants to be public servants.—All officers and servants of the Corporation shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code (XLV of 1860).

94. Contributions, etc., due to Corporation to have priority over other debts.—There shall be deemed to be included among the debts which, under section 49 of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909 (III of 1909), or under section 61 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920 (V of 1920), or under section 230 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913 (VII of 1913), are, in the distribution of the property of the insolvent or in the distribution of the assets of a company being wound up, to be paid in priority to all other debts, the amount due in respect of any contribution or any other amount payable under this Act the liability wherefor accrued before the date of the order of adjudication of the insolvent or the date of the winding up, as the case may be.

95. Power of Central Government to make rules.—(1) The Central Government may, subject to the condition of previous publication, make rules not inconsistent with this Act for the purpose of giving effect to the provisions thereof.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) the manner in which nominations and elections of members of the Corporation, the Standing Committee and the Medical Benefit Council shall be made;

(b) the quorum at meetings of the Corporation, the Standing Committee and the Medical Benefit Council and the minimum number of meetings of those bodies to be held in a year;

(c) the records to be kept of the transaction of business by the Corporation, the Standing Committee and the Medical Benefit Council;

(d) the powers and duties of the Principal Officers and the conditions of their service;

(e) the powers and duties of the Medical Benefit Council;

(f) the procedure to be adopted in the execution of contracts;

(g) the acquisition, holding and disposal of property by the Corporation;

(h) the raising and repayment of loans;

(i) the investment of the funds of the Corporation and of any provident or other benefit fund and their transfer or realisation;

(j) the basis on which the periodical valuation of the assets and liabilities of the Corporation shall be made;

(k) the bank or banks in which the funds of the Corporation may be deposited, the procedure to be followed in regard to the crediting of moneys accruing or payable to the Corporation and the manner in which any sums may be paid out of the Corporation funds and the officers by whom such payment may be authorised;

(l) the accounts to be maintained by the Corporation and the forms in which such accounts shall be kept and the times at which such accounts shall be audited;

(m) the publication of the accounts of the Corporation and the report of auditors, the action to be taken on the audit report, the powers of auditors to disallow and surcharge items of expenditure and the recovery of sums so disallowed or surcharged;

(n) the preparation of budget estimates and of supplementary estimates and the manner in which such estimates shall be sanctioned and published;

(o) the establishment and maintenance of provident or other benefit fund for officers and servants of the Corporation; and

(p) any matter which is required or allowed by this Act to be prescribed by the Central Government.

(3) Rules made under this section shall be published in the official Gazette and thereupon shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

96. Power of Provincial Government to make rules.—(1) The Provincial Government may, subject to the condition of previous publication, make rules not inconsistent with this Act in regard to all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) the constitution of Employees' Insurance Courts, the qualifications of persons who may be appointed Judges thereof, and the conditions of service of such Judges;

(b) the procedure to be followed in proceedings before such Courts and the execution of orders made by such Courts;

(c) the fee payable in respect of applications made to the Employees' Insurance Court, the costs incidental to the proceedings in such Court, the form in which applications should be made to it and the particulars to be specified in such applications;

(d) the establishment of hospitals, dispensaries and other institutions, the allotment of insured persons or their families to any such hospital, dispensary or other institution;

(e) the scale of medical benefit which shall be provided at any hospital, clinic, dispensary or institution, the keeping of medical records and the furnishing of statistical returns;

(f) the nature and extent of the staff, equipment and medicines that shall be provided at such hospitals, dispensaries and institutions;

(g) the conditions of service of the staff employed at such hospitals, dispensaries and institutions; and

(h) any other matter which is required or allowed by this Act to be prescribed by the Provincial Government.

(2) Rules made under this section shall be published in the official Gazette and thereupon shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

97. Power of Corporation to make regulations.—(1) The Corporation may, subject to the condition of previous publication, make regulations, not inconsistent with this Act and the rules made thereunder, for the administration of the affairs of the Corporation and for carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such regulations may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(i) the time and place of meetings of the Corporation, the Standing Committee and the Medical Benefit Council and the procedure to be followed at such meetings;

(ii) the matters which shall be referred by the Standing Committee to the Corporation for decision;

(iii) the manner in which any contribution payable under this Act shall be assessed and collected;

(iv) reckoning of wages for the purpose of fixing the contribution payable under this Act;

(v) the certification of sickness and eligibility for any cash benefit;

(vi) the method of determining the actuarial present value of periodical payments;

(vii) the assessing of the money value of any benefit which is not a cash benefit;

(viii) the time within which and the form in which any claim for a benefit may be made and the particulars to be specified in such claim;

(ix) the circumstances in which an employee in receipt of disablement benefit may be dismissed, discharged, reduced or otherwise punished;

(x) the manner in which and the place and time at which any benefit shall be paid;

(xi) the method of calculating the amount of cash benefit payable and the circumstances in which and the extent to which commutation of disablement and dependant's benefits, may be allowed and the method of calculating the commutation value;

(xii) the notice of pregnancy or of confinement and notice and proof of sickness;

(xiii) the conditions under which any benefit may be suspended;

(xiv) the conditions to be observed by a person when in receipt of any benefit and the periodical medical examination of such persons;

(xv) the visiting of sick persons;

(xvi) the appointment of medical practitioners for the purposes of this Act, the duties of such practitioners and the form of medical certificates;

(xvii) the penalties for breach of regulations by fine (not exceeding two days' wages for a first breach and not exceeding three days' wages for any subsequent breach) which may be imposed on employees;

(xviii) the circumstances in which and the conditions subject to which any regulation may be relaxed, the extent of such relaxation, and the authority by whom such relaxation may be granted;

(xix) the returns to be submitted by the principal and immediate employers, the form in which and the times at which such returns should be submitted and the particulars to be given in such returns;

(xx) the duties and powers of Inspectors and other officers and servants of the Corporation;

(xxi) the conditions of service of the officers and servants of the Corporation other than the Principal Officers;

(xxii) the procedure to be followed in remitting contributions to the Corporation; and

(3) Regulations made by the Corporation shall be published in the Gazette of India and thereupon shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

98. Corporation may undertake duties in the Indian States.—The Corporation may, at the request of the Government of an Indian State and with the previous permission of the Central Government and subject to such conditions as may be imposed by it, undertake to discharge in the Indian State any duty which may be specified in a State law corresponding to this Act.

99. Enhancement of benefits.—At any time when its funds so permit, the Corporation may enhance the scale of any benefit admissible under this Act and the period for which such benefit may be given, and provide or contribute towards the cost of medical care for the families of insured persons.

SCHEDULE I.

(See section 39.)

1. The amount of weekly contribution payable in respect of an employee shall be calculated with reference to his average daily wages.

2. The average daily wages shall be:—

(a) in respect of an employee employed on daily wages, the amount of wages earned during the week divided by the number of days worked (reckoned in terms of full working days);

(b) in respect of an employee employed on weekly wages, the amount earned in the week divided by the number of days worked (reckoned in terms of full working days);

(c) in respect of an employee employed on monthly wages, the amount earned in the month in which the contribution falls due, divided by the number of days worked (reckoned in terms of full working days);

(d) in respect of an employee employed on the basis of any other wage period, the wages for the period in which the contribution falls due, divided by the number of days worked (reckoned in terms of full working days) during the period;

(e) in respect of an employee paid at piece-work rate, the amount earned during the week divided by the number of days worked (reckoned in terms of full working days);

(f) in respect of an employee employed on hourly wages, the amount of wages earned during the week divided by the number of hours worked and multiplied by eight;

(g) in respect of an employee who does not fall under clauses (a) to (f), the amount calculated on the basis of wages earned for the day on which the contribution falls due.

Explanation.—Except as provided by regulations, pay, salaries or allowances paid in respect of any period of leave or holidays with pay shall not be taken into account in reckoning wages.

3. (a) For the purposes of fixing the amount of weekly contribution payable, employees shall be divided into eight groups on the basis of their average daily wages ascertained in the manner specified in paragraph 2.

(b) The employees' contribution and employer's contribution payable in respect of the group of employees specified in the first column of the table below shall be at the rates respectively specified in the corresponding entries in the second and third columns thereof.

SCHEDULE II.

(See sections 49, 51, 52 and 53.)

Sickness Benefit and Disablement and Dependants' Benefits.

1. The average daily wages of an employee in each of the groups specified in the first column of the table below shall, for the purpose of calculating the sickness benefit and disablement and dependants' benefits be assumed to be the rate specified in the corresponding entry in the second column thereof.

TABLE.

Group of employees. 1	Average assumed daily wages. 2
	Rs. a. p.
1. Employees whose average daily wages are below Re. 1 ..	1 14 0
2. Employees whose average daily wages are Re. 1 and above, but below Rs. 1 8 0.	1 4 0
3. Employees whose average daily wages are Rs. 1 8 0 and above, but below Rs. 2.	1 12 0
4. Employees whose average daily wages are Rs. 2 and above but below Rs. 3.	2 8 0
5. Employees whose average daily wages are Rs. 3 and above, but below Rs. 4.	3 8 0
6. Employees whose average daily wages are Rs. 4 and above, but below Rs. 6.	5 0 0
7. Employees whose average daily wages are Rs. 6 and above, but below Rs. 8.	7 0 0
8. Employees whose average daily wages are Rs. 8 and above ..	10 0 0

2. The daily rate of sickness benefit during any benefit period shall be an amount equivalent to one-half of the sum of the assumed average daily wages as aforesaid for each of the weeks for which contributions were paid in respect of the person during the corresponding contribution period, divided by the number of weeks in that contribution period in which he was deemed to have been available for employment within the meaning of section 48; provided that where the amount of the benefit so calculated includes a fraction of an anna, it shall be rounded to the next higher anna. The calculation indicated above is illustrated by the following examples:—

Example 1.—If the assumed average daily wages of the person as an employee were Rs. 1/4/- a day for 10 weeks, Rs. 1/12/- a day for 10 weeks and Rs. 2/8/- a day for 6 weeks, the average of the assumed daily wages for the purpose of the rate of sickness benefit will be:—

$$\frac{10\times 20+10\times 28+6\times 40}{26}=27\frac{18}{26}$$

The daily rate of sickness benefit payable in the benefit period will then be $13\frac{22}{26}$ annas, rounded to the next higher anna, namely, 14 annas.

Example 2.—If the person was deemed to have been not available for employment for 14 weeks in any contribution period and was employed as an employee for only 12 weeks in that contribution period, his assumed average daily wages being Rs. 1/4/- for the 12 weeks, the average of the assumed daily wages for the purpose of the rate of sickness benefit will be:—

$$\frac{12\times 20}{(26-14)}=20\text{ annas.}$$

The daily rate of sickness benefit payable in the benefit period will then be 10 annas.

Example 3.—If the person was deemed to have been not available for employment for 4 weeks in any contribution period and was employed as an employee for only 20 weeks (he having been without any employment for 2 weeks) in that contribution period, his assumed average daily wages being Rs. 1/12/- for 20 weeks, the average of the daily wages for the purpose of the rate of sickness benefit will be:—

$$\frac{20\times 28}{(26-4)}=25\frac{5}{11}\text{ annas.}$$

The daily rate of sickness benefit payable in the benefit year will then be $12\frac{8}{11}$ annas, rounded to the next higher anna, namely, 13 annas.

3. Disablement and dependants' benefit shall be an amount equivalent to one-half of the sum of the assumed average daily wages for each of the weeks for which contributions were paid in respect of the employee during the period of fifty-two weeks immediately preceding the week in which the employment injury occurs, divided by the number of weeks for which contributions were so paid; provided that where the amount of the benefit so calculated includes a fraction of an anna, it shall be rounded to the next higher anna. The calculation indicated above is illustrated by the following examples:—

Example 1.—If the assumed average daily wages of an employee were 14 annas a day for 20 weeks, Rs. 1-4-0 a day for 20 weeks and Rs. 1-12-0 a day for 12 weeks, the average of the assumed daily wages for the purpose of disablement and dependants' benefit will be:—

$$\frac{20\times 14+20\times 20+12\times 28}{52}=19\frac{28}{52}\text{ annas.}$$

The disablement or dependants' benefit will then be $9\frac{20}{26}$ annas, rounded to the next higher anna, namely, 10 annas a day.

Example 2.—If the employee worked only for 34 weeks in the period of 52 weeks preceding the week in which the employment injury occurs and his assumed average daily wages were 14 annas a day for 20 weeks and

Rs. 1-4-0 for 14 weeks, the average of the assumed daily wages for the purpose of disablement and dependans' benefit will be:—

$$\frac{20\times 14+14\times 20}{34} = 16\frac{16}{34} \text{ annas.}$$

The disablement or dependants' benefit will be $8\frac{8}{34}$ annas, rounded to the next higher anna, namely, 9 annas a day.

The disablement or dependants' benefits calculated as aforesaid shall be called the full rate.

4. The disablement or dependants' benefit shall be payable to a person suffering from disablement as a result of an employment injury sustained as an employee in a factory or establishment to which this Act applies, or if he dies as a result of such injury, to his dependants, as follows:—

- (i) to the insured person—
  - (a) for temporary disablement, during the period of such disablement at the full rate;
  - (b) for permanent partial disablement, at a percentage of the full rate, as provided in section 4 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923), for life;
  - (c) for permanent total disablement, at the full rate for life;
  - (d) in cases of disablement not covered by clauses (a), (b) and (c) above, as may be provided in the regulations.
- (ii) in the case of the death of the person, to his widow and children as follows:—
  - (a) to the widow during life or until remarriage an amount equivalent to three-fifths of the full rate and, if there are two or more widows, the amount payable to the widow as aforesaid shall be divided equally between the widows;
  - (b) to each legitimate or adopted son, an amount equivalent to two-fifths of the full rate until he attains fifteen years of age;
  - (c) to each legitimate unmarried daughter, an amount equivalent to two-fifths of the full rate until she attains fifteen years of age or until marriage, whichever is earlier:

Provided, that the Corporation may continue such benefit to any legitimate or adopted son or any legitimate unmarried daughter until he or she attains the age of eighteen years if such son or daughter continues education to the satisfaction of the Corporation:

Provided further that if the total of the dependants' benefits distributed among the widow or widows and legitimate children of the deceased person as aforesaid exceeds the full rate, the share of each of the dependants shall be proportionately reduced, so that the total amount payable to them does not exceed the amount of disablement benefit at the full rate.

5. In case the deceased person does not leave a widow or legitimate child, dependants' benefit at such rates as may be determined by the Commissioner appointed under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (VIII of 1923), shall be payable as follows:—

- (a) to a parent or grand parent, for life;
- (b) to any other male dependant, until he attains fifteen years of age;
- (c) to any other female dependant, until she attains fifteen years of age or until marriage, whichever is earlier, or if widowed until she attains fifteen years of age.

No. 2161Lab.—30th June 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department Order No. 718Lab., dated the 31st October 1947, the industrial disputes that had arisen or were apprehended in the engineering industry in West Bengal, between the employers of engineering firms specified in the two lists enclosed with the said order, i.e., list No. 1 and list No. 2; those in list No. 1 being represented by the Indian Engineering Association, Royal Exchange, Calcutta, and those in list No. 2 by the Engineering Association of India, 102A, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, and those in the two lists affiliated to both the associations being represented by either or both the associations; and their workmen as represented by the Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union, C/o Bengal Provincial Trade Union Congress, 249, Bow Bazar Street, Calcutta; the Engineering Workers' Federation, Bengal, C/o the Provincial Branch of the Indian National Trade Union Congress, 115-E, Dharamtolla Street, Calcutta; the Indian Federation of Labour, 15, College Square, Calcutta; the Bengal National Chamber of Labour, 51, Chittaranjan Avenue, Calcutta, and any other registered trade unions as might have been permitted by the Industrial Tribunal hereinafter mentioned to be represented individually for legitimate reasons, were referred for adjudication to a Tribunal constituted by Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., as Chairman, and Sri Pushpita Ranjan Mukherjee and Sri Panch Kowrie Sarkar, Additional District Judges, as Members.

And whereas the said Tribunal has given an award in respect of 119 firms mentioned in lists Nos. 1, 1(a) and 2, incorporated in that award under the heading "Parties to the dispute: A—Employers", as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Tribunal shall bind the employers of engineering firms concerned and their workmen as specified therein.

The award in so far as it concerns the Bhartia Electric Steel Company, Ltd., the Venesta, Ltd., the Associated Electrical Industries Manufacturing Co., Ltd., and Messrs. Walford Transport, Limited, and their workmen, shall remain in operation for one year with effect from the dates of expiry of the previous awards enforced in this Department Orders Nos. 385Lab., dated the 28th August 1947, 362Lab., dated the 23rd August 1947, 757Lab., dated the 5th November 1947, and 1853Lab., dated the 5th June 1948, respectively.

As regards the National Carbon Company (India), Ltd., and Messrs. Burn & Co., Ltd., Howrah, and their workmen, the award so far as it deals with the issues other than those decided in the awards published with orders Nos. 191Lab., dated the 6th January 1948, and 835Lab., dated the 19th November 1947, respectively, shall remain in operation for one year with effect from the 1st April 1948, and the issues covered by the said awards as well as by this award shall come into operation on the date on which the issues covered by the previous awards ceased to operate and shall remain in operation till the 31st March 1949;

Regarding all other firms referred to hereinbefore, the award shall remain in operation for one year with effect from the 1st April 1948.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute in the Engineering Industry in West Bengal between the employers of engineering firms specified below and their employees as represented by four specified unions and other registered trade unions.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal Order No. 716 Lab., dated 31st October 1947, industrial disputes between the employers of the Engineering Firms specified in two lists and their workmen as represented by four specified Unions and other registered Trade Unions, which might be permitted by the Tribunal to appear, were referred to this Tribunal for adjudication.

Parties to the dispute.

A.—Employers.

As already mentioned, the employers of Engineering Firms are specified in two lists annexed to the Government order. The Engineering Firms of list No. 1 are members of the Indian Engineering Association, Royal Exchange, and the Engineering Firms in list No. 2 are members of the Engineering Association of India, 102A, Netaji Subhas Road. In the original order there are 68 Engineering Firms named in list No. 1 and 72 named in list No. 2. The Order itself contains the note that 10 Engineering Firms of list No. 2, viz., items 10, 27, 30, 31, 34, 37, 45, 65, 69 and 72, are also members of the Indian Engineering Association and are accordingly included in list No. 1 also. It has appeared during the hearing that item 64 of list No. 2 and item 37 of list No. 1 are identical. Thus the number of Engineering Firms originally included within the scope of this Tribunal was 129.

The Government of West Bengal by order No. 211Lab., dated 26th January 1948, excluded the Tata Air Craft, Ltd. (item No. 66 of list No. 1), from the scope of the Tribunal. The case of the Bengal Belting Works, Ltd. (item No. 5 of list No. 2), was excluded from the scope of the Tribunal with the consent of both sides by order No. 8, dated 23rd December 1947, in view of the fact that the case of that firm was already before the Textile Tribunal. The case of Messrs. Narayon Engineering (item No. 41 of list No. 2) was excluded from the scope of the Tribunal by an order of the same date, 23rd December 1947, as the firm had been sold out before the Government referred the case to adjudication and the purchaser had started a new company, which has not become a member of either of the two Engineering Associations. The case of Noble Steel Products, Ltd. (item No. 42 of list No. 2), was excluded from the scope of this Tribunal by order No. 9, dated 14th January 1948, on the ground that the workshop of the company is in Bombay Presidency, outside the jurisdiction of this Tribunal. The Victory Engineering Works (item No. 36 of list No. 1) and Sri Hanuman Steel Rolling Mills (item No. 51 of list No. 2) reported that their Firms had been closed down before the date of the Government order referring the dispute to this Tribunal. They have not been represented before the Tribunal by either of the two associations or independently. Their cases are also excluded from the scope of the Tribunal. The Gramophone Co., Ltd. (item No. 62 of list No. 1), and the union of the workers of the Gramophone Company sent letters, dated 3rd December 1947, stating that there was no dispute outstanding between the company and the workers. Accordingly the case of the Gramophone Company, Ltd., is also excluded from the scope of the Tribunal.

Thus seven of the 129 engineering firms go out of the scope of this Tribunal. Further, separate awards have been made for three of the engineering firms, viz., one for the Indian Iron and Steel Company, Ltd., and the Indian Standard Wagon Company, Ltd. (items Nos. 67 and 68 of list No. 1), and one for the Aluminium Corporation of India, Ltd., Jaykaynagar (item No. 1 of list No. 2). There remain, therefore, 119 companies, which will be governed by the award. A full list of these 119 companies is given below:—

(1) List No. 1—Members of the Indian Engineering Association.

(1) The Air Conditioning Corporation, Ltd., Office: E2, Clive Buildings, 8, Clive Street, Calcutta.
(2) The Annapurna Metal Works, Office: 3, Ashu Biswas Road, Bhowanipur.
(3) The Calcutta Marine Engineering Co., Ltd., 3, Mango Lane, Calcutta.
(4) The Electric Lamp Manufacturers (India) Ltd., Office and Works: 7, Justice Chandra Madhab Road, Calcutta.
(5) The French Motor Car Co., Ltd., 234-3, Lower Circular Road, Calcutta.
(6) The Gobindo Sheet Metal Works and Foundry, Office: 210, Harrison Road, Calcutta.
(7) Messrs. Gresham & Craven (India), Ltd., Messrs. Heatly and Gresham, Ltd., Managing Agents; 4, Mission Row Extension, Calcutta.
(8) The Kamala Engineering Works, Ltd., Office and Works: 14, Halsi Bagan Road, Calcutta.

(105) The Steel Products, Ltd., 9, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta.

(106) The Swadeshi Industries, Ltd., 100, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta.

(107) The Textile Machinery Corporation, Ltd., 8, Royal Exchange Place, Calcutta.

(108) The United Iron and Steel Corporation, Ltd., 9, Clive Row, Calcutta.

(109) Messrs. Usha Bolt & Nut Co., Khandalwal Bhawan, 5, Hans Pukur Lane, Barabazar, Calcutta.

(110) The Victory Engineering Works, 40, Tangra Road, Calcutta.

(111) Messrs. Attas Iron Foundry, 171, Grand Trunk Road (N), Salkia, Howrah.

(112) The Britannia Engineering Works & Foundry, 34-35, Harganj Road, Salkia, Howrah.

(113) Bharat Iron & Steel Corporation, 12, Gopal Ghosh Lane, Salkia, Howrah.

(114) The Castings Corporation (India), Ltd., 45, Madhusudan Pal Chowdhury Lane, Howrah.

(115) Messrs. Jogendra Nath Chatterjee & Sons, 20, Maharshi Debendra Road, Calcutta 7.

(116) The Machine Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Lillooah, Howrah.

(117) The Star Iron Works, Lillooah, Howrah.

(118) Messrs. Thakurdas Sureka, 172, Jogendra Nath Mukherjee Road, Salkia, Howrah.

Out of these 119 firms, the French Motor Company, Ltd., and the Walford Transport, Ltd., have filed separate written statements and have been represented by a separate lawyer, but on many points they have agreed to be bound by the general award. The Hindusthan Development Corporation, Ltd., has filed a separate written statement and has argued its case separately on the issues of the minimum basic pay and dearness allowance, but has been represented by the engineering associations on other issues. The two engineering associations, representing all except the two motor companies, have filed one set of written statements and have also been represented by one set of lawyers.

B—Workmen.

The Government order specified four unions as representing the workmen and gave discretion to the Tribunal to permit other registered unions to appear. The four unions specified in the Government order are—

(1) Belur Iron & Steel Workers' Union, c/o Bengal Provincial Trade Union Congress;

(2) The Engineering Workers' Federation, Bengal, c/o The Provincial Branch of the Indian National Trade Union Congress;

(3) The Indian Federation of Labour; and

(4) The Bengal National Chamber of Labour.

These unions duly appeared and filed their written statements. The Iron Factory Workers' Union, Howrah, was another general union permitted by the Tribunal to appear. The following unions of the workmen of particular companies or trades were also permitted to appear:—

(1) Bengal Motor and Transport Union.

(2) Walford Transport Workers' Union.

(3) T. E. Thompson, Co. Workers' Union.

(4) Indian Air Survey Employees' Union.

(5) The Venesta Factory Workers' Union.

The general case on behalf of the workmen has been conducted chiefly by the Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union and the Engineering Workers' Federation. On some of the dates of hearing, representatives of the Indian Federation of Labour and the Bengal National Chamber of Labour appeared and took part in conducting the case. The representative of the Iron Factory Workers' Union appeared on a few of the days of hearing only. The Bengal Motor Transport Workers' Union and the Walford Transport Workers' Union argued the special case of the workmen of the French Motor Company and Walford Transport, Ltd. T. E. Thompson Co. Employees' Union also argued the particular case of the workers of the company. No separate argument was advanced on behalf of the Indian Air Survey Employees' Union and the Venesta Factory Workers' Union. Their cases have been represented by the Engineering Workers' Federation and the Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union.

The award will bind the workmen of the 119 companies listed above, such workmen being represented by the unions mentioned.

Issues.

After perusing the written statements filed by the parties and hearing the representatives of the parties, the following issues have been framed in the case:—

(1) Minimum basic pay and scales of pay for highly skilled, skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled workers and for clerical and supervisory staff.

(2) Dearness allowance for such workers.

(2a) Linking of wages to minimum production and standard working week.

(3) Classification of workers in different types of industries into the categories unskilled, semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled.

(4) Conversion of hourly, daily, and weekly rated workers into monthly rated workers.

(5) Abolition or revision of piece-rates.

(6) Free quarters or house rent allowance.

(7) Special allowances demanded for specific workers of specific firms.

(8) Retiring benefits—Provident Fund, gratuity and pension.

(9) Holidays and leave—Festival holidays, statutory leave, privilege leave, sick leave and casual leave.

(10) Conditions of service—

  (a) Recruitment, contract and sardar system.
  (b) Probationary period and apprenticeship.
  (c) Security of service—Rules of retrenchment, dismissal and involuntary unemployment.
  (d) Promotion.
  (e) Standing orders.
  (f) Fines and other punishments.

(11) Working hours and spread over; grace period for late attendance.

(12) Overtime pay—Overtime for night shift workers.

(13) Working conditions and sanitary arrangements in factories.

(14) Medical facilities.

(15) Canteens.

(16) Recreation arrangements.

(17) Provision of uniforms and dresses.

(18) (i) Bonus—

  (a) for past years.
  (b) for future.

 (ii) Bonus for increased production.

(19) Recognition of Unions—(a) Recognition of Beruck and Comens Labour Union.

(20) Application of the award of this Tribunal to firms which have existing awards binding on them.

Special issues concerning Thompson & Co.

(21) Retrospective effect for dearness allowance from January 1946.

(22) Independence Day bonus.

Special issue concerning Hindusthan Development Corporation, Ltd.

(23) Retrospective effect from 27th September 1946 of the additional dearness allowance granted by the Corporation from 1st January 1947.

Issue No. 1—Minimum basic pay and scales of pay.

We take up first the question of minimum basic pay for the unskilled worker. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union and the Iron Factory Workers' Union have demanded that the minimum basic pay of the unskilled worker should be Rs. 40 per month and that he should also get a dearness allowance of Rs. 45 per month in view of the present level of prices. The Bengal National Chamber of Labour has demanded that the minimum basic pay of the unskilled worker should be Rs. 45 per month and dearness allowance also Rs. 45 per month. The Engineering Workers' Federation has demanded the minimum daily wage of Rs. 2 for the unskilled workers plus dearness allowance of Rs. 45 per month; in case the system of daily wages is abolished and all workers are put on a monthly salary, the demand is that the minimum basic pay of the unskilled worker should be Rs. 50 per month plus dearness allowance as aforesaid. The Central Pay Commission recommended Rs. 55 per month as the minimum total remuneration of the unskilled worker in view of the then prevailing level of prices. In the body of the report, the then prevailing cost of living index was assumed to be 260, but from the correspondence quoted in Appendix C, pages 400-402 of the Central Pay Commission's Report it appears that the actual cost of living index at that time (January 1947) was 285 in round numbers, and the Commission agreed that the recommendation as to total remuneration made in the body of the report should be taken to have been made with reference to the actual cost of living index, viz., 285. The Central Pay Commission divided the total remuneration of Rs. 55 per month into a basic pay of Rs. 30 and a dearness allowance of Rs. 25 per month. The basic pay was fixed at Rs. 30 on the assumption that the prices were likely to stabilise themselves between 160 and 175, the basis being August 1939—100. In addition to the basic pay of Rs. 30 per month and the dearness allowance of Rs. 25 per month, the Central Pay Commission recommended a house rent allowance of Rs. 10 in paragraph 78 and a local allowance of Rs. 5 per month in paragraph 84 for Calcutta area. On the basis of Central Pay Commission's Report, therefore, the labour unions might claim a total monthly remuneration of Rs. 70. They have, however, generally demanded Rs. 40 as basic pay, plus Rs. 45 as dearness allowance, plus Rs. 10 as house rent allowance, i.e., Rs. 95 in all. The labour unions have sought to justify the claim for the high basic wages by the following line of argument:—

They have insisted on the principles mentioned in paragraph 44, page 28, of the Central Pay Commission's Report that in no case should a man's pay be less than a living wage, and they have strongly criticised the principle that the Government or the employers should pay so much and so much only to their employees as is necessary to obtain recruits of the required class. For calculation of the living wage, the unions have generally criticised the Pay Commission's method as faulty. They have quoted with approval the observations of Mr. S. N. Guha Roy in his award on the dispute between the Calcutta Tramways Co. and its employees. The contention of the union is that for a correct calculation of the minimum living wage, Dr. Aykroyd's Food Norm should be taken as the basis. Dr. Aykroyd laid down that the minimum standard of daily intake of about 2,600 calories is necessary for an adult worker in India. Dr. Aykroyd also prescribed a balanced standard diet for the unskilled worker which would approximately produce 2,600 calories per day, and he worked out the cost of such standard diet at Rs. 5 to Rs. 6 per month per adult on the basis of pre-war prices, i.e., at the cost of living index of 100. On the basis that the average workman's family consists of the equivalent of three adult units (a man, his wife and two children), the cost on food alone on the index of 100 would come to Rs. 15 to Rs. 18 per month. Adding 50 per cent. for other expenses and multiplying by 1·6 on the footing that prices will ultimately become stabilised at the index of 160, the figure for basic wages comes to Rs. 36 to Rs. 43·2. For adding 50 per cent. for other expenses, the Unions have relied largely on the observation of Mr. S. N. Guha Roy in the dispute between the Calcutta Tramways Company and their workmen The first award in the above case was published in the Calcutta Gazette of June 5, 1947. At page 1063, Mr. S. N. Guha Roy quoted from the study of Mr. Bhattacharjee of the Statistical Laboratory regarding the proportion of expenditure on food and other items of different classes of people, and Mr. Guha Roy came to the following conclusions, "For all practical purposes, one may take even for a working class family the normal expenditure on food in existing conditions to be about 60 per cent. of the total expenditure; and the rest of the expenditure, excluding the cost of housing which has to be considered separately, as it forms a separate issue, comes to about 30 per cent. This is also the estimate of Professor K P Chattopadhya". On this basis (which has been particularly relied upon by the Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union), the Unions contend that they are justified in demandnig Rs. 40 per month as the basic pay, excluding house rent for which there is a separate claim. But the idea of excluding house rent altogether in calculating the basic pay is not a sound one. It is true that in paragraph 78, pages 49-50 of the report, the Central Pay Commission recommended a separate house rent allowance, but this was only for some costly cities like Bombay and Calcutta, and the footnote at page 50 makes it clear that the house rent allowance is intended to cover the actual rent paid in excess of 10 per cent. of the basic pay. In country places and in small towns, an employee or workman, if he lives in a hired house, has to pay house rent, but he is not entitled to a separate house rent allowance because the basic pay is supposed to include the house rent also, which is normally expected to be 10 per cent. of the basic pay; but in costly places like Bombay and Calcutta, one cannot hire a house for 10 per cent. of one's basic pay; one has to pay from 20 to 25 per cent. or even more of the basic pay and therefore the house rent allowance is paid in such places to compensate for the house rent paid in excess of the 10 per cent. of the basic pay. Accordingly, in our opinion, in calculating the basic pay the normal house rent amounting to 10 per cent. of the basic pay should be taken into consideration. The budgets of working classes as prepared by the Jagatdal Survey include house rent. Accepting the proposition that the normal working class family spends 60 per cent. on food, 30 per cent. on other items and 10 per cent. on house rent, the basic pay should be 1⅔ times of the ideal expenditure on food. Taking Rs. 5 per month as the pre-war expenditure on food per month per adult, according to Dr. Aykroyd's table and estimate, the expenditure on food for a three unit family would come to Rs. 15 per month; and therefore the basic pay would come to Rs. 25 per month on the pre-war level of prices. Multiplying by 1·6 on the assumption that the prices will stabilise at the index of 160, we arrive at a figure of Rs. 40 per month, which is precisely the basic pay demanded by most of the Unions.

The Unions have sought to strengthen Dr Aykroyd's table of standard balanced diet by referring to the prescribed diet in the Jail Code for Class III prisoners. It is urged that the expenditure on the standard diet prescribed for the Class III prisoner in the Jail Code will not be less than the standard prescribed in the table of Dr. Aykroyd. Reference has also been made to Dr. Radhakamal Mukherjee's "Indian Working Class". In Chapter XII of the book with the heading "An approach to a national minimum wage", Dr. Mukherjee recommends that the national minimum wage should be fixed at Rs. 30 per month on the pre-war level of prices, but recognising that a sudden introduction of that standard would upset the economic life of the community, because the industry as a whole would be unable to bear the burden, he recommends that Rs. 20 per month should be fixed as the minimum wage to begin with and that gradually the minimum wage should be increased to Rs. 30 per month, allowing intervals to the industry to adjust itself to the various stages of higher wages. Out of the minimum wage of Rs. 30 per month fixed by him as the national minimum wage, Dr. Mukherjee shows the expenditure on physiologically adequate dietary as Rs. 14-4-8, on rent Rs. 3-4 and the balance on other items. Thus, according to him, the expenditure on physiologically adequate food is less than 50 per cent. of the total wage. On the index of 160, the national minimum wage recommended by Dr. Mukherjee comes to Rs. 48 per month, whereas the figure recommended by him for immediate introduction, Rs. 20 per month, comes to Rs. 32 on the index of 160.

In this connection reference should also be made to the Labour Commissioner's estimate made in the 1st quarter of 1947 that Rs. 28-12 should have been the minimum wage paid at the pre-war level of prices. On the index of 160, this comes to Rs. 46 per month. The Labour Commissioner proceeded on the assumption that in the Calcutta Industrial Area each family consists of 4·96 members, equivalent to 4·13 adult units and that each such family contains 1·59 earners. The expenditure per family was calculated as Rs. 42-13-9 per month as follows:—

			Rs.	a.	p.
Food	...	...	30	15	7
Fuel and light	...	...	2	0	9
Clothing	...	...	2	13	6
House rent	...	...	4	10	9
Miscellaneous	...	...	2	5	2
	Total	...	42	13	9

Divided by 1·59 the expenditure per earner came to Rs. 26-15-4½. Adding one anna in the rupee for Provident Fund contribution, the figure of Rs. 28-12 was obtained. It is clear that the Labour Commissioner's estimate strongly supports the claim of the Union for Rs. 40 per month as basic wage.

The Engineering Associations have strongly opposed the claim of the Unions and they have also criticised the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission as arbitrary. The associations filed a separate written note explaining their point of view on minimum wages and in that note they summarised their position as follows:—

"Prior to 1939 the minimum wage was from Rs. 13 to Rs. 15 per month. This may not have been adequate from all theoretical and humanitarian points of view, but it was certainly adequate from the point of view of essentiality, in that a large number of workers did in fact live on this wage. Taking the present cost of living as 300 as compared with 1939, wages of from Rs. 39 to Rs. 45 per month would afford full compensation for any increase in the cost of living. It is generally agreed that it is desirable in the interest of the country to raise the standard of living of the lower grades and, therefore, it may be desirable to add, say Rs. 5 representing approximately 12 per cent. to the above figures, which would result in a minimum wage of Rs. 44 to Rs. 49, or say in round figures of Rs. 45 to Rs. 50. When considering the problems of minimum wages it is necessary to take into account not only cash payments but also other contributions made by the employer. Since 1939, there have been considerable increases on this account in several manners; for instance 10 days' continuous holidays with pay, the spread of canteen facilities, the growth of provident funds, and the increase in medical aid facilities. To these will shortly be added the benefits of the State Sickness Insurance, etc., to which employers will make a substantial contribution. All these have a definite monetary value and are of greater intrinsic value than their mere rupee equivalent, in that they do not lead to inflationary tendencies in the same way as do pure increase in rate of pay. It will be seen, therefore, that if the minimum wages were fixed at Rs. 50 per month, not only would labour be compensated in full for any increase in cost of living since 1939 (a benefit which is enjoyed by no other section of the community), but owing to the general trend towards the provision of greater amenities for the working classes, they will have benefited to quite a considerable extent in addition. The two associations therefore suggest that Rs. 50 per month be regarded as the fair minimum wage for an average unskilled worker in this area. This figure would represent an overall minimum, that is Rs. 20 as basic wage and Rs. 25 or Rs. 30 as dearness allowance inclusive of house rent, etc."

The Engineering Associations have quoted from the report of the Labour Investigation Committee appointed by the Government of India to show that the wages of unskilled workers in 1939 varied from ·39 to ·53 rupee per day, the average being ·43 rupee per day. This gives the figure of approximately Rs. 12 per month on the basis of 26 working days. Dr. Radhakamal Mukherjee also in his "Indian Working Class" observes at page 193 that the average unskilled worker's wage in Calcutta and Industrial suburbs was Rs. 12 per month immediately before the war. Regarding the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission, the associations have pointed out that the Commission did not directly work out the minimum living wage from a dietetic norm, but relied on opinions expressed by certain economists and committees. The associations have, therefore, urged that the figure of Rs. 55 per month, recommended by the Commission as the minimum living wage of an unskilled worker in January 1947, is an arbitrary figure. As to tne calculations made by the Labour Commissioner, the criticism of the associations is that the Labour Commissioner proceeded on the basis of the standard balanced diet recommended by Dr. Aykroyd, the Nutrition Expert, and on the standards of clothing, housing, etc., recommended in the Bombay plan; but the supply of articles of food is short at present and therefore it is not at all possible for the working classes to improve their standard of food substantially so long as the world food shortage does not come to an end; and as to cloth also, the supply of 30 yards per head recommended under the Bombay plan must remain an ideal plan, so long as cloth cannot be freely obtained in open market at reasonable prices. Similarly the associations have criticised Dr. Radhakamal Mukherjee's calculations as laying down an ideal standard of living, which it is not possible to attain under the present conditions of supply of foodstuffs, clothing and other necessities of life. In fact, Dr. Mukherjee himself recognises this and therefore recommends that at present Rs. 20 per month at the pre-war rates should be the minimum aimed at. The associations have further criticised the assumption of the Labour Commissioner that a family consists of 4·96 members equivalent to 4·13 adult units and also the assumption of Dr. Mukherjee that the family consists of four members equal to three adult units. The associations have laid particular stress on the results of the Jagatdal Inquiry. According to the Jagatdal Inquiry the average number of members per family for all families surveyed was 4·54, and for families in the income group of Rs. 15 to 25, it was 3·26 persons. It is urged that the figures for the families in the income group of Rs. 15 to 25 are alone relevant for the purpose of fixing the minimum basic wage of the unskilled workers; for families with a higher income at the time of the survey which was made in 1940 did not ordinarily belong to the unskilled labour class. The average expenditure per family in the income group of Rs. 15 to 25 was found to be Rs. 20·39. In each such family the average number of earners was found to be 1·29. The expenditure per earner therefore came to Rs. 16·58. Multiplying 16·58 by 3 we get the figure 49·74. Thus assuming that the cost of living has arisen three times since the date of Jagatdal Survey, it is found that Rs. 50 would be sufficient to meet the expenditure of the working class family including the expenditure on house rent which is included within the scope of the Jagatdal budgets.

We should point out, however, that the average expenditure per working class family as found in course of the Jagatdal Inquiry is a picture of conditions which then existed. The working classes had more or less adjusted themselves to their low income and therefore the average expenditure was more or less equal to the average income.

The finding of the Jagatdal Inquiry as to the average expenditure for a working class family is therefore no guide when we are considering the question what the income of the working class family ought to be. The associations have, however, urged that the wages paid should be related to the actual living conditions and not to the ideal standard of living which we may aim at. It has been urged strongly that the minimum wage to be awarded by this tribunal should not be different in any marked degree from current ruling rates of wages. It has been pointed out that the wage fixing authorities in industrially advanced countries, even in a pro-labour country like Australia, have refused to declare a minimum wage differing substantially from the current ruling rates of wages. Dr. Mukherjee has also mentioned this fact in his "Indian Working Class". The associations have relied on the following observations made by Dr. Mukherjee at page 213 of his book: "The minimum wage policy of a country is usually interpreted in the background of the standard of living at present enjoyed by workers in the same region or in similar occupations, and of general economic conditions and the capacity of industry to pay, and is applied in a way to avoid dislocation of industry as well as net reduction in employment. In Australia, for instance, in spite of the fact that the Commonwealth Basic Wage Commission of 1920 adopted a minimum wage rate which satisfied a fair and reasonable standard of comfort of workers, that wage rate was not adopted as the basis for wage awards, since it was considered to be well beyond the capacity of the industry to pay".

The associations have worked out the monthly expenditure of the working class family on the standard that may be possible to attain now in view of the existing supplies of foodstuffs, clothing, etc. Their table of monthly expenditure (at pre-war rates) is as follows:—

	Rs.	a.
Food	12	14
Fuel and light	1	8
Clothing	1	14
House rent	3	0
Miscellaneous	1	8
Total	19	12

Assuming on the basis of the Jagatdal Survey that the average working class family consists of 3·26 members and there are 1·23 earners in every family, the expenditure per earner comes to Rs. 16-0-9. Multiplying that by 3, it becomes Rs. 48-2-3, and in round numbers the associations recommend Rs. 50.

Another important point raised by the Engineering Associations is that the real wages must depend ultimately on the national dividend, and that at the present time when the supply of consumers' goods is low all the world over, increase of labour wages more than in proportion to the rise in the level of prices must lead to dislocation in distribution or in further inflation. The Central Pay Commission makes the following observations in this connection at pages 30-31: "the application of this minimum wage rule has always been recognised to be subject to the general economy of the country. It may be applied to correct inequalities in the distribution system, but not in disregard of the total production capacity of the country or without reference to the national income............No system of distribution however meticulously formed will help to raise the standard of living unless production is increased."

We must concede that the associations have, on the whole, made out a strong case, but there are certain points on which we must differ from the associations. Thus the assumption on the basis of the Jagatdal Survey that the average family consists of 3·26 members equal to 2·7 adult units does not seem to be justified. This was the finding of the Jagatdal Survey in the low income group, but it does not follow that this represents the actual average of the working class family in the Calcutta and Industrial area. The Labour Commissioner, Bengal, also proceeded on the basis of some figures collected by his officers and there are other surveys showing that the average size of the working class family is higher. On the whole, therefore, we must accept the basis adopted by the Central Pay Commission that the average family consists of the equivalent of three adult units.

Further as to the argument that the unskilled labourer received only Rs. 13 to 15 per month before the war and cannot, therefore, now claim more than Rs. 39 to Rs. 45 per month, which would just compensate him for the rise in prices, the reply is that the wages prevailing before the war were not adequate and compelled the working class to remain at a very low standard of living. Previously employers generally followed the principle, that they should pay so much only as was necessary to obtain recruits of the class wanted. But in the changing conditions of the country today it is necessary for the employers to accept the principle that in no case should a man's pay be less than the living wage, and a living wage should be interpreted somewhat liberally so as to enable the worker to partake of the standard nutritious diet recommended by experts like Dr. Aykroyd and attain a decent minimum standard of comfort. As to the changed conditions in the country today, we may usefully refer to some observations made by the Central Pay Commission at page 27 of its report:—

"We must also recognise that wage conditions reflect in a large measure the political development at which a community has arrived. It is common knowledge that people in India (as elsewhere) have of late been influenced by the trend towards socialism. Experience of war service and high wages paid during the war have created a ferment and a changed outlook. Classes who were hitherto content to accept their lot now show an intolerance of unsatisfactory conditions of work and an increased desire to improve their standard of living.............. The growth of trade unionism in the services is in great measure due to the feeling that they were being ill-paid and exploited. The appointment of this Commission and the prospect of impending political changes have led the services to form vague expectations of a new order. It is against this background that their claims for enhanced remuneration, for better treatment and for improved conditions of service have to be viewed".

These observations were made with reference to Government servants, whose case the Central Pay Commission was chiefly considering, but the observations apply with greater force to the industrial workers, and it is necessary that the employers should take this background into consideration. At the same time the capacity of the industry to bear the burden cannot be altogether lost sight of. Reference has already been made to the observation of Dr. Mukherjee that the sudden application of an ideal standard of living wage is likely to disrupt industry and cause reduction in employment by forcing the marginal industrial establishments to go out of existence. It is, therefore, necessary that the minimum wage fixed should not be unduly above the current ruling rates of wages.

As to the current ruling rates of wages, the Engineering Associations have furnished us with a statement of existing basic minimum wages and dearness allowance obtaining in 94 out of 119 firms with which we are concerned. The average total remuneration paid by these 94 firms comes to Rs. 50 per month (including dearness allowance). There are 18 firms paying a total remuneration of Rs. 40 or below and there are 16 firms paying a total remuneration above Rs. 60. But there are just 47 companies paying Rs. 50 per month or less and 47 companies paying a total remuneration above Rs. 50. It is, therefore, clear that Rs. 50 per month is the present ruling rate including dearness allowance in the industrial concerns with which we are now concerned. The associations have pointed out that some of the firms paying wages above Rs. 60 are paying them as the result of previous awards, and that if these firms are left out of consideration, the average would come down to a lower figure. But the number of firms which have had their total remuneration enhanced by means of awards are comparatively small, and if they are left out, they would only make a difference of Re. 1 or Rs. 2 in the average for the whole industry. On the whole, therefore, Rs. 50 per month may be taken to be the prevailing wage rate at present including dearness allowance; and accordingly, we may reasonably expect the industry as a whole to bear the burden of Rs. 55 per month (total remuneration) out of which Rs. 30 would be the basic pay as recommended by the Central Pay Commission. Rupees 40 may be the ideal basic pay under the present conditions, but as pointed out by Dr. Mukherjee, we must approach the ideal minimum wage gradually in order to avoid dislocation in the industry, which would result in a net reduction in employment. By fixing the minimum at Rs. 55 per month, we are increasing the average wages by Rs. 5 or Rs. 6 per month, and in our considered opinion this is as much as the industry can be expected to bear at present, when the industry is passing through difficult times owing to short supply of steel and other raw materials.

For the unskilled worker, therefore, we fix the minimum basic wage at Rs. 30 per month or Re. 1-2-6 per day.

Next there is the question of minimum basic pay for the semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled workers. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union has demanded the following minimum basic pay for these categories of workers:—

	Rs.
Semi-skilled ...	... 60	per month.
Skilled ...	... 80	"
Highly skilled	... 100	"

The other Unions have placed more or less similar demands. The minimum pay claimed for the semi-skilled worker is thus 50 per cent. higher than that for the unskilled worker, while the minimum pay claimed for the skilled worker is double of that claimed for the unskilled. The Engineering Associations have stoutly contended that the minimum pay for the semi-skilled and the skilled worker cannot be fixed in that way, and they have referred to the following observations in the Central Pay Commission's Report at page 125:— "Different proportions have been suggested as rough standards for differentiating between the workers of the different grades. Some have suggested that the semi-skilled workers must have a remuneration 20 to 50 per cent. above that of the unskilled workers and that skilled workers should be paid twice to thrice the remuneration of the unskilled worker. We are not persuaded that it will be possible or desirable to adopt any such fixed proportion".

The minimum pay for the semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled workmen cannot be fixed in any fixed proportion of the pay of the unskilled worker, because we are dealing with a large number of different types of industries, and the relative value of the different categories of workers must vary from industry to industry according to the degree of technical skill required of the different workers of the particular industry and also to a certain extent on the nature of the finished product of that industry. The Central Pay Commission fixed different minimums for the skilled workers for different industries or Government departments doing industrial work. For the Mint workers, the minimum pays recommended for the semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled worker are respectively Rs. 35, Rs. 40 and Rs. 90 (page 170 of the report). For workers of the Central P.W.D. the minimum pays recommended for these categories are respectively Rs. 35, Rs. 60 and Rs. 120 (page 309 of the report). For Government Railway Workshops, the minimum pays fixed for these categories are respectively Rs. 35, Rs. 55 and Rs. 90.

Another objection is that even if a minimum pay were fixed for these categories, there would be difficulty in applying the minimum in practice. There is no standardisation of occupational descriptions at present, whether in the engineering or in any other industry. A man described in the same way, e.g., as a fitter or a turner, may be doing work requiring widely varying degrees of technical skill and may be placed in different categories—semi-skilled, skilled or highly skilled—in different firms; these firms would naturally apply different minimums to the men described in the same way. This might lead to fresh disputes between the employers and the employees. If all the jobs in the firms subject to this award could be classified by this tribunal into the categories, the difficulty could be solved; but as explained subsequently when dealing with issue No. 3, this tribunal is not in a position to undertake that task and must leave it to be done by a committee of experts.

Further, a job described in the same way may fall in several categories even in the same firm. A fitter or a turner may begin on a daily pay of Re. 1-4, when he is a semi-skilled worker, and he may gradually rise to higher grades till he draws a daily pay of Rs. 3-8, when he is a skilled or highly skilled worker. The line at which he ceases to be semi-skilled and becomes a skilled worker must depend in the last resort upon trade tests, but recognised trade tests are not yet in general use in this country, and it is not possible that the tribunal should define the line of demarcation. So if we were to fix the minimum daily wage of the skilled worker at Rs. 2-2, for instance, the employer might say that the fitter or the turner remains a semi-skilled worker until he reaches the stage at which the employer allows him Rs. 2-2 per day, and thus the fixation of the minimum pay for the skilled category woud bring no benefit to the worker. It is true that in a few industrial establishments the jobs are classified into the categories—semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled; but in the majority they are not so classified. The Central Pay Commission has suggested (page 125) that each important industrial establishment might constitute a Board of three of its officers to determine the class in which each worker might be placed. This would be a proper step if we were required to fix the minimum pay for a single industrial establishment. In order to be able to fix a minimum pay for the engineering industry as a whole, we must first have a standardisation of job descriptions and classification of jobs over the whole field covered by the various types of engineering industry.

The difficulties detailed above have been stressed by the Engineering Associations in support of their contention that we should not attempt to fix the minimum basic pay for the categories semi-skilled, skilled, and highly skilled, and that we should be content to fix the minimum basic wage for the unskilled worker, i.e., the minimum living wage. It is urged that in countries like Australia, wage-boards fix only one minimum wage and do not attempt to fix the minimums which should be allowed to the skilled workmen; this is left to be fixed by the industry according to the law of supply and demand.

The Unions have urged however that in countries like Australia, the Unions are in a strong position and can easily ensure that the skilled men get sufficient wages, but that in India the Unions of workmen have not yet attained that strength. They have given instances to show that in many firms the semi-skilled worker is given the same wage as the unskilled worker, or a wage which is only a shade higher. Instances of low pay given to skilled workers in some firms have also been given. So far as the semi-skilled worker is concerned as distinguished from the skilled and the highly skilled worker, we think that is possible to fix his minimum pay. The difficulties we have detailed in the preceding paragraphs apply chiefly to the skilled and the highly skilled categories; thus it is difficult to draw the line between the skilled and the semi-skilled and between the highly skilled and the skilled; and the technical skill required of the skilled and the highly skilled differ from one kind of establishment to another. So far as the semi-skilled workers are concerned, there is no marked difference between them from firm to firm. Thus the Central Pay Commission has recommended the same minimum basic pay of Rs. 35 per month for semi-skilled workers of different establishments, in the illustrations already given and in other cases. Moreover, between the unskilled worker on the one hand, and the semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled on the other, there is a well-recognised distinction. Persons of whom only physical or manual labour, not requiring any intelligence, training or experience, is expected, may be classed as unskilled labour; while any person working on or with the aid of a machine belongs to the skilled class; semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled belong to the skilled class for the purpose of this definition. (Central Pay Commission's report, page 124.) There may be jobs performed without the aid of a machine but which require intelligence and training; such jobs would no doubt belong to the skilled class. But without attempting a more precise definition, we may observe that the distinction between an unskilled worker and a worker of the skilled class is one which every one appreciates. The semi-skilled worker may be considered to occupy the lowest rung of the skilled class, and hence there can be no objection to the fixing of the minimum pay of the semi-skilled workers. The skilled and the highly skilled workers are generally in such demand that they may be left to take care of themselves to some extent; but the semi-skilled worker cannot if left to himself obtain reasonable terms from his employer; several firms pay him the same wage as they pay to the unskilled worker. We consider it desirable therefore to fix the minimum basic wage of the semi-skilled worker. We accept the recommendation of the Central Pay Commission as to the minimum basic wage of the semi-skilled worker as fair. Accordingly we fix the minimum basic wage of the semi-skilled worker as Rs. 35 per month, or Rs. 1-5-6 per day in the case of the daily rated workers.

The labour Unions have urged that if we do not fix the minimum basic pay of the skilled and the highly skilled workers, we should direct proportionate increase of pay for such workers. It is however not possible to give any such direction. It may be that in a particular firm the total present remuneration of an unskilled worker is Rs. 26 per month; in his case our award will raise the remuneration to more than double. But it does not follow that the skilled or the highly skilled worker is also being paid so low in that firm as to require that his pay too should be more than doubled. For a similar reason the alternative suggestion that there should be a flat increase in the pay of the skilled and the unskilled worker of each firm by the amount by which the pay of the unskilled worker is raised in that firm, does not also commend itself to us. We can only direct that suitable increase should be given in the pay of the skilled and the highly skilled workers by the employers in view of the increase in the pay of the unskilled or semi-skilled workers, in consultation with the workers concerned, just after the publication of the award of this tribunal. In the last resort, the pay of the skilled and the highly skilled workers may be fixed by adjudication after some standardisation of occupational descriptions has been made and some progress towards the classification of workers into different categories has been achieved.

Next, there is the question of scales of pay for workers of various categories. The labour Unions have suggested scales of pay for workers of all categories. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers Union has, following the report of the Central Pay Commission, suggested several scales (more liberal than the Pay Commission's scales) for each category. But for the skilled and highly skilled categories, since we are not fixing the minimum basic pay, the question of fixing scales of pay does not arise. The Engineering Associations have strongly opposed our fixing scales of pay even for the semi-skilled and unskilled workers. They have stated that a system of periodic increment of pay is not usual in the engineering industry. Reference has been made to an observation contained in Mr. Nanavati's award in the dispute between the Bombay Electric Corporation and its workers, that automatic increase of pay with length of service is not suited to industry. Dr. Radhakamal Mukherji in his book "Indian Working Class", page 67, mentions that even in other countries, the principle of a fixed rate for a fixed job obtains. At page 69 of his book he pictures the ideal conditions, viz., a graded scale for each job, with initial and maximum wage rates, providing for periodical increments for a short period. He observes however that this ideal can be reached only after jobs have been standardised and classified.

We must find that the time has not come yet to translate the ideal into practice. In the case of the semi-skilled workers, though we have fixed the minimum basic pay, we do not consider it possible to fix a scale of pay or even several scales of pay. There is a large variety of semi-skilled jobs in the different industries. We have no means of assessing the money value of the jobs; and no complete picture of the existing pay scales of workers of this category is before us. It is no use laying down certain scales of pay in the abstract as ideal without relating them to existing facts. Regarding unskilled workers, we may refer to the observation of the Central Pay Commission at pages 37-38 of its report—"If the kind of work on which an unskilled employee starts is such that by working at it for a number of years he improves in efficiency and in the nature and quality of his work, the proper thing will be to promote him to higher scales in due course as a semi-skilled and skilled worker. If on the other hand, the work is of a kind which does not improve in quality by lapse of time, e.g., crude labour or mere attendance, there will be no justification from the public point of view for paying much higher wages for such work. The granting of increments has a two-fold significance, one from the point of view of the employee, namely, as he grows in age he has greater responsibilities to meet, and another from the employer's point of view, namely, that even when a man continues in the same grade, his work improves in quality and his efficiency also increases as the result of his experience. In the illustrations last given, the second ground is absent." We should add that even the first ground is not a strong ground for justifying a time scale for the unskilled worker, for in his case we provide from the beginning a living wage for a family equivalent to three adult units. The fact that we have been induced, by considerations of the prevailing wage rate and the capacity of the industry to pay, to fix a lower minimum wage than we might otherwise have done, is no doubt an argument in favour of a short time scale. But since we are not fixing a time scale for the semi-skilled category or any other category of factory worker, we feel that it would be incongruous to fix a time scale for the unskilled worker. In most of the engineering industries in India, many grades of pay at short intervals are provided, and a worker is promoted from one grade to another as and when he improves in skill and efficiency. This system should be retained for the present. We would recommend also that between Rs. 1-2-6, the minimum daily wage fixed for the unskilled worker, and Rs. 1-5-6, the minimum daily wage fixed for the semi-skilled worker, two grades of pay at Rs. 1-3-6 and Rs. 1-4-6 should be introduced, and these grades should go by promotion to unskilled workers who may show efficiency. We should make it clear however that a semi-skilled worker should not be put in any grade below Rs. 1-5-6 per day, even when he is on probation.

Next we take up the case of the subordinate staff, viz., peons and darwans. We may also consider the case of drivers at the same time. For peons we recommend the grade Rs. 25—1—40 and for darwans the grade Rs. 30—1—45. The unskilled worker frequently gets a chance of promotion to the semi-skilled and then to the skilled category, but the peon and the darwan have no chance of rising higher, and it is therefore necessary to provide them with a comparatively long time scale. For drivers of cars, we would fix a minimum pay of Rs. 55 per month, and for drivers of lorries, trucks and buses, Rs. 60 per month. The scale of the driver's pay would depend on the intensity of the work and spreadover of the work period which vary from one firm to another and therefore we do not fix a time scale in these cases, but leave it to the employer or to negotiation between the employer and the workmen to fix the proper scales of pay.

Next, there is the question of clerical staff both of the factory and of the head office of the companies concerned. In this connection we may mention that the clerical staff of Jessop and Company has been exempted from the operation of the award of the Tribunal, as their case represented by Jessop & Co. Employees' Union, has been included in the general Tribunal for mercantile firms. The clerical staff of other companies have not obtained exemption from the operation of the award of this tribunal and accordingly this Tribunal will bind the clerical staff of other companies.

In the case of the clerical staff we propose to fix the lowest scales only, leaving the pay of the upper grade clerks to be settled by negotiation. The Bengal Chamber of Commerce has proposed the scale of Rs. 60—2—90 and Rs. 60—4—124 for non-graduate and graduate office clerks and the pay of Rs. 55 for non-matric and out-door clerks like tally clerks. In the case of out-door and non-matriculate clerks and in the case of non-graduate clerks, we accept the minimums proposed by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, but propose some variation in the scale. In the case of graduate clerks we think that the starting pay should be Rs. 70 instead of Rs. 60. Accordingly three scales for lower grade clerks are fixed as follows:—

For non-matriculate or out-door clerks like tally clerks—Rs. 55—2½—80.

For Matriculate but non-graduate office clerks —Rs. 60—2½—90.

For graduate clerks—70—4—130.

The existing clerks of the lower grade, when drawing pay on a scale lower than the scales proposed, should be fitted into the above scales as follows: The starting salary should be given in all cases and in addition one increment should be given for each three years of service put in, provided that the pay fixed should not be less favourable than the stage in the proposed time scale just above the pay that the clerk is now drawing.

In the case of the upper grade clerks, the question of adjustment of their pay is left to negotiation between the employers and the employees concerned. It is not possible for us to fix suitable scales for the upper grade clerks, as their pay differs from Company to Company, and the scales of pay obtaining in each separate Company has not been placed before us.

For the Supervisory or Works Staff, we fix the lowest grade as Rs. 65—4—105; and existing members of the supervisory staff when they are drawing lower pay should be fitted into the proposed grade as in the case of the clerical staff. The higher grades for supervisory staff will be retained and will be adjusted by negotiation between companies and the employees concerned, for in their case also we have no complete picture of existing pay grades of the different companies before us, and it is, therefore, not possible for us to fix the higher grades and scales of pay.

Issue No. 2—Dearness allowance for such workers.

All the Unions have claimed the minimum dearness allowance of Rs. 45 per month. We have indicated already when dealing with issue No. 1 that for the lowest paid worker, we do not propose to go higher than Rs. 25 per month. It is, however, necessary that the arguments of the Unions and the reasons for our decision should be noted briefly. We have also to consider the dearness allowance for workers above the minimum pay. The Unions contend that dearness allowance should be adjusted from time to time according to the cost of living index and they have urged that since January 1947 when the Central Pay Commission fixed their scales of basic pay and dearness allowance, the cost of living index has gone up by 80 points, being about 340 against 260 at the time of the Central Pay Commission's recommendations, and therefore on the basis of the Central Pay Commission's report itself, the workers are entitled to the extra dearness allowance of Rs. 5 for every 20 points' rise, i.e., Rs. 25 plus Rs. 20 or Rs. 45, which is the amount claimed by the Union. It does not, however, appear that the cost of living index for the working classes in the Calcutta area and its suburbs has gone up by 80 points since January 1947. From the Labour Commissioner's Office it appears that the cost of living index for the working classes for Calcutta Industrial area in March 1948 was 311. This index was 298 in February 1948 after having risen to 328 in December 1947. We may, therefore, reasonably take 310 as the cost of living index at the present time. Further the Central Pay Commission made its recommendation at a time when the cost of living index was 285 and not 260. This is clear by a reference to the correspondence quoted in Appendix C of the report of the Central Pay Commission. Thus the cost of living index has risen only by 25 points, which might justify a rise in the dearness allowance by Rs. 5. Thus the dearness allowance for the lowest paid worker might be fixed at Rs. 30 per month. But the ability of the industry to bear the burden has also to be considered. When dealing with issue No. 1, it has been sufficiently pointed out that if the total remuneration is fixed at a point substantially higher than the prevailing rate of wages in the industry, there is likely to be dislocation of the industry by the marginal firms going out of existence and this will increase unemployment and therefore increase the suffering of the working class.

For the Unions it has been urged that many of the Companies are actually paying Rs. 30 or more as dearness allowance and some are paying even Rs. 37 or more per month, as would appear from the statement of basic wages and dearness allowance filed for 94 Companies by the two Engineering Associations. Reference has also been made by the Unions to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Circular on dearness allowance. The Bengal Chamber of Commerce recommended that dearness allowance for clerical and other staff be regulated by the following table:—

Dearness allowance to clerical staff.

Rs. 249 and under:

Index Group	180 and below	181 to 190	191 to 200	201 to 210	211 to 220	221 to 230	231 to 240	241 to 250	251 to 260	261 to 270	271 to 280	281 to 290	291 to 300	301 to 310
Monthly on first Rs. 100 of salary.	Nil	5%	10%	15%	20%	25%	30%	35%	40%	45%	50%	55%	60%	65%
Subject to minimum of..		Rs. 4	Rs. 7	Rs. 10	Rs. 13	Rs. 16	Rs. 19	Rs. 22	Rs. 25	Rs. 28	Rs. 31	Rs. 34	Rs. 37	Rs. 40
plus monthly on second Rs. 100		2½%	5%	7½%	10%	12½%	15%	17½%	20%	22½%	25%	27½%	30%	32½%
plus monthly on the remainder of salary..		1%	2½%	4%	5%	6%	7½%	9%	10%	11%	12½%	14%	15%	16½%

It will be seen that for the cost of living index up to 260, the minimum dearness allowance recommended is Rs. 25, but for cost of living index between 291 and 300, the minimum dearness allowance recommended is Rs. 37 and when the cost of living index is between 300 to 310, the minimum dearness allowance recommended is Rs. 40. At that stage, viz., for the living index from 301 to 310, the Chamber of Commerce recommends 65 per cent. on the first Rs. 100 of salary, 32½ per cent. on the second Rs. 100 and 16¼ per cent. on the remainder of the salary.

It is true that many of the members of the Chamber of Commerce are giving Dearness Allowance to their clerical staff on this scale, but this scale appears to us to be unduly liberal for the higher index groups. It proceeds under the misapprehension of the Central Pay Commission's report that the minimum dearness allowance of Rs. 25 per month was recommended for a living index at 260, whereas Appendix C would show that the minimum dearness allowance of Rs. 25 was recommended for the living index of 285. Accordingly we do not think it necessary to accept the Bengal Chamber of Commerce's Circular as to the rates of dearness allowance. Moreover it is not a circular intended to be applied to the workmen of the factories, and the industry, in our opinion, would simply be unable to bear the burden of such a scale of dearness allowance. If we were dealing with the more prosperous firms only, we might adopt the minimum dearness allowance of Rs. 30 per month, but in view of the fact that 18 firms are paying a total remuneration ranging from Rs. 25 to Rs. 40 and 29 other firms are paying a total remuneration ranging from Rs. 40 to Rs. 50, we consider that by fixing a total remuneration at Rs. 60 per month for the unskilled worker, we would be putting such a heavy burden on the industry, as would compel the less prosperous firms to go out of existence, thus increasing unemployment. We, therefore, decide to fix the total remuneration at Rs. 55 per month, keeping the minimum dearness allowance at Rs. 25 per month.

We consider, however, that there should not be a flat rate of dearness allowance for all categories of workmen, even in the factories. People drawing a higher basic pay are entitled to a comparatively higher dearness allowance to compensate them partly for the rise in the cost of living. Moreover by giving a graduated scale of dearness allowance, we would be giving a substantial relief to the employees getting more than the minimum fixed, whose pay we are not directly increasing. But we think that Rs. 50 per month should be the maximum dearness allowance paid. Accordingly we recommend dearness allowance at the following scale:—

Pay Range.		Dearness allowance.
		Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	... ...	25
From Rs. 51 to Rs. 100	..	35
From Rs. 101 to Rs. 150	...	40
From Rs. 151 to Rs. 200	...	45
Rs. 201 and above ...	...	50

This scale of dearness allowance will apply to all categories of workers, viz., factory workmen, clerical staff, supervisory staff and subordinate staff.

Issue No. 2.—(a) Linking of wages to minimum production and standard working week.

The Engineering Associations in their joint written statement filed on 27th January 1948 raised this issue. At page 25, they said as follows:—

"Employers concerned in this dispute consider it to be of the most vital importance that any increase in wages or other amenities which the Tribunal may grant should be closely linked with a higher standard of production from labour

....

The industry realises that it is very difficult for a Tribunal such as this to give an award on this subject which will be in any real way binding on the workers, but they would request the Tribunal specifically to recognise the right of employers to introduce any measure which they consider desirable to secure a fair day's work for fair wages. Otherwise, an increase in wages may bring about a further drop in production........................"

They said also that firms which were at present working less than 48 hours per week, which is prescribed under the Factories Act, should be authorised to increase their working hours to the level permitted by the Factories Act without increasing the wages paid to labour as laid down by the Tribunal.

As to the first point, the only concrete suggestion made by the Association of linking wages to a minimum standard production is that the firms, which have a system of production bonus, should be permitted to include the production bonus for standard production within the minimum basic wages fixed. Supposing the production bonus for standard production comes to Rs. 2-8 per month per worker, it is suggested that the basic pay of the worker should be Rs. 27-8, plus Rs. 2-8 as production bonus, so that including the production bonus, the basic wage comes to the minimum laid down. It is, however, admitted that only a few of the firms have got a system of production bonus, and even these firms have not given us details as to the method of calculating production bonus. For a scheme of production bonus, it is necessary that experts should be appointed for each separate type of manufacturing industry to work out standard production and to work out the contribution of each worker to such standard production and thus evolve a system of production bonus. It does not appear that this has been done for the industry in general. Further, there are many concerns dealing with repairs only; it is difficult to see how any system of production bonus can be worked out for such concerns. It is urged strongly by the Labour Unions that the minimum wage should be independently fixed and should not be linked up with production up to the required standard. We must accept the contention of the Unions, if only for the reason that at present the system of production bonus obtains in only a few of the companies with which we are concerned, and the few companies having a system of production bonus produced no details of their system before us. Moreover it would be inequitable if only some firms were allowed to include bonus for standard production within the minimum basic wages fixed. Hence we reject this claim made by the Associations.

As to the second point, the minimum wages as fixed for the unskilled worker by the Tribunal is expected to be for the standard working week of 48 hours as permitted under the Factories Act. If firms work for less than this, they must still pay the minimum wages fixed, but there would be no objection to their increasing the working hours to the level permitted by the Factories Act.

Issue No. 3.—Classification of workers into the categories—unskilled, semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled.

While classification of the workers into the different categories is of very great importance for the purpose of fixing basic pay and scales of pay for different categories of workers, there are at present very great difficulties in the way of attempting such a classification. In this connection we may refer to B. P. Adarkar's report (Labour Investigation Committee) at pages 4 and 5. Mr. Adarkar observes as follows:—"One of the biggest problems in the engineering industry, as well as in textiles, is the absence of uniform terminology for the various occupations which it comprises. Terms like 'fitter', 'moulder', 'mistry', 'machine-man', 'khalasi', etc., have scores of different connotations in different parts of the country and sometimes even in the same centre. Not only this, but even if a man is called by one name, he may be doing the work appropriate to several other categories, and on the same day he may work in different processes in a concern..The representatives of engineering workers complained that owing to lack of standardization of terms, it was possible for an employer to pay wages according to his inclination, and also to require workers engaged on one job to take up work rightly belonging to another category.............................It is clear that the question of standardization of wages hinges upon a correct solution of the problem of standardization of occupational nomenclature." It appears from the report of Mr. Adarkar that the Government of India once set up Committees for standardization of occupational terms, fixation of standard basic wages, etc. But the work had to be suspended because of some difficulties. Mr. Adarkar observes that the problem should be tackled effectively, but to do this might take several years. The Main Report of the Labour Investigation Committee at page 368 has also stressed the importance of standardization of occupational nomenclature and wages. Dr. Radhakamal Mukherjee in his book "The Indian Working Class" has also touched upon this question. At pages 68 and 69 he observes that all industries should effect a standardization of categories and jobs to avoid disparity of remuneration for similar class of work. The Engineering Associations have given a chart showing how workmen described in the same terms are treated on widely different footings by different concerns. It will be sufficient to give a quotation for only one category, viz., fitter. Thus a workman known as fitter is placed in the categories and paid basic wages shown below by the various firms:—

Name of Firm.	Category.	Basic wages.
1. Braithwaite, Burn & Jessop	"A Class" skilled	Rs. 32-8 to Rs. 65 per month.
2. Air Conditioning Corporation	Semi-skilled	Rs. 39 to Rs. 52 per month.
3. Asbestos Cement, Ltd.	Skilled	Rs. 45-8 to Rs. 74-12 per month.
4. Lloyds' Engineering Works, Ltd.	Semi-skilled	Rs. 45-8 to Rs. 56-14 per month.
5. Port Engineering Works (Workshop)	Highly skilled	Rs. 84-4 per month.
6. General Electric Co., Ltd.	Partly skilled	Rs. 42 to Rs. 49 per month.
7. Electric Lamp Manufacturers	Semi-skilled	Rs. 65 per month.
8. Burn & Co., Ltd.	Highly skilled	Rs. 53 to Rs. 85-8 approx.

Moreover in this Major Tribunal we are concerned not with one kind of Engineering Industry, but with many types of industry, e.g., iron and steel foundry, structural, mechanical, electrical and marine engineering, motor engineering, manufacture of machine tools and hardware utensils, and non-ferrous metal engineering and manufacture of non-ferrous metal utensils. It will be very difficult to standardise jobs and their nomenclature over so many different kinds of industry. In a single Company it would be possible to make a rough and ready division of workers into the categories, unskilled, semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled. But even if we were to confine our attention to one individual Company, differences of opinion would be likely to arise regarding classification of particular workers, which would be difficult for us to resolve without the assistance of an expert assessor.

The Engineering Associations have consistently pressed the view that we should not, in view of the difficulties mentioned, attempt to make any classification of workers in different types of industries into the categories mentioned. The Unions have ultimately agreed that we should not attempt to make such classification, but they have pressed that we should recommend strongly to the Government that a Committee of Experts should be appointed to go into the question at an early date, and enquire into and report on the standardization of occupational terms and classification of workers into the categories unskilled, semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled. We accept this demand and we recommend to the Government that a Committee of Experts should be appointed at an early date to go into this question; and we make no attempt at classification of the workers of different industries into categories.

Issue No. 4.—Conversion of hourly, daily and weekly-rated workers into monthly-rated workers.

Factory workers all over the world are hourly or daily-rated, but weekly paid as a general rule. Section 4 of the Payment of Wages Act provides that employers shall fix periods in respect of which wages shall be paid and that no wage period should exceed one month. Thus the employers have the right of fixing a week as the wage period. That would not, of course, prevent the Tribunal from laying down that a month should be fixed as the wage period, if such a decision were necessary to resolve an industrial dispute. But to make such an award would introduce difficulties, because the system of weekly payment has been recognised in the latest Labour Welfare Act of the Central Government, viz., the Employees' State Insurance Act of 1948, which contemplates weekly wages and payment of weekly contributions by both the employers and the employees into the Insurance Fund. Moreover we are not satisfied that there is really any dispute over the wage period. The Central Pay Commission in paragraph 227 of its report refers to the criticism that the daily-rated system has been subjected to. The system has been criticised because of an element of uncertainty of service and absence of leave and other privileges. The Commission observes that much of the criticism against the system would be obviated if daily-rated workers are paid at a rate which is equal to the income of the monthly-rated employees, and this will secure to them the benefit of holidays with pay. We have already fixed the rate of payment of the daily-rated workers in such a way as to secure to them the same amount as the monthly-rated employees. There is the further point of security of tenure. We shall discuss this point when dealing with the question of "Security of Service" in Issue No. 10. The Engineering Workers' Federation has made the further criticism that where the daily-rated system prevails, the worker sometimes gets 2 or 3 hours' work on a particular day and he gets remuneration only for the number of hours' work put in. The Federation has urged that a monthly minimum remuneration should be guaranteed. The result of our Award will be to guarantee the minimum monthly remuneration to the regular worker, except in circumstances beyond the control of the employer; the worker should not otherwise be deprived of his minimum earning by being given insufficient employment. We shall discuss this question further when dealing with the question of involuntary unemployment in Issue No. 10. Subject to these observations, we reject the claim for conversion of hourly-rated, daily-rated and weekly-rated workers into monthly-rated workers.

Issue No. 5.—Abolition or revision of piece-rates.

The Engineering Workers' Federation has demanded that piece-rates should be abolished or that piece-rates should be increased by 100 per cent. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union has asked for increase of piece-rates by 50 per cent. This Union has referred to the award of Mr. S. C. Chakravorty in the case concerning the India Electric Works, Ltd., published in the Calcutta Gazette of 6th November 1947, in which the adjudicator increased the piece-rates by 20 per cent. The piece-rate system exists, to a certain extent, all over the world, and a skilful worker has the opportunity to earn a dividend on his skill under a piece-rate system. Accordingly the demand for abolition of piece-rates cannot be accepted. It is true that rate-cutting is sometimes resorted to when the workers attain dexterity. This, however, may be avoided by fixing the standard output for earning equal to the minimum basic wage, and in the last resort, the matter can be made a subject-matter of dispute and arbitration. Regarding the demand for a percentage increase in piece-rates, there is no data before the Tribunal for making a definite award. In the India Electric Works, Ltd., it was possible for the adjudicator to fix a percentage for the increase in piece-rates, because he had the piece-rates before him and he fixed the wages of the workmen paid according to the time-rate; thus he could fix the percentage rise to ensure that the earnings of the piece-rate workers did not fall below the earning of the time-rated workers in the same category. For want of necessary data and in view of the fact that this Tribunal is concerned with a large variety of different industries, no definite rate of increase of piece-rates can be fixed by this Tribunal. We can only make a provision for ensuring that the earning of the piece-rate worker does not fall below the earning of the time-rate worker of the corresponding grade. The Engineering Associations have urged that sometimes a piece-rate worker works in two or more factories at one time and therefore it is impossible for one Company to ensure reasonable earning for him. We must concede that if a piece-rate worker is not a whole-time worker for a Company, the Company can do nothing to ensure a minimum earning for him, but where a piece-rate worker is a whole-time worker for a particular Company, that particular Company must ensure that his earnings do not fall below the earnings of a time-rated worker of the same category. We, therefore, direct that each separate Company must revise its piece-rates so as to ensure that the earnings of a whole-time piece-rate worker of the Company do not fall below the earnings of a time-rated worker of the same category.

Issue No. 6.—Free quarters or house rent allowance.

The Unions have demanded that the Companies should either provide free quarters for the workmen or in the alternative give house rent allowance as recommended by the Central Pay Commission for the Calcutta Area. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union demands that the minimum house rent should be Rs. 10 per month for workmen and Rs. 20 per month for clerical and other middle class employees.

The Engineering Associations have strongly opposed the claim for provision of free quarters or for house rent allowance in lieu thereof. They have urged that the Engineering Industry in Calcutta Industrial Area has never accepted the responsibility of providing houses to workmen, because the Engineering Industry in and around Calcutta has grown by slow stages and it has, therefore, not been necessary for the industry to recruit a large number of upcountry labour which has been required in the case of other industries such as jute. They have also pointed out the obstacles in the way of house building, viz., lack of space in the congested area of Calcutta, shortage of building materials and difficulty in obtaining the necessary finance. They have referred in this connection to the report of the Industrial Housing Sub-Committee published by the Government of India in May 1946. The Sub-Committee at page 9 of its report observed that while in the case of factories located in rural areas, the responsibility for housing must be solely that of the employer, yet in urban areas, because of the magnitude of the problem, the responsibility for housing of workmen could not be left to the employers only, and that the problem of industrial housing in big urban areas could only be successfully tackled by the collective efforts of the local authorities, the Government and the employers. In the Main Report of the Labour Investigation Committee of the Government of India, the same view has been taken. At pages 369-371 of the Report, it is recommended that for big urban areas, the State should provide the finance for the building of the houses, leaving the recurrent expenditure for maintenance to be shared between the employers and the employees.

In the rural areas, the responsibility for housing workmen is placed entirely on the employers, because, in the first place, no private housing is likely to be available in such places for the labourers, and secondly, land and building labour in such places are likely to be very cheap and so housing does not ordinarily entail too great a burden upon the resources of the employers. The fact that responsibility for housing the workmen is placed on the employers in the rural areas, does not, however, mean that the houses are to be supplied free of rent to the employees. Housing has to be provided, but the cost per unit may be assessed and charged as house rent from the employees, or in the alternative, the cost of such housing may be regarded as part of the basic wages of the workmen. In mofussil areas, the cost of housing thus provided by the employers is not normally expected to exceed 10 per cent. of the pay of the employees. Ordinarily rent at 10 per cent. of the pay of the employee may be deemed to be included in the basic pay of the employee. Hence for mofussil areas, the Central Pay Commission does not recommend a separate house rent allowance. For big urban areas, there is provision for a separate house rent allowance because in such an area, housing cannot be obtained by an employee at 10 per cent. of his basic pay. For Government servants in Calcutta area, there is the Calcutta House Rent Allowance Scheme, under which a Government employee may get a house rent allowance equal to what he pays as house rent in excess of 10 per cent. of his pay, subject to a maximum of 12½ per cent. of his pay. In other words, the Calcutta House Rent is normally assumed to be 22½ per cent. of his normal pay and an employee is asked to bear the burden up to 10 per cent. of his pay and the Government bears the remaining 12½ per cent. of the house rent. Because of the high initial cost of building houses in big urban areas, the responsibility for building and providing houses in such areas has not been placed on the employers alone, and it has been recommended that the capital outlay for building houses in such areas should be advanced by the State; but the maintenance charges and the sinking fund charges to repay the capital would be much more than 10 per cent. of the basic pay of the employees and hence the employers are expected to share a part of that burden.

The contention of the Engineering Associations is that the employers cannot be asked to pay a separate house rent allowance, because provision of house rent has been included in the basic wages paid to the employee. The basic wages of employees include the normal cost of housing, i.e., 10 per cent. of pay, and so far as the Engineering concerns situated outside Calcutta are concerned, we must hold that the employees of such concerns have no right to claim a house rent allowance in addition to the basic pay and dearness allowance fixed. The employees of the Engineering concerns situated in Calcutta could claim a house rent allowance, in view of the extra cost of housing in Calcutta. Apart from the fact that this would impose an extra burden which many Companies in Calcutta would find difficult to bear, there is an important reason which disinclines us from allowing the claim for Calcutta House Rent Allowance. The overwhelming majority of the unskilled workmen come from Orissa or Bihar. They do not, as a rule, live in the Calcutta area with their families, but several of them chum together in one room. Accordingly in their case it may be safely assumed that they do not spend even 10 per cent. of their basic pay as house rent. As to the semi-skilled and skilled workers and clerical and other middle class employees, many of them again belong to the area where the industries are situated and they either have houses of their own or they live in joint family houses and only rarely such an employee incurs house rent for his own individual family. A small proportion of the skilled workmen and clerical and other middle class staff do maintain separate houses and they alone might reasonably claim the Calcutta House Rent Allowances. We do not however consider it desirable that the house rent allowance should be granted to a small section only of the employees. The Unions have urged that a house rent allowance at least on the scale prescribed in paragraph 78 of the Central Pay Commission's report should be given to all employees, so that all employees might have the opportunity of living in more decent conditions. But decent accommodation for such a large number of employees would not be available at present or in the near future. We have to wait till building materials are freely available, and the Government comes forward with a house building programme for industrial employees. We therefore reject the claim for the Calcutta House Rent Allowance at present.

Issue No. 7.—Special allowance demanded for specific workers of specific firms.

The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union has demanded the following special allowances:—

(1) An allowance at the rate of 25 per cent. of basic pay of a worker or other employee living on board a vessel or inside the factory premises, as part of his duty.

(2) An allowance of 25 per cent. of his pay for a worker working in excessive heat.

The Engineering Workers' Federation has demanded the following:—

(3) Special allowance equal to 25 per cent. of basic pay for workers of the Galvanising Section of the Indian Galvanising Co., Ltd.

(4) An allowance for workers of Crown Aluminium Works (Messrs. Jeewanlal, Ltd.) for the risky nature of their work.

(5) An allowance to workers who work with carbon in the British India Electric Company, as tuberculosis is very common among those workers.

The Employers' Associations have opposed these demands. We are unable to hold that any case for special allowance has been made out in any of the five cases urged before us. Thus members of the launch crew, who live on board the launches, and Durwans, who reside in factory premises as part of their duty, are employed for the special duty which they perform and they cannot claim a special allowance for such duty. The launch crew get a kind of free quarters in being able to live on board the launch in which they work, and the same remark applies to Durwans who live in factory premises. They cannot claim any special allowance.

The workers who work in excessive heat in iron engineering factories or other kinds of engineering factories are semi-skilled or highly skilled workers and are paid for the particular jobs that they perform. Their pays are expected to be adjusted for the jobs they perform and there is no case for extra allowance of 25 per cent. The same remark applies to workers in aluminium factories. There is nothing to show that aluminium particles which are formed during the manufacture of utensils from aluminium sheets are particularly dangerous for health, and in this case also the pay of the workers is expected to be adjusted to the jobs they perform and there is no case for a special allowance.

As to workers with carbon, it is urged that tuberculosis is common among them and they are entitled to special allowance. The Engineering Associations have produced a statement showing that the percentage of labour absentees is not markedly higher among workers with carbon. They have also filed a copy of the report of a doctor of the Morgan Crucibles Co., Ltd., of England which prepares and exports carbon brush. The opinion of the doctor is that inhalation of tobacco smoke is much more harmful than the inspiration of air contaminated with carbon dust; and that in an industrial area people inhale tiny particles of carbon from the atmosphere causing discoloration of the lungs, and workers who make carbon brush do not generally suffer from greater chest troubles than ordinary citizens of industrial areas. Further, the Engineering Associations have submitted that in England women are employed in carbon brush manufacture and if the work were injurious to health, women workers would not have been employed in that department. The Engineering Workers' Federation has stated that in last two years six workers of the carbon department of the British India Electric Company were attacked with consumption. Consumption is, however, fairly common among the citizens in Calcutta Industrial Area, and the statistics produced do not show convincingly that the workers who make carbon brush are particularly liable to consumption. We do not, therefore, think that a case for special allowance has been made out for workers who make carbon brush, but it is recommended that the Company concerned should provide screens to workers of the carbon brush department as a measure of safety. We are informed that such screens are used by workers of the carbon brush department in England.

As to workers of the galvanising factory, it is urged that these workers work with gas and that gas has an injurious effect on health. There is nothing before us to support the contention that work with gas is particularly deleterious to health. Thus the claim for special allowance for specific workers of particular firms is rejected.

Issue No. 8.—Retiring Benefits—Provident Fund, Gratuity and Pension.

All the Unions have urged that it is the duty of the employer to provide some retiring benefits for the maintenance of the workers in old age. All the major Unions have demanded that retiring benefits should take the form of both a Contributory Provident Fund and a gratuity. The Engineering Workers' Federation also demanded that a system of pension should be introduced in addition, but it ultimately withdrew the claim for pension and confined its demand to Contributory Provident Fund and gratuity, like the other Labour Unions. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union has suggested that the contribution to the Provident Fund should be 8⅓ per cent. of pay by the worker and that an equal contribution should be made by the employer. The other Labour Unions have demanded that the contribution should be 12½ per cent. As to gratuity, the demand generally is for one month's pay for each completed year of service.

The reply of the Engineering Associations is that the workers cannot as of right demand these benefits for it is the duty of the State to provide old age pensions; but that many engineering firms have, in fact, introduced some form of retiring benefit and the Associations insist that the workers should not be allowed more than one of the benefits. The Associations favour the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme as the most satisfactory scheme of benefit, but they want that each concern should be able to adopt the kind of retiring benefit that it considers most suitable, and that a concern which has one kind of retiring benefit scheme in operation should be able to change over into another system. The Associations have produced copies of the Model Rules for Provident Fund adopted and circularised by the Indian Engineering Association to all its members. These rules have obtained the sanction of the Income-Tax Commissioner. They provide for contribution at the rate of one anna in the rupee or 6¼ per cent. for workers drawing up to Rs. 150 per month.

We consider that employers have the duty to provide some sort of retiring benefit to their workers, particularly to such workers as have worked under them for a number of years. If the State were to introduce a scheme for old age insurance or old age pension, the State would obtain contribution from the employers as well as from the employees. So long as such a scheme for old age insurance or pension is not introduced, it is necessary that the employers directly should bear the burden for some sort of retiring benefits. We agree with the Engineering Associations that the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme is the best scheme of retiring benefit, because while imposing a burden on the employers, it also makes it compulsory for the employees to make a contribution; this is desirable because not only it teaches the employee the habit of saving but also is a guarantee against reckless spending of the retiring benefit money when obtained, for if the employees feel that they have contributed to build up the fund money, they would be careful about the money they receive on retiring. It appears from the statements filed by the Engineering Associations that at present only a few of the 119 Companies with which we are concerned have a proper system of retiring benefit. Only 41 of the firms have a scheme of Contributory Provident Fund, 13 have a gratuity scheme and 5 have a pension scheme. The pension scheme cannot be regarded as satisfactory. It is not a scheme by which all the employees of the particular Company benefit, but pension given to a few selected employees who have rendered signal service to the Company, and the rate at which pension is allowed is low.

We, therefore, decide that the scheme of the Contributory Provident Fund should be adopted by the Engineering Companies; but small Companies employing less than 100 men would have the option of adopting the gratuity scheme instead, as it has been represented to us that it would be difficult for the smaller units to maintain proper accounts of the Provident Fund. We also accept the contention of the Engineering Associations that the workmen should be entitled to claim only one kind of retiring benefit. It is true that in the Railway Services employees have the advantage of both Contributory Provident Fund and gratuity. But in view of the financial position of most of the Companies, we are definitely of opinion that it would be putting too heavy a burden on the employers to insist on both Provident Fund and gratuity schemes. We also agree that the rate of contribution to the Contributory Provident Fund should be one anna in the rupee or 6¼ per cent. of the basic pay. Under section 58C of the Income-Tax Act, it is necessary that the employees' contribution and the employers' contribution to the Contributory Provident Fund should be equal, and apart from the burden on the employers the workers earning the minimum pay can hardly spare more than one anna in the rupee for contribution to the Provident Fund.

It is necessary to discuss some of the rules of the Contributory Provident Fund. The Unions want that the employers' contribution to the Provident Fund should be available to the employee whenever he resigns or retires, without any limitation as to the total service put in and that further the employers' contribution should be available even when the employee is dismissed from service. Rules 26, 27 and 28 of the Model Rules adopted by the Indian Engineering Association are relevant in this connection. Rule 26 provides that on the voluntary resignation or retirement of any employee, no part of the employer's contribution should be payable, if the employee has not completed three years' service; if the employee has completed three years but has not completed 20 years' service, he should be paid 1/20th part of employer's contribution for each completed year of service and for this purpose any service prior to the commencement of the fund, provided that such service has been continuous and unbroken, shall be included. Rule 27 provides that where any employee is discharged permanently as a result of reduction of the establishment by the employer or on becoming permanently incapacitated owing to injury sustained whilst in the service of the employer or in case of his resignation or retirement with the previous written sanction of the employer owing to illness, old age, etc., the whole amount standing to the credit of his account should be paid to him. Rule 28 provides that in case of dismissal for a major misdemeanour, the employer's contribution to the fund shall be forfeited, provided that the trustees may, with the consent of the Company, pay such portion of the employer's contribution as might be admissible under rule 26. In our opinion it is necessary to provide that the employee should not be able to get the employer's contribution in full until he has completed a certain number of years' service; otherwise an employee might be tempted to withdraw his accumulation in the Provident Fund at any time and take service elsewhere. It has been urged by the Unions that the period of 20 years prescribed in rule 26 is too long and that the period should be reduced substantially. But the Model Rules provide that a portion of the employer's contribution shall become payable as soon as the employee has completed three years' service. Thus an employee who resigns after completing 4 years' service, will get 4/20th or 1/5th of the employer's contribution; an employee who has completed 5 years' service will get 5/20th or ¼th of the employer's contribution, and so on, until he gets the whole of the employer's contribution on completing 20 years' service. Taking the rule as a whole, it cannot be said that it is unsatisfactory, and therefore we see no reason to modify rule 26 of the Model Rules.

There are, however, two rules which require amendment in our opinion. Rule 13 provides that membership of the fund may be made compulsory at the discretion of the employer. We consider it necessary to provide that concerns which adopt the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme should make it compulsory for the permanent employees of all classes to join it; if it is left to the discretion of each concern to make it compulsory, many concerns may seek to reduce liability by making the scheme voluntary; the lower paid employees may not join the fund if it is left to their choice; and in that case there would be no retiring benefit for them. Hence we must direct suitable amendment of rule 13 to ensure that all permanent employees become members of the fund.

The Asbestos Cement Company has urged that its Head Office is in Bombay, and that it already has a scheme of Contributory Provident Fund in operation on a voluntary membership basis for its employees in the different branches of the Company all over India, and that it should be permitted to keep its fund rules unchanged. For reasons explained above we cannot permit this. So far as its employees in West Bengal branches are concerned, it must be made compulsory for them to join the Provident Fund of the Company.

Next there is rule 15 which provides that the contribution of each member shall be 6¼ per cent. of the basic pay for members earning up to Rs. 150 per month, and 5 per cent. for members earning above that figure. So far as the employees before us are concerned, we are decidedly of the opinion that there should be a uniform contribution at 6¼ per cent. of the basic pay, irrespective of the question whether their earnings are above or below Rs. 150 per month; we are not concerned with the rate of contribution of the superior officers who are not members of the Unions. We must direct therefore that rule 15 be suitably amended so as to provide for a uniform rate of contribution at 6¼ per cent. of the basic pay for all permanent "workmen" as defined in the Industrial Disputes Act, irrespective of their monthly earnings.

Next we have to consider the terms of the gratuity scheme which may be adopted by small concerns employing less than 100 men. The Engineering Associations have suggested that half a month's basic pay for each completed year of service shall be payable, subject to a maximum of 15 months' basic pay; and that no gratuity shall be payable before the employee has completed 25 years' service. The Unions demand that the scale of payment should be one month's basic pay for each completed year of service, and that gratuity shall be payable whenever an employee resigns or retires or is discharged, without consideration of the number of years' service put in by him. We consider that the scale of payment should be half a month's pay for each completed year of service. Though for any particular year half a month's pay is less than 6¼ per cent. of pay, still gratuity is to be calculated on the basis of the substantive pay during the last year of an employee's service; thus gratuity payable for an employee who has served a full term and obtained some increments of pay will not be less than the employer's contribution into the Provident Fund at 6¼ per cent. of pay throughout the period of the employee's service. In other cases it may be less; but it has to be remembered that only the smaller concerns who cannot shoulder much financial burden will adopt the gratuity scheme. As to the conditions under which gratuity will be payable, we cannot accept the claim of the Unions, but we consider at the same time that the suggestions of the Engineering Associations do not go far enough. We therefore make the following rules as to gratuity for concerns adopting the gratuity scheme:—

(a) On retirement after not less than 25 years' continuous service—Half a month's basic pay for each completed year of service, subject to a maximum of 15 months' basic pay.

(b) On death of the employee while in service—Half a month's pay for each completed year of service, irrespective of the length of service but subject to the maximum of 15 months' basic pay, to be paid to the employees' heirs.

(c) On resignation or retirement at any time before the completion of 25 years' service, with the written consent of the employer, owing to illness, old age, or any other sufficient cause—Half a month's pay for each year of completed service.

(d) On termination of service by the employer, either as the result of reduction of his establishment or in any other circumstance not justifying dismissal—Half a month's pay for each completed year of service, irrespective of the length of service.

(e) No gratuity shall be payable when the employee is dismissed for misconduct.

(f) Gratuity is to be calculated on the basis of average substantive pay during the last 12 months of service.

Clauses (c) and (d) correspond to rule 27 of the Model Rules for Provident Fund. The Engineering Associations opposed the adoption of clause (d) urging that there is no liability to pay gratuity to a man who is discharged owing to a reduction of the employer's establishment; it is urged that in such a case the man is only entitled to notice or pay in lieu of notice for a month or a week, as the case may be. The Unions on the other hand have strenuously demanded that the liability to pay gratuity on retrenchment should be accepted by the employer in every case. We consider that until the State has adopted a scheme of unemployment insurance scheme, the employer can be asked to bear the burden of making some provision for the period when a man is thrown out of employment through no fault of his own. Further, in rule 27 of the Model Rules for Provident Fund the Indian Engineering Association has provided that on permanent discharge owing to reduction of establishment, an employee will be entitled to the whole of the employer's contribution, irrespective of the length of his service. There is no reason why the employees of the concerns adopting the gratuity scheme should be worse off. Such concerns may henceforth build up a gratuity fund by annual contributions, so that the men who ultimately retire in the normal course as well as the men who are discharged owing to reduction of establishment may be paid out of that fund. The benefit under rule 27 will be available only from the date on which the bigger concerns adopt the Model Rules and start funds governed by the Model Rules. We propose that this should be done with retrospective effect from the 1st April 1948. Similarly for the purpose of clause (d) of the gratuity rules, we provide that only service since the 1st April 1948, the date of commencement of the operation of this award, will be taken into consideration. Since there has been no recognised practice so far of paying a retiring gratuity on retrenchment, and we are now introducing the practice as a term of service, we hold that it would be inequitable to make the burden retrospective, except in the case of those who will have completed 15 continuous years' service at the time of retrenchment. For such people we are making a provision below for the period of 12 months for which this Award will be in force.

We have decided that only one kind of retiring benefit shall be normally given to the employees, and we have adopted the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme as the more satisfactory in the long run. But we consider it necessary that the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme should be supplemented for the next few years by a scheme of gratuity, for during this period the benefit from the Contributory Provident Fund will be relatively small. The Engineering Associations, after some discussions, have made the following offer for employees retiring or ceasing to be in service in the course of the next 12 months during which this Award will remain in force:—

(1) On retirement after not less than 30 years' continuous service—Gratuity at the rate of half a month's pay for each year of completed service, subject to a maximum of 15 months' pay.

(2) On retirement after not less than 20 years' service, with the written sanction of the employer —Gratuity at half a month's pay for each completed year of service.

(3) In each of the above cases gratuity will be payable for the period during which the particular concern had no Contributory Provident Fund. For the period during which the Contributory Provident Fund has been in existence, the employee will receive the employer's contribution to the fund in full.

The offer is on the whole a fair one, but to bring the benefits into line with the benefits which will have to be allowed by concerns adopting the gratuity scheme, we consider it necessary to make certain alterations. Accordingly we make the following directions:—Employees of engineering concerns who adopt or have adopted the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme will obtain the following retiring benefits during the next 12 months from which the Award will be in force:—

(1) On retirement after continuous service for not less than 25 years—Gratuity at the rate of half a month's pay for each completed year of service, subject to a maximum of 15 months' pay.

(2) On retirement before completing 25 years' continuous service, owing to illness, old age or any other sufficient cause, with the written consent of the employer—Gratuity at the rate of half a month's pay for each year of completed service.

(3) For the period for which the Contributory Provident Fund has been in operation, the employees falling in clauses (1) and (2) will receive the whole amount of the employees' contribution to the fund; but in calculating the gratuity payable, the period for which the Contributory Provident Fund has been in existence will be deducted from the total period of service. The maximum period of service for those falling in clause (1) will be deemed to be 30 years for the purpose of this clause.

In respect of the period of 12 months for which the Award will be in force, the Associations have not agreed to any gratuity in case of termination of service by the Company for reduction of the establishment or for any other cause. But in this case also we think that a gratuity should be paid to those who will have completed at least 15 years' continuous service. We therefore provide that in the next 12 months, when an employee who has completed not less than 15 years' continuous service is discharged permanently as the result of reduction by the employer of his establishment, or for any similar cause, he will be paid a gratuity at the rate of half a month's pay for each completed year of service. This provision will apply to firms which adopt or have adopted the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme as well as to firms which adopt or have adopted the Gratuity Scheme, but in the former case, gratuity will not be calculated for the period of existence of the Contributory Provident Fund, for the employee will receive the employer's contribution to the fund for that period.

We expect that the special provisions made for the 12 months during which the Award will be in force will be extended by the employers to cover further periods until the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme and the Gratuity Scheme become fully operative. We cannot under the law provide fully for such a long period.

Regarding the few firms which have a pension system at present, all the Unions agree that they should have the option of discontinuing the system. They must all introduce a Contributory Provident Fund Scheme and they will be governed by the award as to retiring benefits for the next 12 months specified above. This would not, of course, bar them from giving, at their option, a pension to any particular employee who has rendered signal service to them. Retired employees who are in enjoyment of pension will not be affected by the award.

Issue No. 9—Holidays and Leave.

Workmen in factories are governed by the Factories Act, 1934, as amended in 1945 regarding holidays and leave. Section 35 of the Act provides for a weekly holiday and section 49B provides for paid annual holidays for workers who have completed a period of 12 months' continuous service in a factory. The holidays provided by section 49B are holidays for a period of 10 consecutive days; if a worker does not take this leave in any year, he may carry it forward to the next succeeding year, but a workman may thus accumulate his holidays under the Factories Act for 2 years only, i.e., if he does not take a paid holiday of 10 days in one year, he may take a paid holiday for 20 days in the next year. In addition to the 10 days' paid holiday or leave under the Factories Act, each factory gives a number of paid holidays on festival days. The number of such holidays on festival days varies widely from Company to Company; from 1 to 15, according to the statement of existing rules of leave and holidays in different concerns filed by the Engineering Associations. Most of the concerns do not grant any other holiday or leave. Only 14 out of 97 concerns included in the statement allow casual leave with pay from 4 to 10 days and about the same number allow sick leave with full pay or half pay from 7 to 15 days. There is no system of privilege leave for the factory workmen.

All the principal Workers' Unions have demanded that the workmen should be allowed one month's privilege leave with full pay in a year, 15 days' casual leave with full pay in a year, and at least one month's sick leave with full pay in a year. As to festival leave, the Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union has demanded that such festival leave should be allowed on all gazetted holidays, while the Engineering Workers' Federation has demanded festival leave with pay for 8 days in a year.

In support of the claim for privilege leave, casual leave and sick leave, it has been urged that there should be no distinction in these days between factory workmen and clerical and middle class employees, and that if the clerks and other middle class employees get privilege leave, casual leave and sick leave, the factory workers should also get these kinds of leave.

The two Engineering Associations have strongly opposed the claim for leave and holidays on such a liberal scale. In this connection we may usefully quote the following extract from the written statement filed by by the Associations ".........due consideration may be paid to the very important factor of the capacity of the industry to bear the financial burden and the loss of production involved in granting leave of all kinds. It is the Associations' strong contention that, so far as privilege and casual leave is concerned the provisions of the Factories Act as amended up to date should be regarded as the standard to be adhered to, and that the Tribunal should not go beyond the terms there laid down. So far as sick leave is concerned, the Associations would invite the Tribunal's attention to the provisions of the forthcoming sickness insurance legislation which will soon be in force and will provide all that is necessary in this respect." During the hearing it has been submitted on behalf of the Associations that in addition to 10 days' statutory leave with pay introduced by the Factories Amendment Act, 1945, the Associations are prepared to give 6 paid holidays on festival days, and that beyond this the Associations are not prepared to go. It has been urged on behalf of the Associations that where the Statute has made provision on a certain matter, the Tribunal should consider itself bound by it and should not go beyond the Statute. Previously there was no system of paid holidays in the factories but the necessity of paid holidays was long recognised. In the Main Report of the Labour Investigation Committee, the following observations are made at page 118, "The value of holidays in maintaining and increasing industrial efficiency as well as in improving the employer-worker relations cannot be overemphasised. The higher rate of absenteeism and the large percentage of Labour turnover, which are characteristic of most of the Indian industries, are in a large measure attributable to the absence of an adequate provision for holidays and leave. The Bihar Labour Enquiry Committee aptly remarked: "Tropical climate, poor diet and physique of the workers and insanitary and unattractive conditions in which they live, combine to make holidays with pay even more necessary in India than in the West". Dr. Radha Kamal Mukherjee also in his book, "Indian Working Class," observes as follows: "Regarding leave, it is essential that some agreement should be reached between the employers and the workers, or the State should fix the number of days of leave with pay by legislation. For few industrial workers in the world need leave with pay so much as those in India, while the grant of such leave will contribute to improve the sense of security, attachment to a particular industrial establishment and hence general efficiency." These remarks were made before the amendment of the Factories Act, 1934. By the Factories (Amendment) Act of 1945 which came into force from 1st January 1946, annual holidays under section 49B of the Factories Act were introduced for the first time. For the Engineering Associations it has been urged strongly that the Tribunal should not go beyond the limits fixed by legislation and it has also been urged that the industrial worker in other countries gets only a short holiday or leave with pay. Thus it is pointed out that in England, the unskilled worker gets no privilege leave at all and only a week's holiday in a year (1/50th of duty). In addition the British workman gets five Bank Holidays in a year; these correspond to festival holidays. In New Zealand there are 8 annual holidays. Even Russia gives an annual paid holiday of 12 days only. It has also been urged by the Associations that the idea of a paid vacation is a western idea where the workers are divorced from land and require a short period of relaxation; and that in India most of the labourers have connection with land and it is, therefore, not necessary to provide a paid holiday, as most workmen take leave for a month or two without pay and attend to their harvest and thus get sufficient change from the daily round of factory labour.

We do not agree that there is anything in the Factories Act or in any other legislation which prevents us from going beyond the number of days mentioned in section 49B of the Factories Act. The section only says that a factory worker who has completed 12 months' service should be allowed holidays for a period of 10 consecutive days. There is nothing to show that more holidays or leave cannot be allowed. Some few concerns have given the worker more holidays with pay. For settling an industrial dispute, the Tribunal may allow holidays and leave beyond the number of days mentioned in the Factories Act. At the same time, of course, the Tribunal has to take into consideration the fact that holidays must lessen production and that leave must throw an additional financial burden on the employers and increase the cost of production. The Tribunal has also to take into consideration the fact that workmen even in industrially advanced countries like England and Russia do not enjoy long holidays or leave. Accordingly, while we are inclined to go beyond the limit of 10 days' statutory leave and 6 days' festival leave offered by the Associations, we must hold that the demands of the Unions have been pitched too high and the interest of the country will be hampered if they are conceded. Dr. Mukherjee in his book "Indian Working Class" takes all the facts into consideration and recommends at page 60 of his book that the Engineering Industries in India should give 22 days' holidays with pay including festival days. We are inclined to accept the recommendation of an experienced economist like Dr Mukherjee. We, therefore, hold that there should be 22 holidays including festival holidays and 10 statutory holidays under the Factories Act. This may be divided as follows:—

- 10 days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act, which is equivalent to 8 or 9 paid holidays according as there is one Sunday or two within the period of 10 days.
- 8 festival days.
- 5 or 6 days' other leave with pay which may be taken in continuation of the 10 days under the Factories Act or separately at the option of the workmen. This other leave for 5 or 6 days will accumulate for 2 years, as provided for the 10 days' leave under the Factories Act.

Regarding sick leave, the case of the Associations is that the Employees' State Insurance Act, which has already been passed by the Central Legislature, makes sufficient provision and therefore it is not necessary that the Tribunal should provide any sick leave. It is true that the Employees' State Insurance Act has been passed by the Central Legislature, but it will be sometime before the benefits under the Act are made available to the workmen. Under the Act a Board will be set up which will collect weekly contributions from the employers as well as the employees, and receive contribution from the Government and build up a fund from which the employees will be paid an allowance when they are ill, up to a maximum of 8 weeks in a particular year. There are other provisions of the Act which are not relevant for the present issue. When the Act has come into full operation, it will no longer be necessary to make any provision for grant of sick leave by the individual employers, because the employees of the concerns to which the Act has been applied will automatically get the necessary allowance during their sickness. But until the Act comes into force, we consider it necessary that the employers should give an allowance when the employees fall ill. Under the scheme of the Employees' State Insurance Act, the employer as well as the employee will have to make a contribution and the benefit will normally be equal to half pay. The benefit will be for eight weeks, but then the State, the employer and the employee will all contribute to build up the benefit fund. At present, we are throwing the burden on the employer only. Hence we provide for 15 days' sick leave on half pay in a year of service. This leave will accumulate, i.e., if in one year the employee does not take sick leave, in the next year he may take sick leave with half pay up to 30 days and so on, but this leave will be discontinued as soon as the Employees' State Insurance Act comes into operation.

Next we have to deal with leave rules for the clerical staff and the supervisory staff. The clerical staff and the supervisory staff will get the same festival leave as the workmen, privilege leave on full pay for 21 days, and sick leave on half pay for 15 days in a year The privilege leave will accumulate up to a limit of 63 days, and the sick leave will accumulate from year to year. We also think it desirable that clerks should have some casual leave as in Government offices. We provide for 7 days' casual leave with full pay in a year for them.

Issue No. 10—Conditions of Service.

(a) Recruitment, Contract and Sardar System.—It is admitted by the Labour Unions that there is no Sardar System in the Engineering Firm as there is in the Jute Mills. Labour is recruited not through any Contractor or Sardar, but is recruited direct by the management. The only point regarding recruitment is a claim made by the Engineering Workers' Federation that in case of new recruitment, sons and relatives of employees should get first preference. The Associations agree that other things being equal, sons and relatives of employees should get preference. Accordingly we direct that other things being equal, the employers should give preference to the sons and relatives of employees in the matter of new recruitment.

Next there is the question of the Contract System. The Unions have unanimously condemned the System, and urged its immediate abolition and replacement of contract labour by permanent labour under the industrial concerns.

The Engineering Associations have urged that Contract System is prevalent only to a limited extent in the Engineering Industry. From B. P. Adarkar's report at page 243, it appears that in 1939 only 1·2 per cent. of the workmen employed in general Engineering Industry constituted contract labour, though the per cent. increased to 2·9 per cent. in 1944. In Bengal, however, the percentage of contract labour is higher (vide Mr. Adarkar's comment at page 16 of the report). In the Main Report of the Labour Investigation Committee, there is a comment on the contract labour system at pages 83-84 of the report. The report says that the exigencies of the last war accentuated the tendency to employ contract labour. The Committee also mentions the reason given by employers for engaging contract labour, viz., the need for speedy execution of work at short notice, want of adequate supervising staff and absence of adequate machinery of employment exchange, which could supply required number of workers at short notice. For the Engineering Associations a further reason has been mentioned, viz., that where there is work which is not of a continuous nature, some sort of contract system is inevitable. But the Labour Investigation Committee points out that the contract system enables the principal employer to escape most of the provisions of the Labour Acts, viz., the Factories Act, Payment of Wages Act and the Maternity Benefit Act. The contractor obtains his contract by virtue of his being the lowest bidder for the work, and naturally, unless he pays low wages and intensifies the pace of work, he cannot earn any profit. Thus, ultimately this results in the sweating of labour. The employers find the contract system financially profitable in the short run; i.e., they can get work executed more cheaply through contractors, than they could do in their own factory with permanent labour paid at reasonable rates. This tendency on the part of the employers ought to be countered. It is not possible that all contract work will be terminated, but some sort of distinction between essential and non-essential processes of the industry must be drawn. To quote from the Main Report of the Labour Investigation Committee, if a textile factory owner calls a building contractor for painting or whitewashing which are not part of the essential processes in the factory, there can be no objection; but the manner in which employers seek to avoid their obligation towards workers by delegating even essential processes, for example, mixing or bleaching, can and should be prohibited. The same remarks apply to the General Engineering Industry.

The Associations have said that they are not in favour of contract labour and they would welcome a recommendation by the Tribunal that contract labour should gradually be replaced by permanent labour, but they point out that in this respect it is not possible to make a binding award. For the Associations, it has also been suggested that the evils of the Contract System may be minimised, if the employers when granting a contract insist on fair wages being paid to the contractor's labour and insist also on the provision that an officer of the company, e.g., Welfare Officer, should have the power to see that reasonable wages are paid to the contractor's labour. We agree that in this respect it is not possible to make an award that contract labour system should be discontinued forthwith. It is also doubtful whether the Tribunal has power to make such an award. Accordingly, we recommend that the employers should take steps to replace contract labour by permanent labour as far as possible, particularly in respect of the essential operations of the factories, and that further the employers when granting contracts should see that the contractor selected, pays fair wages to his labour whether at piece-rate or at time rate, and also insist on the provision that a representative of the company, e.g., Welfare Officer, will have power to see that the contractor's labourers are actually paid the wages due to them.

(b) Probationary Period and Apprenticeship.—The Engineering Associations want that the period of probation should be 12 months ordinarily. In support of their contention, they have referred to the Factories Act, which provides that workmen who have put in 12 months' service will be entitled to certain privileges, e.g., in respect of paid holidays. On the other hand, the Labour Unions have generally insisted that the period of probation should be limited to three months, arguing that in that period the employer gets sufficient opportunity to find out whether the workman appointed would be satisfactory or not. The Central Government's Model Standing Order [vide Department of Labour Notification No. L.R. 11(37), dated New Delhi, the 10th December 1946] provides that the probationary period should be three months. The Labour Unions have sought to strengthen their argument for probationary period of three months by reference to this Model Standing Order. We consider, however, that a period of three months is too short. The Motor Industries, for instance, the French Motor Company and the Walford Transport, Limited, have adopted six months as the probationary period. We think that that period is reasonable and we accordingly fix the probationary period at six months for the Engineering Industry in general. After a period of six months, a workman should be made permanent unless he is found unfit and as such is discharged.

Next, there is the question of apprentices. In respect of apprentices, the Labour Unions generally have put forward three demands:

Firstly, that they should be given a suitable allowance not less than the minimum living wage fixed for the unskilled workmen;

Secondly, that they should be given a guarantee of service by the firm in which they are apprenticed; and

Thirdly, that the period of apprenticeship should be fixed and should not exceed the period of 1 to 3 years according to the nature of trade in which he is apprenticed.

Mr. B. P. Adarkar's report at page 19 contains some details of apprenticeship in the General Engineering Industry. From the statement it appears that the period of apprenticeship varies from one to six years, though the usual period is from 3 to 5 years, and that it is usual to pay some allowance to the apprentices.

The Engineering Associations have opposed the claim of the Unions regarding apprentices. An apprentice has been defined in the Model Standing Orders of the Engineering Association as "A worker under training with or without any allowance during the period of his training." For the Engineering Associations it is submitted that there is a practice of granting a subsistence allowance to the apprentices and that this practice will not be discontinued, but it is urged that the Tribunal should not attempt to fix the remuneration of the apprentices. It is pointed out that the apprentices are practically students who are given training and logically a premium might be charged from them rather than paying them during the period of training. It is also pointed out that the apprentices, handle expensive machinery and produce nothing at least in the beginning, but rather cause damage to machinery and so the claim of the Union that apprentices should be paid an allowance equal to the minimum wage of an unskilled workman is strongly opposed. The claim for reducing the period of apprenticeship is also strongly opposed by the Engineering Associations and it is urged by them that it will not be for the good of the workers or the country to reduce the period. It is pointed out that in England also the period of apprenticeship is 3 to 5 years. As to the guarantee asked for that such apprentices will be absorbed by the firms employing them, the Engineering Associations have strongly opposed such guarantee being given. They point out that in many cases, students reading in Engineering Colleges obtain practical training as apprentices by arrangement with a well-established Engineering Firm, and to ask for a guarantee of employment in such cases would compel the firm to close the avenue of practical training, and thus Engineering students and the country would suffer.

As to the guarantee asked for that the apprentices should be given permanent service, we agree with the Engineering Associations that to ask for such a guarantee would harm the wider interests of the country, because it would induce well-established Engineering Firms to reduce the number of apprentices drastically and to refuse apprenticeship training to Engineering students, who may not even seek permanent service under the particular firms, but only want to take a course of practical training. As to the period of apprenticeship we recognise that it is very difficult for us to fix the period of apprenticeship for the various trades, for we lack the necessary technical knowledge for assessing the correct period of apprenticeship. On the other hand, we must recognise that there is some substance in the point argued by the Labour Unions that apprentices are kept on for an unduly long period of time, because the Engineering Firms obtain service from them at a low cost. In this connection we may refer to the observations contained in the Main Report of the Labour Investigation Committee at page 90, "After studying the various schemes of apprenticeship, whether subject to agreement or not, which are in operation in different industries, we feel that there is much scope for abuses here. The most serious abuse of the system is when an employer engages workmen who are as good as regular workers, as mere apprentices and pays them low wages or no wages at all." It is necessary that some steps should be taken to remedy the evil. Only an expert or a Committee of Experts, however, can draw up a scheme specifying the length of apprenticeship necessary for the different kinds of job in the Engineering Industry, and the Committee the appointment of which we are recommending for classifying the workers into different categories, may also go into the question of apprenticeship and draw up a scheme specifying the period of apprenticeship needed for the different kinds of jobs in the Engineering Industry. Meanwhile we may take advantage of the definition of a permanent worker in the Model Standing Orders of the Engineering Associations of India. A permanent worker is defined therein as one who has completed a probationary period of twelve consecutive months in the same or another occupation in the factory or who has completed a period of apprenticeship of three consecutive years in the occupation for which he has been apprenticed. We feel that the maximum period of apprenticeship should ordinarily be three years; and we, therefore, direct that pending the framing of a scheme of apprenticeship by the Expert Committee, no one should be kept on apprenticeship beyond the period of three years except on his own written request and in a kind of job requiring highly specialised skill. Normally at the end of three years, an apprentice should either be absorbed as a permanent worker or discharged with the necessary certificate of training, provided of course he has qualified for such a certificate.

As regards the allowance to be paid to an apprentice, we reject the claim made by the Labour Unions that from the beginning he should be paid an allowance equal to the minimum living wage allowed to the unskilled worker. The minimum living wage of the unskilled worker has been fixed on the footing that he has to maintain a three unit family. In the case of an apprentice, that consideration cannot apply, for an apprentice is ordinarily a young man from 15 to 19 years (page 89 of the Main Report of the Labour Investigation Committee) and he is moreover learning a trade and does not produce anything during at least a part of the period. Having before us the scale of allowances given to apprentices by the Indian Iron and Steel Co., Ltd., we fix a daily remuneration of 12 annas for the ordinary apprentice, who is learning the lowest type of skilled job. This allowance will be increased to 14 annas in the second year and to Re. 1 in the third year. For superior types of apprentices, e.g., Matriculates learning a more skilled job or graduates learning a highly skilled job, we leave the allowances to be settled by the employers concerned, pending the framing of the scheme for apprentices by the Committee of Experts.

We should add that when an apprentice is made to work in place of a regular worker or given the same work as a regular worker, he must be paid the proper wages of the particular job. The evil practice referred to in the Main Report of employing men as good as regular workers as apprentices on nominal wages should cease altogether.

(c) Security of Service—Rules of Retrenchment, Dismissal and Involuntary Unemployment.—An employer has normally the right to discharge an employee and he may be frequently compelled to reduce his establishment. The Labour Unions want that definite rules should be framed defining the conditions in which the employer may discharge or retrench workers. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union has demanded that in case of discharge of a permanent worker three months' notice or pay in lieu thereof is to be given. The Engineering Workers' Federation has made the same demand. The Bengal Chamber of Labour and the Indian Federation of Labour have demanded that there should be one month's notice or pay in lieu thereof, and that in addition a discharged or retrenched worker should be paid a gratuity at the rate of one month's pay for each completed year of service put in. As regards the gratuity demanded, this will be governed by the provisions already made in respect of retiring benefits, and it is not necessary to discuss the provisions further. As regards the period of notice, this, in our opinion, should be one month in the case of monthly-rated workers and one week in the case of daily or hourly-rated but weekly paid workers. The Labour Unions have referred to the Model Rules of the Government of India in which provision has been made for two weeks' notice to the daily or hourly-rated but weekly paid workers. There is however some difficulty in the way of making the period of notice as long as 2 weeks in the case of weekly paid workers. The provision of notice or pay for the period of notice in the case of termination of service, must be a mutual provision, i.e., just as the employer must give a month's notice or a month's pay for termination of service of a monthly paid worker or give a week's notice or give a week's pay in lieu of notice to the weekly paid worker, so the employee also, if wishing to quit, should give a month's notice or allow the deduction of a month's pay in the case of monthly paid worker, or give a week's notice or allow the deduction of a week's pay, in the case of a weekly paid worker. If the period of notice in respect of weekly paid worker were made 2 weeks, the employer would be entitled to deduct 2 weeks' pay, if the worker left without due notice. But the employer cannot deduct two weeks' wages in view of the provisions of section 9 of the Payment of Wages Act. The proviso of clause (ii) of subsection (2) of section 9 provides that the maximum deduction permissible under the Act is only 8 days' wages. It should be mentioned that in the Draft Standing Orders filed by the two Engineering Associations, the period of notice in the case of daily or hourly-rated, but weekly paid, workers has been mentioned as 24 hours only. It has been urged that there is no obligation on the employee to work every day and there is no corresponding obligation on the employer also to provide work for such workmen every day; that each workman is employed afresh every day and may leave whenever he wants and that therefore, the period of notice has rightly been fixed as 24 hours. If that were to represent the true relationship between the employer and the employee, there would be no point in the provision making a workman permanent. The wage period in the case of workmen is one week, even though the workmen may be daily or hourly-rated. It would be logical, therefore, to fix the period of notice at one week also. Accordingly we fix the period of notice in the case of weekly paid worker as one week; there is no dispute on the point that in the case of monthly paid worker, the period should be one month.

Next, there is the question of dismissal. For misconduct, an employee is liable to dismissal. This position is not challenged by the Labour Unions, but they want to guard against arbitrary dismissal, and demand that there should be joint Boards consisting of an equal number of representatives of employers and employees to adjudicate on all cases requiring dismissal. The Engineering Associations have strongly opposed this demand. In respect of the services there was a demand made before the Central Pay Commission that punishments and promotions should be made by the Head of the Department in collaboration with representatives of the services or Unions concerned, but the Central Pay Commission (page 65 of the report) turned down the demand, observing that the suggestion was impracticable, if not undesirable, and that the Head of the Department was primarily responsible for the efficiency and discipline and it was only right that he who was responsible for the maintenance of discipline and efficiency should also be in a position to mete out rewards and punishments. The same remarks apply to industrial concerns. The management is responsible for the efficiency and discipline of his concern and it is right and proper that he should have the right to decide finally on the rewards and punishments. To avoid a charge of arbitrariness, it is desirable that in serious cases of misconduct justifying dismissal, there should be a written charge-sheet and that the representatives of the employees' Union should be permitted to appear for the defence. In the Model Standing Orders of the Government of India, it is provided that no order of dismissal should be made unless the worker concerned is informed in writing of the charge against him and given an opportunity to explain the circumstances alleged against him. There is also a provision that an order of suspension may take effect immediately. We recommend that these rules should be adopted by the Engineering Associations, viz., that no order of dismissal should be made unless the worker himself is informed in writing of the alleged misconduct and given the opportunity to explain the circumstances alleged against him and that an order of suspension may be made in writing at the same time and may take effect immediately on delivery of the order to the workmen concerned.

Lastly, there is the question of compensation for involuntary unemployment. The Draft Standing Orders of the Engineering Associations do not make any provision for compensation in case of involuntary unemployment. Paragraph 14 of the Draft Standing Orders of the Engineering Association of India with the heading, "Stoppage of Work" runs as follows:—"The company may, at any time or times, in the event of fire, catastrophe, breakdown of machinery or stoppage of power supply, shortage of essential raw materials, epidemic, civil commotion, or other cause whatsoever beyond the control of the company, stop any machine or machines or department or departments fully or partly for any period or periods, without notice or compensation in lieu thereof". The Labour Unions have strongly opposed the idea of stopping the work without compensation. They want the adoption of a scheme of involuntary unemployment as was recommended by the Government of India for adoption by the industrial concerns during the last war. We have not been able to obtain an original copy of the circular, but it is quoted in the award made by Dr. H. G. Waight in the dispute concerning Messrs. Venesta, Limited, published in the "Calcutta Gazette Extraordinary" of September 6, 1947. The provisions roughly are that for the first fortnight of involuntary unemployment, 75 per cent. of the ordinary rate of pay, and for the second fortnight, 50 per cent. of the ordinary rate of pay is to be given as compensation to the workmen in each half year from January to June and July to December, but no compensation will be given until the number of days in a particular half year has exceeded seven. The Associations have opposed the demand for such a compensation, by saying that the circular was intended to be a strictly war-time measure and that the provisions contained therein should not be made a term of employment in the Engineering Industry in general. The learned Counsel for the Associations has argued that in the case of permanent workmen, there is an implied obligation on the employer to provide work and on the workmen to do the work provided, but if the obligation becomes impossible of performance, the implied contract becomes void and no compensation is therefore payable by either party for such an occasion In this connection he has referred to section 56 of the Indian Contract Act. He has further urged that payment is made to the workmen out of production, and that when there is no production, there is no source of payment. It is urged that it is for the Government to introduce legislation providing a scheme of Unemployment Insurance Benefit and that the Tribunal should not go ahead of the legislature and ask the employer to accept the burden of Unemployment Insurance before the Government has made such legislation.

We cannot, however, agree that the Tribunal is bound by the Civil Law in every respect. We may concede that under the Civil Law, there is no legal liability on the employers to pay compensation during the periods of involuntary unemployment, when the contract between the employer and the employee becomes impossible of performance, but for the sake of peace in the industry, the Tribunal may go ahead of legislation and ask the employer to bear some burden of Unemployment Insurance. It is not to the interest of industrial establishments to discharge its workmen trained for the particular job of the establishment as soon as there is stoppage of work from any cause beyond the control of the company. It would be better from the point of view of the employer himself to retain the workmen and pay them an allowance for such retention through the period of involuntary unemployment. On the other hand, it is not in the interest of the workmen to leave the service of a particular company as soon as there is stoppage of work from breakdown or shortage of raw materials or for a similar cause. As they have very little to fall back upon, it is desirable in the interest of social justice that the employer should be asked to give a subsistence allowance to the workmen during the period of involuntary unemployment. Accordingly we consider it desirable to introduce a scheme of compensation for involuntary unemployment as a term of employment of labour in general. The Government of India Circular on the point may be accepted as a guide, but we are inclined to reduce the subsistence allowance to half the total remuneration even for the first fortnight. We may mention that T E Thompson Company Employees'

Union in its written statement suggested that compensation for involuntary unemployment should be paid at the rate of half the total remuneration. Accordingly we direct that compensation for a period of involuntary unemployment should be payable at the rate of half the basic pay and half the dearness allowance for 30 days in each half year from January to June and July to December. To qualify for the unemployment benefit, the worker must answer to a muster roll once a day at his usual place of employment, and a worker must be prepared to do work even of a different sort in his factory or in any other establishment under the same employers and if he refuses to do so, he will be ineligible for the benefit.

If the period of stoppage of work extends beyond 30 days in any half year, no further compensation will be payable to the workmen. But unless they quit by giving the necessary notice, they will be entitled to resume their posts as soon as the work of the company starts again.

This will not affect the right of the employer to discharge the workers at any time if he is satisfied that the period of stoppage of work is likely to be long. Such discharge will be governed by the ordinary rules regarding notice or pay in lieu of notice and retiring benefits.

Another form of involuntary unemployment referred to by the Unions is that sometimes the time-rated worker is given only 2 or 3 hours' work on a particular day and he is then told that there is no further work for the day, and he loses several hours' wages. We consider it proper that in such a case the worker should get the day's wages in full, and we direct that the employer should give the full day's wages in such a case.

(d) Promotion.—The Labour Unions demand that whenever there is a vacancy in the higher categories, the workman claiming to have qualification for the higher category, should be given a chance of promotion after submitting himself to the proper test. This demand is reasonable and is accepted by the Employers' Associations.

(e) Standing Orders.—The Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946, which came into force on 23rd April, 1946, requires every industrial establishment wherein 100 or more men are employed, to have written Standing Orders certified by the Certifying Officer, viz., the Labour Commissioner of the Province. The matters to be provided in the Standing Orders under the Act are mentioned in the Schedule to the Act. The two Engineering Associations have prepared Draft Standing Orders for adoption by the members, and the Draft Standing Orders by the Engineering Association of India have already been certified by the Certifying Officer. The Labour Unions have made certain criticisms of the Draft Standing Orders. The representative of the Bengal Chamber of Labour has urged that this Tribunal should frame Standing Orders to be accepted by all the concerns subject to this award and he has also filed a copy of Model Standing Orders drafted by himself. We do not, however, consider that it is our duty to draft Model Standing Orders for adoption of the Engineering concerns. Accordingly we shall only direct the adoption of Standing Orders by all the concerns which employ 100 workmen or more, and we shall make certain criticisms of the Draft Standing Orders prepared by the Engineering Association of India and shall direct the necessary amendments.

In the first place, there is the point that the schedule of the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, 1946, requires the wage rates to be mentioned in the Standing Orders, but the Draft Standing Orders of the Engineering Association of India do not specify the wage rates. This defect must be removed.

The second criticism is regarding leave. Paragraph 21 requires that a written application for leave should be submitted seven days in advance to the officer appointed by the company for the purpose, whose name and designation should be notified in the notice board.

There is no provision made for the case where leave may be urgently required by workmen. Accordingly a provision should be made that in case of emergency, workmen may apply for leave only one day in advance. A provision should also be made regarding an alternative authority competent to receive applications for leave and grant leave where the officer of the company notified for the purpose on the notice board is not available on the particular day.

Paragraph 5 with the heading "Identity Card", prescribes that each worker shall be provided with a token or card showing his number and this card is to be produced at the time of attending at the workshop. The Engineering Workers' Federation and the Bengal National Chamber of Labour have demanded that every worker should not only be provided with a card showing his number, but that he should have a service card or folder giving briefly the whole history of his service, viz., his date of appointment, rate of pay, notes of promotion and notes of punishment. The company has objected that the identity card has to be produced daily when the workmen come into the workshop, and that if service cards or folders are given instead, they would become unserviceable within a short time and a burden would be thrown on the employers to replace the cards from time to time involving a good deal of clerical labour. The employers have suggested that instead of giving service cards or folders showing all the details, the employers will maintain a separate service record for each permanent employee and that this record will be open to inspection by the workmen. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union has only demanded that proper service cards should be maintained. It has not demanded that the service cards should be made over to the workmen and used as identify cards. We consider the objection of the Engineering Associations reasonable and we direct that while every worker will be provided with a token card showing his number, the employer must maintain a separate record of service for each permanent employee, and provide that at specified times, the service records will be open to inspection by the workmen concerned.

Paragraph 7 of the Draft Standing Orders relates to the manner of notification of periods and hours of work. The Bengal Chamber of Labour has demanded that when there is any change of the hours of work made by the management, the Union or employees should be consulted. This demand has been opposed by the Engineering Associations. Under section 39 of the Factories Act, it is for the management to fix the hours of work for the workers. The Unions cannot demand that hours of work must be fixed according to the dictation of the Union. There would be no objection, however, to notify the Union or the workers beforehand of any proposed change and to consider any objection which the Union or the workers may make to the proposed change. Under section 40, any proposed change in the system of work necessitating a change in the notice as to hours of work has to be sent beforehand to the Inspector of Factories. At the same time the Union and the workers might be notified and the management might consider any objection that the Unions might make. Accordingly we direct that a clause be added at the end of paragraph 7, viz., "after notifying the workers or the Unions of the proposed change and considering the objections, if any, preferred by the workers or the Union."

A general demand has been made that the notice should be given not only in English but also in the language of the majority of the workmen. This demand is reasonable and should be complied with .

As regards punishment for misdemeanours (paragraph 16), the Unions have urged that limits should be fixed to the fines or suspensions which may be imposed by way of punishment. As to fines, however, a limit is fixed by Statute, viz., section 8, sub-section 4 of the Payment of Wages Act, which provides that the total amount of fine which may be imposed in any one wage-period on any person shall not exceed an amount equal to half-an-anna in the rupee of the wages payable to him in respect of that wage-period. Thus the fine which the employer may impose on workmen is a very small fine; and in view of the statutory provision of the limit of fine, we need give no direction on the point. As to suspension, the Government of India Standing Orders recommended that four days in a wage-period should be the maximum period of suspension by way of punishment, and the Bengal National Chamber of Labour has urged for the adoption of this maximum limit of suspension by way of punishment. The Engineering Associations are agreeable to such limitation. Accordingly in paragraph 16, it should be specified that the maximum suspension by way of punishment, which may be imposed, would be four days in a wage-period.

It has been urged that in the case of a minor misdemeanour, when the workman shows by his subsequent conduct that he is a good and reliable workman, the record of punishment should be deleted and he should be given a clean record. This demand, in our opinion, goes too far, but we think that it will be reasonable to introduce the rule that where a workman has had nothing against him for a continuous period of three years, no note should be taken of the previous punishment or punishments against him for minor misdeameanour. Accordingly, we would amend clause (j) under major misdemeanours by adding the following clause:—"provided that where after the last warning, fine or suspension, the workman has had a clean record for a continuous period of three years, the previous warning, fine or suspension shall not be taken into consideration against him for the purpose of this clause."

Lastly, an objection has been made to the words, "in private life", in clause (q) under the heading, "Major misdemeanours". The Employers' Associations after discussion have agreed to delete the words, "in private life" from this clause. Accordingly we direct that the words "in private life" shall be deleted in clause (q) under "Major misdemeanours".

Consequential changes must be made in the Standing Orders in view of our award in respect of issues 10(b) and 10(c).

(f). Fines and other punishments.—This sub-issue has already been discussed sufficiently when dealing with Standing Orders.

Issue 11.—Working hours and spread over:—Grace period for late attendance.—Under section 34 of the Factories Act, 1934, no daily worker shall be allowed to work in a non-seasonal factory for more than 48 hours in a week. Under section 36 no daily worker shall be allowed to work in such a factory for more than 9 hours in a day. Section 37 provides for intervals or rest; It provides that no worker shall work more than 5 hours before he has an interval for rest for at least half-an-hour Section 38 provides for spread over. In the case of a daily worker in a non-seasonal factory, the spread over shall not exceed 10½ hours. The industrial concerns conform to the Factories Act. The Labour Unions jointly demand that the weekly working hours should be reduced to 40 hours and that the maximum daily working hours should be 8 hours and further that the working hours should be reduced to 36 hours per week for shift workers. In support of this claim the representatives of the Labour Unions have referred to the International Labour Organization Convention, and to the practice obtaining in the U.S.A. In America, however, the work is much more intensive, i.e., the pace of work is much higher. In India due to climatic and other conditions the pace of work is not nearly so high. Prior to 1946, the working hours in non-seasonal factories in India were 54. After the International Labour Organization Convention recommending a 40-hour week, the Factories Act was amended reducing the working hours in India to 48 hours per week. An extensive amendment of the Factories Act is now under consideration and a new Factories Bill has actually been introduced in the Central Legislature. Even in the new Factories Bill, the maximum working hours per week have been kept at 48 and the existing arrangement as to spread over, interval for rest, etc., kept intact. It may be inferred, therefore, that in the considered opinion of the Government, no change in the working hours and spread over is at present necessary. The rules as to working hours ought to be uniform all over India, for industries in Bengal are subject to competition with industries in other Provinces. In the circumstances we see no reason for any change in the working hours and spread over as fixed by the Factories Act, 1934, as amended in 1946. Any amendment regarding working hours and spread over ought to be left to legislation. Accordingly, the claim for a change in working hours and spread over is rejected.

As to grace period for late attendance, the Engineering Associations have mentioned their present practice in the Draft Standing Orders. Rule 11 of the Draft Standing Orders of the Engineering Association of India provides that if any worker is late, he should be permitted to enter the factory up to half-an-hour after the notified time and pay for half hour's work shall be deducted from his wages subject to a grace of 10 minutes after the notified time; the worker shall be entitled to enjoy this privilege of grace period in attendance only once a week; and any worker who is more than half-an-hour late, shall not be permitted to enter the factory except with the permission of management. Rule 10 of the Draft Rules of the Indian Engineering Association provides that if any worker is late, he shall be permitted to enter the factory up to half-an-hour after the notified time and the pay for half-an-hour shall be deducted, subject to a period of grace of five minutes after the notified time. In this case there is no provision that the grace period should be enjoyed once a week. But at the time of hearing the counsel for the Indian Engineering Association has said that there is an existing rule that the total period of grace for a working week shall not exceed 10 minutes, i.e., a worker may be allowed grace of five minutes on only two working days in a week.

The Labour Unions have claimed that a grace period of 15 minutes a day subject to a maximum of 45 minutes in a working week should be allowed. We consider, however, that this is an unreasonable claim. A rule allowing such a long grace period would tempt many workers to be habitually late and would thus effectively hamper work. If the worker is as much as 15 minutes late, he ought to be prepared to surrender pay for the first half-an-hour. On the whole we consider the rules adopted by the two Engineering Associations as reasonable and we would only provide that the grace period may be either 10 minutes on a single day or 5 minutes on two separate days, in a week.

Issue No. 12—Overtime pay: Overtime for night shift workers.—The rules for overtime pay are contained in section 47 of the Factories Act, 1934. When a worker in a non-seasonal factory works for more than 9 hours in a working day or more than 48 hours in any week, he shall be entitled to twice the ordinary rate of pay for the excess period. Regarding ordinary overtime pay, there is no dispute. The Engineering Workers' Federation has demanded overtime pay if any work is done on a Sunday or a holiday. About this, however, there is a provision in the Factories Act. Section 35 provides that no daily worker shall be allowed to work on a Sunday unless he has had or will have a holiday on one of the three days immediately before or after that Sunday. Section 35A provides for compensatory holiday, when there is work on any prescribed holiday. For the Engineering Associations it is represented that if a work is to be done on a holiday or Sunday, the worker gets a compensatory holiday and there is no reason why a worker should be paid overtime pay. We think that the existing system should be followed and the claim for overtime pay for work on Sunday or holiday is rejected.

Next, there is the claim for overtime pay for night shift workers. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union have claimed that night shift workers should get an allowance equal to 50 per cent. of the basic pay for the discomfort to which they are subjected for having to work at night. As to this claim, the reply of the Engineering Associations is that the output of the workers at night is 65 to 67 per cent. of the output in the day time, but still the workers are paid at the same rate and there is no reason therefore, for giving an extra allowance to night shift workers. It is further represented that night shift workers are ordinarily selected on a voluntary basis, and when in any factory continuous work is necessary for any technical reason, workers are taken on the understanding that they will have to work on night shifts also, and accordingly there is no reason for a special allowance.

The Unions have denied the statement that the output of the night shift worker is not equal to the output of the worker in the day time, and it is further urged that some Engineering Firms actually pay a small allowance to night shift workers. It may be true that during war years to induce workers to work at night, a small extra allowance was paid to night shift workers. The representative of the Chamber of Labour has produced a pamphlet regarding the system at Edinburgh. It appears from the pamphlet that the Engineering Workers at Edinburgh get an allowance of 1/5th or 1/6th of the basic pay when put on night shift, but this also appears to be a war time measure. Having fixed the minimum wage of the workmen on the basis that he must have enough for a minimum decent standard of living, we are not inclined to add an extra allowance for work at night. The claim for overtime pay for night shift worker is, therefore, rejected.

Issue No. 13—Working conditions and sanitary arrangements in Factories.—Chapter III of the Factories Act, 1934, makes the necessary provisions regarding working conditions in factory and sanitary arrangement in factory. Section 13 deals with cleanliness, section 14 with ventilation, section 15 with artificial humidification, section 16 with cooling, section 17 with overcrowding, section 18 with lighting, section 19 with water, section 20 with latrines and urinals, section 22 with precautions against fire and section 23 with means of escape. There are other provisions requiring protection against dangerous machinery or moving parts of machinery. If these provisions are properly observed, there will be no reason for complaint against working conditions or sanitary arrangements in the factory. It is for the Factory Inspector to see that the statutory provisions in this connection are enforced. The Labour Unions have agreed that there is no matter for adjudication in this issue and therefore we leave the issue with a recommendation that the employers should see that the provisions of Chapter III of the Factories Act are properly observed.

Issue No. 14—Medical facilities.—The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union has made the following demands under this head:—

(a) that for all factories one whole-time doctor and one whole-time compounder should be provided;

(b) that medical facilities should be extended to workers' families;

(c) that hospitals should be maintained in major factories where workers number over 1,000;

(d) that for smaller factories arrangements for beds in public hospitals should be made; and

(e) that the Company should bear medical expenses and other incidental expenses in case of injury during working hours.

The other Labour Unions have made more or less similar demands.

The Engineering Associations' case is that the responsibility for ensuring proper medical facilities to the workmen is that of the State and not of the employers and that the State has the subject under consideration already and that the Tribunal, therefore, should make no award regarding this issue. The Engineering Associations have also referred to the Main Report of the Labour Investigation Committee at pages 357-360 in this connection. The Labour Investigation Committee observes that while the employers have a duty towards the workers in mitigating their physical suffering in so far as it is directly due to industrial employment, the society as a whole must share the responsibility for industrial employment with all its attendant evils and to that extent must be regarded as liable to bear a part of the cost of medical facilities specially meant for hazardous or physically uncomfortable employment. The Committee takes the view that provision of medical facilities is primarily the responsibility of the State, but that this should be supported by employers and workers themselves, and that a unified scheme of Social Insurance providing for Factory workers' medical care in respect of the three contingencies of sickness, employment injury and child-birth would be a step in the right direction. The Committee observes further that at the same time there is a residue of medical amenities which can be rightly regarded as the sole responsibility of the employer, viz., the provision of first-aid in the event of sudden sickness or an accident, the provision of ambulance and the maintenance of standards of industrial hygiene.

The Government of India have already passed an Act (Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948) providing, in addition to an allowance during a specified period of sickness, for medical attendance in the case of sickness and injury and child-birth. As regards what the Labour Investigation Committee describes as the sole responsibility of the employer, there is provision in the existing Factories Act and the rules made thereunder. Section 32 of the Factories Act, 1934, provides that Provincial Governments may make rules requiring the Managers of Factories to maintain stores of first-aid appliances and provide for their proper custody. The Bengal Government have made some rules in this connection. Rule 41 of the Bengal Factories Rules, 1940, provides that in every factory a readily accessible first-aid box or cupboard of the standard laid down in rule 42 shall be kept and where there are more than 150 workers in a factory, there should be one additional first-aid box or cupboard for each additional 150 workers. The rule further adds that the box or cupboard should be kept in charge of a responsible person who should be readily available during the working hours. Rule 42 specifies what should be the contents of the first-aid box. Rule 43 provides that where the Inspectors think necessary, stretchers for carrying patients to hospitals should be provided.

The Labour Unions have referred to the comment of the Labour Investigation Committee's Main Report, that though rules have been made in this connection, in a number of cases, the contents of first-aid boxes have not been renewed after they had been used up, and there is no certainty that the first-aid boxes are ever used at all by the employers in the event of accident or sudden sickness, and in most places there is no one trained in first-aid, with the result that when an accident occurs, no relief can be administered on the spot, and the worker has to be removed to some public dispensary or hospital. The Committee comments that absence of any obligation on the employers to maintain a person trained in first-aid has practically nullified the provisions made by the rules. The new Factories Act introduced into the legislature has remedied this defect, and has made certain additional provisions. The matter is no longer left wholly to the rule-making power of the Provincial Government, but incorporated in the Act itself. Section 45 of the proposed Act makes it incumbent on the managers to keep first-aid boxes. Sub-section (2) of section 45 provides that such boxes and cupboards should be kept in charge of a responsible person who is trained in first-aid treatment and who shall always be available during the working hours of the factory. Sub-section (3) provides that in every factory wherein more than 1,000 workers are ordinarily employed, there shall be provided and maintained an ambulance room or dispensary of the prescribed size, containing the prescribed equipment and in the charge of such medical and nursing supervisory staff as may be prescribed. Thus the new Act contemplates that in every factory an adequate number of first-aid boxes should be maintained in charge of a fully responsible person, trained in first-aid, who shall always be available during working hours. The Engineering Associations have supplied information as to the extent to which medical facilities are provided at present by the different companies. It appears that in many of the bigger factories, there is a part-time doctor and free medical attendance is provided to the workmen, and in some few of the bigger factories, there are whole-time doctors, and free medical attendance and free medicines are provided to the workmen. Some, however, have only a first-aid box and it does not appear that they have a man trained in first-aid to attend cases of accidents or sudden illness. It would appear that some have no arrangement at all, although the provision of at least one first-aid box is essential under the Factories Act and the rules thereunder.

In view of the various circumstances discussed above, we direct that the provisions of the proposed new Factories Act be followed and that every factory, where more than 1,000 workers are employed do provide and maintain an ambulance room or dispensary with a whole-time doctor and necessary assistants, and that in other factories the necessary number of fully equipped first-aid boxes be kept in charge of a responsible man fully trained in first-aid, who will be available during the working hours of the factory. We also direct that in every factory a stretcher be provided for the conveyance of injured persons to the nearest public hospital or dispensary. We also recommend that factories employing more than 100 workers should provide a part-time doctor for attending to the workmen, if they have not already done so.

Issue No. 15—Canteens.—In the Factories Act, 1934, there is no provision for canteens. The new Factories Act now pending before the Central Legislature contains a provision as to canteens. Section 46 provides that the Provincial Government may make rules providing that where more than 250 workers are ordinarily employed, an adequate canteen shall be provided and maintained for the use of the workers. For refreshment of the workers during rest period, it is necessary that the management should provide canteens at or near the factory premises, for it cannot be expected that workmen should go to their homes, situated at distant places, for refreshment. The Associations have prepared a statement regarding canteens maintained by the companies. The statement shows that only a few of the companies have made adequate provisions for canteens. Most of them have done nothing in the matter and it is represented that in the Calcutta Industrial Area, it would be very difficult to make adequate provisions for canteens because of the lack of necessary accommodation. It is also urged that caste and religious prejudices of the workmen themselves would stand in the way of starting a canteen. We recognise the difficulties in the way of starting canteen facilities by the companies, particularly the small companies. We recommend, however, that companies employing 250 workmen or more should start canteens as soon as possible for providing refreshment during recess period to workmen.

The Unions have claimed that such canteens should be under joint management of the employers and employees. We think, however, that joint management may not work smoothly. The responsibility for proper management must rest with the management. A small Advisory Committee containing representatives of both employers and employees may be formed to help the management in running the canteen. There has also been a claim made by the Union that canteen should supply refreshments at a concession rate. We find that some firms are giving refreshments at present at a concession price, and we hope they will continue to do so; but we do not think that it is reasonable to claim that all firms will supply refreshments at a concession price. We would recommend, however, that the supply should be made at a price just sufficient to meet the cost of the canteen.

Issue No. 16—Recreation arrangements.—The demand for recreation arrangements originally cam from the Iron Factory Workers' Union, but during the hearing, the other Unions have also joined i making the demand. In the new Factories Act, now before the Legislature, there is a provision for a shelter and rest room. Section 47 provide that in every Factory where more than 150 worker are ordinarily employed, suitable rest rooms shoul be provided and that any canteen maintained shal be regarded as part of the accommodation require by the section. When such shelters or rest room are provided with or without canteen facilities th workmen will have sufficient opportunity to rela themselves during the recess period. W recommend, therefore, that such shelters and res rooms be provided with some arrangement fo recreation at a low cost, wherever such arrange ment can possibly be made.

Issue No. 17—Provision of uniforms an dresses.—The Labour Unions have made a deman for uniforms for durwans and peons, and they hav demanded articles of dress like full pants, hal pants and half shirts for workers working i excessive heat, and for workers working wit dangerous fluids, on the ground that by excessiv heat or by spraying of acids their dress is likel to be rendered unserviceable at frequent intervals

The Engineering Associations have urged tha the matter of provision of uniforms to peons an durwans should be left to the discretion of th employers, and that the question of dress o workers working in dangerous situations is alread covered by the Factory Rules. Rule 28 of th Bengal Factories Rules, 1940, provides that ever person who goes to remove, replace or otherwis attend to a driving belt, or to oil, attend to, o work in proximity to exposed parts of movin machinery, or to attend to moving parts o machinery, for the purpose of repair, examination cleaning, lubricating or altering the gearin arrangements, or to work at a height near movin machinery, shall wear tight trousers and shall no wear any loose clothing, like dhoti. The contention of the Employers' Associations is that in suc cases tight trousers or half pants are provided b the company and as such no award is necessary As to durwans and employees of similar category their uniforms are frequently an advertisement fo the particular company employing them, and the company wants the durwans or similar employe to be in such uniforms, the employer must provid them. Actually the employers do provide th durwans and similar employees with their uniforms. We do not, therefore, consider it necessary to make any award regarding the provision of uniform and clothing.

Issue No. 18—Bonus for past years and for future: Bonus for increased production.—(i) The first claim for bonus is that a special bonus equal to three months' wages be given to compensate the workers for their production during the war years. It is urged that during war years, high profits were earned by most of the companies, while dearness allowance was not given to the workmen at a sufficient scale to compensate fully for the rise in prices, and that, therefore, the workmen are entitled to such a special bonus for the war years. We must hold, however, that the claim for such a special bonus for the past years to compensate workers for the insufficient scale of payment during those years cannot be entertained by an Industrial Tribunal, because the matter does not fall within the definition of an industrial dispute. Section 2 (k) of the Industrial Disputes Act provides that industrial dispute is any dispute or difference which is connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or the conditions of labour of any person. A claim for compensation for inadequate pay for past years is not a term of employment. The other clauses in the definition clearly do not apply. It is possible that many workmen who served a particular Company during war years are no longer in service and that new men are now working under the company. The claim for compensation for war years, therefore, can in no case be a subject matter for an industrial dispute. The Labour Unions have referred to a particular award made by Mr. Justice Divatia in the Imperial Chemical Industries Case published in the Labour Gazeette, Bombay, in November 1947. Mr. Justice Divatia entertained the claim for bonus for war years on the ground that there was inadequate dearness allowance paid by the company in those years. He allowed bonus at half month's pay for each year's service for five years from 1940-44. But that award was passed under the Defence of India Rules which gave wider powers to the adjudicators. An adjudicator appointed under the Defence of India Act could adjudicate upon any matter which was the subject matter of a claim by one party and refused by the other party. An industrial dispute, however, is governed by the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act and the Tribunal cannot make any adjudication where a particular claim does not come within the definition of an industrial dispute as defined in that Act. Accordingly the claim for bonus for the past years is rejected.

(ii) Next, there is a claim for bonus for the future. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' union has claimed that there should be an annual bonus at a flat rate, the amount being determined by dividing 25 per cent. of the gross profits by the number of the employees. The claim for 25 per cent. of the gross profits must be regarded as an unsupportable claim. If labour were to receive no wages from week to week, there might be some justification for arguing that the gross return earned by the factors of production should be divided among the factors of production equitably, i.e., the gross profits might be divided more or less equally between capital, labour, management and the State (taxes). Where, however, labour receives remuneration from week to week or from month to month, the claim for 25 per cent. of the gross profits even before the State Taxes have been paid, cannot be entertained for a moment. The Chamber of Labour and the Engineering Workers' Federation have suggested that out of the gross profits, the taxes should be paid, the preference shareholders should be paid their stipulated dividend, the ordinary shareholders should be paid up to 4 to 5 per cent. dividend, and the outstanding loss, if any, carried over from the past years should be wiped out, and of the net balance, 25 per cent. should be distributed among the employees as general bonus. Reference has been made to a scheme agreed between the management and the Union of the Tata Iron Works, where after meeting all expenses and providing for past losses and paying 5 per cent. to ordinary shareholders, 22½ per cent. of the net balance is distributed as bonus among the employees. The main argument advanced by the Unions in support of the claim for a general or profit-sharing bonus is that in the changed conditions of the world today, labour should be treated as a partner, and a general scheme of profit-sharing would be evidence of such recognition.

The Engineering Associations have strongly opposed the claim for a general bonus. Their argument is that bonus is a matter essentially and inherently within the individual firm's discretion; that it cannot be treated as belonging to the recipient as of right, but is an extra and ex-gratia payment; that workers cannot claim a share of the profits as they do not bear a share of the losses; that the claim for profit-sharing is not consistent with the claim for full living wages and other amenities irrespective of the question whether or not the firm is able to bear the burden; that if profit-sharing were introduced it might lead to a combination between labour and capital at the cost of the consumer or the general public; that profit-sharing has not been found to make for industrial peace where it has been tried, and that no international labour convention has ever recommended the acceptance of the system. It is further urged that no industrial tribunal has ever sought to lay down a principle of profit-sharing bonus; but that tribunals have proceeded on the footing that where a firm has allowed bonus from profits in past years, it may be asked to pay a bonus on the same lines when it is shown that the firm has earned similar profits in the year under dispute. The Associations have cited a large number of awards in support of their contention. The labour unions referred to Mr. S. C. Chakrabarti's award in the Standard Vacuum Oil Company cases published in the Calcutta Gazette of 8th April 1948, contending that in that award the principle of a general bonus was recognised. But we cannot agree that principle of profit-sharing was given any recognition in that award. On the other hand, Mr. Chakrabarti observed in the award that the scheme that some firms had, of paying low wages and supplementing wages by an annual bonus, was not a good system, and that in such cases it was desirable to increase the wage structure; Mr. Chakrabarti raised wages in the case and did not allow the claim for bonus at all.

We must agree, therefore, that no tribunal has sought to lay down a principle of profit-sharing bonus, far less to evolve a scheme for calculating such bonus. The question of profit-sharing bonus raises a matter of principle which is for the Government to decide in consultation with the representatives of capital and labour; and the Government of India have recently appointed a representative Expert Committee for investigating all the aspects of the question. It may be expected that on considering the report of the committee, the Government will finally decide whether the principle of profit-sharing should be adopted in India, and if so, how such bonus should be calculated in the different industries. Accordingly we leave open the issue of future general or profit-sharing bonus.

Next there is the question of bonus for the financial year last ended. In connection with this question, the rule adopted generally is that where a particular firm has been paying bonus from profits for several years, it should pay bonus for the year last ended provided it earned similar profits in that year. We find from the statements submitted before us by the Engineering Associations that some firms paid bonus in past years, though the majority of firms did not do so. But we are not in a position to make any award on bonus on the result of the last financial year, because no company has placed the balance sheet of the year ended on 31st March 1948 before us. Accordingly we shall leave this issue with the recommendation that the companies which have been paying a bonus in the last few years, should pay a bonus for the year just ended if circumstances are similar, i.e., if they have earned comparable profits.

(iii) Lastly, there is the question of bonus for increased production or production bonus. This matter we have already touched upon when dealing with issue No. 2 (a). Only a few companies have production bonus and we are not in a position to direct the introduction of a system of production bonus, because this cannot be done without working out standard production and apportionment of the contribution to the standard production by the different workmen. This could only be done by an expert or a committee of experts. The Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union gave up the claim for production bonus in the course of hearing of the case; the Engineering Workers' Federation suggested that an expert committee might be appointed for each separate type of industry to evolve a scheme of production bonus. We recommend that some steps be taken for working out the standard production and evolve a scheme of production bonus, for a scheme of production bonus is likely to increase production; and further when standard production is known, it would be comparatively easier for both employers and employees to deal with "go slow tactics" that are sometimes adopted or alleged to be adopted by the workmen.

Issue No. 19—Recognition of Unions.—The Associations have pointed out that under the amended Trade Unions Act recently passed by the Indian Legislature, recognition of Unions under certain conditions can be forced upon the employers by the Labour Courts when they are set up under that Act, and they have suggested that this Tribunal should not, in the meantime, take upon itself the functions of the Labour Courts to be set up under the amended Trade Unions Act. We agree that the matter of recognition of Unions should be left to negotiation or to the decision of the Labour Courts when set up. Further, generally speaking, the Unions of workmen of individual concerns have not appeared before us. The workmen have been represented by federations of smaller Trade Unions, viz., Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union, Bengal Chamber of Labour, Engineering Workers' Federation and the Indian Federation of Labour. So we must dispose of the issue of the recognition of the Unions by saying that the matter is left to negotiation between the parties and, in default, to adjudication by the Labour Courts which are expected to be set up shortly under the amended Trade Unions Act.

Issue No. 20—Application of the Award of this Tribunal to firms which have existing awards binding on them.—Seven of the companies before us have existing awards binding on them. The names of the companies and the periods for which the existing awards are binding are shown below—

Name of the Company and Period.

(1) The Aluminium Manufacturing Co., Ltd.—One year from 1st March 1947.

(2) The Venesta, Ltd.—One year from 15th May 1947.

(3) The Bhartia Electric Steel Co., Ltd.—One year from 28th August 1947.

(4) The Associated Electrical Industries—Six months from 5th November 1947.

(5) Messrs. Burn & Co., Ltd. (Howrah Iron Works)—One year from 1st July 1947 or till the award of the Tribunal.

(6) The India Electric Works, Ltd.—Six months from 1st August 1947

(7) The National Carbon Co. (India), Ltd.—One year from 6th January 1948 or till the award of the Tribunal.

It will be seen from the above table that in some cases, the existing award expired before 1st April 1948, the date from which we propose to make our award effective; and in two cases most of the points were left open and the award on the remaining points was made effective only till the award of this Tribunal. In these cases, therefore, there is no legal difficulty in the way of the application of the award of this Tribunal. In the remaining cases where the award has not expired or did not expire before the 1st of April 1948, we could make the provision that our award would be effective on the expiry of the existing awards. There is, however, a difficulty that by most of the awards the minimum remuneration was raised beyond the figure at which we have fixed the same; and reducing the pay of the workmen in accordance with the award of this Tribunal might give rise to discontent. We, therefore, direct that while on all other points, the award of this Tribunal will come into force from 1st April 1948 or from the date of the expiry of the existing awards concerning those companies, the pay of the existing staff should not be adversely affected by this award. In the case of Burn & Co., Ltd., the attendance bonus, which was awarded, will continue to be paid to the existing employees, but the employer need not give an attendance bonus to the new employees unless he desires to keep the system in vogue for securing good attendance.

SOME SPECIFIC CASES:

1. Hindusthan Development Corporation.

This company has asked for special consideration as regards the basic pay and the dearness allowance to be allowed to the employees, on the ground that it is a company which was registered towards the end of 1944 and started work only from 1st July 1946; and as such it has no reserve of war profits to fall back upon, but it has to build up its position painfully. The present rates of wages in the company are as follows:—

Boy	Rs. 10 to Rs. 16
Unskilled workmen	... Rs. 20
Karigar	.. Rs. 22
Mistry	... Rs. 55
Clerk	... Rs. 50

There is a dearness allowance of Rs. 20 per month in each case.

The Union of workmen of the company in a letter, dated 27th May 1947, demanded that the minimum wage should be fixed as follows:—

Boy ..	Rs. 20+Rs. 20 as dearness allowance+ Rs. 5 as house allowance.
Unskilled workmen	Rs. 30+Rs. 20+Rs. 5.
Karigar ..	Rs. 35+Rs. 20+Rs. 5.
Mistry ..	Rs. 70+Rs. 20+Rs. 5.
Clerk ..	Rs. 50+Rs. 25+Rs. 10.

The Company has produced figures showing the result of the working of the Company during the year ending on 31st December 1946. The profits earned are shown as Rs. 21,518-3-6. In the written statement filed by the Company on 7th May 1948, the Company has shown that if the Company has to meet even the claim made by the Union on 27th May 1947, the Company would have to incur an additional annual expenditure of Rs. 1,48,184 and the Company's contention is that it is absolutely unable to bear this burden, not to speak of the much greater burden which would be imposed of the demand made by the Union through Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union be accepted. It has been urged strongly that to impose even the pay scales demanded in the letter of the Union, dated 27th May 1947, on the Company, would be to crush the Company in its infancy. Accordingly the Company has offered the following terms, viz., that the minimum basic pay of the unskilled worker should be Rs. 25; that the minimum basic pay of the Karigar should be Rs. 30 and that the wages of others should remain unchanged and there should be a flat dearness allowance of Rs. 20 per month for all employees. We must consider the offer made by the Company as unacceptable. Though the Company is a comparatively new Company, the balance sheet for the year ended 31st December 1946, which the Company filed at the demand of the Union, shows that the Company has an issued capital of one crore fifty lakhs, out of which the paid-up capital is Rs. 96,05,425. The Company acquired the Engineering Factory of Messrs. Beruck and Comens, Ltd., about the middle of 1946 at the cost of less than half the paid-up capital and Rs. 21,518-3-6 is the profit earned from the Engineering Department alone by working the factory under the Company's management for six months, i.e., last half of 1946. Taking into account the return on the investment of the balance of the capital, the net profits earned in 1946 came to Rs. 55,319-15-1. It may be reasonably expected that the result of a full year's working of the Engineering Factory would show at least double the profit earned in six months; and the balance of the paid-up capital, if invested in industry, may be expected to bring a better return than it is doing at present in Government securities. The extra annual expenditure of Rs. 1,48,184, which the Company says that it will have to incur by accepting the demand of 27th May 1947, includes the claim for bonus equal to one month's pay, the cost of which would be Rs. 35,000. No question of bonus can however arise until the Company should build up a practice of paying bonus, which it has not done so far. Further we are not fixing the wages of mistries or skilled workmen, but leaving it to the Company to do so. Hence the actual extra expenditure which the Company will have to incur as the result of our general award would be much less than the figure shown, and we think that the Company would be able to spend that extra money without running into loss. We are referring to the demand made on 27th May 1947, because the award we are making in the general case regarding the unskilled worker and the Karigar or the semi-skilled worker is approximately equal to what the Union demanded in the letter of 27th May 1947. Accordingly we reject the claim of the Hindusthan Development Corporation, Ltd., for specially low rates of basic pay and dearness allowance.

There are two special issues relating to this Company and we now proceed to consider them.

Issue No. 19—(a) Recognition of Beruck and Comens Labour Union.

We have stated before that the Hindusthan Development Corporation, Ltd., purchased the Engineering Factory which was previously owned by Beruck and Comens, Ltd. The Union was formed while the Factory was still owned by Beruck and Comens, Ltd., and therefore the Union is known as Beruck and Comens Labour Union. There has been some correspondence between the Union and the present Company regarding recognition of the Union, and it appears that the Company insisted on the Union changing its name to Hindusthan Development Corporation Employees' Union, before according recognition. The representative of the Union as well as the representative of the Company appeared before us on 11th February 1948, and the representative of the Union said that the Union would be renamed as Hindusthan Development Corporation Labour Union; but since then the Union has taken no steps to alter its name, and at the time of hearing, the representative of the Union said that it was not at present willing to alter its name. In the circumstances the Company is unwilling to recognise the Union.

Since there is no chance of recognition by mutual agreement, the question of recognition must be left to adjudication by Labour Court, which will be set up under the amended Trade Unions Act.

Issue No. 23— Retrospective effect from 27th September 1946 of the additional dearness allowance granted by the Corporation from 1st January 1947.

When the Hindusthan Development Corporation took over the Engineering Factory from Messrs. Beruck and Comens, Ltd., in the beginning of July 1946, the dearness allowance was only Rs. 7-4 plus the food subsidy, the value of which was Rs. 2-12. Thus the total dearness allowance including food subsidy was Rs. 10. The Union made an application to the Company for enhanced dearness allowance and the Hindusthan Development Corporation, Ltd., increased the dearness allowance including the food subsidy to Rs. 20 with effect from 1st January 1947. The Union demanded that the increased dearness allowance should be given from 27th September 1946, the date of the application, but this was refused by the Company. The Company's case is that when it received the application of the Union, it referred the matter to the Labour Commissioner, and after some negotiation between the parties, the Labour Commissioner wrote letter No. 9631L., dated 12th December 1946, to the Manager, Hindusthan Development Corporation, Ltd., observing that the dearness allowance was inadequate and recommending that a minimum dearness allowance of Rs. 20 including food subsidy should be granted to the workers. A copy of that letter has been produced by the Company. On receipt of this letter the Company increased the dearness allowance to Rs. 20 from 1st January 1947, and the Company's case is that in the circumstances, it cannot be asked to pay dearness allowance at the increased rate with effect from 27th September 1946, the date of the application. The new Company doubled the rate of dearness allowance within six months of taking over the Engineering Company from Beruck and Comens Co., Ltd., and the Union also after having made the claim for enhanced dearness allowance succeeded practically within three months in getting a much enhanced dearness allowance. We think that the Union ought to be satisfied and not press for enhanced dearness allowance from the date of the application. Moreover a claim for arrear dearness allowance is hardly an industrial dispute, because the claim for such dearness allowance cannot be a term of employment. Accordingly the claim for arrear dearness allowance from 27th September 1946 is rejected.

II. Messrs. T. E. Thompson & Co., Ltd.

The employees of Messrs. T. E. Thompson & Co., Ltd., have been represented separately through Thompson & Co. Workers' Union. Most of the demands of the Union are, however, covered by the demands made by the four major Unions and accordingly it is not necessary to discuss the general issues over again. It may be noted that Thompson & Co. Workers' Union has already been recognised by the Company and so in this case there is no question of recognition of the Union. One special point, however, has been urged in connection with the issue of retiring benefits. The Company was converted from a Sterling Company to a Rupee Company on 31st March 1947; the old Company went formally into liquidation; and the Rupee Company, which took over, gave formal notices of termination of employment as well as fresh appointment letters to all the employees on 1st April 1947. The Union demands that the services of the employees should be taken as unbroken and continuous for the purpose of retiring benefits. Legally, however, we must hold that such a direction cannot be made. We can only recommend to the new T. E. Thompson & Co., Ltd., that it should consider the claim in respect of past services favourably as far as possible in the matter of retiring benefits.

There are two special issues concerning the Company and they are next taken up.

Issue No. 21—Retrospective effect of dearness allowance from January 1946.

The basic pay as well as the dearness allowance paid by the Company is low. The basic pay was still lower before April 1946 and Rs. 10 per month as War Allowance was introduced some time after the commencement of the World War II; but with effect from 1st May 1946 the basic wage rates were revised and dearness allowance was abolished. Since then an attendance bonus at 1 anna 6 pies per hour has been introduced. For the Company, it has been urged that this is practically equivalent to dearness allowance. But even if the employees attend for 48 hours per week and work 26 days in the month, the dearness allowance would come to only Rs. 19-8 per month. Even the revised basic pay is low. The present rate of pay for unskilled labour is Re. 1 per day. To compensate the workmen and other employees for the low remuneration paid by the Company, the Union has demanded that retrospective effect should be given to the dearness allowance fixed by this Tribunal and that such dearness allowance should be payable from January 1946. We must hold, however, that such retrospective effect cannot be given to our award in respect of dearness allowance. Moreover the claim for compensation for past years is not properly a matter within the definition of an industrial dispute. Accordingly, the claim for retrospective dearness allowance is rejected.

Issue No. 22—Independence Day Bonus.

The Union has claimed this bonus because many firms have already given this bonus. The Union has further advanced the reason that the Company is affiliated to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, and the Bengal Chamber of Commerce issued a circular to its members recommending payment of an Independence Day Bonus. But the claim for such a bonus is not properly an industrial dispute, because no term of employment can include the condition that such a bonus should be paid. Many firms no doubt paid the bonus, but the bonus must be regarded as an ex gratia payment, and if any firm refuses to pay the bonus, the Tribunal cannot direct it to pay the bonus. Accordingly the claim for Independence Day Bonus is rejected.

III. Indian Air Survey and Transport, Ltd.

The name of the Company has been changed to Air Survey of India, Co., Ltd., from 1st April 1948, but such alteration in the name of the Company does not make any difference so far as the award of the Tribunal is concerned. The demand of the Indian Air Survey Employees' Union is that this Tribunal should fix the grades and scales of pay for the skilled, and highly skilled employees of the Company, for most of the employees of the Company are skilled and technical men. The main business of the Company is preparing survey maps of different localities by taking photographs from the air. Thus the Company has to employ the necessary staff for an air line including Ground Engineers and it has to employ specially skilled surveyors and photographers. It has been urged that the employees will not be benefited substantially if the Tribunal fixes the minimum pay of the unskilled worker or even of the semi-skilled worker.

We have, however, decided to leave the question of classification of skilled and highly skilled workers to a Committee of Experts to be appointed by the Government, and without such classification it would be difficult to fix the proper grades and scales of pay wanted by the Union. Moreover we have not the data before us to show the pay earned by skilled and technical men in the comparable services. Accordingly we must leave the question of fixation of grades and scales of pay for the skilled workmen and technicians in the service of the Company to be fixed by negotiations between the Company and the Union. If negotiations fail, the special case of the Company may be referred to a Tribunal which may decide the point at issue by appointing, if necessary, an expert assessor to help him to assess the work of the various categories of workers of the Company.

The general award of this Tribunal will apply as far as possible to the employees of this Company.

IV. French Motor Company, Ltd.

V. Walford Transport, Ltd.

The cases of these two Motor Companies have been argued before us separately. Before October 1947 the minimum basic pay of the unskilled worker of the Companies was Rs. 20 and dearness allowance was paid at the rate of Rs. 22. In October 1947, an agreement was reached between Mr. Wazid Hassan, General Secretary of the Bengal Motor and Transport Workers' Union and the two Motor Companies, that the minimum basic pay would be raised to Rs. 30 and dearness allowance also to Rs. 30 per month with effect from 1st October 1947. The Companies implemented the agreement and raised basic wage of the unskilled worker to Re. 1-2-6 per day. The Companies also revised the pay of the other categories of workers. These Companies have filed charts showing the rates of pay of the different categories of workers. There are two grades of unskilled workers drawing Re. 1-2-6 and Re. 1-3-6 per day; for the semi-skilled there are three grades, viz., Re. 1-4, Re. 1-6 and Re. 1-8; for the skilled there are grades rising by 2 annas from Re. 1-10 to Rs. 3 per day.

In respect of the clerical staff, the Companies have adopted the four grades and scales of pay recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. The subordinate staff are on the grade Rs. 20—1—35, but they also get dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 30 per month.

The Unions have demanded that the minimum basic pay should be fixed at Rs. 40 and dearness allowance should be Rs. 45 per month. We direct, however, that the award made by us in the general case will apply to the Companies as far as possible. In respect of the unskilled workmen, the total remuneration drawn by the existing staff should not be disturbed. As regards the subordinate staff, their total remuneration should remain unaffected, but the basic pay may be increased by Rs. 5 and dearness allowance decreased by the same extent. For the clerical staff, gardes D and C will be replaced by the grades recommended by us, viz.—

Rs. 60—2/8—90.

Rs. 70—4—130.

The other two grades would remain unaffected. The semi-skilled worker will get a daily wage at the rate of Re. 1-5-6.

There is a claim that the minimum pay of the Supervisor should be raised to Rs. 125 per month. The minimum pay of the Supervisor at present is Rs. 3/4 per day, but rises by increments of 4 annas to Rs. 5 per day. We do not consider it necessary to make any alteration in this scale of pay .

In respect of the Walford Transport, Ltd., the main question that has been urged before us is the question of recognition of the Union. Previously many of the workers of this Company were also members of the Bengal Motor and Transport Workers' Union, but the workers of Walford Transport, Ltd., have broken away from that Union and have formed a new Union under the name Walford Transport Workers' Union. The Company has agreed that this Tribunal should decide which of the two rival Unions claiming to represent the workers of the Company, the Company should recognise. Having gone through the Membership Register and other papers produced by the two Unions, we are satisfied that the new Union, viz., the Walford Transport Workers' Union, commands allegiance of the majority of the workers of the Company. Out of 600 workers, 560 are members of this Union. Accordingly, we direct that Messrs. Walford Transport, Ltd., should accord recognition to the Walford Transport Workers' Union and not to the Bengal Motor and Transport Workers' Union.

The other issues discussed before us are covered by the issues in the general case and the general award will govern these Companies and their workmen.

We give a summary below of the main points of our award:—

1. The minimum basic wage of the unskilled worker is fixed at Rs. 30 per month or Re. 1-2-6 per day.

The minimum basic wage of the semi-skilled worker is fixed at Rs. 35 per month or Re. 1-5-6 per day.

We do not fix the minimum basic wages of the skilled and highly skilled workers, but direct that the employers should give suitable increase in the wages of the skilled and highly skilled workers in consultation with the workers concerned, in view of the increase in the wages of the unskilled and semi-skilled workers.

No time-scales of pay are fixed for the different categories of workers; the existing system of promoting a worker from one grade to another as and when he improves in skill and efficiency should be retained for the present.

Subordinate staff.—For peons, we fix the grade, Rs. 25—1—40; for durwans, we fix the grade, Rs. 30—1—45. For drivers of cars, we fix the minimum basic pay of Rs. 55 per month and for drivers of lorries, we fix the minimum basic of pay of Rs. 60 per month.

Clerical staff.—The following three scales of pay are fixed for lower grade clerks:—

(1) For non-matriculate or out-door clerks like tally clerks—Rs. 55—2½—80.

(2) For Matriculate but non-graduate office clerks—Rs. 60—2½—90.

(3) For Graduate clerks—Rs. 70—4—130.

The employers will adjust the pay of upper grade clerks in consultation with the clerks concerned.

Supervisory or works staff.—The scale for the lowest grade is fixed as Rs. 65—4—105. The employer will fix the scale of higher grade supervisory staff in consultation with the staff concerned.

In the case of lower grade clerks and lower grade supervisory staff, if they are drawing pay on a scale lower than the minimum scale proposed, they should be fitted into the proposed scales as follows: The starting salary should be given in all cases and in addition one increment should be given for each three years of service completed, provided that the pay fixed should not be less favourable than the stage in the proposed time-scale just above the present pay of the incumbent.

2. Dearness allowance will be paid at the following scales to all categories of workers, viz., factory workmen, clerical staff, supervisory staff and subordinate staff:—

Pay range.		Dearness allowance: Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	...	25
From Rs. 51—Rs. 100	...	35
From Rs. 101—Rs. 150	...	40
From Rs. 151—Rs. 200	...	45
From Rs. 201 and above	...	50

2(a). The proposal to link wages to minimum production is rejected.

The wages are fixed for the standard working week of 48 hours. Increase of working hours to the standard may be made without increasing the pay scales fixed, but no reduction of the pay scales will be permitted for a reduction in working hours.

3. The classification of workers in different types of industries into the categories, unskilled, semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled, is left open. We recommend that the Government should appoint a Committee of Experts at an early date for effecting standardisation of occupational terms and for classifying the workers into the categories, semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled.

4. The claim for conversion of hourly, daily and weekly rated workers into monthly rated workers is rejected.

5. The claim for abolition of piece-rates is rejected.

As to revision, we direct that each separate firm must revise its piece-rates so as to ensure that the earnings of a piece-rate worker of a firm do not fall below the earnings of a time-rated worker of the same category.

6. The claim for free quarters or house rent allowance is rejected for the present.

7. The claim for special allowances for specific workers of particular firms is rejected.

8. The scheme of the Contributory Provident Fund as contained in the Model Rules of the Indian Engineering Association, with compulsory membership for all permanent employees and uniform contribution of 6¼ per cent. of the basic pay irrespective of the earnings, should be adopted by the Engineering Firms, but small firms employing less than 100 men will have the option of adopting a gratuity scheme instead with the following rules:—

(a) On retirement after not less than 25 years' continuous service—half a month's basic pay for each completed year of service, subject to a maximum of 15 months' basic pay.

(b) On death of the employee while in service—half a month's pay for each completed year of service, irrespective of the length of service, but subject to the maximum of 15 months' basic pay, to be paid to the employees' heirs.

(c) On resignation or retirement at any time before the completion of 25 years' service, with the written consent of the employer, owing to illness, old age or any other sufficient cause—half a month's pay for each year of completed service.

(d) On termination of the service by the employer either as the result of reduction of his establishment, or in any other circumstance not justifying dismissal—half a month's pay for each completed year of service, irrespective of the length of service. For the purpose of this clause, service only from the date of the commencement of the operation of this award will be taken into consideration.

(e) No gratuity shall be payable when the employee is dismissed for misconduct.

(f) Gratuity is to be calculated on the basis of average substantive pay during the last 12 months of service.

During the next 12 months, firms which adopt or have adopted the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme will give the following supplementary retiring benefits:—

(1) On retirement after continuous service for not less than 25 years—gratuity at the rate of half a month's pay for each completed year of service, subject to a maximum of 15 months' pay.

(2) On retirement before completing 25 years' continuous service, owing to illness, old age or any other sufficient cause, with the written consent of the employer—gratuity at the rate of half a month's pay for each year of completed service.

(3) For the period for which the Contributory Provident Fund has been in operation, the employees falling in clauses (1) and (2) will receive the whole amount of the employees' contribution to the fund, but in calculating the gratuity payable, the period for which the Contributory Provident Fund has been in existence will be deducted from the total period of service. The maximum period of service for those falling in clause (1) will be deemed to be 30 years for the purpose of this clause.

Whatever the kind of retiring benefit scheme adopted, all firms in the next 12 months will be liable to pay a gratuity at the rate of half a month's pay for each completed year of service, when an employee who has completed not less than 15 years' continuous service is discharged permanently as the result of reduction by the employer of his establishment or for any similar cause.

Firms having a pension system may at their option discontinue this system.

9. All workmen will be given 22 holidays in a year, including festival holidays and the statutory holidays under the Factories Act. The holidays will be distributed as follows:—

8 Festival Holidays—the days to be fixed in consultation with the workmen of individual firms.

10 days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act.

6 or 5 days' other leave with full pay according as the period of continuous holiday includes two Sundays or one. This other leave will accumulate for 2 years, as provided for the 10 days' statutory leave under the Factories Act.

Further so long as the Employees' State Insurance Act does not come into operation in respect of any firm, workmen will be entitled to 15 days' sick leave on half pay in a year.

The clerical and supervisory staff will get the same number of festival holidays as the workmen. In addition they will get privilege leave on full pay for 21 days and casual leave with pay for 7 days and sick leave on half pay for 15 days in a year. The privilege leave will accumulate up to a limit of 63 days.

10. (a) In the matter of recruitment, other things being equal, the employers should give preference to the sons and relatives of the employees.

The employers should take steps to replace contract labour by permanent labour as far as possible and in the meantime, they should, when granting contract, insist that the contractor selected, pays fair wages to labour and should also provide for supervision by a representative of the Company so far as actual payment of the wages to the contract labour is concerned.

(b) The period of probation is fixed at 6 months. We recommend that the Expert Committee, which will be set up to effect standardization of occupational terms and classify workers, should also prepare a scheme for apprenticeship, showing the period of apprenticeship allowance and other conditions of apprenticeship to different kinds of job. In the meantime no one should be kept on apprenticeship beyond a period of three years, except on his own written request and in a kind of job requiring highly specialised skill; and there will be payment of a daily remuneration of 12 annas per day for the ordinary apprentice; this will be increased to 14 annas in the second year and Re. 1 in the third year. For superior types of apprentices the proper allowances will be fixed by the employer concerned pending the framing of the scheme by the Committee of Expert.

(c) A month's notice or a month's pay in lieu thereof should be given for terminating the services of a monthly paid worker, and one week's notice or one week's pay in lieu thereof should be given for terminating the service of weekly paid worker.

There should be formal proceedings in serious cases of misconduct with a written charge-sheet, of which one copy is to be given to the employee concerned and to which the employee must be given sufficient opportunity to reply.

In case of stoppage of work for breakdown of machinery or shortage of essential raw materials or other cause beyond the control of the employer or the workmen, a compensation for involuntary unemployment should be paid at the rate of half the basic pay and half the dearness allowance for 30 days in each half year from January to June and July to December. To qualify for this compensation for involuntary unemployment, the worker must answer to a Muster Roll, once a day at the usual place of employment or in any other place selected by the employer, and the worker must be prepared to do a different sort of work in his usual place of employment or in any other establishment under the same employer.

This will not affect the right of the employer to discharge the workers at any time, if he is satisfied that the period of stoppage of work is likely to be long; such discharge will be governed by the ordinary rules regarding notice, pay in lieu of notice and retiring benefits.

(d) Every employee should be given a chance of promotion after submitting himself to a proper test, when there is a vacancy in the higher categories.

(e) All firms employing 100 workmen or more must adopt Standing Orders in accordance with the Industrial Employment Standing Orders Act, 1946, as soon as possible. Some modifications of the Draft Standing Orders produced are prescribed.

(f) Suspension by way of punishment should be limited to four days in a wage period. The maximum fine which may be imposed in a wage period is prescribed in section 8, sub-section 4 of the Payment of Wages Act.

11. Working hours and spreadover will continue to be governed by the provisions of the Factories Act; the claim for reduction of working hours to 40 in a week is rejected.

The grace period for late attendance is limited to 10 minutes in a week; this may be in a single day or five minutes each on two separate days in the same week.

12. Overtime pay will be governed by the provisions of the Factories Act; the claim for overtime for night-shift workers is rejected.

13. Working conditions and sanitary arrangements in Factories are governed by Chapter III of the Factories Act. Employers must see that the provisions of the chapter are properly observed.

14. Every factory, where more than 1,000 workers are employed, must provide and maintain an ambulance room or dispensary with a whole-time doctor and necessary assistants. In other factories the necessary number of fully equipped first-aid boxes or cup-boards must be kept in charge of a responsible person fully trained in first-aid, who will be available during the working hours of the factory. In every factory a stretcher must be provided for the conveyance of injured persons to nearest public hospital or dispensary. Factories employing more than 100 workers should provide, if possible, a part-time doctor for attending to the workmen where they have not done so.

15. We recommend that the firms employing 250 workmen or more should start canteens as soon as possible for providing refreshment during recess period to workmen. The supply should be made at a price which is sufficient to meet the cost of the canteen.

16. We recommend that where possible shelters and rest rooms be provided in factories where more than 150 workmen are ordinarily employed, with some arrangement for recreation at a low cost where possible.

17. The question of providing uniforms and dresses is left to the discretion of the employers.

18. The claim for compensatory bonus for the war years and for a general scheme for profit sharing or a general bonus is rejected. We recommend, however, that Companies which have been paying a bonus for the last few years, should pay a bonus for the year just ended, if they have earned comparable profits.

The claim for introducing a scheme of production bonus is rejected, but we recommend that some steps should be taken for working out the standard production.

19. The question of recognition of the Unions is left open, the question being properly the subject-matter for adjudication by Labour Courts under the amended Trade Unions Act.

In case of Messrs. Walford Transport, Ltd., however, we direct recognition of the Walford Transport Workers' Union.

20. In the case of firms which have or had existing awards binding on them, the award of this tribunal will come into force from the date of operation of this award or from the date of the expiry of the existing award, whichever is later, with the proviso that the total remuneration of the existing staff will not be adversely affected by the award of this tribunal.

21. The claim for retrospective effect for dearness allowance from January 1946 made by the T. E. Thompson Employees' Union is rejected.

22. The claim for Independence Day Bonus made by the T. E. Thompson Employees' Union is rejected.

23. The claim for retrospective effect from 27th September 1946 of the additional dearness allowance granted by the Hindusthan Development Corporation from 1st January 1947 is rejected.

Application of the Award.—Where the existing minimum basic pay plus dearness allowance in a particular firm is higher than the minimum basic pay plus dearness allowance fixed by this award, the total remuneration of the present employees will not be adversely affected by this award. Where the existing total remuneration is more but the minimum basic pay is less than that fixed by this award, the basic pay should be increased to the minimum fixed, and the dearness allowance reduced by the same amount, keeping the total remuneration unaltered. This is necessary for the purpose of calculating the contribution to the Provident Fund and calculating gratuity.

We desire that the rules for holidays and leave should be standardised by all the firms as soon as possible, in order to eliminate one of the important causes of labour trouble. If however any firm has already announced leave and holidays for the current year at a scale more liberal than what the award provides, the right to such leave and holidays should not be affected by this award Further, leave at credit of any person under the existing leave rules of a firm will not lapse in spite of any provision as to leave contained in this award.

This award will not affect adversely any other kind of existing advantage which the employees of a firm may be enjoying in excess of the benefits given by this award, unless an express provision has been made in this award concerning such advantage.

The Unions have claimed that this award should be given retrospective effect from the 31st October 1947, the date of the Government order appointing this tribunal. We consider however that retrospective effect to that extent would place an undue burden on the employers. We therefore recommend that the award of this tribunal should be made operative from 1st of April 1948.

Concluding remarks.—We desire that the Union leaders should impress the fact upon the workmen that the fund for increased wages and additional amenities must be created by increased production. Strikes and other kinds of labour disputes have too often stopped or slowed down production when production was most essential. In the changing conditions of the country, the workers can certainly demand a decent standard of living and a change in the distribution of the national wealth so as to ensure a greater proportion than before for themselves, but if they relax their efforts and fail to maintain even the old standard of production, the total national wealth will fall, and even a greater proportion of the national wealth will not then secure them higher wages and better amenities. The right to better living conditions carries with it the duty to work more earnestly than before. It is unfortunate that the workers in their enthusiasm have tended to put more emphasis on their rights than on their duties. We appeal to them to realise fully that to be worthy citizens of a free country they must do their bit, i.e., they must not only maintain the old standards of production but they must improve upon them. We appeal also to the employers to do their part ungrudgingly. They have to adjust themselves to the spirit of the age; and if they can do so wisely they have the opportunity still to play an important role in the development of the country. Finally, we must impress upon both the parties that an award must from its very nature be a compromise between conflicting claims, and it is only when both parties accept the compromise unreservedly and work it loyally that we may expect peace and prosperity.

Note.—After we had partly prepared the award, we received an order from the Hon'ble High Court staying further proceedings so far as the Bengal Potteries, Ltd., is concerned. Accordingly this award will not bind the Bengal Potteries, Ltd.

PART IIIA—Ordinances promulgated by the Governor of West Bengal under the Government of India Act, 1935.

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

JUDICIAL AND LEGISLATIVE (LEGISLATIVE) DEPARTMENT.

West Bengal Ordinance No. VIII of 1948

THE WEST BENGAL SECURITY (AMENDMENT) ORDINANCE, 1948.

WHEREAS it is expedient and necessary to amend the West Bengal Security Act, 1948 for the purpose of removing certain doubts which have arisen as to the interpretation of section 16 thereof and for certain other purposes hereinafter appearing; West Ben. Act III of 1948.

AND WHEREAS the West Bengal Legislature is not in session and the Governor is satisfied that circumstances exist which render it necessary for him to take immediate action;

The Governor is pleased in exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (1) of section 88 of the Government of India Act, 1935 to make and promulgate the following Ordinance, namely:— 26 Geo. V, c. 2.

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Ordinance may be called the West Bengal Security (Amendment) Ordinance, 1948.

(2) It shall come into force on the date of its publication in the Official Gazette, but the provisions of clauses (1) and (3) of section 2 shall be deemed to have taken effect on and from the date of commencement of the West Bengal Security Act, 1948 as if on that date this Ordinance had been in force.

Amendment of West Bengal Act III of 1948.

2. In the West Bengal Security Act, 1948,—

(1) in sub-section (1) of section 16, the words "on reasonable grounds" shall be omitted;

(2) for section 17, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"Duration of orders made under section 16(1).

17. Save as hereinafter in this section otherwise provided, an order made under sub-section (1) of section 16 shall be in force for such period not exceeding—

(a) in the case of an order under clause (a) of the said sub-section, three months, or

(b) in any other case, six months,

as may be specified in the order or for the period subsequent to the date of issue of such order during which this Act

The West Bengal Security (Amendment) Ordinance, 1948.

(Section 3.)

continues in operation, whichever is less, unless earlier cancelled by the authority making the order:

Provided that—

(a) the Provincial Government may, if and so often as it thinks fit, before the date on which under this section any such order would otherwise cease to be in force,—

(i) in the case of an order under clause (a) of the said sub-section, place before a Judge of the High Court in Calcutta the grounds on which the order is made, the representation, if any, made under section 18 by the person affected thereby, and such further materials as the Provincial Government may think fit, so, however, that the person affected by the order shall not be entitled to be defended or represented by any lawyer or other person before the Judge, and, in accordance with the decision of the Judge thereon, the Provincial Government shall issue an order for the release of the person detained or for an extension of the period of his detention by such period not exceeding nine months as may be determined by the Judge, and

(ii) in any other case, issue, after considering all the circumstances of the case, a fresh order to the same effect and subject to the same limitations as to duration as in the first instance;

(b) notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained it shall be lawful for the Provincial Government to release at any time, if it so thinks fit, any person in respect of whom an order under sub-clause (i) of clause (a) has been made.";

(3) in section 18, for the words "fifteen days" the words "thirty days" shall be substituted; and

(4) after section 18, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"Punishment for harbouring or concealing persons ordered to be detained.

18A. Whoever knowing or having reason to believe that an order directing any person to be detained has been made under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 16, harbours or conceals such person shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years and shall also be liable to a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

Exception.—This provision does not extend to the case in which the harbour or concealment is by the husband or wife of the person directed to be detained.

Explanation.—In this section the word "harbour" includes the supplying a person with shelter, food, drink, money, clothes, arms, ammunition or means of conveyance, or the assisting a person by any means, whether of the same kind as hereinbefore enumerated or not, to evade apprehension.".

Validity of orders made under section 16 (1) of West Bengal Act III of 1948.

3. For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that no order heretofore made against any person under sub-section (1) of section 16 of the West Bengal Security Act, 1948, shall be deemed to be invalid or shall be called in question on the ground that at the time of making the order the authority making it had no reasonable grounds.

PART I—Orders and Notifications by the Governor of West Bengal, the High Court, Government Treasury, etc.

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

COMMERCE, LABOUR AND INDUSTRIES DEPARTMENT.

Labour.

ORDER.

No. 2226Lab.—5th July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 860Lab., dated the 22nd March 1948, the industrial dispute between the East India Metal Company, Ltd., 4A, Durga Charan Chatterji Lane, Calcutta, and its workmen as represented by the Belgatchia Loha Karkhana Mazdoor Union, 2, Iswar Dutta Lane, Howrah, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S.;

And whereas the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of six months with effect from the 1st June 1948.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. East India Metal Company and their workmen as represented by Belgatchia Loha Karkhana Mazdoor Union.

PRESENT: SRI S. K. SEN, I.C.S.

For the Company—Makhan Chandra Sarkar.

For the Union—Abani Bose.

Award.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 860-Lab., dated the 22nd March 1948, a dispute between East India Metal Company, Ltd., and its workmen as represented by the Belgatchia Loha Karkhana Mazdoor Union was referred to me for adjudication. The parties appeared before the Tribunal and filed written statements in due course. On perusing the written statements and hearing the parties, the following issues were framed:—

ISSUES.

1. Minimum basic wage.
2. Dearness allowance.
3. General increase of pay of workers drawing above the minimum pay.
4. Increase in piece-rate.
5. Bonus.
6. Privilege leave, casual leave, festival leave and sick leave.
7. Relief for involuntary unemployment.
8. Discharge and retrenchment.
9. Medical facilities.
10. Recognition of Belgatchia Loha Karkhana Mazdoor Union.

The representative of the Company has said that the Company is willing to accept the same terms as to basic wages and dearness allowance and conditions of service as may be awarded by the General Engineering Tribunal. The case has been argued on that basis and only the issues peculiar to this Company have been argued in detail. It is, therefore, unnecessary to give in all cases the arguments in support of the decision of the issues.

DECISION.

Issue No. 1—Minimum basic wage.

The existing minimum basic wage for men is Re. 1-2 per day and for women 14 annas per day. The minimum basic wage for men is raised to Re. 1-2-6 per day, so that the monthly remuneration for 26 working days comes to Rs. 30; for women workers the minimum basic wage is kept at 14 annas per day.

Issue No. 2—Dearness allowance.

The Company pays a dearness allowance of only 2 annas per day to all the time-rated workers. This is quite inadequate in view of the present level of prices. Dearness allowance is raised to Rs. 25 per month for both men and women workers,

Issue No. 3—General increase of pay of workers drawing above the minimum pay.

In view of the substantial increase awarded in the dearness allowance, which will benefit all categories of workers, the prayer for a general increase of the pay of workers drawing above the minimum pay is rejected.

Issue No. 4—Increase in piece-rates.

This issue has been argued at length before me. The Company produces chiefly iron pans of different sizes. The actual making of iron pans is done on a piece-rate system. The Company pays at the rate of Re. 1-2 for making 20 pans of size No. 1, Re. 1-4 for making 20 pans of size No. 2, Re. 1-6 for 20 pans of size No. 3, Re. 1-7 for 20 pans of size No. 4, Re. 1-8 for 20 pans of size No. 5 and Re. 1-10 for making 20 pans of size No. 6.

The representative of the Union has chiefly urged the case of workers making pans of sizes from 1 to 6. Pans of other sizes are also made. The rate per 20 for making pans of sizes Nos. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 are respectively Re. 1-14, Rs. 2-2, Rs. 2-8, Rs. 3, Rs. 5-10, Rs. 6-14, Rs. 8-2. The claim of the Union is that the rate per 20 should be increased by 8 annas in each case. The reason given is as follows:—The wholesale price for six sets, of 20 pans each, of sizes 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 is Rs. 101-4, whereas the charge for making these six sets of 20 pans comes only to Rs. 8-5. It is urged that where the Company is selling the finished goods for Rs. 101-4 the Company could certainly afford to pay more than Rs. 8-5 as the wages of production. The Union demands that the Company should pay Rs. 11-5, i.e., 8 annas more for each set of 20 pans of sizes 1 to 6. The representative of the Union has, however, overlooked the fact that the wages paid to the piece-rate worker for making the pans does not represent the whole of the cost of production of the pans for making 120 pans (six sets of 20 pans of sizes 1 to 6). About half a ton of pig iron is necessary for making these pans, and the Company furnishes the furnaces for melting the pig iron and the sand and other articles required for making moulds. It is stated by the Company's representative that by selling 20 pans for Rs. 101-4, the Company earns a profit of only Rs. 8 or Rs. 9 and cannot, therefore, afford to pay an increase in the wage rates. The Company's representative has produced account books showing the earnings of the piece-rate workers making pans during the last six months. It appears from the statement that the daily earning of each piece-rate worker varies from Rs. 3 to Rs. 8 per day. It has, therefore, been urged that the piece-rate workers are earning sufficient wages and there is no case for increasing the piece-rate. I must hold that the Union has not been able to make out a case for an increase in the piece-rate. It has been mentioned by the Company's representative that the Company is contemplating a reduction in piece-rates, because the wholesale price of iron pans has fallen. In view of the increase in the dearness allowance of time-rated workers, I hold that no reduction in the piece-rate should be made, at least during the period for which the award will remain in force.

The representative of the Union has urged that pans which become defective through no fault of the piece-rated workers, e.g., for defective material, should be counted while calculating the wages due to the piece-rate workers. This prayer has been opposed by the Company, it being said that it is difficult to ascertain in any case whether the defect in the finished product is due to defect in the material or is due to defective workmanship. It is said that the usual practice is to leave defective pans out of consideration when counting the number produced by the piece-rate workers. I am not satisfied that any case has been made out for changing the established practice of not counting the defective pans when calculating the wages due to the piece-rate workers.

Issue No. 5—Bonus.

The Union has claimed one month's pay as annual bonus. It is, however, admitted that this Company has never paid any annual bonus. There is nothing to show that the Company is making unusual profits. Accordingly the claim for annual bonus is rejected.

Issue No. 6—Privilege leave, casual leave, festival leave and sick leave.

On this point the Company is willing to allow the same leave and festival leave as is awarded by the General Engineering Tribunal. Accordingly I direct that the Company shall allow leave as follows:—

Leave on full pay for 14 days including 10 days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act. An employee will be able to accumulate the leave for 2 years. If the 10 days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act includes a Sunday or two Sundays, for which no leave pay is allowed, an additional day or two's leave must be given with pay as compensation.

The Company will allow 8 festival holidays in a year.

The Company should also allow 15 days' sick leave on half pay, so long as the Employees' State Insurance Act does not come into force.

Issue No. 7—Relief for involuntary unemployment.

The Union has demanded that when work is stopped, owing to some cause for which the workers have no responsibility, the workers should be given full compensation for the period of involuntary unemployment. It is reasonable that if the permanent workers are retained in the service of the Company, when work is stopped for a mechanical break-down or for want of essential raw materials or any other cause for which the workers are not responsible, the workers should be paid some compensation. I therefore direct that in each half year from January to June and from July to December, the workers should be paid compensation at half the usual rate of pay and dearness allowance up to a period of one month (26 working days). The workers will be entitled to this compensation for the period of involuntary unemployment only if they attend a roll-call every day at the Company's factory, and if they are willing to do any alternative work, which may be provided by the Company during the period of involuntary unemployment. This will not, however, bar the Company from discharging the workers at any time when the Company is satisfied that the period of stoppage of work is likely to be long.

Issue No. 8—Discharge and retrenchment.

The Union has claimed that there should be no discharge and no retrenchment of any worker. This claim cannot be allowed, because if the Company is unable to employ the full complement of workers, the Company must have the right, at any time, to discharge the surplus workers. In case of discharge, however, one month's notice or pay in lieu thereof should be given to monthly-paid workers and one week's notice or one week's pay in lieu thereof should be given to weekly-paid workers.

Labour

ORDER.

No. 2099Lab.—26th June 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department Order No. 838Lab., dated the 19th March 1948, the Industrial Dispute between Messrs. Lucky Glass Works, 165, Lower Chitpore Road, Calcutta, and their employees represented by Lucky Glass Workers' Union, 247/2, Manicktola Main Road, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri A. Das Gupta, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri A. Das Gupta, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri A. Das Gupta, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of publication of this order in the Calcutta Gazette.

ANNEXURE.

PRESENT: Sri A. DAS GUPTA, Tribunal, Industrial Disputes.

In the matter of the Lucky Class Works and their employees, represented by Lucky Class Workers' Union.

Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Pleader, appears for the Union.

Sri S. K. Ghosh, Advocate, appears for the Company.

Award.

By Order No. 838Lab., dated the 19th March 1948, of the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, I was appointed Tribunal to adjudicate the industrial disputes between the Lucky Glass Works and their employees, represented by Lucky Glass Workers' Union. They filed the written demands on 6th April 1948 and the written reply of the Company to these demands was filed on 22nd April 1948.

The following points were raised for adjudication:—

1. Security of service.
2. Retrenchment of staff.
3. Scales and grades of pay of the workers of different categories.
4. Dearness allowance.
5. Cheap food and free tiffin.
6. Special allowance to workers of departments said to be exposed to the risk of occupational diseases.
7. City allowance.
8. Bonuses.
9. Old age provision—
    - (a) Gratuity.
    - (b) Pension.
    - (c) Provident Fund.
10. Leave and holiday.
11. Working hours.
12. Free uniform.
13. Free quarters or house rent allowance.
14. Medical aid.
15. Maternity benefits.
16. Sanitary condition of the factory.
17. Rest and recreation centres.
18. Free primary education and free technical education.
19. Special privilege to purchase the Company-produced goods at concessional rates.
20. Standing Orders.
21. Arrears of pay for 5 Sundays and 1 holiday on 12th February 1948.

Points 1, 2, 10, 11 and 20.—Security of service, retrenchment of staff, leave and holiday, working hours and Standing Orders.

These points are inter-connected and I take them up together.

The Company has Draft Standing Orders (Annexure "B" to the written statement of the Company) in which provision appears to have been made, among other things, for working hours, holidays, leave, confirmation, retrenchment, suspension and dismissal. Paragraph 1(i) provides for confirmation of workers. According to this rule a worker is to be confirmed after continuous service in the factory for twelve calendar months. The Union insists that the period should be reduced to three months, while the Company is agreeable to reduce the period to six months. We get from the Report on Labour Conditions in the Glass Industry (1946) that in the Sigco Factory (the Scientific Indian Glass Company, Ltd.) which is possibly one of the best and the most solvent concerns in Glass Industry in Bengal, confirmation follows the proabtionary period of six months, and I think three months will be too short a period to test the efficiency of a worker. I accordingly direct that six months shall be the probationary period of a worker and the worker shall be confirmed on satisfactory service after six months.

There is a class of worker in the factory called temporary workers whose employment is of a casual nature and terminates as soon as the specific piece of work for which he is employed is complete. The Union demands that a register should be maintained for such workers. I also accept the suggestion of the Union. The reason is that when such a temporary worker seeks employment elsewhere, he may mention the name of this factory in his application for reference about his efficiency and the Company is in a position to answer such reference.

Working hours. That most of the workers of a Glass Factory have got to work in an unhealthy atmosphere whereby the workers are exposed to the risk of various diseases of the lungs, eyes and skin. I am clearly of opinion that it will be very hard for the workers to work for the maximum statutory period of 48 hours a week. I reduce the weekly working hours to 44, excluding the recess period as detailed below:—

Monday to Friday—8 hours with half an hour break in the middle (total spreadover being 8½ hours).

Saturay—4 hours without any break.

The hours of attendance shall be fixed by the Company in consultation with the Union. The Company in its written reply contended that the Company was prepared to reduce the working hours provided the workers would accept wages on the piece-rate system. Obviously, the Company apprehends fall in the production by reduction of the working hours. This apprehension of the Company appears to me to be premature. Reduction in working hours, especially in a Glass Factory, is not likely to be followed by a reduction in production. On the other hand some rest is likely to give better outturn. We get from the Report of the Labour Conditions on the Glass Industry that the blowers, helpers, mould holders and some other workers have got to wait for an hour or two before the work can be started. They cannot start work although they report themselves to duty at the scheduled time, before the molten glass is ready. The Company will consider whether it is feasible to fix different hours for attendance of different classes of workers so that works may not suffer. Those workers who set fire to the furnace and get the batch or the cullet into the furnace stand and do the other preliminaries before the molten glass is ready for work, may be directed to attend earlier than the blowers, helpers, mould holders and the like. The period of attendance shall be calculated from the hour scheduled for the attendance for each class of workers.

The Union of the Company will be quite at liberty to stipulate for a longer period of recess on week days in which the total spreadover of a particular shift in each day will necessarily be increased. They are also at liberty to stipulate for distributing the total weekly hours uniformly for the six working days without any provision for half holiday on Saturday.

Holidays and leave.—According to the Standing Order every worker is entitled to compulsory holidays prescribed by the Factories Act on completion of a year's service, provided his attendance throughout the year has been both regular and punctual. There is no provision for any casual leave or sick leave. The necessity for the different kinds of leave, casual leave, privilege leave and sick leave, cannot be overestimated. Casual leave is meant for giving facilities to workers to attend to their personal and social calls. The minimum statutory leave prescribed by the Factories Act is considered insufficient for workers of a Glass Factory. No provision has been made in the Standing Order for festival holidays. My award about leave and holidays shall be as detailed below:—

(a) Privilege leave.—Fifteen days for every twelve months of continuous service cumulative up to two months. This includes the statutory leave of ten days under the Factories Act. For determining whether a worker has completed twelve months' continuous service, the explanation under section 49(b) of the Indian Factories Act shall guide the parties.

(b) Casual leave.—Ten days in the year (non-cumulative).

(c) Sick leave.—Fourteen days for each year of service, cumulative up to six months in the entire service. Sick leave shall be granted on production of a medical certificate from a registered medical practitioner. If the Company has any reason to suspect this certificate, it will be at liberty to satisfy itself about the illness of a particular worker by having the worker examined by its own doctor.

(d) Festival holidays.—Eight days in the year to be selected by the Company in consultation with the Union.

The aforesaid leave and holidays shall be on full pay including all allowances.

The proviso in clause 7 of the Standing Orders about regular and punctual attendance as a condition precedent to the worker being entitled to privilege leave under the Factories Act seems to be very hard. Casual leave, sick leave and festival holidays or excusable late attendance shall not disqualify a worker for the privilege leave allowed in this award.

Late attendance.—Item No. 6 in the Standing Orders deal with late attendance. Late coming up to ten minutes is allowed in exceptional circumstances. I am inclined to recommend that late attendance in excusable circumstances up to 15 minutes should be ignored, provided there is no repetition without justification or exceptional circumstances.

Retrenchment.—Retrenchment shall be avoided as far as possible. If employment of the entire staff is not justified by the condition of the industry, retrenchment is permissible on the time-honoured principle "Last come first go". When a worker is retrenched he is entitled to one month's notice or one month's salary in lieu thereof and shall be entitled to all the benefits prevailing in the Company at the time of retrenchment, e.g., Provident Fund Scheme, etc. The retrenched workers shall have preferential claims according to seniority for appointment when new hands are taken, regard being had to the efficiency of the worker for the particular job for which new hands are sought to be taken.

For involuntary unemployment on account of temporary stoppage of works caused by furnace disorders, non-availability of essential materials or any other factor beyond the control of the Management, I direct that the provisions contained in Government of India letter No. L-1891 of 12th June 1944, as modified by letter No. L-1891 of 20th February 1946 be adopted. Seventy-five per cent. of the ordinary rate of pay for the first fortnight of unemployment and 50 per cent. of the ordinary rate of pay for the second fortnight shall be given to the workers. This benefit is available to the workers for one month in a half year from January to June or July to December, provided the number of days of involuntary unemployment exceed 7 in the half year. To qualify for this benefit the worker must answer to a muster-roll once in a day at the usual place of employment or with the permission of the employer to any other place and a worker will be ineligible for the benefit if he unreasonably refuses to do works of a different sort in the factory. These rules do not, however, cover closes of which one month's notice is given. In this connection I should advise both the employer and the Union to consider whether the employees should take leave on full pay during such temporary stoppage of work out of the leave at their credit.

Suspension or dismissal for misconduct.—No employee shall either be suspended or dismissed without being given an opportunity to meet the charges brought against him, and no permanent worker shall be dismissed or discharged without clear one month's notice or one month's wages in lieu thereof.

The Standing Orders shall be amended in the light of the directions given above.

Points 15, 16 and 17.—Maternity benefits, sanitary conditions of the factory and recreation centres.

The Company has agreed to implement the statutory provisions on these points. I inspected the Glass Factory on 21st May 1948 and I was not at all satisfied with the arrangement of drinking water. The Management shall either arrange for filtered tap water or sink a tube-well for drinking purposes. There is a well in the factory compound the water of which may be used for washing purposes only. I understand that there are three latrines, which are quite insufficient for the factory. Special attention of the Manager is drawn to this and the Management shall remove the inconvenience of the workers in these connections within three months from the date of publication of this award.

Point No. 18.—Free primary education and free technical education.

In course of arguments it transpired that the workers live in a scattered way. Some of the workers live in the suburbs. No useful purpose will be served by starting a free primary school for the children of the workers. The question may be taken up after arrangements are made for housing the workers in the vicinity of the factory. To start a free technical institute is too much for an individual concern like the present one. It is not so easy as it seems to be. This depends upon accommodation, finance, willingness and aptitude of the workers and the number of such workers. By way of experiment, this concern shall, however, arrange for the training of a worker of each department at a time in any technical institute. Candidates for such training shall not be over 30 years of age, must possess good health and good character and must be active and intelligent. The workers shall get leave on full pay during the period of their training. This leave shall be debited against the privilege leave that has been earned and will be earned by the worker. The worker shall give an undertaking that he will stick to the Company till the leave taken by him has been earned and one year more.

Point No. 19.—Special privilege to purchase the Company-produced goods.

The demand of the Union on this point is not clear. At page 8 of the written statement the Union demanded Company-produced goods to the extent of 100 per head per annum at a discount of 50 per cent. of the market price. One could understand that the Union demanded for each worker goods the market value whereof is Rs. 100 for Rs. 50. But at the hearing the learned Pleader for the Union demanded for each worker Rs. 200 worth of goods for Rs. 100. This demand seems to be rather unreasonable. The Company, however, offers necessary articles for consumption of the workers and their families at 6¼ per cent. below the cost price—

(1) 6 tumblers.
(2) 9 glasses.
(3) 1 jug.
(4) 4 chimnies.
(5) 3 bottles.
(6) 6 batis.
(7) 2 feeding bottles.

Any of these articles may be exchanged for any other article of equal price.

Point No. 21.—Arrears of pay for five Sundays and one holiday (12th February 1948).

The Company has agreed to pay up the arrears of pay as demanded.

Point No. 12.—Free uniform.

The Company shall supply uniforms to durwans, gate-keepers, bearers and office boys. This will enhance the dignity of the concern. Having considered the condition of work in the factory, I make the following directions:—

Point No. 14.—Medical aid.

The Company has a part time medical officer who visits the factory and examines the workers once a week. I understand that he attends to workers at their residence at the expense of the Company and the Company supplies medicine free of cost. The Union demanded reserved beds for the workers of this factory in different hospitals. This is not feasible. The Company will arrange for admission of the workers in different hospitals, if nature of the ailments so demands. If this is not possible, the Company shall bear all costs of treatment of the workers during their ailments. For sick diet, the Company will not pay anything so long as the workers get full pay for the period of their illness. If the sick leave is exhausted, the Company shall pay each worker Re. 1 per diem for sick diet.

Points Nos. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 13.—Scales and grades of pay, dearness allowance, cheap food and free tiffin, special allowance to workers, city allowance and free quarters or house rent allowance.

The Union demands increment of salaries and wages of some workmen mentioned in a list filed during the hearing. They also claim dearness allowance, city allowance, special allowance and some other amenities. It has been urged by the Company that the salaries and wages, which the workmen are paid in this concern, are fairly high and include all allowances. They plead inability to implement further demands of the Union. This is a private concern, and I must say that the accounts are not very well kept. It has been urged on behalf of the employer that the factory although of 13 years' standing, belonged previously to a different man from whom the present proprietor got it seven years' back. Thus the present proprietor must have acquired the factory in about 1941. I could understand from the Manager that the transfer took place in 1944. It is alleged that the factory formerly belonged to one Ratan Singh Mulji, who was the son-in-law of the present proprietor, Hemji Hansraj. I asked the Manager to produce papers to prove the transfer but nothing could be produced before me and the Manager, Mr. B. L. Pooley, told me that all the account books, both prior to and after the transfer, were in the name of the present proprietors for they were the financier all through. The Company produced uncertified copies of accounts to show that the present proprietor purchased the goodwill at Rs. 2,50,000. The story of transfer, as alleged in the written statement of the Company, is not supported by the Manager according to whom the transfer took place in 1944. I cannot believe the story and I am clearly of opinion that Rs. 2,50,000 was added to the accounts only to swell the capital outlay and thereby to make out a case that the proprietors were not getting a fair return for the money they had invested. In one of these accounts the Company gives details of the capital at the end of 1947. Item No. 1 is fixed capital—Rs. 66,747-7-9 is said to be the furnace and we find from the detailed accounts that every year a heavy expenditure is incurred for construction of furnaces. This is shown below:—

Years.	Items of expenditure.	Amount. Rs.	a.	p.
1944-45	Furnace construction	14,462	6	3
1945-46	Ditto	15,989	15	9
1946-47	Construction of three furnaces	25,590	13	6

The total construction cost of furnaces from 1944 to 1947 appears to have been Rs. 56,012-3-6. The Manager tells us that this expenditure was incurred for the repairs of the furnaces. This seems to be absurd. There are 4 furnaces and I saw one of the furnaces under repairs. It cannot be believed that repairs of the furnaces involved an annual recurring expenditure of Rs. 14,000 to Rs. 25,000. If these are the construction costs of the furnaces, these cannot be debited against the profits. These are to be added to the capital. In this view of the case, the net profits of the last three years shall be as follows:—

	Rs.	a.
1944-45	23,559	6
1945-46	26,296	4
1946-47	54,803	1

I could understand from the discussion I had with the workers and the Manager that these furnaces require some petty repairs every year and I find in the detailed accounts that heavy expenditure was incurred every year on account of machinery repairs, factory repairs. These repairs cost about Rs. 8,000 to Rs. 12,000 a year. The Company does not appear to have come to this Tribunal with clean hands. I had to strain myself to the utmost to get these figures, which the Company had filed.

However, as nothing more could be placed against the detailed accounts of the Company filed before me, I proceed on the assumption that in 1946-47 the net profit of the Company was Rs. 54,803-1 and as the Company could not substantiate that the goodwill of the factory was purchased by the present proprietors in 1944 for Rs. 2,50,000, I leave this amount out of consideration and proceed on the assumption that the total capital outlay for the factory was Rs. 1,70,094-2-3. The proprietors must get a profit of 5 per cent. on the capital outlay. This amounts to Rs. 8,505. Deducting this amount from the net profit of 1946-47, we find that Rs. 46,398 is available for creating a reserve fund and giving additional amenities to the employees. I give below in a tabular form the existing grades of pay of the different employees and their present salary and the demands of the Union and, in the last column I shall give my award. The Union has demanded increment of salary, dearness allowance, city allowance, house rent for all the workers and cheap food and free tiffin and special allowance to workers of departments said to be exposed to the risk of occupational diseases. The Company contends that the present emoluments of the workers include all allowances and pleads financial difficulties to give additional amenities. My award about the grades and scales of pay given in the last column in the table given below, is based on the consideration and the risk of occupational diseases to which workers of a glass factory are exposed. Having regard to the financial position of the Company, I regret I cannot give relief in this respect to all the workers. In view of the low financial position of the Company, it will not be possible to allow any separate city allowance and house rent allowance to any of the workers. The Company has, however, agreed to pay 50 per cent. of the price of rationed articles on the ration, which the workers get on their respective ration cards. I allow the employees of the Lucky Glass Works separate dearness allowance to each worker at a flat rate of Rs. 10 per mensem. It will not be possible for the Company to bear the cost of free tiffin. The 50 per cent. of the price of the rationed articles, which the Company is agreeable to pay to the workers on their respective ration cards, shall be deducted from the dearness allowance allowed.

The financial position of the Company, as accepted by me from the accounts filed by the Company and the additional burden on the financial position of the Company in consequence of this award are given in Annexure A annexed to this award.

In fitting the present employees to the revised scale of pay, there will be no difficulty in respect of those whose present pay synchronises to one or other of the several stages in the scale. Those who occupy an intermediate position between two stages, will be placed at the stage in the proposed scale next above the pay they are drawing in their present scale where the increments are annual, and shall be given the next higher scale in one year from the date of publication of this award where the increments are biennial. I have proceeded on the accounts filed by the Company for 1946-47 as accepted by me. The employees shall try their utmost to increase the outturn so that they may be entitled to further amenities and increments of pay and dearness allowance. It need hardly be mentioned that if the outturn falls below the mark, the employees will run the risk of curtailment in their pay and dearness allowance and other amenities and even to retrenchment and unemployment in extreme circumstances.

Point No. 8.—Bonus.

The Company is agreeable to give one month's pay as bonus to the employees. The financial position of the Company does not justify any increment in the rate of bonus to which the Company has agreed, and in view of the low financial position of the Company, I do not propose to consider the Union's claim of bonus for the war years.

Point No. 9.—Old age provision.

Although the Company pleaded inability in its written statement, the Company is agreeable to start a Provident Fund Scheme under which every worker will be to contribute 6¼ per cent. of his salary to the Provident Fund and an equal amount will be paid by the Company at the end of each year. I direct that the rules shall be framed so as to conform to the Model Rules framed by the Government of India for industrial concerns.

A. DAS GUPTA,
Tribunal, Industrial Disputes.

The 7th June 1948.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 2156Lab.—29th June 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department Order No. 1423Lab., dated the 6th May 1948, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., in respect of their workshop at Sodepur and their workmen, represented by the Allen Berry & Co. (Sodepur) Mazdur Union, Sodepur, 24-Parganas, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S.;

And whereas the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the 1st June 1948.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., in respect of their workshop at Sodepur and their workmen represented by the Allen Berry & Co. (Sodepur) Mazdur Union.

PRESENT: SRI S. K. SEN, I.C.S.

For the Union: Sri M. M. Sen, Counsel.

For the Company: Sri Sudhangshu Kumar Ghosh, Solicitor.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal Order No. 1423Lab. of the 6th May 1948, an industrial dispute between Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., in respect of their workshop at Sodepur and their workmen represented by the Allen Berry & Co. (Sodepur) Mazdur Union, was referred to me for adjudication. The Union filed a written statement containing the usual demands for better wages and conditions of employment. The Company filed a written statement contending that the existing wages and conditions of employment were satisfactory. The parties argued that the Award made in the case between Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., in respect of their workshops at Hazra Road, Howrah and Jodhpur (Tollygunj) and their workmen started on the basis of the Government of West Bengal Order No. 600Lab. of the 1st March 1948, should be made applicable to this case also. Accordingly issues in this case were not framed separately, and the arguments were confined mainly to some points not covered by the aforesaid award. The points are briefly discussed below.

Firstly, there is the claim for a travelling allowance of Rs. 10 per month, as the workshop is situated at Sodepur where most of the 624 workmen cannot find accommodation; the workers have to travel by train from Calcutta daily; some also come by train from the Naihati side. The Union represents that previously the Company had a free truck service for taking workers from Calcutta but that the Company has discontinued the service. The cost of a monthly train ticket from Calcutta to Sodepur is Rs. 5-10. It is urged that the allowance should be Rs. 10 per month to cover the bus and tram fares also. But the bus and tram fares are not allowed when the workshop is situated in the Calcutta area, and I see no reason to make an allowance for bus and tram fares in this case. But I consider the claim for the train fare reasonable. For the Company, it has been urged that even the Government does not allow a travelling allowance to employees who attend offices in Calcutta from suburban towns. But the Government allows a

Calcutta compensatory allowance which serves the purpose. Hence I direct that the Company should give a travelling allowance of Rs. 6 per month to such of its employees as attend by train and do not live within a two-mile radius of the Sodepur Workshop.

Secondly, it is urged that there is no medical attendance provided at Sodepur Workshop, though such attendance is provided at the other workshops of the Company. It is desirable that as regards medical attendance, the Sodepur Workshop should be treated as on the same footing as the other workshops. Hence I direct that the Management should arrange for a doctor to attend to the employees at Sodepur Workshop for at least one hour every working day.

Thirdly, the Union has urged that Dr. Suresh Banerji's recommendation, which the Management agreed to implement, has not been given effect to in so far as the pay and increment of pay of clerks are concerned. Dr. Banerji recommends that the minimum basic salary of the clerks should be fixed at Rs. 60, and that those who had completed one year's service should be given increment of Rs. 10. The Management must give effect to that recommendation if this has not yet been done.

Fourthly, it is urged that supervisors and assistant foremen do not get the benefit of the leave rules for clerks. The clerks get 14 days' privilege leave with full pay, and 7 days' casual leave, in addition to the holidays in the factory. I direct that the supervisors and assistant foremen should be given the same leave as the clerical staff. So far as the workmen are concerned, their leave will be governed by the leave and holiday rules prescribed in the award of the analogous case.

Next, there is the point that there are no Standing Orders for Sodepur Workshop. The Management says that the same Standing Orders govern all workshops. A copy of the Standing Orders, as amended by the award in the analogous case should be published at the Sodepur Workshop by the Company for the information of the employees.

Lastly, there is the point that when a workman is absent from duty on either Saturday or Monday, he loses the wages for Sunday also, and that this is an iniquitous rule. In my opinion, if a worker is absent without leave on either Saturday or Monday, he should lose the wages for Sunday; but if he takes leave in due time for a Saturday or Monday, whether it is leave with or without pay, and attends on Monday or Saturday, as the case may be, he should be given the wages for the Sunday. I direct that the Company should follow this rule.

Accordingly, the following award is made in this case—the award made in the case between Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., and their workmen of Hazra Road, Howrah and Jodhpur Workshops started on the basis of Government of West Bengal Order No. 600Lab. of the 1st March 1948, is made applicable to Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., in respect of their workshop at Sodepur, and their workmen; in addition, it is provided—

(i) that the Company should give a travelling allowance of Rs. 6 per month to such of its employees as come to Sodepur by train and live outside a two-mile radius from the workshop;

(ii) that a part-time doctor should be arranged to attend at the Sodepur Workshop for at least one hour on every working day, to give free medical aid to the workmen;

(iii) that Dr. Suresh Banerji's recommendation regarding the starting salary and increment of the clerical staff should be given effect to, if this has not already been done;

(iv) that the supervisors and the assistant foremen should have the benefit of the same leave rules as the clerical staff;

(v) that the Standing Orders of the Company after the amendments in accordance with the award referred to above should be published at Sodepur; and

(vi) that when a workman is absent with previous leave on a Saturday or Monday, and is present on the next Monday or the previous Saturday, he should be given the pay for the Sunday.

This award will come into force from the 1st June 1948, or any other date prescribed by the Government.

(4) In sub-clause (a) of clause (vi) of sub-section (2) of section 10, for the figures "1948", the figures "1950" shall be substituted.

(5) After section 15A, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"15B. Exemption on account of donations for charitable purposes.—(1) The tax shall not be payable by an assessee in respect of any sums paid by him as donations to any institution or fund which is established in British India for a charitable purpose and is approved by the Central Government for the purposes of this section:

Provided that the total of the sums so paid is not less than two hundred and fifty rupees:

Provided further that in the case of a company this exemption shall apply only in respect of the income-tax, and not in respect of any super-tax, payable by it.

Explanation.—In this section, 'charitable purpose' includes relief of the poor, education, medical relief and the advancement of any other object of general public utility.

(2) The aggregate of any sums exempted under this section shall not exceed—

(a) one-twentieth in the case of a company, and one-tenth in any other case, of the assessee's total income as reduced by any portion thereof exempt from tax under any other provision of this Act, or

(b) two hundred and fifty thousand rupees,

whichever is less.

(3) The amount by which the tax payable by an assessee is reduced on account of an exemption under this section shall not in any case exceed half the amount in respect of which the exemption is allowed under this section."

(6) In section 16, in clause (a) of sub-section (1), for the words and figures "section 14 and section 15", the words, figures and letter "section 14, section 15 and section 15B" shall be substituted; and in sub-section (2), for the words "of a company", the words and brackets "of the company (without taking into account any rebate allowed or additional income-tax charged)" shall be substituted.

(7) In sub-section (3) of sectoin 17, after the words and figures "of section 14", the words, figures and letter "or under section 15B" shall be inserted.

(8) In sub-section (3E) of section 18, for the words "by a company", the words "by an Indian company or by a company which has made such effective arrangements as may be prescribed for the deduction of super-tax from such dividends" shall be substituted.

(9) In section 19A, after the words "every company", the words "which is an Indian company or a company which has made such effective arrangtments as may be prescribed for the declaration and payment of dividends in British India" shall be inserted.

(10) In section 49B, for the words "such person shall be deemed", the words "such person shall, if the dividends is included in his total income, be deemed"; shall be substituted, and for the words "total income of a company", the words "total income of the company" shall be substituted.

Income-tax and super-tax.

9. (1) Subject to the provisions of sub-sections (3), (4), (5) and (6), for the year beginning on the 1st day of April, 1948,—

(a) income-tax shall be charged at the rates specified in Part I of the Second Schedule to this Act, and

(b) rates of super-tax shall, for the purposes of section 55 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (hereafter in this section referred to as "the Income-tax Act"), be those specified in Part II of the Second Schedule to this Act.

X of 1922.

(2) In making any assessment for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1949, there shall be deducted from the total income of an assessee, in accordance with the provisions of section 15A of the Income-tax Act, an amount equal to one-fifth of the earned income, if any, included in his total income, but not exceeding in any case four thousand rupees.

(3) In making any assessment for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1949,—

(a) where the total income of an assessee, not being a company, includes any income chargeable under the head "Salaries" as reduced by the deduction for earned income appropriate thereto, or any income chargeable under the head "Interest on securities", or any income from dividends in respect of which he is deemed under section 49B of the Income-tax Act to have paid income-tax imposed in British India, the income-tax payable by the assessee on that part of his total income which consists of such inclusions shall be an amount bearing to the total amount of income-tax payable according to the rates applicable under the operation of the Indian Finance Act, 1947, on his total income, the same proportion as the amount of such inclusions bears to his total income;

XX of 1947.

(b) where the total income of an assessee,, not being a company, includes any income chargeable under the head "Salaries" on which super-tax has been or might have been deducted under the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 18 of the Income-tax Act, the super-tax payable by the assessee on that portion of his total income which consists of such inclusion shall be an amount bearing to the total amount of super-tax payable, according to the rates applicable under the operation of the Indian Finance Act, 1947, on his total income the same proportion as the amount of such inclusion bears to his total income

XX of 1947.

(4) In making any assessment for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1949, where the total income of an assessee consists partly of earned income and partly of unearned income, the super-tax payable by him shall be—

(i) on that part of the earned income chargeable under the head "Salaries" to which clause (b) of sub-section (3) applies, the amount of super-tax computed in accordance with the provisions of that sub-section, plus

(ii) on the remainder of the earned income, the amount which bears to the total amount of super-tax which would have been payable on his total income had it consisted wholly of earned income the same proportion as such remainder bears to his total income, plus

(iii) on the unearned income, the amount which bears to the total amount of super-tax which would have been payable on his total income had it consisted wholly of unearned income the same proportion as the unearned income bears to his total income.

(5) In making any assessment for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1949,—

(a) where the total income of a company includes any profits and gains from life insurance business, the super-tax payable by the company shall be reduced by an amount computed at the rate of two annas in the rupee on that part of its total income which consists of such inclusion;

(b) where the total income of an assessee, not being a company, includes any profits and gains from life insurance business, the income-tax and super-tax payable by the assessee on that part of his total income which consists of such inclusion shall be an amount bearing to the total amount of such taxes payable according to the rates applicable under the operation of the Indian Finance Act, 1942, on his total income the same proportion as the amount of such inclusion bears to his total income, so however that the aggregate of the taxes so computed in respect of such inclusion shall not in any case exceed the amount of tax payable on such inclusion at the rate of five annas in the rupee. XII of 1942.

(6) In cases to which section 17 of the Income-tax Act applies, the tax chargeable shall be determined as provided in that section, but with reference to the rates imposed by sub-section (1), and in accordance, where applicable, with the provisions of sub-sections (3), (4) and (5) of this section.

(7) For the purposes of making any deduction of income-tax in the year beginning on the 1st day of April, 1948, under sub-section (2) or sub-section (2B) of section 18 of the Income-tax Act, from any earned income chargeable under the head "Salaries", the estimated total income of the assessee under this head shall, in computing the income-tax to be deducted, be reduced by an amount equal to one-fifth of such earned income, but not exceeding in any case four thousand rupees; but no abatement shall be allowed by the person responsible for paying the salary in respect of any donations made by the assessee to which section 15B of the Income-tax Act is or may be applicable.

(8) For the purposes of this section and of the rates of tax imposed thereby, the expression "total income" means total income as determined for the purposes of income-tax or super-tax, as the case may be, in accordance with the provisions of the Income-tax Act, and the expression "earned income" has the meaning assigned to it in clause (6AA) of section 2 of that Act.

Amendment of Act XXI of 1947.

10. The following amendments shall be made in the Business Profits Tax Act, 1947:—

(1) In clause (1) of section 2, after the words "chargeable accounting period", the words and figures "ending on or before the 31st day of March, 1947," shall be inserted, and after the words "the period of one year", the following shall be inserted, namely:—

> "and, in respect of any chargeable accounting period beginning after the 31st day of March, 1947, such sum as may be fixed by the annual Finance Act."

(2) In sub-clause (a) of clause (4) of section 2, for the figures "1947" the figures "1948" shall be substituted, and to the said clause (4), the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

> "Provided that where an accounting period falls partly before, and partly after, the end of March, 1947, so much of that accounting period as falls before, and so much of that accounting period as falls after, the end of March, 1947, shall be deemed each to be a separate chargeable accounting period."

(3) In section 4, for the words "which shall be equal to sixteen and two-thirds per cent. of the taxable profits", the following shall be substituted, namely:—

> "which shall, in respect of any chargeable accounting period ending on or before the 31st day of March, 1947, be equal to sixteen and two-thirds per cent. of the taxable profits, and in respect of any chargeable accounting period beginning after that date, be equal to such percentage of the taxable profits as may be fixed by the annual Finance Act."

Business Profits Tax.

11. (1) The tax imposed by section 4 of the Business Profits Tax Act, 1947, shall, in respect of any chargeable accounting period beginning after the 31st day of March, 1947, be an amount equal to ten per cent. of the taxable profits. XXI of 1947.

(2) For the purposes of the said Act, "abatement" shall mean, in respect of any chargeable accounting period beginning after the 31st day of March, 1947, a sum which bears—

(a) in the case of a company not being a company deemed for the purposes of section 9 of the said Act to be a firm, to a sum equal to six per cent. of the capital of the company on the first day of the said period, computed in accordance with Schedule II to the said Act, or two lakhs of rupees, whichever is greater, or the same proportion as the said period bears to the period of one year.

(b) in any other case, to two lakhs of rupees,

THE SECOND SCHEDULE.

(See section 9).

PART I.

Rates of Income-tax.

A. In the case of every individual, Hindu undivided family, unregistered firm and other association of persons, not being a case to which paragraphs B, C or D of this Part applies—

	Rate.
1. On the first Rs. 1,500 of total income ..	Nil.
2. On the next Rs. 3,500 of total income ..	One anna in the rupee.
3. On the next Rs. 5,000 of total income ..	Two annas in the rupee.
4. On the next Rs. 5,000 of total income ..	Three and a half annas in the rupee.
5. On the balance of total income	Five annas in the rupee.

Provided that—

(i) no income-tax shall be payable on a total income which, before deduction of the allowance, if any, for earned income, does not exceed Rs. 3,000;

(ii) the income-tax payable shall in no case exceed half the amount by which the total income (before deduction of the said allowance, if any, for earned income) exceeds Rs. 3,000;

(iii) the income-tax payable on the total income as reduced by the allowance for earned income shall not exceed either—

(a) a sum bearing to half the amount by which the total income (before deduction of the allowance for earned income) exceeds Rs. 3,000, the same proportion as such reduced total income bears to the unreduced total income, or

(b) the income-tax payable on the income so reduced at the rates herein specified,— whichever is less.

B. In the case of every company, not being a company to which paragraph C of this Part applies—

	Rate.
On the whole of total income	Five annas in the rupee:

Provided that in the case of an Indian company—

(a) where the total income, as reduced by seven annas in the rupee and by the amount, if any, exempt from income-tax, exceeds the amount of any dividends (including dividends payable at a fixed rate) declared in respect of the whole or part of the previous year for the assessment for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1949, and no order has been made under sub-section (1) of section 23A of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, a rebate shall be allowed at the rate of one anna per rupee on the amount of such excess; XI of 1922.

(b) where the amount of dividends referred to in clause (a) above exceeds the total income as reduced by seven annas in the rupee and by the amount, if any, exempt from income-tax, there shall be charged on the total income an additional income-tax equal to the sum, if any, by which the aggregate amount of income-tax actually borne by such excess (hereinafter referred to as "the excess dividend") falls short of the amount calculated at the rate of five annas per rupee on the excess dividend; and

(c) the income-tax payable, after deducting any rebate permissible under clause (a), but without including any additional income-tax chargeable under clause (b), shall not exceed the aggregate of—

(i) the income-tax which would have been payable under the provisions of paragraph C of this Part, if the total income had been Rs. 25,000, and

(ii) half the amount by which the total income exceeds Rs. 25,000.

For the purposes of clause (b) of the above proviso, the aggregate amount of income-tax actually borne by the excess dividend shall be determined as follows:—

(i) the excess dividend shall be deemed to be out of the whole or such portion of the undistributed profits of one or more years immediately preceding the previous year as would be just sufficient to cover the amount of the excess dividend and as have not likewise been taken into account to cover an excess dividend of a preceding year;

(ii) such portion of the excess dividend as is deemed to be out of the undistributed profits of each of the said years shall be deemed to have borne tax,—

(a) if an order has been made under sub-section (1) of section 23A of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, in respect of the undistributed profits of that year, at the rate of five annas in the rupees, and

(b) in respect of any other year, at the rate applicable to the total income of the company for that year reduced by the rate at which rebate, if any, was allowed on the undistributed profits.

C. In the case of every Indian company the total income of which does not exceed Rs. 25,000—

	Rate.
On the whole of total income	Two and a half annas in the rupee :

Provided that where the total income, as reduced by four and a half annas in the rupee and by the amount, if any, exempt from income-tax, exceeds the amount of any dividends (including dividends payable at a fixed rate) declared in respect of the whole or part of the previous year for the assessment for the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1949, and no order has been made under sub-section (1) of section 23A of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, a rebate shall be allowed at the rate of half anna per rupee on the amount of such excess.

D. In the case of every local authority and in every case in which, under the provisions of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, income-tax is to be charged at the maximum rate—

	Rate.
On the whole of total income	Five annas in the rupee.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this Part,—

(a) the expression "dividend" shall be deemed to include any distribution included in that expression as defined in clause (6A) of section 2 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, and any such distribution made during the year ending on the 31st day of March, 1949, shall be deemed to have been made in respect of the whole or part of the previous year;

(b) the expression "Indian company" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (7A) of section 2 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922.

PART II.

Rates of Super-tax.

A. In the case of every individual, Hindu undivided family, unregistered firm and other association of persons, not being a case to which any other paragraph of this Part applies—

	Rate, if income wholly earned.	Rate, if income wholly unearned.

SUPPLEMENT—Official Papers.

Weekly Weather and Crop Report of West Bengal

Subdivisional reports on the condition of weather, crop, etc., for the week ending the 23rd June 1948.

Summary.—During the week under report there was rainfall in the subdivisions of the Province. The weather was on the whole favourable. Sowing and weeding of Aus and jute were continuing. Prospects of standing crops were generally reported to be fair. Fodder was insufficient in seven subdivisions and cattle-disease was reported from five subdivisions. Wages of labourers varied from annas fourteen to rupees three during the week.

Districts and subdivisions.	Total rainfall during the week.	The minimum price of coarse rice in seers per rupee		Character of weather and its effect on the standing crops.	Stage and progress of agricultural operations.	Scarcity of seeds, if any.	Prospects of the standing crops (estimated outturn).	Fodder condition.	Cattle-disease.	Labour wages without food.

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE, LABOUR AND INDUSTRIES.

Labour.

ORDER.

No. 2263Lab.—6th July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No. 737-Lab., dated the 10th March 1948, the industrial dispute between the Tatanagar Foundry Co., Ltd., Works, Belur, Head Office: 4, Dalhousie Square, Calcutta, and its workmen as represented by the Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union, Belur Station Road, Belur Math, Howrah, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S.;

And whereas the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., has given the award as shown in the Annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., shall bind the company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of its publication.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Tatanagar Foundry Company, Ltd., and its workmen.

PRESENT: SRI S. K. SEN, I.C.S.

For the Company—Sri A. K. Bhattacharjee, Sri S. C. Roy.

For the Union—Sri Abani Mukherjee, Sri Biseswar Ganguly.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal Order No. 737-Lab., dated 10th March 1948, an industrial dispute between the Tatanagar Foundry Company, Ltd., and its workmen as represented by the Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union, was referred to me for adjudication. Both parties appeared before the Tribunal at the initial stages and filed their respective written statements.

The following issues were framed after perusing the written statements and hearing the parties:—

Issues.

(1) Minimum basic pay and scales of pay for workmen of different categories.

(2) Classification of workers.

(3) Dearness allowance for such workers.

(4) House allowance.

(5) Education allowance.

(6) Bonus—special, general and production.

(7) Conditions of service—

- (a) Promotion,
- (b) Period of probation,
- (c) Discharge, retrenchment, dismissal and involuntary unemployment.
- (d) Service cards and service certificates.

(8) Abolition of contract labour.

(9) Hours of work and overtime.

(10) Leave of all kinds and holidays.

(11) Provident Fund and gratuity.

(12) Medical arrangements.

(13) Canteen.

(14) Recognition of Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union.

DECISION.

On the date fixed for hearing, no representative appeared for the Union. This is apparently because in its written statement, the Company stated that two Companies under the same management, viz., the National Iron and Steel Company, Ltd., and the National Screw and Wire Products, Ltd., were included within the scope of the General Engineering Tribunal and that for the third Company, also, viz., the Tatanagar Foundry Company, Ltd., with which we are concerned in this case, the Company was willing to accept the same terms and conditions as might be fixed for the two Companies included within the scope of the general Engineering Tribunal. At the hearing also, which was done ex parte, the representative of the Tatanagar Foundry Company, Ltd., said that he was willing that the award of the General Engineering Tribunal should be applied to the present Company as far as possible.

Accordingly the following award is made in this case in the terms of the award of the General Engineering Tribunal so far as the issues in the present case are concerned:—

(1) The minimum basic pay for the unskilled worker is fixed at Rs. 30 per month or Re. 1-2-6 per day, and the minimum basic pay of the semi-skilled worker is fixed at Rs. 35 per month or Re. 1-5-6 per day.

The pay of the skilled and the highly skilled workmen should be adjusted by the Company in consultation with the workers concerned in view of the rise in pay granted to the skilled and the semi-skilled workers.

For peons the scale of Rs. 25—1—40 is fixed and for durwans the scale of Rs. 30—1—45 is fixed.

For the clerical staff of the lower grades, the following scales are fixed:—

(a) For outdoor and non-matriculate clerks Rs. 55—2/8—80.

(b) For Matriculate office clerks Rs. 60—2/8—90.

(c) For graduate clerks Rs. 70—4—130.

The pay of the upper grade clerks should be adjusted by the Company in consultation with the employees concerned and in the light of the increments given to the lower grade clerks.

For fitting the clerks into the new scales of pay proposed the following principle should be adopted. They should get in all cases the minimum of the appropriate scale with one increment for every 3 years' service with the proviso that the pay shall not be less favourable than the stage in the time-scale immediately above the pay which the clerk is now drawing.

For the Supervisory or Works Staff, the lowest scale of pay is fixed at Rs. 65—4—105. The pay of the supervisors of the superior grade should be fixed by the Company in consultation with the supervisors concerned and in the light of the increments granted to the supervisors of the lowest scale. The existing supervisors, who are on a lower scales of pay, will be fitted into the scale proposed in the same way as the clerical staff.

For the semi-skilled and skilled workmen, no scales of pay are fixed, but the existing practice of having different grades of pay at short intervals and promoting a worker from one grade to another as and when he improves in skill and efficiency should be followed.

(2) Classification of workers into the categories unskilled, semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled—This issue is left open. Classification will be ultimately done in accordance with the recommendations of an Expert Committee, appointment of which by the Government is recommended in the award of the General Engineering Tribunal.

(3) Dearness allowance of all categories of workers, viz., factory workmen, clerical staff, supervisory staff and subordinate staff, will be governed by the following table:—

Pay range.		Dearness allowance
		Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	...	25
From Rs. 51 to Rs. 100	...	35
From Rs. 101 to Rs. 150	...	40
From Rs. 151 to Rs. 200	...	45
From Rs. 201 and above	...	50

(4) The claim for a house rent allowance is rejected. It should be noted that the factory is situated at Belur and not within the Calcutta Municipal area.

(5) The claim for education allowance for children is rejected.

(6) The claim for compensatory allowance for war years is rejected. The claim that a principle should be laid down for a general and profit-sharing bonus is rejected. But if the Company has been paying annual bonus, it should pay annual bonus, if similar profits have been earned in the last financial year. The claim for a production bonus is also rejected.

(7) (a) Opportunities should be given to employees for promotion to any vacancy in the higher categories by providing for necessary trade tests.

(b) The period of probation is fixed at 6 months.

(c) For discharge of permanent workmen, a month's notice or a month's pay in lieu thereof is provided, if the worker is a monthly paid worker; and a week's notice or a week's pay in lieu thereof, if the worker is a weekly paid worker.

Retrenchment will be governed by the rules of discharge.

When there is misconduct prima facie justifying dismissal a written chargesheet should be framed and the employee concerned should be given full opportunity to reply to the charges. If the misconduct is serious, the employee concerned may be suspended forthwith, but dismissal should be made only after formal proceedings have been completed.

When there is temporary stoppage of work through mechanical breakdown, shortage of essential raw materials or any other cause, not within the control of workmen, the workmen will be paid compensation for involuntary unemployment at the rate of half the total pay and dearness allowance for the period of 30 days in each 6 month period from January to June and July to December. For qualifying for the compensation, the workmen must attend a muster roll-call once a day in the factory premises or at any other place selected by the employer and further the workmen must be prepared to do any alternative work which the management may provide either in the factory premises or in any other establishment under the same management. The management, however, will be entitled to discharge workmen when there is reasonable apprehension that the stoppage of work may last a long time. In case of such discharge the ordinary rules of notice or pay in lieu thereof will apply.

(d) The claim that each workman should be provided with a service card noting details as to the date of appointment, the successive rates of pay and the punishment is rejected, but it is directed that the Company should maintain separate service records for all the permanent employees and that further the Company shall allow inspection of the service records by the employees concerned at prescribed times. Each workman must be provided with a service certificate on voluntary resignation or discharge in circumstances not justifying dismissal.

(8) It is recommended that contract labour should be replaced as far as possible by permanent workmen directly under the Company and in the meantime to minimise the evils of the contract system, the Company should insist when granting a contract that the contractor's labour is paid at a proper rate and should further insert a clause in the contract entitling an officer of the Company to supervise the actual payment of wages by the contractor to his labour.

(9) The claim that hours of work should be reduced to 40 per week is rejected. Overtime will be governed by the Factories Act.

(10) The factory workmen will get leave and holidays as follows:—

Eight paid festival holidays in a year; the actual days to be fixed in consultation with the workmen.

14 days' leave on full pay including the 10 days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act, where the 10 days' continuous holidays include one Sunday or two, for which no payment is made, the workmen should be compensated by being granted paid holiday for another day or two as the case may be. This leave on full pay may be accumulated for 2 years as provided for the 10 days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act.

15 days' sick leave with half pay in a year. The provision as to sick leave will be applicable only so long as the Employees State Insurance Act, 1948, is not applied to this establishment.

Clerical and supervisory staff will get the following leave and holidays:—

The same number of festival holidays as is allowed to factory workmen. 21 days' leave on average pay in a year. This leave may be accumulated for three years, i.e., up to a maximum limit of 63 days.

Seven days' casual leave with pay in a year.

Fifteen days' sick leave on half pay in a year. This sick leave will accumulate from year to year.

(11) The Company, if it has no contributory provident fund scheme in force at present, should adopt such a scheme. Such provident fund scheme will be governed by the Model Provident Fund Rules adopted by the Indian Engineering Association subject to the modification that membership will be compulsory for all permanent employees and the contribution to the fund should be at the uniform scale of 6¼ per cent.

For the next 12 months, the Provident Fund Scheme should be supplemented by a gratuity which will be governed by the following rules:—

(a) On retirement on completion of not less than 25 years' continuous service—gratuity at the rate of half a month's pay for each year of completed service, subject to a maximum of 15 months' pay.

(b) On retirement or resignation before completion of 25 years' continuous service, owing to ill-health, old age or a similar cause and with the written consent of the Company—gratuity at the rate of half a month's pay for each completed year of service.

(c) In calculating gratuity, the period, for which a Contributory Provident Fund Scheme is in operation, will be excluded.

For cases falling in clause (a) above the maximum period of service shall be deemed to be 30 years. The employer's contribution to the Provident Fund shall, however, be payable in full in such cases.

(d) In case of retrenchment an employee must be given gratuity at the rate of half a month's pay for each completed year of service, provided he has completed a period of not less than 15 years' continuous service.

(12) The Company must provide the necessary number of first-aid boxes or cubboards and keep them in charge of responsible persons, fully trained in first-aid, who will be available during the working hours of the factory. Further if the Company has no whole-time or part-time doctor, it should try to provide a part-time doctor for attending the workmen.

(13) It is recommended that a canteen be started for providing refreshments for the workmen during recess time, refreshments being supplied at a price just sufficient to meet the running expenses of the canteen.

(14) The question of recognition of Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union is left open. The question of recognition will be adjudicated by the Labour Court, when set up under the amended Trade Unions Act, if there is no recognition by negotiation in the meantime.

The award will come into force on 1st June 1948 or any other date fixed by the Government.

S. K. SEN, Judge,
Industrial Disputes Tribunal.

The 9th June 1948.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE,
Joint Secy. to the Govt. of West Bengal.

ORDER.

No. 2264Lab.—6th July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No. 323Lab., dated the 6th February 1948, read with its corrigendum No. 463Lab., dated the 19th February 1948, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Angus Engineering Works, Ltd., Angus, district Hooghly, and their workmen as represented by the Angus Engineering Works Employees' Union, Bhadreswar, district Hooghly, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S.;

And whereas the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the 1st June 1948.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Angus Engineering Works, Limited, and their workmen as represented by the Angus Engineering Employees' Union.

PRESENT: SRI S. K. SEN, I.C.S.

For the Company: Mr. P. P. Ginwala and Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

For the Union: Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate.

By Government of West Bengal Order No. 323-Lab., dated the 6th February 1948, an industrial dispute between Messrs. Angus Engineering Works, Ltd., and their workmen as represented by the Angus Engineering Employees' Union was referred to me for adjudication. The Angus Engineering Works, Ltd., which is situated near Hooghly, is an engineering workshop run by Messrs. Angus Company, Ltd., which is mainly a jute manufacturing Company and has four jute mills in the same area. In the Engineering Works, about 700 men are employed, for manufacturing machines and tools required for the jute mills of Messrs. Angus Company, Ltd. Manufacture for other customers is also done in the engineering workshop.

Both the Union and the Company appeared before the Tribunal and filed their written statements in due course. After perusing the written statement and hearing the parties the following issues were framed in the case:—

Issues.

1. Basic wages of different categories of employees.
2. Dearness allowance for different categories of employees.
3. Abolition of piece rates and hourly rates.
4. Classification of employees into categories and scales of pay for different categories.
5. Bonus for war years and subsequent years.
6. Retiring benefits—Contributory Provident Fund and Gratuity.
7. Holidays and leave of all kinds.

8. Conditions of service—
   - (a) Promotion.
   - (b) Removal of discrimination.
   - (c) Probationary period and apprenticeship.
   - (d) Rules of retrenchment, dismissal and involuntary unemployment.
   - (e) Provision of relieving hands.

9. Overtime pay including overtime for work on Sundays and holidays.

10. Provision of free quarters, or house rent allowance.

11. Establishment of a cheap canteen.

12. Medical aid.

13. Amenities—
   - (a) Rest rooms.
   - (b) Education of employees' children.
   - (c) Provision for games and theatrical performances.

14. Recognition of the union—
   - (a) Should Darwans be permitted to join the Employees' Union?

DECISION.

Issue No. 1.—Basic wages of different categories of employees.

The Union has demanded the following monthly basic wages for the different types of works:—

Class C—Rs. 60 per month.
Class B Rs. 120 per month.
Class A—Rs. 150 per month.
Special—Rs. 300 per month.
Clerical—Rs. 80 per month.

From the statement of existing wages filed by the Company it appears that the present scale of wages is low for most of the categories. The minimum pay of the ordinary unskilled workmen or coolie is 1·458 annas per hour which comes to rather less than 12 annas per working day of 8 hours and rather less than Rs. 19-8 per month of 26 working days. The minimum pay of the tradesmen, e.g., Planers, Drillers, Shapers, Turners, Millers, Vicemen, etc., is 2·038 annas per hour which comes to just over 16 annas per working day of 8 hours and just above Rs. 26-8 per month of 26 working days. The starting pay of the clerical staff is only Rs. 40 per month. In view of the present level of prices and the present rate of wages in other engineering firms, it must be held that the existing wage rates have to be substantially increased even though the claim made by the Union be regarded as excessive. For the Company it has been urged that in addition to the basic pay the Company pays dearness allowance at Rs. 4-8 per week, i.e., approximately Rs. 19-8 per month; and further the Company issues rations at a cheap rate to all classes of employees and it is claimed that the money value of the subsidised ration is about Rs. 10 per month. A statement has been filed by the Company showing the articles supplied and the scale at which the supply is made. Every week each employee gets 1 seer 13 chataks of rice, 10 chataks of atta and 2 seers 9 chataks of gram at the price of Re. 1 only for all the three items; further each employee gets per week 1 seer of dal at the price of 3 annas 3 pies and 4 chataks of mustard oil at the price of 2 annas 3 pies. The Union has admitted that supply of the foodstuffs mentioned above is made weekly to all the employees, but the Union contends that the money value of the benefit does not exceed Rs. 8 per month. In the Company's statement there appears to be some mistakes in calculating the cost of the foodstuffs to the employer and I must find that Rs. 8 per month more correctly represents the money value of the benefit given by the Company by issuing subsidised foodstuffs to the employees.

But even including Rs. 19-8 per month as dearness allowance and Rs. 8 per month as the value of the benefit of subsidised ration, the remuneration given to the employees must be regarded as rather low. The Company has urged that the net earnings of the engineering works came to Rs. 1,05,907-9-11 for 1947; and assuming that during 1948 the engineering works would earn similar net earnings and assuming that the whole of the net earnings were utilised in increasing the wages and dearness allowance of the employees, still even a fraction of the demands could not be met. The Company has filed a statement showing the extra cost per year which the Company would have to incur if the demands of the Union as to basic pay and dearness allowance had to be met in full. The extra cost per year for basic pay, dearness allowance and provident fund would come to Rs. 11,09,877. It must be admitted that with the net earnings of Rs. 1,05,907 the Company cannot meet such extra expenditure per year. I have already mentioned however that the claim of the Union must be regarded as somewhat excessive. The Company has about 700 workers in the engineering works and the net earnings available towards increasing the wages bill are Rs. 1,05,907 as mentioned above. The Company can therefore afford to increase the remuneration of each employee by approximately Rs. 12 per month on the average. The adoption of standard rates prescribed by the general Engineering Tribunal will cause an increase of rather less than Rs. 10 per head on the average and the Company is able to bear that burden.

On behalf of the Company it has been urged that the minimum basic wage as recommended by the Central Pay Commission should not be accepted as the standard, because the Central Pay Commission gave (according to the Counsel for the Company) contradictory arguments in support of the minimum basic wage fixed by the Commission. It is pointed out that in paragraph 48, page 30 of its report the Central Pay Commission observed —"The application of the minimum wage rule has always been recognised to be subject to limitations imposed by the general economy of the country. It may be applied to correct inequalities in the distribution system but not in disregard of the total production capacity of the country or without reference to the national income." In paragraph 49, page 32 of its report the Commission observed as follows: "The Chief Commissioner of Labour (Mr. S. C. Joshi), whose long association with and sympathy for labour are well-known, agreed that considering the per capita income of the country which was much below Rs. 100 per annum, the earnings of Government employees of the lowest grade should not be out of tune with that of other men of their own status employed outside Government service or having other means of livelihood. He recognised that the amelioration in the condition of poorly paid employees could only be attained by stages with the progressive increase in national income."

The learned Counsel for the Company complains that having made these remarks the Commission proceeded arbitrarily to fix a minimum total remuneration of Rs. 55 for the working class family and Rs. 90 for the middle-class family on the ground that these incomes were necessary for enabling the government servants to maintain their families at the minimum standard of comfort; but on the basis that the national income per capita is Rs. 100 per annum, the share of the national income for a family consisting of even 5 members, which is more than the size of the average working class family, would be Rs. 500, and the monthly income of the earner should therefore be fixed approximately at Rs. 42 per month. The learned Counsel has urged that there is inconsistency in fixing the minimum remuneration for an employee of the working class family at a figure higher than that justified by the average per capita share of the national income. He has urged repeatedly that the minimum cannot be greater than the average, for this is a contradiction in terms.

I must point out however that the average per capita income of persons engaged in the industry is greater than the average per capita income of the people at large of the whole country. In the agricultural classes the size of the families tends to be larger than the industrial areas whereas the income per family is lower. There is also quite a large population in India of vagrants who produce nothing at all and have no recognised income. Therefore there is no inconsistency in fixing for the industrial worker (or for the Government servant) a minimum income higher than the average per capita share of the national income of the whole country. The principle of wage fixation in these days must be that no man must be paid less than his living wage, and the term "living wage" has to be interpreted somewhat liberally, in the light of the investigations made by men like Dr. Aykroyd, Dr. Radha Kamal Mukherjee and other savants. I, therefore, must accept the minimum basic wage recommended by the Central Pay Commission as the standard. In the general Engineering Tribunal the same standard has been adopted.

The learned Counsel for the Company has also referred to the Bihar Labour Enquiry Report which suggested Rs. 15 per month as the remuneration for unskilled labour for places outside Jamshedpur in Bihar. It is urged that the Angus Engineering Works, Ltd., is situated near Hooghly which is 21 miles from Calcutta and it would be fair to apply the rates recommended for industrial concerns in Bihar to the Angus Engineering Works. I must point out however, that the Angus Engineering Works, Ltd., is situated much nearer the Calcutta industrial area than the Bihar Industrial area, and further what the Bihar Labour Enquiry Committee considered fair in 1940 can be no criterion for fixing wages now when both the economic and the political structure of the country have undergone revolutionary changes. Accordingly the recommendation of the Central Pay Commission, which is recognised as having set the standard for the basic minimum wage for all classes of employees in the country, must be followed in this case and the wage structure of the Company revised accordingly.

According to the Central Pay Commission and according to the award of the general Engineering Tribunal, the total remuneration of the lowest paid unskilled worker should be Rs. 55 per month. The Central Pay Commission has divided this figure into Rs. 30 as basic pay and Rs. 25 as dearness allowance. The value of the grain concession allowed by the Company to all employees is Rs. 8 per month and the dearness allowance now allowed by the Company is Rs. 19-8 per month. The total value of the two amenities is Rs. 27-8. Accordingly the minimum basic pay for unskilled worker must be fixed at Rs. 27-8 per month. For convenience of calculation this is taken as equivalent to Re. 1-1 per day or 2·125 annas per hour.

The semi-skilled worker also gets Rs. 27-8 in dearness allowance and grain concession. Accordingly for this category the minimum basic pay is fixed at Rs. 32-8 per month or Re. 1-4 per day which comes to 2·5 annas per hour.

Regarding the question of fixing minimum basic wage for the skilled worker, there is the difficulty that there is no recognised classification of the workers into the categories semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled. The workmen are known by the job that they perform. Thus the workmen are described as Planers, Drillers, Shapers, Turners, Millers and so on. For each of the jobs there is a system of graded pay, the lowest pay being 2·038 annas per hour which comes about Rs. 26-8 per month. The highest grade varies for different jobs. For planers it is 5·777 annas per hour which comes about Rs. 75 per month. The Union with the written statement filed a chart suggesting classification of the workers into grades C, B, A corresponding roughly to the categories unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled. The Company, however, has objected to the correctness of this classification and has pointed out that the existing wages of many workers included in group B are higher than the existing wages of many workers included in group A. Thus a painter has been put in group B by the Union but the Company has only one painter who is paid at the rate of 3·5 annas per hour which comes to Rs. 1-12 per day or Rs. 45-8 per month as against many categories in group A earning about Rs. 26-8 per month. Therefore there is a difficulty in the way of accepting the classification as proposed by the Union and in fixing the minimum basic wage of the workmen on the basis of such classification. The work of scientific classification must be left to be done by an expert committee when there is no agreed classification before us. It is however clear that excluding the items Coolie Sardar and Darwan in group B all the workers described in group A and group B are either semi-skilled or skilled workmen. The minimum basic wage fixed for the semi-skilled worker, viz., Rs. 32-8 per month or 2·5 annas per hour, will therefore apply to all the workers of group A and group B with the exception of the two classes—Coolie Sardar and Darwan for whom the wages will be fixed separately. Further in order that the skilled workmen may derive some direct benefit from the award, I would provide that each workman drawing wages above the minimum should get a flat rise of 4 annas per day or ·50 anna per hour. This comes to Rs. 6-8 per month of 26 working days. I am suggesting this figure of flat rise because the minimum basic pay for the unskilled workmen has been raised from 11·664 annas per day to 17 annas per day and thus the rise in this case is between 5 and 6 annas per day; for the higher category of workmen a flat rise of 4 annas per day would be sufficient, for the wages towards the top do not need the rise to the same extent as wages towards the bottom. Thus all the classes of workers mentioned in group A and group B of Annexure A of the Union's written statement with the exception of the classes, Coolie Sardar and Darwans, will get a rise of ·50 anna per day or Rs. 6-8 per month of 26 working days and this will be sufficient in all cases to put the existing wages of these classes of workmen above the minimum pay fixed of Rs. 32-8 per month or 2·5 annas per hour.

For peons the scale of Rs. 25—1—40 and for Darwans the scale of Rs. 30—1—45 is fixed. For Coolie Sardars the rate of Rs. 32-8 per month or Re. 1-4 per day, the minimum fixed for semi-skilled worker, is fixed.

For the clerical grade the minimum pay must be Rs. 55 per month except for out-door clerks like Tally Clerk for whom Rs. 50 per month is fixed. Accordingly for out-door and Tally Clerks the grade of Rs. 50—2/8—80 and for the lowest grade of office clerks the grade of Rs. 55—3—85 is fixed. Above this grade there will be two other grades, viz., A grade and Head grade, as now in existence but with the following modifications:—

A—Rs. 85—4—125.

Head grade Rs. 125—5—160.

No scales are suggested for the special grade clerks.

Issue No. 2—Dearness Allowance for different Categories of Employees.

The Union has claimed dearness allowance at 70 per cent. for the first Rs. 100 of the wages, 50 per cent. for the second Rs. 100 and 30 per cent. for the balance, subject to the proviso that a minimum of Rs. 45 per month should be paid as dearness allowance. This demand must be regarded as excessive. The Central Pay Commission recommended a minimum dearness allowance of Rs. 25 per month and higher rates of dearness allowance according to the pay range. For the Union it is urged that since the publication of the report of the Central Pay Commission, the price level has increased further, so that the cost of living index now stands in the neighbourhood of 340 as against 260 accepted as a standard in the Pay Commission Report. But a reference to the Appendix C of the Pay Commission's Report shows that in January 1947, with reference to prices of which month the Pay Commission made its recommendations, the cost of living index was 285; and the Pay Commission stated that its recommendations must be understood as made with reference to the index of 285. Further it appears that the cost of living index for the working classes is now in the neighbourhood of 310 although the index for wholesale prices is about 340. At most therefore the workmen might claim a dearness allowance of Rs. 30 per month, but the total remuneration fixed must bear some relation to the ruling rates of wages and to what the industry can bear. I am of opinion that by fixing the minimum dearness allowance of Rs. 30 per month a greater burden would be put on the Company than it can bear. The General Engineering Tribunal has adopted Rs. 25 per month as the minimum dearness allowance but has adopted a graded system of dearness allowance as follows:—

Pay range.	Dearness allowance. Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	25
Rs. 51—100	35
Rs. 101—150	40
Rs. 151—200	45
Rs. 201 and above	50

I think that the scale of dearness allowance fixed for the Angus Engineering Works should be similar. Some modification is, however, required in view of the grain concession allowed by the Company. It has been mentioned that the total value of the dearness allowance allowed and the grain concession now comes to Rs. 27-8 per month. This is Rs. 2-8 above the dearness allowance prescribed by the Central Pay Commission for pay range up to Rs. 50 but we have taken this into consideration when fixing the minimum basic pay for the unskilled and semi-skilled workers. Accordingly for the pay range up to Rs. 50 the existing scale of grain concession and dearness allowance will be retained. For the pay range above Rs. 50, in addition to the grain concession the following scale of dearness allowance is fixed:—

Pay range.	Dearness allowance. Rs.
Rs. 51—100	27
Rs. 101—150	32
Rs. 151—200	37
Rs. 201 and above	42

The representative of the Company has stated that before the Major Jute Tribunal, the workmen have asked for the abolition of the grain concession system and have asked for the full dearness allowance in cash; and that if the Major Jute Tribunal should direct the abolition of the grain concession and the payment of the whole dearness allowance in cash, the Company should have the option of abolishing the grain concession for the workmen of the Engineering Works also and pay them cash dearness allowance instead. The representative of the Union has no objection to the proposal. Accordingly it is ordered that the Company may at its option discontinue the system of giving subsidised ration to the employees, but in that case dearness allowance will be paid at the following scale:—

Pay range.	Dearness allowance. Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	25
Rs. 51—100	35
Rs. 101—150	40
Rs. 151—200	45
Rs. 201 and above	50

and further the minimum basic pay for the unskilled worker and semi-skilled worker will be raised respectively to Re. 1-2-6 per day and Re. 1-5-6 per day.

Issue No. 3—Abolition of Piece Rates and Hourly Rates.

The Union has claimed the abolition of piece rates, but piece rates are sometimes advantageous to the workmen themselves, for a dexterous worker may earn more than a time rated worker under the piece rate system. Piece rates are also convenient for the Company because they are a check against slackness in work. There is, in my opinion, no case made out for the abolition of piece rates. It is, however, necessary that the piece rates should be so revised that the earnings of the whole time piece rate worker does not fall below the earnings of a time rated worker of the corresponding grade.

The Company has also opposed abolition of the hourly paid system contending that the system is an automatic check on attendance; and that where a worker is regular in attendance he earns his full wages like the monthly paid worker. Even in the case of a monthly paid worker there may be a system for deduction of wage corresponding to the period of absence from the total number of hours of work prescribed. Accordingly I find no reason for directing the abolition of hourly rate which is fixed on the basis of the minimum wages prescribed.

Issue No. 4—Classification of Employees into Categories and Scales of Pay of different Categories.

When dealing with issue No. 1, I have already pointed out the difficulty in classifying the employees into the different categories. Accordingly this question is left open. As to scales of pay this has already been fixed for the clerical staff and for peons and darwans. For the factory workers there is no system of time scale in most of the engineering workshops. Instead there are several grades of pay and workers are promoted from one grade to another according to their skill and efficiency. This system should be retained for the present. The claim that scales of pay should be framed for all different categories of employees is rejected.

Issue No. 5—Bonus for War Years and Subsequent Years.

The Union has claimed compensatory bonus equal to 3 months' pay for their privations during the war years during which, it is said, the Company earned a lot of profits but did not pay adequate wages and dearness allowance to the workers. The claim for compensatory bonus does not however come within the scope of the Industrial Tribunal, because the claim for compensatory bonus is not a dispute concerning the terms of employment of the workmen and the dispute is not therefore an industrial dispute as defined in the Industrial Disputes Act. The claim for the compensatory bonus therefore is rejected.

As to annual general bonus it is admitted that the Company has no system of paying bonus at present. The only bonus ever paid by the Company was Independence Day Bonus at Rs. 10 per head. It is not for the Tribunal to lay down a policy of profit sharing bonus. An award as to bonus can be made only when there is a practice of paying bonus and therefore the payment of bonus is an implied term of employment. Such is not the case here and accordingly the claim for general bonus is also rejected.

Issue No. 6—Retiring benefits—Contributory provident fund and gratuity.

At present there is a contributory provident fund for the clerical staff, the rate of contribution being 1 anna in the rupee. For the factory staff there is no contributory provident fund, but they are paid pension instead at the rate of Rs. 10 per month after 30 years' continuous service. The Union wants that the contributory provident fund should be extended to the factory staff also and that in addition a gratuity should be paid, at the rate of one month's pay for each completed year of service. It is also claimed that the system of pension should be retained but the qualifying service should be reduced to 25 years.

The Company has opposed the claim for gratuity and the Company has also opposed the claim for provident fund in addition to pension for the factory workmen. The Company says that in this respect the Company is willing to follow the award of the Major Jute Tribunal, because the workmen of the four jute mills under the same company will have retiring benefits according to the award of the Major Jute Tribunal and the Company desires that its workmen in the Angus Engineering Works get the same benefit. I consider this prayer reasonable, in view of the fact that the Company has a system of retiring benefit, both for the clerical staff and for the factory staff, though different kinds of retiring benefits are given to the two categories of employees. Accordingly in the matter of retiring benefits the present system should be retained until the award of the Major Jute Tribunal is published and thereupon retiring benefits for the employees of the Angus Engineering Works should be brought into line with the retiring benefits of the jute mill workers under the Company.

Issue No. 7—Holidays and Leave.

The Union has claimed one month's privilege leave with average pay, 15 days' casual leave with pay, 21 days' quarantine leave with pay and all bank holidays, for all classes of employees, and further sick leave with full pay for one month on medical certificate. The present system is that the factory staff gets six festival holidays and 10 continuous holidays under the Factories Act per year while the clerical staff gets in addition 15 days' privilege leave (one month for the clerical staff for A, Head and Special grades). There is no rule for casual leave or sick leave but such leave is granted at the discretion of the management. The learned Counsel for the Company has urged that for the factory workmen, since the Factories Act lays down the leave with pay to be allowed, the Tribunal has no jurisdiction to consider the question and to prescribe leave with pay beyond the standard prescribed by the Factories Act. I am not, however, satisfied that the Factories Act takes away the jurisdiction of the Industrial Tribunal to fix the standard of leave and holidays in excess of the standard prescribed by the Act. The Act prescribes the minimum leave and holidays that must be allowed. It contemplates that factories may grant leave and holidays in excess of the minimum prescribed, for there is a provision for exempting the factories with satisfactory leave rules from the operation of the section of the Factories Act which deals with leave and holidays I hold that the Tribunal may fix leave and holidays for the factory workers also. In accordance with the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal, I direct that the following leave and holidays with pay should be granted to factory workmen per year: 8 festival holidays with pay, the days to be selected in consultation with the workmen, 14 days' leave with pay including 10 days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act. Where the holidays under the Factories Act include one Sunday or two for which no pay is given, a compensatory leave with pay for a day or two as the case may be must be given to make up the total number of days of leave with pay, other than festival holidays, to the prescribed number of 14. Such leave may be accumulated for two years and will be granted to workmen who have completed 12 months' work in the factory as provided in the Factories Act.

The Union representative has urged that instead of the 10 days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act the workshop is closed for 10 days with the result that those who have not earned paid holidays under the Factories Act get nothing. It is urged that such workmen who have not earned the paid holidays should not be compelled to go on leave without pay by closing the workshop for 10 days and that they should be given leave with pay when they have earned it and when they apply for it. For the Company it is stated that it would not be possible to keep the workshop working only for those men who have not completed 12 months' service and who therefore have not earned the paid holidays. In such a case compensation at half the rate of pay and dearness allowance should be given to the workmen on the principle that such closure of the workshop causes an involuntary unemployment of the workmen. The period of 10 days can be included within the 30 days for which compensation is prescribed (vide issue No. 8, clause 3).

Further all workmen will get sick leave for 15 days in the year on medical certificate with half pay so long as the Employees' State Insurance Act is not applied to this workshop.

For the clerical staff there is no reason to interfere with the existing rules regarding privilege leave. It is, however, provided that the clerical staff will get casual leave with pay for 7 days in the year and will also get sick leave on half pay for 15 days in the year. The sick leave will accumulate from year to year if not utilised.

Issue No. 8.—(a) Promotion.

The Union claims that full opportunity for obtaining promotion should be given to all workmen. The Company agrees to the proposal. Accordingly it is provided that when there is a vacancy in a higher grade, the workmen of the lower grade should be given the opportunity for obtaining promotion to that vacancy, by being allowed to appear at trade tests in respect of fitness.

(b) Removal of discrimination.

The Union contends that there are some European mechanics who are paid at disproportionately higher rates and that this discrimination should be removed. It appears however from the statement of the Company that there are only six European employees and they are only in the highest cadres like foreman and skilled technicians. It is to be remembered that the Company is a European company and the Indian workmen cannot really object if the Company employs some European technicians and foremen. If Europeans are recruited they necessarily have to be paid a higher rate of pay as the rate of pay equivalent to that of Indian workmen of the same category would not attract them for service. Accordingly the claim for removal of discrimination in this respect is rejected.

(c) Probationary period and apprenticeship.

As to the probationary period the representative of the Company says that it is only one month. Accordingly there is no dispute about the probationary period. As to apprentices, the Union claims that all apprentices should be guaranteed permanent employment under the Company on completion of the training period, and that for the period of training they should get an allowance equivalent to the minimum basic wage plus dearness allowance for the unskilled worker. The Company has opposed both these claims. As to the guarantee for permanent service, the Company has said that if such a guarantee is required, the Company would have to reduce drastically the number of apprentices taken, and this would deny opportunity of training for the various jobs to many people who are getting training as apprentices under the Company at present. I agree that to ask for a guarantee for permanent service for all the apprentices employed under the Company would force the Company to reduce the number of apprentices taken and this would not be for the good of the country at large. Accordingly the claim that such a guarantee should be given is rejected.

Regarding the claim for allowance for the apprenticeship period it is to be remembered that an apprentice is usually a young man of between 15 to 20 and he does not have a family to maintain. Accordingly the minimum basic wage plus dearness allowance fixed for a workman on the footing that he has to maintain a family equivalent to three adult units does not apply to the case of an apprentice. The Company has filed a chart showing the rate of payment to different classes of apprentices. The educated apprentices are paid at the rate of 1.359 annas per hour to 2.600 annas per hour and uneducated apprentices are paid at the rate of 1.127 annas per hour to 2.256 annas per hour. These rates cannot be regarded as too low, because it appears from paragraph 5 of the written statement of the Company that the apprentices or learners get in addition food concession allowed to all permanent workmen and dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 4-8 per week. Thus the total remuneration of the apprentices comes to about Rs. 40 per month and this must be considered as adequate. Accordingly the claim for increasing the allowance of apprentices is also rejected.

(d) Rules of retrenchment, dismissal and involuntary unemployment.

For the Company it has been suggested that this should also be left to be governed by the award of the Major Jute Tribunal. At present however the Company has no system of paying any compensation for involuntary unemployment and therefore I consider it necessary to make a provision as has been done by the Major Engineering Tribunal. It is therefore directed that when there is temporary stoppage of work due to mechanical breakdown or shortage of essential raw material or for any other cause not within the control of the workmen, the workmen should get compensation for involuntary unemployment at the rate of half the pay and dearness allowance, for the period of 30 days in each period of 6 months from January to June and July to December. For earning this compensation the workmen must attend a muster roll in the factory premises at least once a day and must be prepared to do alternative work which may be provided by the Company either at their usual place of business or in any other establishment under the same management. This rule will not debar the employer from discharging the workmen if the employer is satisfied that the period of stoppage of work is likely to be long. In such a case of discharge the usual rule of notice or pay in lieu of notice will apply.

In case of misconduct prima facie justifying dismissal, there should be written charge sheet suppled to the employee concerned, and the employee should be given the opportunity for replying to the charges. The employee may however under suitable cases be suspended forthwith, but dismissal must be made only after the formal proceedings have been gone through. The claim of the Union for a joint board on which the employer and the employees are equally represented, for deciding all questions of dismissal, is rejected.

(e) Provision of relieving hands.

The Union claims that when the workman goes on leave no substitute is appointed in his place and that this causes accumulation of work; and that further, on the plea that there is no relieving hand the workman is denied leave which is due to him. It is therefore claimed that a leave reserve should be employed. The Company has, however, stated that there is no question of accumulation of work for when a workman goes on leave, his machine remains idle and when he comes back he does only a day's work and not more. It is also denied on behalf of the Company that on the ground of want of a relieving hand, leave has been refused to a workman when he has really needed leave. No concrete instance in this respect is given by the Union. The Company has urged that it has about 700 hands in the workshop and that there is no room to employ additional men in the workshop. Accordingly the claim for provision of relieving hands is rejected.

Issue No. 9—Overtime Pay including overtime for work on Sundays and Holidays.

Overtime pay must be governed by the provisions of Factories Act. As to the claim for overtime pay for work on Sundays and holidays there is provision for alternative holidays when work has to be done on a Sunday and holiday; and this provision is followed. Further the representative of the Company said that the work is very rarely done on Sundays. Accordingly I find that there is no case for granting overtime pay for work on a Sunday or a holiday; the claim is rejected.

Issue No. 10.—Provision of free quarters, or House Rent Allowance.

At present the Company provides quarters to a proportion of its employees but charges house rent from them. The Union claims that all employees should be supplied with quarters and that the quarters should be rent free, and so long as the quarter is not supplied there should be house rent allowance. The provision for a house rent allowance has however been made by the Central Pay Commission only for big towns like Calcutta and Bombay and for fair sized towns with a population of over one lac. For Mufassal areas and for small country towns there is no reason therefore to grant house rent allowance. The workshop of the Company is situate near Hooghly which is a small town and the claim for house rent cannot therefore be allowed. As to the provision for further quarters for employees, no such order can be made in view of the well-known shortage of building materials at the present time. There can be no objection to the employers charging house rent for the quarters actually provided for wages or salary includes an element of house rent and so long as house rent charged does not exceed 10 per cent. of the basic pay there can be no objection. Even the Calcutta House Rent allowance for Government servants is for what the employee has to pay in excess of 10 per cent. of his basic pay.

Issue No. 11.—Establishment of Cheap Canteen.

There is at present no canteen provided and the Union therefore claims that a cheap canteen should be provided for supplying refreshment to the workmen during the recess period, for there are workmen who live at a distance and cannot go home for refreshment during worktime. The Company has objected that there is no legal provision at present making it compulsory for the employer to provide a canteen. It is, however, well recognised that the provision of a canteen makes for efficiency of the workmen, because if the workmen get the opportunity of taking some refreshment at reasonable prices during the break off period, they can work with renewed energy when the work is resumed. I do not, however, consider that it would be equitable to ask the Company to provide the refreshment at a concession price. The Company can only be urged not to make a profit for the canteen but take the cost price. Accordingly it is recommended that a canteen be provided for the workmen of the Angus Engineering Works, as soon as the Company can conveniently do it, and that refreshment be charged at the price just sufficient to cover the expenses of running the canteen.

Issue No. 12.—Medical Aid.

The Company has a Health and Welfare Department which provides a well equipped dispensary, a hospital for men and a hospital for women. These facilities are for the workmen of the Angus Engineering Works and also the workmen of the jute mills under the same management. The medical facilities provided are sufficient, and there is no substance in the claim made by the Union that medical facilities earmarked for the employees of the Angus Engineering Works should be provided. This claim is therefore rejected.

Issue No. 13.—(a) Rest room.

The Company does not provide any rest room and submits that no rest room is needed, for men of the workshop go to their homes or to Bazar Hotel for their meals during mid-day break. If the Company starts a canteen that would also serve the purpose of a rest room. I have already recommended that the Company should take steps for the establishment of a canteen. Accordingly the separate prayer for a rest room is rejected.

(b) Education of employees' children.

The Company maintains for the benefit of the workers' children a Boys' Primary School and a Girls' Primary School and the schools are free schools. I must hold that the Company has made sufficient provision for the education of the employees' children and the claim made by the Union of the cash allowance of Rs. 5 per child per month under this head must be regarded as unreasonable and rejected.

(c) Provision for games and theatrical performances.

The Company has already provided a Welfare Club with recreational facilities. The Union's representative says that the Welfare Club is utilised mainly by the jute mill workers and that a separate provision should be made for Engineering Workshop employees but the Welfare Club is open to all employees under the Angus Company, Ltd. The employees of the Engineering Workshop are not barred from participating in the advantages of the Welfare Club. The claim for the provision of a separate Welfare Club for the employees of the Engineering Workshop is rejected.

Issue No. 14.—Recognition of the Union.

On behalf of the Company it has been urged that the recognition of the Union is not an industrial dispute because it is not a question in connection with the employment or non-employment or terms of employment or conditions of labour. This contention must be upheld and the question of recognition of the Union must be left for adjudication to the Labour Court when it is set up under the Amended Trade Union's Act. The subsidiary question whether the Darwans should be permitted to join the employees' union is also left open.

Accordingly the following award is made in this case: -

(1) The minimum basic pay of the unskilled workmen is fixed at Rs. 27-8 per month, which is equivalent to Rs. 1-1 per day or 2·125 annas per hour. The minimum basic pay of the semi-skilled is fixed at Rs. 32-8 per month or Re. 1-4 per day or 2·5 annas per hour. All classes of semi-skilled and skilled workers will get a flat rise of pay- Rs. 6-8 equivalent to 4 annas per day or ·50 anna per hour.

Peons are to be in the scale of Rs. 25 1—40 and Darwans Rs. 30—1—45. Coolie Sardars will get Rs. 32-8 as the minimum basic pay per month or Re. 1-4 per day. For the clerical staff the scale for out-door clerks like Tally Clerk is fixed at Rs. 50—2/8—80. The scale of the office clerk of the lower grade is fixed at Rs. 55—3—85. The scales of A grade clerk and Head grade clerk are modified to Rs. 85—4—125 and Rs. 125—5- 160, respectively. The clerical staff of upper grade will draw the new minimum pay fixed for that grade plus one increment for every 3 years of service with the proviso that the pay thus fixed shall not be less favourable than the stage in the new time scale just above the pay which he is now drawing.

(2) Dearness allowance is fixed as follows:—

For employees drawing up to Rs. 50—Rs. 19-8 in cash plus grain concession.

For employees drawing above Rs. 50 but not above Rs. 100 Rs. 27 per month plus the grain concession.

For workers drawing above Rs. 100 but not above Rs. 150—Rs. 32 plus grain concession.

For employees drawing above Rs. 150 but not above Rs. 200—Rs. 37 plus grain concession.

For employees drawing above Rs. 200—Rs. 42 plus grain concession.

The Company may at its option discontinue the grain concession or subsidised ration system for the employees. In that case the basic pay of the unskilled and semi-skilled workers will be raised to Rs. 30 per month or Re. 1-2-6 per day and Rs. 35 per month or Re. 1-5-6 per day and dearness allowance of all classes of workers will be governed by the following table:—

Up to Rs. 50—Rs. 25.

(3) The prayer for abolition of piece rates and and hourly rates is rejected. Piece rates should however be revised by the Company so that the earning of the permanent piece rate worker does not fall below the earning of a time rate worker of the same grade and the hourly rates should be fixed on the basis of the revised basic wages fixed.

(4) The question of classification of employees into different categories is left open.

(5) The claim for compensatory bonus for war years and for general profit sharing bonus is rejected.

(6) The existing retiring benefits will remain unaltered until the publication of the award of the Major Jute Tribunal when the retiring benefits awarded by that Tribunal will be extended to the employees of the Engineering Workshop.

(7) The factory staff will get leave and holidays as follows:—

8 festival holidays with full pay.

14 days' leave with full pay, including 10 days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act.

15 days' sick leave on half pay so long the Employees' State-Insurance Act is not extended to this category.

The clerical staff will get privilege leave as at present plus 7 days' casual leave with pay plus 15 days' sick leave with half pay in a year. The sick leave will accumulate at the credit of the employee if it is not taken in any particular year.

(8)(a) The workmen should be given sufficient opportunity for promotion to a higher grade.

(b) For the period of involuntary unemployment the workmen will be paid a compensation at the rate of half his pay and dearness allowance, for the period of 30 days in each half year; but to earn this compensation the workmen must attend the muster roll held in the factory premises at least once a day and must do any alternative work that may be provided by the management either at the usual place of business or in any other establishment under the same management.

(9) Overtime pay will be governed by the Factories Act. Claim for overtime pay for work on a Sunday or a holiday is rejected.

(10) The claim for free quarters or house rent allowance is rejected.

(11) It is recommended that the Company should at an early date establish a canteen for supplying refreshment to the factory workmen during the break off period; refreshment should be supplied at a price just sufficient to cover the expenses for running the canteen.

(12) The medical facilities provided by the Company are considered sufficient.

(13) The amenities provided by the Company are considered sufficient.

(14) The question of recognition of the Union is left open for adjudication by the Labour Court when set up.

The award will come into force from the 1st June 1948 or any date prescribed by the Government.

S. K. SEN,
Tribunal.

The 9th June 1948.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE,
Joint Secy. to the Govt. of West Bengal.

ORDER.

No. 2266Lab.—6th July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No. 925Lab., dated the 27th March 1948, the industrial dispute between the Ganges Engineering Works, Bally, Howrah, of the Calcutta Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., 5, Fairlie Place, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Ganges Engineering Works Union, c/o Sri Sibnath Banerji, 3 1, Kali Banerji Lane, Howrah, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S.;

And whereas the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri S. K. Sen, I.C.S., shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of its publication.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Ganges Engineering Works of the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company, Ltd., and their workmen as represented by the Ganges Engineering Works Union.

PRESENT: SRI S. K. SEN, I.C.S.

Present for the Company: Mr. F. C. Steward.

Present for the Union: Sri Sibnath Banerji.

Award.

By Government of West Bengal Order No. 925Lab., dated the 27th March 1948, this dispute between the Ganges Engineering Works, Bally, and their workmen as represented by the Ganges Engineering Works Union, was referred to me for adjudication. The Ganges Engineering Works is a part of the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company, Ltd., which has a fleet of 22 steamers and about 200 cargo boats, and maintains local steamer ferry services and steamer services from Calcutta to Kolaghat and Ranichuck on the Rupnarain. The Engineering Works, employing about 300 men, is maintained solely to repair the Company's own fleet of steamers, towing launches, and cargo boats. We are in this case concerned with the Engineering Works only.

The Ganges Engineering Works Union duly appeared before this Tribunal on receipt of notice and filed its written statement containing its demands, and claiming to be the representative of the workers of the Ganges Engineering Works. The Company in reply filed a written statement, saying that before the setting up of this tribunal the Company had not heard of the Ganges Engineering Works Union, and stating that in January, 1947, an agreement had been signed between the Company and the Bengal Mariners' Union concerning the revised wages and terms of employment of the workers of the Ganges Engineering Works as well as of the employees of the Company's steamers and river craft, and that the Company had fully implemented the terms of the agreement. A copy of the agreement, which is dated 28th January 1947, was filed with the Company's written statement; it shows that the Company recognised the Bengal Mariners' Union as the sole representative of the Company's steamer and cargo boat crews and the workshop employees. At the request of the Company's representative, notice was issued on the Bengal Mariners' Union, though that Union is not named in the Government order of reference. The Bengal Mariners' Union appeared and filed a statement in which it claimed to represent the workers of the Engineering Works; it also referred to its agreement with the Company made in January 1947; and ended by saying that in view of the Company's readiness to be bound by the award of the Major Tribunal in connection with the Engineering industry, as expressed by the Company at page 4 of its written statement, the Mariners' Union had no reason to join issue with the Company. Accordingly the Ganges Engineering Works Union alone pressed its case on the issues which were framed before the Mariners' Union appeared on the scene.

Issues.

1. Minimum basic pay and scales of pay for unskilled, skilled and other categories of workers.
2. Dearness allowance for different categories of workers.
3. Privilege leave, sick leave and casual leave.
4. Overtime pay for work on Sunday.
5. Security of service and standing orders.
6. Provident Fund and other retiring benefits.
7. Independence Day bonus and Puja and Id bonus.
8. Conversion of daily wages system into monthly pay system.
9. Recognition of Ganges Engineering Workers' Union.

DECISION.

Issue No. 1—Minimum basic pay and scales of pay.

The Union has demanded the following scales of pay for the different categories of workers:—

Unskilled labour including gardeners, gatekeepers and bearers—Rs. 40—1—45.

Skilled labour—Rs. 70—3—100.

Highly skilled workmen—Rs. 100—5—185.

Schedule B of the agreement between the Company and the Mariners' Union, which now governs the wage structure of the workshop staff, shows that the daily wage of the unskilled worker has been fixed at Re. 1-1 with increment of 1 anna after every two years up to Rs. 1-9 and that the minimum and maximum rates for all jobs in the workshop have been fixed also. There appear to be some anomalies, e.g., while the minimum and maximum rates for the unskilled workmen are fixed at Re. 1-1 and Rs. 1-9, respectively, those for the khalasi as well as the tool-keeper khalasi are fixed at Re. 1-2 and Re. 1-6. The minimum rates for the beltman, motor starter, rivet-heater and plater are rather low, varying from Re. 1-2-6 to Re. 1-4 per day. The Company is willing to be bound by the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal as to the minimum basic pay and scales of pay, but the Company strongly opposes the claim of the Union to raise the pay scales to Rs. 40—1—45, Rs. 70—3—100 and Rs. 100—5—185, on the ground that even the increase of pay to the figures agreed between the Company and the Mariners' Union has converted the Company's favourable balance-sheet into an adverse balance-sheet, and the Company may be compelled to increase the fares of the local ferry services to cover the running costs. But the running costs of the steamer services have increased owing to a variety of causes and not merely on account of the increased cost of repairing the steamers through the increase in the wage rates of the workshop staff. As no outside work is now done at the workshop, no separate account of the workshop is kept, it is difficult therefore to ascertain precisely what is the increased expenditure from the increase in the wages of the workshop staff, what is the increased expenditure from the increase in the wages of the steamer and cargo boat crew, and what is the increased expenditure on account of rise in prices of raw materials, particularly coal and oil. Further, the business of the Company must have been greatly hampered by the disturbances in 1946 and 1947. The Company's latest balance-sheet has not been produced, and hence it is not possible to say how far the Company can bear an increased burden in respect of the wages of the workshop staff. I agree however that the rates asked by the Union are too high. The Company has agreed to accept the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal, and for the present I see no reason to fix a scale of wages higher than that adopted by that tribunal. It may be true that that scale is not an ideal one; but unless wages are increased by gradual stages, the industry would not be able to bear the burden.

I therefore fix the minimum wage rate for the unskilled worker as Re. 1-2-6 per day, that for the khalasi as Re. 1-3-6 per day and that for beltman, motor starter, rivet-heater and plater as Re. 1-5-6 per day. The maximum rates for these jobs will be increased by the same amount as the minimum rates except in the case of the unskilled worker, in whose case maximum fixed is adequate. For other jobs listed in schedule B of the agreement, the minimum as well as the maximum rates will be increased by 2 annas per day. For gardeners, gate-keepers and bearers, the scale of Rs. 25—1—40 is fixed.

Issue No. 2.—Dearness allowance.

The Union has claimed that the dearness allowance should be increased from Rs. 25 to Rs. 40 per month. In accordance with the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal, the following graduated scale of dearness allowance is fixed:—

Rs. 25 for pay range up to Rs. 50.

Rs. 35 for pay range above Rs. 50 but not above Rs. 100.

Rs. 40 for pay range above Rs. 100 but not above Rs. 150.

Rs. 45 for pay range above Rs. 150 but not above Rs. 200.

Rs. 50 for pay range above Rs. 200.

Issue No. 3.—Privilege leave, casual leave and sick leave.

The Company has no fixed leave rules now. The Union demands 30 days' leave with full pay and 30 days' sick leave with full pay in one year. In accordance with the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal, the following scale of leave and holidays is fixed for each year:—

Festival leave with pay for 8 days in the year, the days to be fixed in consultation with the workers;

Leave with pay for 14 days in the year, including ten days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act, with right of accumulation for two years; this will include compensatory leave with pay for a day or two according as the ten days' holidays include one Sunday or two for which no payment is made;

Sick leave on half pay for 15 days in the year, to be allowed so long as the Employees State Insurance Act is not operative in respect of the Workshop.

Issue No. 4.—Overtime pay for work on Sunday.

So far as factory workers are concerned, the Factories Act provides for a compensatory holiday when work is done on a Sunday. Hence there is no scope for overtime pay for work on Sunday. Gate-keepers, bearers and gardeners are expected under the contract, express or implied, of their employment to work every day, and so the question of overtime pay for their work on Sunday does not arise. This claim is therefore rejected.

Issue No. 5.—Security of Service and Standing Orders.

The Union has demanded revision of the Standing Orders, but has given no indication of the amendments wanted. Similarly no indication has been given by the Union regarding the terms wanted to ensure security of service. Since however the Company has agreed to be bound by the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal, the rules as to discharge, dismissal, termination of service and involuntary unemployment framed by that Tribunal will govern the Company in respect of the workshop, and the Company must make such amendments to its Standing Orders as have been prescribed in that award.

Issue No. 6.—Provident Fund and other retiring benefits.

The Company has a system of paying pension to workmen who retire after completing 35 years' service. The Union wants that the Contributory Provident Fund should be introduced for all the workmen of the workshop. The Company's representative says that the pension scheme is more beneficial for the workmen who would tend to spend the whole money received from the Provident Fund unwisely and again approach the Company as their old employer for help. But since the Company has agreed to accept the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal, which has made its award in favour of a Contributory Provident Fund Scheme supplemented by retiring gratuity until the Provident Fund gives substantial relief, I must direct that the Company should start a Contributory Provident Fund with compulsory membership for all permanent workers, contribution at 6¼ per cent. by both the employer and the employee, and benefit rules as contained in the Model Provident Fund Rules of the Indian Engineering Association; and that further for the employees retiring within the next twelve months, a gratuity should be given to supplement the Provident Fund benefit, as directed in the award of the Engineering Tribunal. The Company may at its option abolish the pension system, without affecting those who are now drawing pension.

Issue No. 7.—Independence Day bonus, Puja and Id bonus.

The demand for 15 days' pay as Independence Day bonus by the workshop staff was the immediate cause of the present trouble between the Company and the Ganges Engineering Workers' Union. The Company offered three days' wages as Independence Day bonus, but the offer was not accepted by the workshop employees. The Union demands 15 days' pay as Independence Day bonus, giving the argument in support of the claim that the Company has given 15 days' pay as bonus to the clerical staff. The Company has opposed the claim, contending that the claim for Independence Day bonus does not come within the definition of an industrial dispute under the Industrial Disputes Act, and so there can be no award on the point. This contention must be upheld; the payment of an Independence Day bonus is an ex gratia payment and does not come within the scope of this Tribunal. But the Company should not for the sake of industrial peace discriminate between different classes of employees in the matter of the Independence Day bonus and though there can be no binding award in the matter of this claim, I recommend that the Company should pay Independence Day bonus equal to 15 days' basic pay to the workshop staff as has been done to the clerical staff.

There is however nothing to support the claim for Puja and Id bonus. It is admitted by the Union that there is no such practice at present. Hence the claim for Puja and Id bonus is rejected.

Issue No. 8.—Conversion of daily wage system into monthly pay system.

Workmen almost all over the world are daily rated but weekly paid; in this Company the workmen are daily rated but fortnightly paid. The Major Engineering Tribunal has refused to countenance the claim for converting all workers into monthly paid workers. The similar claim made by this Union is rejected.

Issue No. 9.—Recognition of Ganges Engineering Workers' Union.

In reply to the Union's claim for recognition in respect of the workshop staff, the Company's case is that by the agreement in January 1947, it recognised the Bengal Mariners' Union as the sole representative of the steamer and cargo boat crew as well as of the workshop staff, and that it cannot therefore be asked to recognise the Ganges Engineering Workers' Union. Further, the Company has mentioned that another Union—the West Bengal Mariners and Allied Workers' Union—has recently been formed and has presented its demands, and the Company has urged that until it is decided which Union is really representative of the workshop staff, the Company should not be asked to recognise any Union; and that the matter may be sent to the Labour Commissioner for ascertaining which of the three Unions now represents the workshop staff.

The question is not however one for the Labour Commissioner, but for the Labour Court which is expected to be set up shortly under the amended Trade Unions Act. The question of recognition of the Union does not properly come within the scope of the industrial tribunal, for the question is not an industrial dispute as defined in the Industrial Disputes Act. Hence I leave the question open for adjudication by the Labour Court when set up. Meanwhile I recommend that the Company should acknowledge, as a matter of courtesy, any communication that may be received from the Ganges Engineering Workers' Union; for it appears that whatever was the state of affairs in January 1947, the majority of the workshop staff are now members of the Ganges Engineering Workers' Union; enclosure 2 to annexure 12 filed by the Company with its written statement shows that the Company informed the President of the Bengal Mariners' Union that 7[illegible] per cent. of the workshop staff had filed in September 1947 a petition stating that they wanted [illegible] join the Howrah Iron Factory Workers' Union; Sri Sibnath Banerji has explained that he originally contemplated taking the workshop staff of the Ganges Engineering Works into his Iron Factory Workers' Union, but ultimately decided to form a separate Union for them—the Ganges Engineering Workers' Union.

The following award is therefore made in this case:—

(1) The minimum wage rate for the unskilled worker is fixed at Re. 1-2-6 per day; that for the khalasi at Re. 1-3-6 per day, and that for the beltman, motor starter, rivet heater and plater at Re. 1-5-6 per day; except in the case of the unskilled worker, the maximum rate will be increased by the amount by which the minimum rate has been increased. For other jobs in Schedule B of the agreement between the Company and the Mariners' Union, the minimum as well as the maximum rates will be increased by 2 annas per day. For gardeners, gate-keepers and bearers the scale of Rs. 25—1—40 is fixed.

(2) Dearness allowance is fixed according to the following scale:—

Rs. 25 for pay range up to Rs. 50.
Rs. 35 for pay range above Rs. 50 but not above Rs. 100.
Rs. 40 for pay range above Rs. 100 but not above Rs. 150.
Rs. 45 for pay range above Rs. 150 but not above Rs. 200.
Rs. 50 for pay range above Rs. 200.

(3) The following leave and holidays will be allowed in a year:—

Eight festival holidays with pay;

Fourteen days' leave with pay, with right of accumulation for two years; this includes ten days' continuous holidays under the Factories Act;

Fifteen days' sick leave on half pay, so long as the Employees State Insurance Act does not come into force.

(4) The claim for overtime pay for work on Sundays is rejected.

(5) The award of the Major Engineering Tribunal will apply as to the terms for discharge, dismissal, termination of service, involuntary unemployment and Standing Orders.

(6) For retiring benefits, the Company must adopt the Contributory Provident Fund Scheme supplemented by gratuity as provided in the award of the Major Engineering Tribunal. The Company may at its option discontinue the pension scheme, without affecting those who are now in receipt of pension.

(7) It is recommended that the Company should grant Independence Day bonus to the workshop staff at the same rate as has been allowed to the clerical staff, i.e., 15 days' basic wages. The claim for Puja and Id bonus is rejected.

(8) The claim for converting the daily wage system into a monthly pay system is rejected.

(9) The question of recognition of the Ganges Engineering Workers' Union is left open for adjudication by the Labour Court when set up, but in the meantime it is recommended that the Company should acknowledge communication from that Union regarding the workshop staff.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 6162H.S.—6th July 1948.—In exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (2) of section 30 of the West Bengal Security Act, 1948 (West Bengal Act III of 1948), the Governor is pleased to direct that persons arrested under the said section shall be confined in such jail as the Inspector-General of Prisons, West Bengal, may, from time to time, by order in writing, specify, and the person for the time being confined in a jail shall be in the custody of the Superintendent of that jail.

No. 6270H.S.—10th July 1948.—In exercise of the powers conferred by clause (a) of sub-section (2) of section 36 of the West Bengal Security Act, 1948 (West Bengal Act III of 1948), the Governor is pleased to make the following rules for the assessment and payment of allowances to prisoners detained under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 16 of the said Act for the maintenance of their families:—

Rules.

1. In these Rules—

(a) "dependant" of a prisoner means a wife or a minor child of the prisoner or any other person, being, in the opinion of the Provincial Government, a near relative of the prisoner:

Provided that persons—

(i) whose incomes are not, in the opinion of the Provincial Government, inadequate for maintaining themselves, or

(ii) who did not, on the date of the prisoner's arrest, depend on the income of the prisoner for maintenance, shall not be deemed to be such dependants;

(b) "prisoner" means a person who is not—

(i) a goonda as defined in the Act, or

(ii) a person referred to in clause (i) of rule 72 of the Bengal Security Prisoners Rules, 1940, who is or has been detained in pursuance of clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 16 of the Act for more than one calendar month;

(c) "the Act" means the West Bengal Security Act, 1948. West Bengal Act III of 1948.

2. Where on the date of the arrest of a prisoner or within a year immediately preceding such date the prisoner had been—

(i) maintaining himself, and

(ii) contributing substantially towards the maintenance of his dependants, out of his own income, the Provincial Government may, in its discretion, sanction a monthly allowance to the prisoner for the maintenance of his dependants.

3. The amount of allowance to be sanctioned under rule 2 shall, in each case, be determined by the Provincial Government with reference to the number of dependants of the prisoner:

Provided that the amount of allowance to be so sanctioned shall on no account exceed the gross monthly income of the prisoner ascertained by the Provincial Government on such enquiry as it may think fit, reduced by such sum as the Provincial Government may consider necessary for the maintenance of the prisoner himself.

4. The allowance sanctioned under rule 2 shall be paid with effect from the date of the arrest of the prisoner and shall continue to be paid until the date of his release.

5. (a) The Provincial Government shall, as soon as may be possible, after the passing of an order detaining a prisoner under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 16 of the Act, initiate enquiries regarding the income of the prisoner and his dependants as well as the number of his dependants and the prisoner shall not be required to make any application for an allowance.

(b) For the purposes of the enquiry under clause (a) the prisoner and his dependants shall be bound to furnish any information in their possession required by the Provincial Government or by any officer authorised by the Provincial Government in this behalf and the refusal or failure to furnish any information so required shall constitute sufficient ground for refusing to sanction an allowance.

By order of the Governor,

R. GUPTA, Secy.

RESOLUTION No. Medl.3093/1C-6/48.

Calcutta, the 5th July 1948.

Government of West Bengal are pleased to appoint the following ladies and gentlemen as members of the Visiting Committee of the Campbell Hospital, Sealdah, for the year 1948-49:—

President.

The Commissioner, Presidency Division (ex-officio).

Secretary.

The Superintendent, Campbell Hospital, Sealdah (ex-officio).

Members.

(1) The District Magistrate, 24-Parganas (ex-officio).

(2) Mr. W. Withall, representative of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.

(3) Sri B. G. Mookherjee, representative of the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce.

(4) Sri Babulal Shroff, representative of the Marwari Chamber of Commerce.

(5) Janab S. M. Solaiman, representative of the Muslim Chamber of Commerce.

(6) Dr. M. N. Sarkar, M.B., representative of the Calcutta Corporation.

(7) Miss Mira Dutta Gupta.

(8) Mrs. Phulrenu Guha.

(9) Sri Radhanath Das, M.L.A.

(10) Mrs. S. C. Datta.

(11) Sreejukta Julie Sen.

(12) Mr. I. J. Cohen.

(13) Janab H. A. Hakam, M.L.A.

The manner in which the Committee will discharge its duties is as follows:—

The members will not visit the hospital individually; the Committee will form itself into groups of not less than three members, each group in turn will, according to a roster to be kept for the purpose, visit the hospital on a fixed day and at a fixed time in each month. In addition to these visits at fixed times the members will pay unexpected visits to the hospital. Members while paying surprise visit should on arrival at the hospital immediately contact the Superintendent and in his absence his Deputy before entering the wards. If all the three members of the group are not present, the remaining members can go round without the absentee or absentees, as the case may be. The members constituting the group should inspect the internal arrangements and offer such suggestions regarding the administration of the institution as they think proper.

A visitors' book will be kept in the hospital in which the recommendations of the Committee will be recorded. The Superintendent will note on the margin the action taken on each recommendation with any other remarks or explanations that he may wish to offer. He will transmit a copy of the entries without delay to the Director of Health Services, West Bengal, for consideration. The Director of Health Services will take such further action as may seem necessary and will bring to the notice of Government any matter which he thinks sufficiently important. A copy of the entries should also be sent to the Secretary to the Government of West Bengal, Department of Health and Local Self-Government, for information.

The Committee as a whole will meet at least once a quarter, review the reports of the visiting groups and discuss the remedial measures adopted. The Superintendent of the Campbell Hospital should attend the meetings of the Visiting Committee.

The Committee will send copies of the resolutions passed at their quarter meetings to the Secretary to the Government of West Bengal, Department of Health and Local Self-Government, and also to the Director of Health Services, West Bengal, who will submit to Government a report of the action taken or proposed to be taken on the points raised in those resolutions.

The members will hold office until the next reconstitution of the Committee. Any member who fails to visit the hospital during three successive months without sufficient reason will automatically cease to be a member, and Government will appoint a new member in his or her place. Visitors' book should be submitted by the Superintendent to Government once every quarter for noting the names of habitual absentees.

By order of the Governor.

A. C. CHATTERJI, Secy.

(b) the class or classes to which each tenant belongs, that is to say, whether he is a tenure-holder, raiyat holding at fixed rates, settled raiyat, occupancy raiyat, non-occupancy raiyat, or under-raiyat with or without a right of occupancy, and if he is a tenure-holder, whether he is a permanent tenure-holder or not, and whether his rent is liable to enhancement during the continuance of his tenure;

(c) the situation and quantity of the land held by each tenant or occupier;

(d) the name of each tenant's landlord;

(e) the name of each proprietor in the local area or estate with the character and extent of his interest, and the situation and quantity of the lands, if any, which are his private lands as defined in Chapter X of the Act;

(f) the rent and cess lawfully payable by each tenant at the time the record-of-rights is being prepared;

(g) the amount payable in respect of any rights of pasturage, forest rights, rights over fisheries and the like at the time the record-of-rights is being prepared, the conditions and incidents appertaining to such rights, and if the amount is a gradually increasing amount, the time at which, and the steps by which, it increases;

(h) the mode in which that rent has been fixed, whether by contract, by order of a court or other-[illegible] rent is a gradually increasing rent, the time at which, and the steps by which, it increases;

(j) the rights and obligations of each tenant and landlord in respect of—

(i) the use by tenants of water for agricultural purposes, whether obtained from a river, jhil, tank or well or any other source of supply, and

(ii) the repair and maintenance of appliances for securing a supply of water for the cultivation of the land held by each tenant whether or not such appliances be situated within the boundaries of each land;

(k) the special conditions and incident, if any, of the tenancy;

(l) any right-of-way or other easement attaching to the land for which record-of-rights is being prepared;

(m) if the land is claimed to be held rent-free, whether or not rent is actually paid, and if not paid, whether or not the occupant is entitled to hold the land without payment of rent, and, if so entitled, under what authority:

Provided that if lands are not used for purposes connected with agriculture or horticulture, it shall be sufficient to record that fact together with the prescribed particulars relating to the occupant, the landlord and the tenancy.

24-Parganas.—No. 5353L.R.—7th July 1948.—Under section 3 of the Bengal Survey Act, 1875 (Act V of 1875), the Governor is pleased to order that a survey shall be made of the lands which are comprised within the areas as mentioned below in the district of 24-Parganas and that the boundaries of the estates, tenures, mauzas and fields be demarcated on the lands so to be surveyed;—

PART V—Acts of the Indian Legislature assented to by the Governor-General and Ordinances promulgated by the Governor-General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Ministry of Law.

The following Act of the Dominion Legislature received the assent of the Governor General on the 29th March, 1948, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

Act No. XVII of 1948.

An Act further to amend the Indian Army Act, 1911, and the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, for certain purposes and to make certain consequential amendments to the Administrator General's Act, 1913.

Whereas it is expedient further to amend the Indian Army Act, 1911 (VIII of 1911), and the Indian Air Force Act, 1932 (XIV of 1932), for the purposes hereinafter appearing and to make certain consequential amendments to the Administrator General's Act, 1913 (III of 1913);

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short title.—This Act may be called the Indian Army and the Indian Air Force (Amendment) Act, 1948.

2. Amendment of section 114, Act VIII of 1911.—In section 114 of the Indian Army Act, 1911,—

(i) in the opening paragraph for the word "rules" the word "provisions" shall be substituted and after the words "this Act" the words "not being an Indian commissioned officer," shall be inserted;

(ii) for clause (2) the following clause shall be substituted, namely:—

"(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a bank (including any post office savings bank, co-operative bank or society or any other institution receiving deposits in money, however named) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees, the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit, require the agent, manager or other proper officer of such bank, society or other institution to pay the deposit to him forthwith, notwithstanding anything in any rules of the bank, society or other institution and when any money has been paid by such bank, society or other institution in compliance with such requisition, no person shall have any claim against the bank, society or other institution in respect of such money";

(iii) in clause (4) after the words "cause the moveable property to be sold by public auction" the words "and may convert into money any cash certificates (including post office cash certificates, defence savings certificates and national savings certificates)" and after the words "proceeds of the sale" the words "or conversion" shall be inserted;

(iv) clause (7) and the Explanations shall be omitted and clause (8) shall be renumbered (7);

(v) in clause (7) as so renumbered the words "or the Standing Committee of Adjustment, as the case may be" shall be omitted and after the words "a deceased person" the words "or deserter" shall be inserted.

3. Substitution of new sections for section 116, Act VIII of 1911.—For section 116 of the Indian Army Act, 1911, the following sections shall be substituted, namely:—

"116. Application of sections 114 and 115 to lunatics, etc.—The provisions of sections 114 and 115 shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply in the case of a person subject to this Act, not being an Indian commissioned officer, who, notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Lunacy Act, 1912 (IV of 1912), is ascertained in the prescribed manner to be insane, or, who, being on active service, is officially reported missing, as if he had died on the day on which his insanity is so ascertained, or, as the case may be, on the day on which he is officially reported missing:

Provided that in the case of a person so reported missing no action shall be taken under clauses (2) to (5), inclusive, of section 114 until such time as such person is officially presumed to be dead.

116A. Property of Indian commissioned officers who die or desert.—The provisions of sections 116B to 116I, inclusive, shall apply to the disposal of the property of Indian commissioned officers subject to this Act, who die or desert.

116B. Powers of Committee of Adjustment.—(1) On the death or desertion of an Indian commissioned officer, a Committee of Adjustment appointed in this behalf in the manner prescribed (hereinafter referred to as the Committee) shall, as soon as may be, subject to the rules made in this behalf under this Act,—

(a) secure all the moveable property belonging to the deceased or deserter, that is in camp or quarters, and cause an inventory thereof to be made, and ascertain and draw the pay and allowances, if any, due to him; and

(b) ascertain the amount, and provide for the payment, of the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased or deserter.

(2) In the case of a deceased Indian commissioned officer whose representative, widow (if any), or next of kin has given security to the satisfaction of the Committee for the payment of the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased, the Committee shall deliver any property received by it under sub-section (1) to that representative, widow or next of kin, as the case may be, and shall not further interfere in relation to the property of the deceased.

(3) In the case of a deceased Indian commissioned officer, the Committee, save as may be prescribed, shall, if it appears to it necessary for the payment of regimental and other debts in camp or quarters and the expenses, if any, incurred by the Committee, and may, in any other case, collect all moneys left by the deceased in any bank (including any post office savings bank, co-operative bank or society or any other institution receiving deposits in money, however named) and for that purpose may require the agent, manager or other proper officer of such bank, society or other institution to pay the moneys to the Committee forthwith, and such agent, manager or other officer shall be bound to comply with the requisition notwithstanding anything in any rules of the bank, society or other institution, and when any money has been paid by a bank, society or other institution in compliance with the requisition under this sub-section, no person shall have a claim against the bank, society or other institution in respect of such money.

(4) In the case of a deceased Indian commissioned officer whose estate has not been dealt with under sub-section (2) and in the case of a deserter, the Committee, subject to any rules made in this behalf under this Act, shall, for the purpose of paying the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters, and may, in any other case, sell or convert into money the moveable property of the deceased or deserter.

(5) The Committee shall, out of the moneys referred to in sub-sections (3) and (4), pay the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased or deserter.

(6) In the case of a deceased Indian commissioned officer the surplus (if any) shall be remitted to the prescribed person.

(7) In the case of an Indian commissioned officer who is a deserter, the surplus (if any) shall be forthwith remitted to the prescribed person and shall, on the expiry of three years from the date of his desertion, be forfeited to the Central Government unless the deserter shall in the meantime have surrendered or been apprehended:

Provided that the prescribed person may pay the whole or such part of the surplus as he may deem proper to the wife or children or other dependents of the commissioned officer.

(8) If in any case a doubt or difference arises as to what are the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters of a deceased officer or deserter or as to the amount payable therefor, the decision of the prescribed person shall be final and shall be binding on all persons for all purposes.

(9) For the purpose of the exercise of its duties under this section, the Committee shall, to the exclusion of all authorities and persons whomsoever, have the same rights and powers as if it had taken out representation to the deceased, and any receipt given by the Committee shall have effect accordingly.

116C. Power of Central Government to hand over the estate of a deceased officer to Administrator General.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Administrator General's Act, 1913 (III of 1913), an Administrator General shall not interpose in any manner in relation to any property of a deceased Indian commissioned officer which has been dealt with under the provisions of section 116B except in so far as he is expressly required or permitted to do so by or under the provisions contained in this Chapter.

(2) The Central Government may at any time and in such circumstances as it thinks fit direct that the estate of a deceased Indian commissioned officer shall be handed over by the Committee to the Administrator General of a Province for administration and thereupon the Committee shall make over the estate to such Administrator General.

(3) Where under this section any estate is handed over to the Administrator General he shall administer the estate in accordance with the provisions of the Administrator General's Act, 1913 (III of 1913):

Provided that the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters of the deceased officer (if any) shall be paid in priority to any other debt due by him.

(4) The Administrator General shall pay the surplus, if any, remaining in his hands after discharging all debts and charges, to the heirs of the deceased and, if no heir is traceable, shall remit such surplus to the prescribed person in the prescribed manner.

(5) The Administrator General shall not charge in respect of his duties any fee exceeding three per cent. of the gross amount coming to or remaining in his hands after payment of the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters.

116D. Disposal of surplus by the prescribed person.—On receipt of the surplus referred to in sub-section (6) of section 116B or sub-section (4) of section 116C, the prescribed person shall proceed as follows:—

(1) If he knows of a representative of the deceased, he shall pay the surplus to that representative.

(2) If he does not know of any such representative, he shall publish every year a notice in the prescribed form and manner for six consecutive years. If no claim to the surplus is made by a representative of the deceased within six months after the publication of the last of such notices, the prescribed person shall deposit the surplus together with any income or accumulation of income accrued therefrom to the credit of the Central Government:

Provided that such deposit shall not bar the claim of any person to such surplus or any part thereof.

116F. Disposal of certain property without production of probate, etc.—Property deliverable and money payable to the representative of a deceased Indian commissioned officer under section 116B or section 116D may, if the total amount or value thereof does not exceed five thousand rupees, and, if the prescribed person thinks fit, be delivered or paid to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it or to administer the estate of the deceased, without requiring the production of any probate, letters of administration, succession certificate or other such conclusive evidence of title.

116G. Discharge of Committee, prescribed person and the Crown.—Any payment of money or delivery, application, sale or other disposition of any property or money made, or purported to be made, by the Committee or the prescribed person in good faith in pursuance of section 116B, section 116D, section 116E or section 116F shall be valid and shall be a full discharge to the Committee or the prescribed person, as the case may be, and to the Crown from all further liability in respect of that money or property; but nothing herein contained shall affect the right of any executor or administrator or other representative, or of any creditor of the deceased officer against any person to whom such payment or delivery has been made.

116H. Property in the hands of the Committee or the prescribed person not to be assets at the place where the Committee or the prescribed person is stationed.—Any property coming under section 116B or under sub-section (4) of section 116C into the hands of the Committee or the prescribed person shall not, by reason of so coming, be deemed to be assets or effects at the place in which that Committee or the prescribed person is stationed and it shall not be necessary by reason thereof that representation be taken out in respect of that property for that place.

116I. Saving of rights of representative.—After the Committee has deposited with the prescribed person the surplus of the property of any deceased officer under sub-section (6) of section 116B, any representative of the deceased or any Administrator General, shall, as regards any property of the deceased not collected by the Committee and not forming part of the aforesaid surplus, have the same rights and duties as if section 116B had not been enacted.

116J. Application of sections 116B to 116I to lunatics, etc.—The provisions of sections 116B to 116I shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply in the case of Indian commissioned officer who, notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Lunacy Act, 1912 (IV of 1912), is ascertained in the prescribed manner to be insane, or who, being on active service, is officially reported missing, as if he had died on the day on which his insanity is so ascertained or, as the case may be, on the day on which he is officially reported missing:

Provided that in the case of an officer so reported missing no action shall be taken under sub-sections (2) to (5) of section 116B or under section 116C until such time as he is officially presumed to be dead.

116K. Appointment of Standing Committee of Adjustment when officers die or desert while on active service.—When an Indian commissioned officer dies or deserts while on active service, the references in the foregoing provisions of this Chapter to the Committee shall be construed as references to the Standing Committee of Adjustment, if any, appointed in this behalf in the manner prescribed.

116L. Interpretation.—For the purposes of this Chapter—

(1) the expression 'regimental and other debts in camp or quarters' includes money due as military debts, namely, sums due in respect of, or of any advance in respect of—

- (a) quarters;
- (b) mess, band, and other regimental accounts;
- (c) military clothing, appointments and equipments, not exceeding a sum equal to three months' pay of the deceased, and having become due within eighteen months before his death;

(2) 'representation' includes probate and letters of administration with or without the will annexed, and a succession certificate, constituting a person the executor or administrator of the estate of a deceased person or authorising him to receive or realize the assets of a deceased person;

(3) 'representative' means any person who has taken out representation but does not include an Administrator General."

4. Amendment of section 126, Act XIV of 1932.—In section 126 of the Indian Air Force Act, 1932,—

(i) in the opening paragraph for the word "rules" the word "provisions" shall be substituted and after the words "this Act" the words ", not being an officer or warrant officer of the Indian Air Force," shall be inserted;

(ii) for clause (2) the following clause shall be substituted, namely:—

"(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a bank (including any post office savings bank, co-operative bank or society or any other institution receiving deposits in money, however named) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees, the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit, require the agent, manager or other proper officer of such bank or other institution to pay the deposit to him forthwith, notwithstanding anything in any rules of the bank or the other institution and when any money has been paid by such bank or other institution in compliance with such requisition, no person shall have any claim against the bank or the other institution in respect of such money";

(iii) in clause (4) after the words "cause the moveable property to be sold by public auction" the words "and may convert into money any cash certificates (including post office cash certificates, defence savings certificates and national savings certificates)" and after the words "proceeds of the sale" the words "or conversion", shall be inserted;

(iv) clause (7) and the Explanations shall be omitted and clause (8) shall be renumbered (7);

(v) in clause (7) as so renumbered the words "or the Standing Committee of Adjustment, as the case may be" shall be omitted and after the words "a deceased person" the words "or deserter" shall be inserted.

5. Substitution of new sections for section 128, Act XIV of 1932.—For section 128 of the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, the following sections shall be substituted, namely:—

"128. Application of sections 126 and 127 to lunatics, etc.—The provisions of sections 126 and 127 shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply in the case of a person subject to this Act (not being an officer or warrant officer of the Indian Air Force) who notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Lunacy Act, 1912 (IV of 1912), is ascertained in the prescribed manner to be insane, or, who, being on active service, is officially reported missing, as if he had died on the day on which his insanity is so ascertained, or, as the case may be, on the day on which he is officially reported missing:

Provided that in the case of a person so reported missing, no action shall be taken under clauses (2) to (5) inclusive of section 126 until such time as such person is officially presumed to be dead.

128A. Property of officers of the Indian Air Force who die or desert.—The provisions of sections 128B to 128I shall apply to the disposal of the property of the officers and warrant officers of the Indian Air Force who die or desert.

128B. Powers of Committee of Adjustment.—(1) On the death or desertion of an officer or warrant officer of the Indian Air Force, a Committee of Adjustment appointed in this behalf in the manner prescribed (hereinafter referred to as the Committee) shall, as soon as may be, subject to the rules made in this behalf under this Act,—

(a) secure all the moveable property belonging to the deceased or deserter, that is in camp or quarters, and cause an inventory thereof to be made, and ascertain and draw the pay and allowances, if any, due to him; and (b) ascertain the amount, and provide for the payment, of the service and other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased or deserter.

(2) In the case of a deceased officer or warrant officer whose representative, widow (if any) or next of kin has given security to the satisfaction of the Committee for the payment of the service and other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased, the Committee shall deliver any property received by it under sub-section (1) to that representative, widow or next of kin, as the case may be, and shall not further interfere in relation to the property of the deceased.

(3) In the case of a deceased officer or warrant officer, the Committee, save as may be prescribed, shall, if it appears to it necessary for the payment of service and other debts in camp or quarters and the expenses, if any, incurred by the Committee, and may, in any other case, collect all moneys left by the deceased in any bank (including any post office savings bank, co-operative bank or society or any other institution receiving deposits in money, however named) and for that purpose may require the agent, manager or other proper officer of such bank, society or other institution to pay the moneys to the Committee forthwith, and such agent, manager or other officer shall be bound to comply with the requisition notwithstanding anything in any rules of the bank or other institution; and when any money has been paid by a bank or other institution in compliance with the requisition under this sub-section, no person shall have a claim against the bank or other institution in respect of such money.

(4) In the case of a deceased officer or warrant officer whose estate has not been dealt with under sub-section (2) and in the case of a deserter the Committee, subject to any rules made in this behalf under this Act, shall, for the purpose of paying the service and other debts in camp or quarters, and may, in any other case, sell or convert into money the moveable property of the deceased or deserter.

(5) The Committee shall, out of the moneys referred to in sub-sections (3) and (4), pay the service and other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased or deserter.

(6) In the case of a deceased officer or warrant officer, the surplus (if any) shall be remitted to the prescribed person.

(7) In the case of an officer or warrant officer who is a deserter, the surplus (if any) shall be forthwith remitted to the prescribed person and shall, on the expiry of three years from the date of his desertion, be forfeited to the Central Government unless the deserter shall in the meantime have surrendered or been apprehended:

Provided that the prescribed person may pay the whole or such part of the surplus as he may deem proper to the wife or children or other dependents of the officer or warrant officer.

(8) If in any case a doubt or difference arises as to what are the service and other debts in camp or quarters of a deceased officer or deserter or as to the amount payable therefor, the decision of the prescribed person shall be final and shall be binding on all persons for all purposes.

(9) For the purpose of the exercise of its duties under this section, the Committee shall, to the exclusion of all authorities and persons whomsoever, have the same rights and powers as if it had taken out representation to the deceased, and any receipt given by the Committee shall have effect accordingly.

128C. Powers of Central Government to hand over the estate of a deceased officer to Administrator General.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Administrator General's Act, 1913 (III of 1913), an Administrator General shall not interpose in any manner in relation to any property of a deceased officer or warrant officer which has been dealt with under the provisions of section 128B except in so far as he is expressly required or permitted to do so by or under the provisions contained in this Chapter.

(2) The Central Government may at any time and in such circumstances as it thinks fit direct that the estate of a deceased officer or warrant officer shall be handed over by the Committee to the Administrator General of a Province for administration and thereupon the Committee shall make over the estate to such Administrator General.

(3) Where under this section any estate is handed over to the Administrator General, he shall administer the estate in accordance with the provisions of the Administrator General's Act, 1913 (III of 1913):

Provided that the service and other debts in camp or quarters of the deceased officer (if any) shall be paid in priority to any other debt due by him.

(4) The Administrator General shall pay the surplus, if any, remaining in his hands after discharge of all debts and charges, to the heirs of the deceased and, if no heir is traceable, shall remit such surplus to the prescribed person in the prescribed manner.

(5) The Administrator General shall not charge in respect of his duties any fee exceeding three per cent. of the gross amount coming to or remaining in his hands after payment of the service and other debts in camp or quarters.

128D. Disposal of surplus by the prescribed person.—On receipt of the surplus referred to in sub-section (6) of section 128B or sub-section (4) of section 128C, the prescribed person shall proceed as follows:—

(1) If he knows of a representative of the deceased, he shall pay the surplus to that representative.

(2) If he does not know of any such representative, he shall publish every year a notice in the prescribed form and manner for six consecutive years. If no claim to the surplus is made by a representative of the deceased within six months after the publication of the last of such notices, the prescribed person shall deposit the surplus together with any income or accumulation of income accrued therefrom to the credit of the Central Government:

Provided that such deposit shall not bar the claim of any person to such surplus or any part thereof.

128F. Disposal of certain property without production of probate, etc.—Property deliverable and money payable to the representative of a deceased officer or warrant officer under section 128B or section 128D may, if the total amount or value thereof does not exceed five thousand rupees, and, if the prescribed person thinks fit, be delivered or paid to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it or to administer the estate of the deceased, without requiring the production of any probate, letters of administration, succession certificate or other such conclusive evidence of title.

128G. Discharge of Committee, prescribed person and the Crown.—Any payment of money or delivery, application, sale or other disposition of any property or money made, or purported to be made by the Committee or the prescribed person in good faith in pursuance of section 128B, section 128D, section 128E or section 128F shall be valid and shall be a full discharge to the Committee or the prescribed person, as the case may be, and to the Crown from all further liability in respect of that money or property; but nothing herein contained shall affect the right of any executor or administrator or other representative, or of any creditor of the deceased officer or warrant officer against any person to whom such payment or delivery has been made.

128H. Property in the hands of the Committee or the prescribed person not to be assets at the place where the Committee or the prescribed person is stationed.—Any property coming under section 128B or under sub-section (4) of section 128C into the hands of the Committee or the prescribed person shall not, by reason of so coming, be deemed to be assets or effects at the place in which that Committee or the prescribed person is stationed and it shall not be necessary by reason thereof that representation be taken out in respect of that property for that place.

128I. Saving of rights of representative.—After the Committee has deposited with the prescribed person the surplus of the property of any deceased officer or warrant officer under sub-section (6) of section 128B, any representative of the deceased or any Administrator General, shall, as regards any property of the deceased not collected by the Committee and not forming part of the aforesaid surplus, have the same rights and duties as if section 128B had not been enacted.

128J. Application of sections 128B to 128I to lunatics, etc.—The provisions of sections 128B to 128I shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply in the case of an officer or warrant officer of the Indian Air Force who, notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Lunacy Act, 1912 (IV of 1912), is ascertained in the prescribed manner to be insane, or, who, being on active service, is officially reported missing, as if he had died on the day on which his insanity is so ascertained or, as the case may be, on the day on which he is officially reported missing:

Provided that in the case of an officer or warrant officer so reported missing no action shall be taken under sub-sections (2) to (5) of section 128B or under section 128C until such time as he is officially presumed to be dead.

128K. Appointment of Standing Committee of Adjustment when officers die or desert while on active service.—When an officer or warrant officer dies or deserts while on active service, the references in the foregoing provisions of this Chapter to the Committee shall be construed as references to the Standing Committee of Adjustment, if any, appointed in this behalf in the manner prescribed.

128L. Interpretation.—For the purposes of this Chapter—

(1) the expression 'service and other debts in camp or quarters' includes money due as air force debts, namely, sums due in respect of, or of any advance in respect of—

(a) quarters;

(b) mess, band, and other service accounts;

(c) air force clothing, appointments and equipments, not exceeding a sum equal to three months' pay of the deceased, and having become due within eighteen months before his death;

(2) 'representation' includes probate and letters of administration with or without the will annexed, and a succession certificate, constituting a person the executor or administrator of the estate of a deceased person or authorising him to receive or realize the assets of a deceased person;

(3) 'representative' means any person who has taken out representation but does not include an Administrator General."

6. Amendment of sections 15, 16 and 17, Act III of 1913.—In the Administrator General's Act, 1913,—

(i) to section 15, after the words and figures "Regimental Debts Act, 1893" the words and figures "the Indian Army Act, 1911 (VIII of 1911) or the Indian Air Force Act, 1932 (XIV of 1932)" shall be added;

(ii) in section 16, after the words and figures "the Regimental Debts Act, 1893" the words and figures "the Indian Army Act, 1911 (VIII of 1911) or the Indian Air Force Act, 1932 (XIV of 1932)" shall be inserted; and

(iii) in section 17,—

(a) after the words and figures "the Regimental Debts Act, 1893", at both places where they occur, the words and figures "the Indian Army Act, 1911 or the Indian Air Force Act, 1932" shall be inserted, and

(b) after the words "subject to the Army Act or the Air Force Act" the words and figures "or of an Indian commissioned officer subject to the Indian Army Act, 1911 (VIII of 1911), or of an officer or warrant officer of the Indian Air Force subject to the Indian Air Force Act, 1932 (XIV of 1932)" shall be inserted.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Ministry of Law.

The following Act of the Dominion Legislature received the assent of the Governor General on the 16th April, 1948, and is hereby published for general information:—

ACT NO. XXXIII OF 1948.

An Act to provide for the transfer of control over pilotage on the River Hooghly to the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the transfer of control over pilotage on the River Hooghly to the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta and for other matters incidental thereto, and to make certain consequential amendments in the Calcutta Pilots Act XII of 1859;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short title and commencement.—(1) This Act may be called the Calcutta Port (Pilotage) Act, 1948.

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint in this behalf.

2. Definitions.—In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "appointed day" means the date on which this Act comes into force;

(b) "Commissioners" means the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta incorporated under the Calcutta Port Act, 1890 (Bengal Act III of 1890);

(c) "Hooghly area" means the part of the Hooghly River extending from the Port of Calcutta to the sea to which section 31 of the Indian Ports Act, 1908 (XV of 1908), has been extended.

3. Commissioners' duty to maintain pilots.—As from the appointed day it shall be the duty of the Commissioners to maintain pilots for the safe navigation of vessels in the Hooghly area and the Commissioners shall be bound to maintain a sufficient number of pilots for the purpose as may be prescribed by the Central Government from time to time.

4. Appointment of pilots.—No person shall be appointed to be a pilot by the Commissioners who is not for the time being authorised by the Central Government under the provisions of the Indian Ports Act, 1908, to pilot vessels.

5. Rules regarding pilots.—(1) The Commissioners may from time to time make rules—

(a) for fixing and regulating the salaries, wages and allowances for pilotage to be received by the pilots, and

(b) for regulating the behaviour and conduct of pilots, and may enforce the observance of such rules by the imposition of pecuniary penalties not exceeding two hundred rupees for every breach thereof or by suspension or deprivation of appointment or otherwise, as to them may appear expedient:

Provided that any such order made by the Commissioners shall, as respects any officer whose salary amounts to or exceeds one thousand rupees, be subject to the previous sanction of the Central Government.

(2) No such rules shall take effect until they are approved by the Central Government and published in the official Gazette.

6. Levy of pilotage fees.—As from the appointed day the Commissioners shall be entitled to levy fees for the pilotage of vessels in the Hooghly area at rates fixed under the Indian Ports Act, 1908 (XV of 1908).

7. Pilotage account and items to be credited to it.—(1) In the accounts of the Commissioners a pilotage account shall be kept separate from the general account.

(2) All fees for pilotage and all fines and penalties levied under this Act from pilots or other persons employed in the pilot service shall be credited to the pilotage account and shall be held by the Commissioners in trust.

8. Expenditure in pilotage account.—All sums credited to the pilotage account may be applied in such proportions as the Commissioners may from time to time direct to the following purposes, namely:—

(a) the purchase and maintenance in repair of such vessels and the supply of such material, stores or other things as the Commissioners may deem necessary to purchase, maintain or supply for the efficiency of the pilot service;

(b) the payment of the salaries, wages and allowances of pilots or other officers and servants of the Commissioners employed in the pilot service;

(c) the payment of pensions or retiring gratuities or compassionate allowances to pilots and other officers and servants engaged in the pilot service and the contributions to the provident fund or bonuses, if any, duly authorised to be made in their behalf;

(d) the payment of pensions, gratuities and compassionate allowances granted by the Commissioners to pilots and other officers and servants engaged in the pilot service who are injured in the execution of their duty and to the surviving relatives of pilots, officers and servants so engaged who may die in the service of the Commissioners;

(e) the provision of educational, recreational and other amenities for pilots and other officers and servants of the Commissioners employed in pilot service.

9. Power to transfer moneys from the general account to pilotage account and vice versa.—The Commissioners shall have the power, with the previous sanction of the Central Government, to apply the moneys credited to the general account towards meeting deficits, if any, in the pilotage account and to transfer the whole or part of the surplus funds in the pilotage account to the general account.

10. Application of certain provisions of Bengal Act III of 1890.—Sections 18, 19, 24B, 29 to 34 inclusive, 47 to 54 inclusive, 55, 57, 58 and 69 to 80 inclusive of the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, are hereby incorporated in this Act subject to the following modifications, namely:—

(a) that the references in the said sections to the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, shall be taken as references to this Act;

(b) that in clause (b) of section 19, for the words "the tolls, dues, rates, rents and charges" the words "pilotage fees" shall be substituted and the words "sum of five and-a-half lakhs set apart by the Commissioners as a reserve fund prior to the passing of this Act, and the further" shall be omitted;

(c) that the proviso to sub-section (2) of section 30 shall be omitted;

(d) that the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 31 shall be omitted;

(e) that in sub-section (1) of section 34 for the words "the Deputy Chairman, Secretary, Engineer, Traffic Manager or Chief Accountant of the Commissioners, or to any other" the word "any" shall be substituted;

(f) that sub-section (2) of section 34 shall be omitted.

11. Amendment of the Calcutta Pilots Act XII of 1859.—The following amendments in the Calcutta Pilots Act No. XII of 1859 shall be made, namely:—

(a) in the preamble and in section 2, for the words "the Pilot Service of Government at the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal" the words "the Hooghly Pilot Service of the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta" shall be substituted;

(b) in section 21, for the words "the marine authorities of the Government" the words "the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta" shall be substituted and the words "provided that no order for suspension, reduction or deprivation of appointment shall be made without the previous sanction of the Central Government" shall be added at the end;

(c) in section 23, for the words "all persons employed in the Pilot-service at the said Presidency and borne on the rolls of the Government establishment" the words "all persons employed in the Hooghly Pilot Service and borne on the rolls of the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta" shall be substituted.

ORDER.

No. 2395Lab.—17th July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No. 954Lab., dated the 30th March 1948, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Ram Charitra Singh, Jung Bahadur Singh, Chand Kumar Singh, Deb Narain Singh and Indra Bahadur Singh all of 35/20, Rustomji Parsee Road, Cossipore, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Bengal National Chamber of Labour, 51, Chittaranjan Avenue, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. K. Sarkar, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. K. Sarkar, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri P. K. Sarkar, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the 1st of July 1948.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Ram Charitra Singh, Jung Bahadur Singh, Chand Kumar Singh, Deb Narain Singh and Indra Bahadur Singh all of 35/20, Rustomji Parsee Road, Cossipore, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Bengal National Chamber of Labour, 51, Chittaranjan Avenue, Calcutta.

PRESENT: SRI P. K. SARKAR, Judge, Industrial Disputes Tribunal.

Present for the employers—Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

Present for the employees—Janab Shafaatullah Khan of the Bengal National Chamber of Labour.

Award.

By Government Order No. 954Lab., dated the 30th March 1948, this dispute was referred to me as a Tribunal constituted under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947. I gave notice to the parties and the workmen represented by the Bengal National Chamber of Labour filed written statement on 12th April 1948 and the employers filed written statement on 4th May 1948 and the case was heard on 29th May 1948 and 15th June 1948 when the hearing was completed.

The above named five employers are boat owners and the dispute is between them and their boatmen who are of two categories, namely, Manjhis and Dandies. These boatmen are members of the Delta Manjhis and Dandies Union, a registered Trade Union affiliated to the Bengal National Chamber of Labour. The five boat-owners are closely related to one another. Ram Charitra Singh is the elder brother of Chand Kumar Singh and father of Jung Bahadur Singh. Indra Bahadur Singh is the son of Chand Kumar Singh and Deb Narain Singh is the nephew of Ram Charitra Singh and Chand Kumar Singh. These boat-owners stated in their written statement that they carried on their business separately and had no relation with each other. This, however, does not appear to be true and it is stated by the Union that they live in the same house and constitute one family. Ram Charitra Singh is the owner of four boats of 58 tons, 139 tons, 159 tons and 180 tons, respectively. He had two more boats of 46 tons and 50 tons, respectively, which were sold off in March 1948. The Manjhis of the boats sold off are, however, still in service of Ram Charitra Singh. Another boat mentioned in the written statement of the workmen has been rejected. Jung Bahadur Singh is the owner of two boats of 60 tons and 85 tons, respectively. Chand Kumar Singh is the owner of two boats of 55 tons each, Deb Narain Singh owns one boat of 85 tons and Indra Bahadur Singh another boat of 99 tons. For each of these boats Manjhis and Dandies have to be engaged, but, according to the long standing custom prevalent in the boat business, the boat-owners employ the Manjhis and pay them lump sums while the Manjhis employ and pay the Dandies. The number of Dandies required for a boat is fixed by the Port Commissioners who grant licences to the boat-owners for plying boats in the Hooghly river according to the size and tonnage of the boat. Thus boats varying in tonnage from 46 to 60 tons require one Manjhi and four Dandies each, while boats of 85 tons and upwards require one Manjhi and six Dandies. The Manjhis of the boats, kept by these boat-owners, are paid by them lump sums out of which they pay the Dandies engaged by them.

The Companies and the big owners who have boats for plying in the river Hooghly have organised themselves in an association called the Calcutta River Transport Association with its Head Office in Calcutta. There is also a Union of the workmen of these boats called the Bengal Mariners' Union. Some time in February 1947, the Calcutta River Transport Association and the Bengal Mariners' Union came to an agreement by which the basic pay for the Manjhis was fixed at Rs. 25 and for the Dandies Rs. 21 per month and Dearness Allowance was fixed at Rs. 25 and Rs. 23, respectively. This agreement was given retrospective effect from the 1st January 1947. The case of the Bengal National Chamber of Labour is that after this agreement the workmen of the boats belonging to the owners, who were not members of the Calcutta River Transport Association, approached their employers for acceptance of the rates fixed by the agreement and that the five boat-owners of this case were similarly approached, but that whereas most of the boat-owners accepted the demand of their workmen, these five boat-owners refused to abide by the agreement. It is next stated that the Bengal National Chamber of Labour on behalf of the workmen of these boat-owners requested them to pay their Manjhis and Dandies according to the rates fixed by the agreement in May 1947 but that this demand was also refused. The Chamber then approached the Conciliation Officer and conciliation proceedings commenced under the Industrial Disputes Act. The said proceedings having failed, the dispute has been referred to the Tribunal. It is claimed by the Bengal National Chamber of Labour that the abovenamed five boat-owners should pay to their Manjhis and Dandies the difference between what would be due to them according to the rates fixed by the agreement referred to above and the amount which they have already paid with interest at 8 per cent. per annum with effect from 1st January 1947 and that in future the rates current in the industry, i.e., the rates fixed by the agreement, should be paid to the Manjhis and the Dandies. The names of the Manjhis who were in the service of these boat-owners from 1st January 1947 and the amounts paid to them from that date and the balances due to them calculated on the basis of the rates fixed by the agreement between the Calcutta River Transport Association and the Bengal Mariners' Union have been mentioned in detail in the Appendix to the written statement filed by the Bengal National Chamber of Labour.

The boat-owners in their written statement have denied the existence of any dispute between them and their boatmen. Their case is that they are not members of the Calcutta River Transport Association and were no parties to the alleged agreement between that Association and the Bengal Mariners' Union. They contend accordingly that they are not, and were never, bound to pay the rates fixed by the agreement. They also deny that those rates are the rates current in the industry. They next contend that the claim for payment from 1st January 1947 is illegal and inequitable and is beyond the jurisdiction of the Industrial Tribunal to grant under the Industrial Disputes Act.

Issues.

1. Fixation of the basic pay of the Manjhis and the Dandies engaged by the employers.
2. Dearness Allowance.
3. Whether the award should be retrospective and, if so, from what date.

There was also a claim for recognition of the Union but it was not pressed.

Issues Nos. 1 and 2.—Fixation of the basic pay of the Manjhis and the Dandies engaged by the employers and Dearness Allowance.

As already stated, the practice in the boat business is that Manjhis are engaged for boats and the boat-owners pay them lump sums per month for payment to Dandies who are engaged by the Manjhis, according to the requirements of the boats. At present the Manjhis of boats requiring four Dandies are paid Rs. 160 per month and the Manjhis of boats requiring six Dandies are paid at varying rates, namely, Rs. 200 for boats of 85 tons, Rs. 210 for boats of 99 tons, Rs. 245 for boats of 139 and 149 tons and Rs. 275 for boats of 180 tons.

The boat-owners' case is that they have nothing to do with the employment of the Dandies or the remuneration paid to them and that they have no knowledge of the terms on which the Dandies are engaged by the Manjhis. They also say that the Manjhis engage the full complement of Dandies only when the boats are on voyage and that at other times the full complement may not be engaged. The boat-owners are not willing to take the responsibility for the engagement of Dandies and it was strongly urged at one stage on their behalf that the Dandies are not even employees of the boat-owners. However, Mr. Sen stated at the end of the hearing that there was no objection on the part of these boat-owners to treat the Dandies henceforth as their employees and to pay the Manjhis and the Dandies henceforth at the rates fixed in the agreement between the Calcutta River Transport Association and the Bengal Mariners' Union, though these boat-owners are not members of the said Association and are no parties to the agreement. The rates fixed by the agreement appear to be quite reasonable and since there is no objection to these being fixed for the Manjhis and the Dandies employed under these boat-owners for the future, I fix the said rates for them—the rates being Rs. 25 for the Manjhis and Rs. 21 for the Dandies as the basic pay and Rs. 25 for the Manjhis and Rs. 23 for the Dandies as dearness allowance per month. I am glad that the boat-owners have accepted these rates which, as I understand, have also been accepted by many other boat-owners who are not members of the Calcutta River Transport Association or parties to the agreement, as current rates. The Dandies should be treated as the employees of the boat-owners and the Manjhis should inform the boat-owners about the Dandies engaged by them if the custom of entrusting the Manjhis with the employment of the Dandies is maintained, and the Manjhis should also pay the Dandies the rates fixed above, as far as possible in the presence and to the knowledge of the boat-owners. The boat-owners should satisfy themselves, that the Dandies have been paid at these rates, if they do not themselves make payment to the Dandies but pay them through the Manjhis. The boat-owners should maintain a register containing the names of the Dandies and the payments made to them month by month, as they do in the case of the Manjhis.

Issue No. 3.—Whether the award should be retrospective and, if so, from what date.

The next point is from what date the Manjhis and the Dandies should be paid at the rates fixed above. The demand of the Bengal National Chamber of Labour is that they should be so paid from 1st January 1947 and that the award should be given retrospective effect to that extent. As already stated, in the written statement filed by the Chamber the names of the different Manjhis and the payments already made to them from 1st January 1947 have been shown and the difference between the payment made in each case and the amount calculated at the rates fixed by the agreement has been claimed as the balance due to the said Manjhis with interest. The names of the Dandies have not been mentioned in the written statement but Mr. Safaatullah Khan, on behalf of the Chamber, stated that he had got the complete list of the Dandies who had been engaged by the Manjhis for the boats of these boat-owners and was prepared to file the said list. The date, 1st January 1947, has been chosen because the agreement between the Bengal Mariners' Union and the Calcutta River Transport Association came into effect from that date.

On behalf of the boat-owners Mr. Sen contended that the award could not be given retrospective effect from 1st January 1947, as demanded by the Bengal National Chamber of Labour, or from any other subsequent date and that to give retrospective operation to the award would be illegal and beyond the jurisdiction of the Tribunal, according to the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act. It is also contended that since these boat-owners were not members of the Calcutta River Transport Association or parties to the agreement, the date from which the rates fixed by the agreement came into force is altogether immaterial and is not in any way binding on these boat-owners, even though they may have now accepted those rates as current rates and agreed to pay their Manjhis and Dandies in future according to them.

In the Industrial Disputes Act there is no provision to give retrospective operation to an award. It is not in the power of the Tribunal to declare an award to be binding from this or that date. Under section 15 of the Industrial Disputes Act a Tribunal is only to submit its award to the Government and, on receipt of such award, it is for the Government to declare by an order in writing that the award shall be binding and under section 19, sub-section (3) an award so declared to be binding shall come into operation on such date as may b specified by the Government and shall remain i operation for such period, not exceeding one yea as may be fixed by that Government. Thus unde the law it is for the Government to declare a award to be binding and to specify the period fo which it may remain in operation—the maximun period being one year. In this position of the la I do not see how a Tribunal can be expected t make an award retrospective in operation. In m opinion, it would be beyond the powers of Tribunal to do so and any such direction given b the Tribunal in the award making it bindin retrospectively would be against the provisions (the Industrial Disputes Act. It has, howeve been argued by Mr. Safaatullah Khan on behal of the Bengal National Chamber of Labour that th

Tribinal need not give any specific direction making the award retrospectively binding from 1st January 1947, but that it will be sufficient if the Tribunal directs the boat-owners to pay the amount claimed in the written statement to the Manjhis whose names have been specified in the written statement. But a direction that the boat-owners are liable to pay or should pay the amounts claimed, as being the differences between the amounts already paid to the Manjhis with effect from 1st January 1947 and the amounts calculated on the basis of the rates fixed by the agreement, would really mean an amount to giving retrospective operation to the award from 1st January 1947. There is no liability on the part of the boat-owners to pay the differences claimed, unless they are directed to pay the rates now fixed with effect from 1st January 1947 which means that the portion of the award fixing the rates will have to be given retrospective operation from that date. Without giving such retrospective operation to this portion of the award the boat-owners cannot be forced to pay the amounts claimed and to give such direction would mean that the award would have to be made effective from a date about 1½ years prior to the date of the award. An award under the Industrial Disputes Act can only be binding for a maximum period of one year. It cannot therefore be made binding from a date more than one year prior to the date of the award. And even if it is made binding for only a year prior to the date of the award, the result will be that it would not be binding for any period in future which would be absurd. No doubt, Tribunals can, and often do, recommend to the Government the date from which a particular award should be operative in their opinion and the Government accepts such date. But that is and should be done only for a short time and when such a date prior to the date of the award is recommended and accepted, the maximum period for which the award is to be operative is calculated from that date. The date, 1st January 1947, being more than one year prior even to the date on which this dispute was referred to this Tribunal, the claim made by the Bengal National Chamber of Labour for giving operation to the award from that date can never be entertained. My attention has been drawn to the award given in the case of Messrs. Mahammed Jahangir Alam Gotawalla and their employees which was published in the Calcutta Gazette of April 22, 1948. This was also a dispute between boat-owners and their employees and a similar claim was advanced by the Bengal Mariners' Union on behalf of the employees that the agreement between that Union and the Calcutta River Transport Association should be enforced with effect from January 1947. In this case the Tribunal fixed the rates of wages of the Manjhis and the Dandies according to the agreement and directed the employers to pay at these rates with effect from January 1947. It appears, however, that the matter had been previously settled and that the rates of the Manjhis and the Dandies had been revised according to the rates of the Calcutta River Transport Association, as was urged by the employers' advocate before the Tribunal. With great respect, I am unable to agree with the view taken by the Tribunal in this case regarding the date from which payment was to be directed, for the reasons mentioned above.

In the present case, as already stated, the boat-owners were not members of the Calcutta River Transport Association. They had nothing to do with the agreement between that Association and the Bengal Mariners' Union. In January 1947 there had been no dispute between these boat-owners and their workmen. It was only on the 9th May 1947 that the Bengal National Chamber of Labour demanded rates according to the agreement from these boat-owners, as would appear from the copies of correspondence filed, and it was on the 11th May that letters were sent by the Bengal National Chamber of Labour to the Labour Department of the Government of Bengal giving first notice of an industrial dispute between these boat-owners and their workmen. It has been argued that since the dispute which has led to the present reference to the Tribunal commenced in May 1947, and there was a great delay in the conciliation proceedings the Tribunal should compel the boat-owners to pay according to the rates demanded from the time of the commencement of the dispute. But even May 1947 would be beyond one year from the date of the present award. The dispute which was ultimately referred to the Tribunal might have commenced long before such reference, and there might have been delay in the conciliation proceedings, but that does not mean that the award which is to be given by the Tribunal should be operative from the date of the commencement of the dispute. Even apart from the questions of law and jurisdiction, there is no equitable justification for advancing such a claim. Some of the Manjhis on behalf of whom the claim for payment from 1st January 1947 has been made are no longer in the service of these boat-owners. Some of the boats have been sold off or disabled. There is nothing to show that the Dandies who worked in those boats are still working under these employers and, as already stated, no Dandies have been mentioned by name in the written statement. The employers are under no liability to pay any additional sums for past services. They had paid to the Manjhis according to the then contract rates. They cannot be asked to pay more unless the contract rates are revised. If they are asked to pay at higher rates for services done in the past, that means that the contract will have to be revised with retrospective effect from the date claimed, which would be absolutely inequitable apart from the fact that it cannot be done under the law. There is therefore no justification in law and equity for the claims for past services with interest. In my opinion, the claim should be altogether rejected, and the award fixing the rates of pay and dearness allowance of the Manjhis and the Dandies should be operative not for any past period before the date of the award but for the future after the date of the award. I recommend that the award be made operative from the beginning of the next month, namely, 1st July 1948.

P. K. SARKAR,

Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

The 26th June 1948.

By order of the Governor,

D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 2396Lab.—17th July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, Order No. 730-Lab., dated the 10th March 1948, the industrial dispute between the Bhagat Oil Mills Co., 34/2, Sahitya Parishad Street, Calcutta, and its workmen as represented by Bhagat Oil Mills Mazdoor Union, 65, Amherst Row, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of publication of this order in the Calcutta Gazette.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Bhagat Oil Mills Co., 34/2, Sahitya Parishad Street, Calcutta, and its workmen as represented by Bhagat Oil Mills Mazdoor Union, 65, Amherst Row, Calcutta.

PRESENT: SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Bhagat Oil Mills Co.—Sri S. K. Mukherjee, Bar.-at-Law, and Sri S. K. Ghose, Solicitor, instructed by the firm for Messrs. C. C. Bose.

For the Union.—Sri Sudhangsu Kumar Ghosh, Secretary of the Union and Sri Parimal Das.

Award.

By Government of West Bengal Order No. 730-Lab., dated the 10th March 1948, the above dispute was referred to me for adjudication. Parties appeared in due course and filed their written statements. The following issues were framed:—

Issues.

1. Basic wages and dearness allowance.
2. Grade system and time-scale.
3. Bonus.
4. Hours of work and overtime rates.
5. Leave and holidays.
6. Provident Fund.
7. Service rules.
8. Permanency of service.
9. Medical arrangements.
10. Quarters or house rent allowance.
11. Recognition of the Union.
12. Dismissals and punishment.

Issue No. 1—Basic wages and dearness allowance; and Issue No. 2—Grade system and time-scale.

According to the Union, the minimum wage at present is Rs. 50 per month including dearness allowance. It is urged that the existing wage structure is based on no scientific basis and that the wages are exceptionally low and below the average level of wages in other industries. The Union demanded (a) the minimum income of an unskilled worker be fixed at Rs. 75 per month, (b) classification of all categories of workers be made and total minimum income of each categories be fixed.

With regard to the wage demand, the Mill Authority submitted that this minimum wage at the rate of Rs. 50 per month including dearness allowance was a fairly good living wage and that if further increment was given it would raise the price of the commodity, i.e., mustard oil and would affect the consumers. It is also urged that this Company is paying the highest amount to an unskilled labourer for in other Mills, the rates vary from Rs. 40 to Rs. 45 per month.

In fixing the minimum living wage, the Tribunals are now being guided by the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission which had been arrived at after long, careful and industrious investigations and review of a very large mass of data. The Commission's decision was that in no case should a man's pay be less than a living wage. The Central Pay Commission fixes Rs. 55 per month as the minimum requirement of a working class family at a cost of living index of about 260 (basic pay Rs. 30 and dearness allowance Rs. 25). This is the most fair minimum standard. The Company is paying Rs. 50 including dearness allowance as the basic minimum wage. The Company is also supplying coal, fire wood, free mustard oil and kerosene oil to the unskilled class of labour. Converted into the term of money the value of these commodities will be approximately near Rs. 5. I therefore accept the prevalent wages as the fair minimum for the unskilled class. There is another reason why Rs. 50, fixed as the minimum standard of an unskilled worker should not be revised; in this factory there had been an agreement between the workers and the Company in which Rs. 50 was adopted and accepted as the minimum living wage. It is clear from the statement submitted before the Tribunal that a coolie who was drawing a pay of Rs. 13 per month in 1941 is now drawing a pay of Rs. 50 per month including dearness allowance; similarly, a coolie who was drawing pay of Rs. 18 per month in the year 1941, is at present drawing a pay of Rs. 55 per month. This shows that the coolies were granted a handsome increment in pay. I see no reason why this should be disturbed. The Company also put forward a plea that the Oil Mills of the metropolis and suburb were not paying higher wages and if a departure is made in the case of this particular oil mill, the price of the commodity, i.e., mustard oil, which is consumed by the largest number of citizens and people of the province will rise high up and as such it will affect the purse of the common people. Already the price of this mustard oil is high and any further increase in its price may be the last straw on camel's back.

Regarding grade of the unskilled worker, the Company had submitted a statement by which they had already agreed to increase the pay on the following grade—Rs. 13×2—2—40 per month and the period of the initial pay in 1941 is to be taken as the starting point for the purpose of increment.

Regarding the skilled there is no regular scale but the minimum pay of the skilled is Rs. 40 and dearness allowance Rs. 30 per month. According to the statement of the Company there are two classes of skilled workers—one class draw pay between Rs. 41 and Rs. 100 and the other class draw pay between Rs. 101 and Rs. 150. There is no time-scale, nor any regular grade. I would advise the Company to introduce a regular grade and time scale on efficiency. This will give a good incentive to the workers.

Dearness Allowance.

The Company submitted a statement later on in which the scale of dearness allowance which is being paid by the Company has been stated as follows:—

Rs. 25 dearness allowance up to a pay of Rs. 30 per month.

Rs. 30 dearness allowance on a pay of Rs. 31 to Rs. 40 per month.

Rs. 35 dearness allowance on a pay of Rs. 41 to Rs. 100 per month.

Rs. 40 dearness allowance on a pay of Rs. 101 to Rs. 150 per month.

As the maximum of pay of the skilled workers in the Company is Rs. 150, no further rate of dearness allowance over that is necessary to be prescribed.

The Company is now paying dearness allowance on the above scale, consolidated with pay. It is desirable that the Company should note in the account book the pay and dearness allowance of each worker separately. This will help the workers to know their present wages and it will also be helpful in calculating the annual increments. Dearness allowance at the above rate is to be maintained.

Issue No. 3—Bonus.

The Company by the agreement, dated 9th February 1948, with its Union conceded to pay a suitable bonus and the terms are as follows:—

(1) A labourer who has completed 12 months' continuous service in this factory will be paid a bonus every year the amount of which will be equal to his one month's wage.

(2) As a special case those labourers who have completed at least six months' continuous service in the year 1947 will be paid a sum of bonus which will be equal to their half month's wage.

The Union demanded two months' bonus, but in my opinion, this cannot be allowed in view of the recent agreement by which the Union conceded to accept only one month's bonus.

Issue No. 4—Hours of work and overtime rates.

The Company asserts that there is no overtime work in this Mill and that the Mill works in 3 shifts each for 8 hours. Whatever that may be, if overtime work is done by the workers, they should be paid double the daily wages plus dearness allowance.

Issue No. 5—Leave and holidays.

According to the agreement, Annexure (1) was entered into by the Union and the Company on 9th February 1948. The following provisions had been made for leave:—

A labourer will be entitled to a medical leave of fifteen days with pay and thereafter fifteen days with one-fourth of pay in a year provided he can satisfy the management by submitting medical certificate from a registered doctor.

Ten days' holiday will be granted to every labourer who has completed twelve months' service in this factory (this is according to the provisions of the Factories Act.) The workers will also enjoy 8½ days' holidays in a year on different days of the year for various festivals.

I see no reason to make any further provision for more leave. The agreement stands.

Issue No. 6—Provident Fund.

The Company reports that according to the Standing Orders, Service Rules are in the process of preparation with the Workers' Union named Bhagat Oil Mill National Workers' Union, and that the latter Union has made no such demand. The present case has been filed by the Bhagat Oil Mills Mazdoor Union who has advanced this claim. It will be evident later on that the Bhagat Oil Mill National Workers' Union does not truly represent the workers and is not a bona fide Association. The claim for Provident Fund is quite just and reasonable and it is highly desirable that the workers should be induced to make some savings. It is a matter of common experience that the labour class has got no saving habit and the introduction of Provident Fund will be a step in the right direction. It is desirable that some sort of Provident Fund Scheme should be introduced in the Company. As Social Insurance Legislation is soon coming to operation, I make no order for Provident Fund for the present.

Issues Nos. 7 and 8—Service Rules and Permanency of Service.

The demand of the workers is that some rules must be framed for security of their services. This is quite reasonable. I direct that Service Rules be framed immediately in consultation with the workers' representative in accordance with the Standing Order Act.

Regarding permanency of service, it is complained that a good number of workers are treated as temporary hands though they put in service for a pretty long time. I however find that the Company had agreed to make different workers permanent who had worked for the period of continuous six months in 1947. This term should be fully implemented if not already done. I, however, also direct that the workers putting in continuous service for 6 months should be treated as permanent hands. No fresh recruitment should be made by discharging the temporary hands and first chance will be given to those who are already working on temporary basis if such persons are found qualified for the job.

Issue No. 9—Medical Arrangements.

The Union demanded one whole-time doctor, one compounder, and a well-equipped dispensary to be provided for giving proper medical aid to the workers, and the doctor should attend the patients at home in case of necessity.

The Company asserts that there is proper medical arrangements according to Factories Act and that there is a medical attendant with all his paraphernalias such as First Aid Box, stretchers with all the necessary medicines. I do not see any reason to enforce the Company to maintain a whole-time doctor; nor can I ask the Company to make proper medical arrangement for treating the workers at home. I however like to insist on the Company that the First Aid Boxes should really contain the necessary medicines and equipment as provided in the Factories Act for the experience has shown that the First Aid Boxes are kept merely as a show and are kept almost empty.

Issue No. 10—Quarter or house rent allowance.

With regard to quarters, the Company asserts that free quarters are provided for for almost all the workers of this factory and they are fitted with all the sanitary arrangements. Some more new quarters are under construction with all the modern sanitary arrangements. I do not think that under the circumstances any further direction can be given on the Company for providing quarters or house rent allowance.

Issue No. 11—Recognition of the Union.

The present dispute has been filed by the Bhagat Oil Mills Mazdoor Union. It is urged by the Company that this is not a bona fide Union and that only 30 or 40 persons who are all ex-workers of the Mills and who have no concern whatsoever with welfare of the present workers of the Bhagat Oil Mills are members of that Union. It is urged that the Bhagat Oil Mills National Workers' Union is the real Union, duly registered under the Trade Unions Act, The Bhagat Oil Mills National Workers' Union also appeared before the Tribunal and wanted recognition. The question of recognition of the Union is left open to be decided by the Labour Courts which are going to function very shortly and I make no adjudication on the point. I, however, find that this Company entered into an agreement with one S. K. Ghose, Secretary of the Bhagat Oil Mills Mazdoor Union, who has represented the workers in this case. This agreement Annexure 1 of the Company was entered into on 9th February 1948 and as such I am in a position to say that the Bhagat Oil Mills Mazdoor Union is a bona fide representative body. The question as to which of these two Unions will have preference needs no further adjudication in this case.

Issue No. 12—Dismissals and punishment.

It is alleged that the Company at present dismisses and victimises workers often on very flimsy ground and that whims of the Company always triumph over justice. The Union demanded that no worker should be dismissed or punished without showing sufficient reason and that every case of dismissal or punishment should first be brought before a Committee composed of equal representatives of workers and employer and that if the Committee fails to reach a unanimous decision, the case should be referred to the appropriate Government machinery.

In my opinion, the demand of the workers that there should be a Committee to decide the question of dismissal is preposterous. Disciplinary action must be left to the hand of the Administration, otherwise it is difficult to control the workers. I however can only direct that there should be no discharge or dismissal except in the case of gross misconduct and that every worker should be given a written copy of the charge to explain his conduct. It is also desirable that in case of minor offences, punishment lesser than dismissal should be considered sufficient.

SUMMARY.

Minimum basic wages and dearness allowance.

Minimum basic wage for unskilled—Rs. 50 per month including dearness allowance.

Grade of unskilled worker—Biennial increment at the rate of Rs 2 per year from the initial pay in 1941 reaching up to the maximum of Rs. 40.

Regarding the skilled, the minimum pay is fixed at Rs. 40 and dearness allowance Rs. 30. The Company is advised to introduce a regular grade and time-scale on efficiency for the skilled workers. The dearness allowance should be paid as follows:—

Rs. 25 dearness allowance up to a pay of Rs. 30 per month.

Rs. 30 dearness allowance on a pay of Rs. 31 to Rs. 40 per month.

Rs. 35 dearness allowance on a pay of Rs. 41 to Rs. 100 per month.

Rs. 40 dearness allowance on a pay of Rs. 101 to Rs. 150 per month.

Bonus.—Labourer completing 12 months' continuous service will be paid bonus every year. The amount will be equal to one month's wage.

Labourer completing at least 6 months' continuous service will be paid bonus equal to his half month's wage.

Overtime rates.—Double the daily wage plus dearness allowance.

Leave and holidays.—Medical leave of 15 days with pay and thereafter 15 days with ½ of pay in a year on production of medical certificate. 10 days' holidays under the Factories Act; also 8½ days' holidays for festivals in a year.

Provident Fund.—I make no such order for the present.

Service Rules.—Service rules should be framed in accordance with the provisions of the Standing Order Act.

Permanency of service.—Workers putting in continuous service for 6 months should be treated as permanent hands.

Medical arrangements.—Existing arrangements to continue.

Quarters or house rent allowance.—No house rent allowance is awarded, as quarters are provided.

Recognition of the Union.—Left to be decided by the Labour Courts.

Dismissals and punishment.—No discharge or dismissal; except in case of gross misconduct opportunity should be given to explain the conduct before taking final action.

This award will come into force from the date of publication in the Calcutta Gazette and that it should remain in force for a period of one year.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION, WEST BENGAL.

Advertisement No. 52.

APPLICATIONS are invited to fill the following posts at the Campbell Medical College, Calcutta. The College is being started as a post-war development measure and there is every chance of its being retained permanently, although it may be regarded as temporary at present:—

(i) Professor of Anatomy on pay of Rs 500—1,000 plus dearness and other allowances as admissible to similar Government servants.

(ii) Professor of Physiology on pay of Rs. 500—1,000 plus dearness and other allowances as admissible to similar Government servants

(iii) Professor of Pharmacology on pay of Rs. 500—1,000 plus dearness and other allowances as admissible to similar Government servants.

(iv) Professor of Organic Chemistry and Bio-Chemistry on pay of Rs. 500—1,000 plus dearness and other allowances as admissible to similar Government servants.

The posts belong to the Bengal General Service. Appointment to each of these posts will be made on contract for five years renewable for another five years on satisfactory service. The Professors will have to give whole-time service to the College. The actual pay of the selected candidates will be fixed within the limits of the scale according to qualifications. They will draw this fixed pay during the contract period The benefit of Contributory Provident Fund Rules, 1934, will be allowed to the candidates appointed and they will be governed by Model Leave Rules in rule 226 in the Bengal Service Rules, Part I. Officers in the Bengal Medical Service are eligible to apply for these posts. If they are selected, their lien on the Bengal Medical Service shall be terminated and Government will consider awarding them some pension on the basis of their previous qualifying service in the Bengal Medical Service after consideration of each individual case.

Women candidates are not debarred from applying for any of these posts.

Private practice not allowed.

(2) Qualifications.—A candidate—

(i) must be a national of the Indian Dominion by birth or by domicile. A person of Indian descent or a citizen of an Indian State or of the Dominion of Pakistan or of any other territory adjacent to India may be considered eligible to apply, provided a declaration of eligibility issued by the Government of the Dominion of India is furnished before appointment;

(ii) must be a Medical graduate and possess high post-graduate academic qualification and previous teaching experience and aptitude for research in the subject.

Candidates who applied in response to the previous advertisement (No. 29) for posts of Professors of Physiology and Anatomy and Assistant Professor of Pharmacology, will be considered for these posts, if they intimate their continued candidacy on revised terms.

(3) Date of submission of applications.—Applications are to be made on the prescribed form, copies of which may be obtained from the office of the Secretary, Public Service Commission, West Bengal, Anderson House, Alipore, Calcutta, personally or on sending a self-addressed stamped envelope. Application forms will not be supplied on receipt of mere stamps. Candidates who are unable to obtain copies of the prescribed form may apply on any printed or typed form, a sample of which was published in the "Calcutta Gazette" of the 21st November 1946. They must be addressed to the Secretary, and should reach him not later than the 28th July 1948.

(4) Particulars and certificates required.—Candidates must furnish evidence of their age, qualifications and previous experience together with two certificates written not more than one year prior to the date of their applications, from two responsible persons, testifying to their private character.

(5) Fee.—Candidates must enclose with their applications a fee of Rs. 5 in the form of a receipted chalan from a Government treasury or the Reserve Bank of India, under the head "XXXVI—Miscellaneous—Provincial Receipt". Money orders, cheques, etc., in lieu of treasury chalans are not accepted. In no circumstances will this fee be refunded.

(6) Address.—Candidates should give their present address and should communicate at once any subsequent change of address.

(7) Canvassing.—Any attempt on the part of candidates to enlist support for their applications through persons of influence or officials of Government will disqualify them for appointment. Spontaneous recommendations from persons interested in the candidates or otherwise known to them will be disregarded.

(8) Applications from candidates who are in permanent or temporary employment under any Government in India will be rejected unless they are submitted through the appointing authority of their posts or service.

B N. BANERJEA, Secretary,
Public Service Commission, West Bengal.

Alipore, the 15th July 1948.

IN THE MATTER OF MUTUAL BANKING CORPORATION, LTD. (IN LIQUIDATION).

AT an extraordinary general meeting of the abovenamed Company duly convened at 31B, Ekdalia Road, Calcutta 19, on the 6th day of July 1948, the following resolutions were duly passed as a special resolution and at the said general meeting Mr. N. N. Banerjee was appointed liquidator for the purpose of winding up.

In view of the Government order restricting the acceptance of deposit by the Bank and in view of the legal opinion obtained by the Managing Director that even it the name of the Company be changed and memorandum altered by the High Court order the restriction to accept deposit shall continue and having therefore considered it advisable to wind up the affairs of the Company, the Directors made a full enquiry into the affairs of the Company and that having so done they are of opinion that the Company will be able to pay its debts in full within a period of six months from the commencement of winding up and their declaration having been verified and supported by the report of the auditors of the Company.

It is resolved that the Company be wound up voluntarily.

M. K. MUNSHI, Chairman.

Dated the 10th July 1948. (299—1)

(l) "registered dentist", "registered dental hygienist" and "registered dental mechanic" shall mean, respectively, a person whose name is for the time being registered in a register of dentists, a register of dental hygienists and a register of dental mechanics.

CHAPTER II.

DENTAL COUNCIL OF INDIA.

3. Constitution and composition of Council.—The Central Government shall, as soon as may be, constitute a Council consisting of the following members, namely:—

(a) one registered dentist possessing a recognised dental qualification elected by the dentists registered in Part A of each Provincial register;

(b) one member elected from amongst themselves by the members of the Medical Council of India;

(c) not more than four members elected from among themselves, by the heads of dental colleges in the Provinces of India which grant recognised dental qualifications;

(d) one member from each University in the Provinces of India which grants a dental qualification, to be elected by the members of the Senate of the University, or in case the University has no Senate, by the members of the Court, from amongst the members of the Medical Faculty of the University;

(e) one member to represent each Governor's Province nominated by each such Provincial Government from persons registered either in a medical register or in a dental register of the Province;

(f) six members nominated by the Central Government, of whom at least one shall be a registered dentist possessing a recognised dental qualification and practising or holding an appointment in an institution for the training of dentists in a Chief Commissioner's Province, and at least two shall be dentists registered in Part B of a Provincial register:

Provided that pending the preparation of registers the Provincial Governments may nominate to the first Council members referred to in parts (a) and (e) and the Central Government members referred to in part (f) out of persons who are eligible for registration in the respective registers and such persons shall hold office for such period as the Provincial or Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, specify.

4. Incorporation of Council.—The Council shall be a body corporate by the name of the Dental Council of India, having perpetual succession and a common seal, with power to acquire and hold property, both movable and immovable, and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

5. Mode of elections.—Elections under this Chapter shall be conducted in the prescribed manner, and where any dispute arises regarding any such election, it shall be referred to the Central Government whose decision shall be final.

6. Term of office and casual vacancies.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, an elected or nominated member shall hold office for a term of five years from the date of his election or nomination or until his successor has been duly elected or nominated, whichever is longer.

(2) An elected or nominated member may at any time resign his membership by writing under his hand addressed to the President, and the seat of such member shall thereupon become vacant.

(3) An elected or nominated member shall be deemed to have vacated his seat if he is absent without excuse, sufficient in the opinion of the Council, from three consecutive ordinary meetings of the Council or, in the case of a member whose name is required to be included in a Provincial register, if his name is removed from such register, or if he has been elected under clause (c) of section 3, if he ceases to hold his appointment as head of a college, or if he has been elected under clause (b) or (d) of section 3, if he ceases to be a member of the Medical Council of India or the Medical Faculty of the University, as the case may be.

(4) A casual vacancy in the Council shall be filled by fresh election or nomination, as the case may be, and the person elected or nominated to fill the vacancy shall hold office only for the remainder of the term for which the member whose place he takes was elected or nominated.

(5) Members of the Council shall be eligible for re-election or re-nomination.

(6) No act done by the Council shall be called in question on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or defect in the constitution of, the Council.

7. President and Vice-President of Council.—(1) The President and Vice-President of the Council shall be elected by the members thereof from among themselves:

Provided that on the first constitution of the Council and until the President is elected, a member of the Council nominated by the Central Government in this behalf shall discharge the functions of the President:

Provided further that for five years from the first constitution of the Council, the President shall, if the Central Government so decides, be a person nominated by the Central Government who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Central Government, and where he is not already a member, shall be a member of the Council in addition to the members referred to in section 3.

(2) An elected President or Vice-President shall hold office as such for a term not exceeding five years and not extending beyond the expiry of his term as member of the Council, but subject to his being a member of the Council, he shall be eligible for re-election.

8. Staff, remuneration and allowances.—(1) The Council shall—

(a) appoint a Secretary who may also, if so decided by the Council, act as Treasurer;

(b) appoint such other officers and servants as the Council deems necessary to enable it to carry out its functions under this Act;

(c) require and take from the Secretary or from any other officer or servant such security for the due performance of his duties as the Council considers necessary; and

(d) with the previous sanction of the Central Government, fix the fees and allowances of the President, Vice-President and other members of the Council, and the pay and allowances and other conditions of service of officers and servants of the Council.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (a) of sub-section (1), for the first four years from the first constitution of the Council, the Secretary of the Council shall be a person appointed by the Central Government, who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Central Government.

9. The Executive Committee.—(1) The Council shall constitute from among its members an Executive Committee, and may so constitute other Committees for such general or special purposes as the Council considers necessary for carrying out its functions under this Act.

(2) The Executive Committee shall consist of the President and Vice-President ex-officio, and five other members elected by the Council.

(3) The President and Vice-President of the Council shall be Chairman and Vice-Chairman, respectively, of the Executive Committee.

(4) A member of the Executive Committee shall hold office as such until the expiry of his term of office as member of the Council but, subject to his being a member of the Council, he shall be eligible for re-election.

(5) In addition to the powers and duties conferred and imposed on it by this Act, the Executive Committee shall exercise and discharge such powers and duties as may be prescribed.

10. Recognition of qualifications.—(1) For the purposes of this Act the qualifications included in Part I of the Schedule shall be recognised dental qualifications but shall not entitle persons other than British subjects of Indian domicile to registration unless by the law and practice of the State or country to which such persons belong, persons of Indian origin holding dental qualifications registrable in that State or country are permitted to enter and practise the profession of dentistry in such State or country.

(2) Any authority in a Province of India which grants a qualification in dentistry not included in Part I of the Schedule may apply to the Council to have such qualification recognised, and the Council may, after such inquiry, if any, as it thinks fit, and after consulting the Government and the Provincial Council of the Province in which the authority making the application is situated, declare that such qualification, or such qualification only when granted after a specified date shall be a recognised dental qualification.

(3) The qualifications included in Part II of the Schedule shall be recognised dental qualifications but shall not entitle persons other than British subjects of Indian domicile to registration unless they have been declared to be recognised dental qualifications in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (5).

(4) The qualifications included in Part III of the Schedule shall be recognised dental qualifications only for the purpose of the registration of British subjects of Indian domicile when the register is first prepared under this Act.

(5) The Council may enter into negotiations with any authority in any State or country outside the Province of India which by the law of such State or country is entrusted with the maintenance of a register of dentists, for the settling of a scheme of reciprocity for the recognition of qualifications, and in pursuance of any such scheme the Council may declare that a qualification granted by any authority in any such State or country, or such qualification, only when granted after a specified date, shall be a recognised dental qualification for the purposes of this Act:

Provided that no declaration shall be made under this sub-section in respect of any qualification unless by the law and practice of the State or country in which the qualification is granted, persons of Indian origin holding dental qualifications registrable in that State or country are permitted to enter and practise the profession of dentistry in that State or country.

11. Qualifications of dental hygienists.—Any authority in a Province of India which grants a qualification for dental hygienists may apply to the Council to have such qualification recognised, and the Council may, after such inquiry, if any, as it thinks fit, and after consulting the Government and the Provincial Council of the Province in which the authority making the application is situated, declare that such qualification, or such qualification only when granted after a specified date, shall be a recognised dental hygiene qualification for the purposes of this Act.

12. Qualifications of dental mechanics.—The Council may prescribe the period and nature of an apprenticeship or training which shall be undergone and the other conditions which shall be satisfied by a person before he is entitled to be registered under this Act as a dental mechanic.

13. Effect of recognition.—Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law, but subject to the provisions of this Act,—

(a) any recognised dental or dental hygiene qualification shall be a sufficient qualification for enrolment in the appropriate register of any Province;

(b) no person shall, after the first registers are compiled under this Act, be entitled to be enrolled in any register as a dentist or dental hygienist unless he holds a recognised dental or dental hygiene qualification or as a dental mechanic unless he has undergone training which satisfies the prescribed requirements referred to in section 12.

14. Power to require information as to courses of study and training and examinations.—Every authority in a Province of India which grants any recognised dental or dental hygiene qualification shall furnish such information as the Council may from time to time require as to the courses of study and training and examinations to be undergone in order to obtain such qualification, as to the ages at which such courses or study and examinations are required to be undergone, and generally as to the requisites for obtaining such qualification.

15. Inspections.—(1) The Executive Committee may appoint such number of Inspectors as it deems necessary to attend at any examinations held by authorities in the Provinces of India which grant recognised dental or dental hygiene qualifications and to inspect any institution recognised as a training institution.

(2) Inspectors appointed under this section shall not interfere with the course of any examination but they shall report to the Executive Committee on the sufficiency of every examination at which they attend and of the courses of study and training at every institution which they inspect, and on any other matters with regard to which the Executive Committee may require them to report.

(3) The Executive Committee shall forward a copy of such report to the authority or institution concerned and shall also forward copies with remarks, if any, of the authority or institution concerned thereon to the Central Government and to the Government of the Province in which the authority or institution is situated.

16. Withdrawal of recognition.—(1) When upon report by the Executive Committee it appears to the Council—

(a) that the courses of study and training or the examinations to be undergone in order to obtain a recognised dental or dental hygiene qualification from any authority in a Province of India, or the conditions for admission to such courses or the standards of proficiency required from the candidates at such examinations are not in conformity with regulations made under this Act or fall short of the standards required thereby, or

(b) that an institution does not satisfy the requirements of the Council, the Council may send to the Government of the Province in which the authority or institution is situated a statement to such effect, and the Provincial Government shall forward it, along with such remarks as it may think fit, to the authority or institution concerned with an intimation of the period within which the authority or institution may submit its explanation to the Provincial Government.

(2) On receipt of the explanation, or where no explanation is submitted within the period fixed, then on the expiry of the period, the Provincial Government shall, after consulting the Provincial Council, forward its recommendations and those of the Provincial Council, if any, to the Council.

(3) The Council, after considering the recommendations of the Provincial Government and the Provincial Council and after such further inquiry, if any, as it may think fit to make, may declare that the qualification granted by the authority or institution shall be a recognised dental or dental hygiene qualification only when granted before a specified date.

(4) The Council may declare that any recognised dental or dental hygiene qualification granted outside the Provinces of India shall be recognised as such only if granted before a specified date.

17. Mode of declarations.—All declarations under section 10, section 11 or section 16 shall be made by a resolution passed at a meeting of the Council and shall forthwith be published in the official Gazette.

18. The Indian Register.—(1) The Council shall maintain a register of dentists to be known as the Indian Dentists Register and consisting of the entries in all the Provincial registers of dentists.

(2) Each Provincial Council shall supply to the Council twenty printed copies of the Provincial register as soon as may be after the 1st day of April of each year, and each Registrar shall inform the Council without delay of all additions to and other amendments in the Provincial register.

19. Information to be furnished.—(1) The Council shall furnish copies of its minutes and of the minutes of the Executive Committee and an annual report of its activities together with an abstract of its accounts to the Central Government.

(2) The Central Government may publish in such manner as it thinks fit any report, copy or abstract furnished to it under this section.

20. Power to make regulations.—(1) The Council may, with the approval of the Central Government, make regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act to carry out the purposes of this Chapter.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power such regulations may—

(a) provide for the management of the property of the Council and the maintenance and audit of its accounts;

(b) prescribe the manner in which elections under this Chapter shall be conducted;

(c) provide for the summoning and holding of meetings of the Council and the Executive Committee, the times and places at which such meetings shall be held, the conduct of business thereat and the number of members necessary to constitute a quorum;

(d) prescribe the functions of the Executive Committee;

(e) prescribe the powers and duties of the President and Vice-President;

(f) prescribe the tenure of office and the powers and duties of the Secretary, Inspectors and other officers and servants of the Council;

(g) prescribe the standard curricula for the training of dentists and dental hygienists, and the conditions for admission to courses of such training;

(h) prescribe the standards of examinations and other requirements to be satisfied to secure for qualifications recognition under this Act;

(i) any other matter which is to be or may be prescribed under this Act:

Provided that regulations under clauses (g) and (h) shall be made after consultation with Provincial Governments.

(3) To enable the Council to be first constituted, the Central Government may make regulations for the conduct of the elections to the Council, and any regulation so made may be altered or rescinded by the Council in exercise of its powers under this section.

CHAPTER III.

PROVINCIAL DENTAL COUNCILS.

21. Constitution and composition of Provincial Councils.—Except where a Joint Provincial Council is constituted in accordance with an agreement made under section 22, the Provincial Government shall constitute a Provincial Council consisting of the following members, namely:—

(a) four members elected from among themselves by dentists registered in Part A of the Provincial register;

(b) four members elected from among themselves by dentists registered in Part B of the Provincial register;

(c) the heads of dental colleges in the Province which grant recognised dental qualifications ex-officio;

(d) one member elected from amongst themselves by the members of the Medical Council or the Council of Medical Registration of the Province, as the case may be; and

(e) three members nominated by the Provincial Government:

Provided that in the Province of West Bengal the Board established under the Bengal Dentists Act, 1939 (Bengal Act XII of 1939), shall be deemed to be the Provincial Council constituted under this Act.

22. Inter-Provincial agreements.—(1) Two or more Provincial Governments may enter into an agreement to be in force for such period and to be subject to renewal for such further periods, if any, as may be specified in the agreement, to provide—

(a) for the constitution of a Joint Provincial Council for all the participating Provinces, or

(b) for the Provincial Council of one Province to serve the needs of the other participating Provinces.

(2) In addition to such matters as are in this Act specified, an agreement under this section may—

(a) provide for the apportionment between the participating Provinces of the expenditure in connection with the Provincial Council or Joint Provincial Council;

(b) determine which of the participating Provincial Governments shall exercise the several functions of the Provincial Government under this Act, and the references in this Act to the Provincial Government shall be construed accordingly;

(c) provide for consultation between the participating Provincial Governments either generally or with reference to particular matters arising under this Act;

(d) make such incidental and ancillary provisions, not inconsistent with this Act, as may be deemed necessary or expedient for giving effect to the agreement.

(3) An agreement under this section shall be published in the official Gazettes of the participating Provinces.

23. Composition of Joint Provincial Councils.—A Joint Provincial Council shall consist of the following members, namely:—

(a) two members elected from among themselves by dentists registered in Part A of the register of each of the participating Provinces;

(b) two members elected from among themselves by dentists registered in Part B of the register of each of the participating Provinces;

(c) the heads of dental colleges in all the participating Provinces which grant recognised dental qualifications ex-officio;

(d) one member elected by the Medical Council or the Council of Medical Registration, of each participating Province, as the case may be;

(e) two members nominated by each participating Provincial Government.

24. Incorporation of Provincial Councils.—Every Provincial Council shall be a body corporate by such name as may be notified by the Provincial Government in the official Gazette or, in the case of a Joint Provincial Council, as may be determined in the agreement, having perpetual succession and a common seal with power to acquire and hold property, both movable and immovable, and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

25. President and Vice-President of Provincial Council.—(1) The President and Vice-President of the Provincial Council shall be elected by the members from among themselves:

Provided that for five years from the first constitution of the Provincial Council, the President shall, if the Provincial Government so decides, be a person nominated by the Provincial Government who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Provincial Government, and where he is not already a member, shall be a member of the Provincial Council in addition to the members referred to in section 21 or 23, as the case may be.

(2) The President or Vice-President shall hold office as such for a term not exceeding five years and not extending beyond the expiry of his term as a member of the Provincial Council, but subject to his being a member of the Provincial Council, he shall be eligible for re-election.

26. Mode of elections.—Elections under this Chapter shall be conducted in the prescribed manner, and where any dispute arises regarding any such election, it shall be referred to the Provincial Government whose decision shall be final.

27. Term of office and casual vacancies.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, an elected or nominated member shall hold office for a term of five years from the date of his election or nomination or until his successor has been duly elected or nominated, whichever is longer.

(2) An elected or nominated member may at any time resign his membership by writing under his hand addressed to the President, and the seat of such member shall thereupon become vacant.

(3) An elected or nominated member shall be deemed to have vacated his seat—

(a) if he is absent without excuse, sufficient in the opinion of the Provincial Council, from three consecutive ordinary meetings of the Provincial Council, or

(b) in the case of a member whose name is required to be included in any Provincial register, if his name is removed from the register, or

(c) where he has been elected under clause (d) of section 21 or under clause (d) of section 23, if he ceases to be a member of the Medical Council or the Council of Medical Registration of the Province as the case may be.

(4) A casual vacancy in the Provincial Council shall be filled by fresh election or nomination, as the case may be, and the person elected or nominated to fill the vacancy shall hold office only for the remainder of the term for which the member whose place he takes was elected or nominated.

(5) Members of the Provincial Council shall be eligible for re-election or re-nomination.

(6) No act done by the Provincial Council shall be called in question on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or defect in the constitution of, the Provincial Council

28. Staff, remuneration and allowances.—(1) The Provincial Council may, with the previous sanction of the Provincial Government,—

(a) appoint a Registrar, who shall also act as Secretary and if so decided by the Provincial Council also as its Treasurer;

(b) appoint such other officers and servants as may be required to enable the Provincial Council to carry out its functions under this Act;

(c) require and take from the Registrar or from any other officer or servant such security for the due performance of his duties as the Provincial Council considers necessary;

(d) fix the salaries and allowances and other conditions of service of the Registrar and other officers and servants of the Provincial Council;

(e) fix the rate of allowances payable to members of the Provincial Council.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (a) of sub-section (1), for the first four years from the first constitution of the Provincial Council, the Registrar of the Provincial Council shall be a person appointed by the Provincial Government, who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Provincial Government.

29. Executive Committee.—(1) The Provincial Council shall constitute from among its members an Executive Committee consisting of the President and Vice-President ex-officio, and such number of other members elected by the Provincial Council as may be prescribed.

(2) The President and Vice-President of the Provincial Council shall be Chairman and Vice-Chairman, respectively, of the Executive Committee.

(3) A member of the Executive Committee shall hold office as such until the expiry of his term of office as member of the Provincial Council, but subject to his being a member of the Provincial Council, he shall be eligible for re-election.

(4) The Executive Committee shall exercise and discharge such powers and duties as may be prescribed.

30. Information to be furnished.—(1) The Provincial Council shall furnish such reports, copies of its minutes and of the minutes of the Executive Committee, and abstracts of its accounts to the Provincial Government as the Provincial Government may from time to time require and shall forward copies of all material so furnished to the Provincial Government to the Council.

(2) The Provincial Government may publish in such manner as it thinks fit any report, copy or abstract furnished to it under this section.

CHAPTER IV.

REGISTRATION.

31. Preparation and maintenance of register.—(1) The Provincial Government shall as soon as may be cause to be prepared in the manner hereinafter provided a register of dentists for the Province.

(2) The Provincial Council shall upon its constitution assume the duty of maintaining the register in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(3) The register of dentists shall be maintained in two Parts, A and B, persons possessing recognised dental qualifications being registered in Part A and persons not possessing such qualifications being registered in Part B.

(4) The register shall include the following particulars, namely:—

(a) the full name, nationality and residential address of the registered person;

(b) the date of his first admission to the register;

(c) his qualification for registration, and the date on which he obtained his degree or diploma in dentistry, if any, and the authority, which conferred it;

(d) his professional address; and

(e) such further particulars as may be prescribed.

32. First preparation of register.—(1) For the purpose of first preparing the register of dentists, the Provincial Government shall, by notification in the official Gazette, constitute a Registration Tribunal consisting of three persons and shall also appoint a Registrar who shall act as Secretary of the Tribunal

(2) The Provincial Government shall, by the same or a like notification, appoint a date on or before which application for registration, which shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee, shall be made to the Registration Tribunal.

(3) The Registration Tribunal shall examine every application received on or before the appointed date, and if it is satisfied that the applicant is qualified for registration under section 33, shall direct the entry of the name of the applicant on the register.

(4) The register so prepared shall thereafter be published in such manner as the Provincial Government may direct, and any person aggrieved by a decision of the Registration Tribunal expressed or implied in the register as so published may, within thirty days from the date of such publication, appeal to an authority appointed by the Provincial Government in this behalf by notification in the official Gazette.

(5) The Registrar shall amend the register in accordance with the decisions of the authority appointed under sub-section (4) and shall thereupon issue to every person whose name is entered on the register a certificate of registration in the prescribed form.

(6) Upon the constitution of the Provincial Council, the register shall be given into its custody, and the Provincial Government may direct that all or any specified part of the application fees for registration in the first register shall be paid to the credit of the Provincial Council.

33. Qualifications for entry on first preparation of register.—(1) A person shall be entitled on payment of the prescribed fee to have his name entered on the register when it is first prepared, if he resides or carries on the profession of dentistry in the Province and if he—

(a) holds a recognised dental qualification, or

(b) does not hold such a qualification but, being a British subject of Indian domicile, has been engaged in practice as a dentist as his principal means of livelihood for a period of not less than five years prior to the commencement of this Act:

Provided that no person other than a British subject of Indian domicile shall be entitled to registration by virtue of a qualification,

(a) specified in Part I of the Schedule unless by the law and practice of the State or country to which such person belongs persons of Indian origin holding dental qualifications registrable in that State or country are permitted to enter and practise the profession of dentistry in such State or country, or

(b) specified in Part II of the Schedule unless the Council has, in pursuance of a scheme of reciprocity, declared that qualification to be a recognised dental qualification:

Provided further that a person shall be entitled to registration by virtue of a qualification specified in Part III of the Schedule only if he is a British subject of Indian domicile:

Provided further that for the purposes of the first preparation of the register of dentists under this Act in the Province of West Bengal, a person shall be entitled to have his name entered in the appropriate Part of the register, if he is registered on the register of dental practitioners maintained under the Bengal Dentists Act, 1939 (Bengal Act XII of 1939), and no registration fee shall be payable by such person if he had been registered on or before 31st December 1947.

(2) A person domiciled in a Province of India shall be entitled on payment of the prescribed fee to temporary registration as a dentist for a period of five years, if he has been engaged in practice as a dentist as his principal means of livelihood for a period of not less than two years during the five years prior to the date of the commencement of this Act, and a person so registered shall be entitled to permanent registration if within a period of five years after that date he passes an examination which satisfies the requirements of the Council.

34. Qualification for subsequent registration.—After the date appointed under sub-section (2) of section 32 a person shall, on payment of the prescribed fee, be entitled to have his name entered on the register of dentists, if he resides or carries on the profession of dentistry in the Province and if he—

(i) holds a recognised dental qualification, or

(ii) does not hold such a qualification but, being a British subject of Indian domicile, has been engaged in practice as a dentist as his principal means of livelihood for a period of not less than two years before the commencement of this Act and has passed, within a period of five years after the commencement of this Act, an examination recognised for this purpose by the Council:

Provided that no person other than a British subject of Indian domicile shall be entitled to registration by virtue of a qualification

(a) specified in Part I of the Schedule unless by the law and practice of the State or country to which such person belongs persons of Indian origin holding dental qualifications registrable in that State or country are permitted to enter and practise the profession of dentistry in such State or country, or

(b) specified in Part II of the Schedule unless the Council has, in pursuance of a scheme of reciprocity declared that qualification to be a recognised dental qualification:

Provided further that a person registered in Part B of the register shall be entitled to be registered in Part A thereof, if within a period of five years he passes an examination recognised for the purpose by the Council.

35. Scrutiny of applications for registration.—(1) After the date appointed for the receipt of applications for registration in the first register of dentists, all applications for registration shall be addressed to the Registrar of the Provincial Council and shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee.

(2) If upon such application the Registrar is of opinion that the applicant is entitled to have his name entered on the register, he shall enter thereon the name of the applicant:

Provided that no person, whose name has under the provisions of this Act been removed from the register of any Province, shall be entitled to have his name entered on the register except with the approval of the Provincial Council from whose register his name was removed.

(3) Any person whose application for registration is rejected by the Registrar may, within three months from the date of such rejection, appeal to the Provincial Council, and the decision of the Provincial Council thereon shall be final.

(4) Upon entry in the register of a name under this section, the Registrar shall issue a certificate of registration in the prescribed form.

36. Registers of dental hygienists and dental mechanics.—(1) The Provincial Government may by notification in the official Gazette direct that the Provincial Council shall maintain a register of dental hygienists or a register of dental mechanics.

(2) The provisions of section 35 shall, so far as they may be made applicable, apply in respect of applications for registration in a register referred to in this section.

37. Qualification for registration as a dental hygienist.—A person shall be entitled on payment of the prescribed fee to have his name registered on the register of dental hygienists, if he resides in the Province and holds a recognised dental hygiene qualification:

Provided that for the purposes of the first register of dental hygienists, a person shall be entitled to be registered, if he has been engaged as a dental hygienist as his principal means of livelihood for a period of not less than two years prior to the date of notification under sub-section (1) of section 36.

38. Qualification for registration as a dental mechanic.—A person shall be entitled on payment of the prescribed fee to have his name entered in the register of dental mechanics, if he satisfies the prescribed requirements referred to in section 12:

Provided that for the purposes of the preparation of the first register of dental mechanics a person shall be entitled to be registered, if he has been engaged as a dental mechanic as his principal means of livelihood for a period of not less than two years prior to the date of notification under sub-section (1) of section 36.

39. Renewal fees.—(1) The Provincial Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, direct that for the retention of a name in a register after the 31st day of December of the year following the year in which the name is first entered in the register, there shall be paid annually to the Provincial Council such renewal fee as may be prescribed in respect of each register, and where such direction has been made, such renewal fee shall be due to be paid before the 1st day of April of the year to which it relates.

(2) Where a renewal fee is not paid before the due date, the Registrar shall remove the name of the defaulter from the register:

Provided that a name so removed may be restored to the register on payment in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) On payment of the renewal fee, the Registrar shall in the prescribed manner endorse the certificate of registration accordingly.

40. Entry of additional qualifications.—A registered dentist shall on payment of the prescribed fee be entitled to have entered in the register any further recognised qualification which he may obtain.

41. Removal from register.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the Provincial Council may order that the name of any person shall be removed from any register where it is satisfied, after giving that person a reasonable opportunity of being heard and after such further inquiry, if any, as it may think fit, to make,—

(i) that his name has been entered in the register by error or on account of misrepresentation or suppression of a material fact, or

(ii) that he has been convicted of any offence or has been guilty of any infamous conduct in any professional respect, which in the opinion of the Provincial Council renders him unfit to be kept in the register.

(2) An order under sub-section (1) may direct that any person whose name is ordered to be removed from a register shall be ineligible for registration in the Province under this Act either permanently or for such period of years as may be specified.

(3) An order under sub-section (1) shall not take effect until the expiry of three months from the date thereof.

(4) A person aggrieved by an order under sub-section (1) may, within thirty days from the date thereof, appeal to the Provincial Government, and the order of the Provincial Government upon such appeal shall be final.

(5) A person whose name has been removed from the register under this section or under sub-section (2) of section 39 shall forthwith surrender his certificate of registration to the Registrar, and the name so removed shall be published in the official Gazette.

42. Restoration to register.—The Provincial Council may at any time, for reasons appearing to it sufficient and subject to the approval of the Provincial Government, order that upon payment of the prescribed fee the name of a person removed from a register shall be restored thereto.

43. Bar of jurisdiction.—No order refusing to enter a name in a register or removing a name from a register shall be called in question in any Court.

44. Issue of duplicate certificates.—Where it is shown to the satisfaction of the Registrar that a certificate of registration has been lost or destroyed, the Registrar may, on payment of the prescribed fee, issue a duplicate certificate in the prescribed form.

45. Printing of registers.—As soon as may be after the 1st day of April in each year, the Registrar shall cause to be printed copies of the registers as they stood on the said date and such copies shall be made available to persons applying therefor on payment of the prescribed charge, and shall be evidence that on the said date the persons whose names are entered therein were registered dentists, registered dental hygienists or registered dental mechanics, as the case may be.

46. Effect of registration.—(1) Any reference in any other law to a person recognised by law as a dentist shall be deemed to be a reference to a dentist registered under this Act.

(2) No certificate required by or under any other law from a dentist shall be valid unless the person signing it is registered as a dentist under this Act.

(3) After the expiry of two years from the commencement of this Act, a person who is not registered in Part A of the Provincial register of dentists shall not, except with the sanction of the Provincial Government, hold any appointment as dentist in any dispensary, hospital or other institution in the Province which is supported wholly or partially from public or local funds:

Provided that the provisions of this sub-section shall not apply to any such person who is holding such an appointment at the commencement of this Act.

(4) After the expiry of two years from the publication of a register of dental hygienists in a Province, no person whose name is not entered in that register shall hold appointment as dental hygienist in any dispensary, hospital or other institution in the Province which is supported wholly or partially from public or local funds.

([illegible]) Any person who is a registered dentist, registered dental hygienist or registered dental mechanic in a Province may practise as such in any other Province.

CHAPTER V.

MISCELLANEOUS.

47. Penalty for falsely claiming to be registered. If any person whose name is not for the time being entered in a register falsely represents that it is so entered, or uses in connection with his name or title any words or letters reasonably calculated to suggest that his name is so entered, he shall be punishable on first conviction with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and on any subsequent conviction with imprisonment which may extend to six months or with fine not exceeding one thousand rupees or with both.

48. Misuse of titles.—If any person,—

(a) not being a person registered in a register of dentists, takes or uses the description of dental practitioner, dental surgeon, surgeon dentist, or dentist, or

(b) not being a person whose name is entered on a register of dental hygienists, takes or uses in a Province where such register has been published, the title of dental hygienist, or

(c) not being a person whose name is entered on a register of dental mechanics, takes or uses in a Province where such register has been published, the title of dental mechanic, he shall be punishable on first conviction with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and on any subsequent conviction with imprisonment which may extend to six months or with fine not exceeding one thousand rupees or with both.

49. Practice by unregistered persons.—(1) After the expiry of two years from the commencement of this Act in the case of dentists, and in the Provinces where a register of dental hygienists or dental mechanics has been prepared under section 36 from such date as may be specified in this behalf by the Provincial Government by notification in the official Gazette, in the case of dental hygienists or dental mechanics, no person, other than a registered dentist, registered dental hygienist or registered dental mechanic, shall practise dentistry, or the art of scaling, cleaning or polishing teeth, or of making or repairing dentures and dental appliances, as the case may be, or indicate in any way that he is prepared to so practise:

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to—

(a) practice of dentistry by a registered medical practitioner;

(b) the extraction of a tooth by any person when the case is urgent and no registered dentist is available, so however that the operation is performed without the use of any general or local anæsthetic;

(c) the performance of dental work or radiographic work in any hospital or dispensary maintained or supported from public or local funds.

(2) If any person contravenes the provisions of sub-section (1), he shall be punishable on first conviction with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and on any subsequent conviction with imprisonment which may extend to six months or with fine not exceeding one thousand rupees or with both.

50. Failure to surrender certificate of registration.—If any person whose name has been removed from a register fails without sufficient cause forthwith to surrender his certificate of registration, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees per month of such failure and in the case of a continuing offence with an additional fine which may extend to two rupees per day after the first day during which the offence continues.

51. Companies not to engage in dentistry.—(1) Except as hereinafter provided, the profession of dentistry shall not be carried on by a company or other corporate body.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall not apply to—

(a) a company or other corporate body which carries on no business other than the profession of dentistry or some business ancillary to the profession of dentistry and of which the majority of the directors and all the operating staff are registered dentists;

(b) the carrying on of the profession of dentistry by employers who provide dental treatment for their employees by registered dentists otherwise than for profit;

(c) the carrying on of the profession of dentistry by any hospital or dispensary or institution for the training of dentists or dental hygienists or by any local authority or other body authorised or required by law to provide dental treatment:

Provided that any company or other corporate body carrying on the profession of dentistry at the date of the commencement of this Act may continue so to do until the expiry of three years from such date.

(3) If any person contravenes the provisions of sub-section (1), he shall be punishable with fine which may extend, on first conviction to five hundred rupees, or on any subsequent conviction with imprisonment which may extend to six months or with fine not exceeding one thousand rupees or with both.

52. Cognizance of offences.—No Court shall take cognizance of any offence punishable under this Act except upon complaint made by order of the Provincial Government or the Provincial Council.

53. Payment of part of fees to Council.—The Provincial Council shall before the end of June in each year pay to the Council a sum equivalent to one-fourth of the total fees realised by the Provincial Council under this Act during the period of twelve months ending on the 31st day of March of that year.

54. Appointment of Commission of Enquiry.—(1) Whenever it appears to the Central Government that the Council is not complying with any of the provisions of this Act, the Central Government may appoint a Commission of Enquiry consisting of three persons, two of whom shall be appointed by the Central Government, one being the Judge of a High Court, and one by the Council; and refer to it the matters on which the enquiry is to be made.

(2) The Commission shall proceed to enquire in a summary manner and report to the Central Government on the matters referred to it together with such remedies, if any, as the Commission may like to recommend.

(3) The Central Government may accept the report or remit the same to the Commission for modification or reconsideration.

(4) After the report is finally accepted, the Central Government may order the Council to adopt the remedies so recommended within such time as may be specified in the order and if the Council fails to comply within the time so specified, the Central Government may pass such order or take such action as may be necessary to give effect to the recommendations of the Commission.

(5) Whenever it appears to the Provincial Government that the Provincial Council is not complying with any of the provisions of this Act, the Provincial Government may likewise appoint a similar Commission of Enquiry in respect of the Provincial Council to make enquiry in like manner and pass such order or take such action as specified in sub-sections (3) and (4).

55. Power to make rules.—(1) The Provincial Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, make rules to carry out the purposes of Chapters III, IV and V.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for—

(a) the management of the property of the Provincial Council, and the maintenance and audit of its accounts;

(b) the manner in which elections under Chapter III shall be conducted;

(c) the summoning and holding of meetings of the Provincial Council, the times and places at which such meetings shall be held, the conduct of business thereat and the number of members necessary to form a quorum;

(d) the powers and duties of the President and Vice-President of the Provincial Council;

(e) the constitution and functions of the Executive Committee, the summoning and holding of meetings thereof, the times and places at which such meetings shall be held, the number of members necessary to constitute a quorum;

(f) the term of office and the powers and duties of the Registrar and other officers and servants of the Provincial Council, including the amount and nature of the security to be given by the Treasurer;

(g) the particulars to be stated, and the proof of qualifications to be given in applications for registration under this Act;

(h) the fees payable for registration and the charge for supplying copies of the registers;

(i) the form of certificates of registration and the manner of endorsement or renewal thereof;

(j) any other matter which is to be or may be prescribed under Chapters III, IV and V, except sub-sections (1), (2), (3) and (4) of section 54.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Ministry of Law.

New Delhi, the 12th April 1948.

The following Act of the Dominion Legislature received the assent of the Governor General on the 12th April 1948 and is hereby published for general information:—

ACT NO. XXIII OF 1948.

An Act to amend the Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1947.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1947 (XXX of 1947), for the purposes hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Short title.—This Act may be called the Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) (Amendment) Act, 1948.

2. Amendment of section 4, Act XXX of 1947.—After sub-section (2) of section 4 of the Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), the following sub-sections shall be added, namely:—

"(3) The Commission shall be appointed to act, in the first instance, up to the 31st day of March, 1950, but the Central Government may extend its term of appointment for any period up to the 31st day of March, 1951.

(4) The Central Government may appoint a Secretary to the Commission and such other staff as may be necessary."

3. Substitution of new section for section 5, Act XXX of 1947.—For section 5 of the said Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"(5) Power of Central Government to refer cases for investigation.—(1) The Central Government may at any time before the 30th day of June 1948 refer to the Commission for investigation and report any case or points in a case which the Central Government has prima facie reasons for believing that a person has to a substantial extent evaded payment of taxation on income, together with such material as may be available in support of such belief, and may at any time before the 30th day of June 1948 apply to the Commission for the withdrawal of any case or points in a case thus referred, and if the Commission approves of the withdrawal, no further proceedings shall thereafter be taken by or before the Commission in respect of the case or points so withdrawn.

(2) The Commission may, after examining the material submitted by the Central Government with reference to any case or points in a case and making such investigation as it considers necessary, report to the Central Government that in its opinion further investigation is not likely to reveal any substantial evasion of taxation on income and on such report being made the investigation shall be deemed to be closed.

(3) No reference made by the Central Government under sub-section (1), at any time before the 30th day of June, 1948, shall be called in question, nor shall the sufficiency of the material on which such a reference has been made be investigated in any manner by any Court.

(4) If in the course of investigation into any case or points in a case referred to it under sub-section (1), the Commission has reason to believe—

(a) that some person other than the person whose case is being investigated has evaded payment of taxation on income, or

(b) that some points other than those referred to it by the Central Government in respect of any case also require investigation, it may make a report to the Central Government stating its reasons for such belief and, on receipt of such report, the Central Government shall, notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), forthwith refer to the Commission for investigation the case of such other person or such additional points as may be indicated in that report."

4. Substitution of new section for section 6, Act XXX of 1947.—For section 6 of the said Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"6. Powers of Commission.—(1) The Commission shall have power to require any person to prepare and furnish by a specified date written statements of accounts and affairs verified on oath and, if so required, also duly certified by a qualified auditor, giving information on such points and matters as may be specified; and any person so required shall notwithstanding anything in any law to the contrary be bound to comply with the requirements of the Commission.

(2) The Commission shall also have power to administer oaths, and shall have all the powers of a civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (V of 1908), for the purposes of taking evidence on oath, enforcing the attendance of witnesses and of persons whose cases are being investigated, compelling the production of documents and issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses.

(3) If in the course of any investigation it appears to the Commission to be necessary to examine any accounts or documents or to interrogate any person or obtain any statements from any person, the Commission may authorise any income-tax authority not below the rank of an Income-tax Officer (hereinafter referred to as the "authorised official") in that behalf, subject to such directions as may be issued by the Commission from time to time, and the authorised official shall examine the accounts or documents, interrogate the person or obtain the statements from the person:

Provided that the authorised official shall in the discharge of his duties be entitled to employ such ministerial and subordinate executive staff as he may consider necessary.

(4) The authorised official shall subject to the direction of the Commission have the same powers as the Commission under sub-sections (1) and (2), and any person having charge or custody of accounts or documents required to be examined shall notwithstanding anything in any law to the contrary be bound to produce them to the authorised official and to give to such official any information in respect thereof which he may require; and any person interrogated by the authorised official or called upon by him to make or prepare a statement or furnish information shall notwithstanding anything in any law to the contrary be bound to comply with his directions and answer all questions relating to the case put to him by such official.

(5) If any person whose case or the points in whose case is or are being investigated by the Commission refuses or fails to attend in person in compliance with a notice in that behalf duly served upon him or to give any evidence or to answer questions or to produce documents or to prepare and furnish statements when called upon to do so, the Commission may, if satisfied that the refusal or failure was wilful, close the investigation of the case and proceed to draw up its report on the case or on the points to the best of its judgment and may in its discretion also direct that such sum as it may specify in the direction shall be recovered from the person by way of penalty for the refusal or failure, without prejudice to any penalty under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), and thereupon the sum so specified shall be recoverable as if the direction were given under sub-section (1) of section 46 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), by the Income-tax Officer having jurisdiction to assess the person.

(6) If in any proceedings before an authorised official any person whose case or the points in whose case is or are being investigated refuses or fails to attend in person or to produce or cause to be produced accounts or documents or to answer questions or to prepare statements or to furnish information when called upon to do so, the authorised official shall report such refusal or failure to the Commission, and thereupon the provisions of sub-section (5) shall apply as if the refusal or failure took place in the course of the investigation by the Commission itself.

(7) The Commission and, subject to the direction of the Commission, any authorised official may make such enquiries in such manner as it or he may deem fit and obtain statements on oath from any person who is considered likely to be in possession of any information or document relevant to the case or points in the case referred to the Commission or is in the opinion of the Commission likely to be reported by it to the Central Government for reference under the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 5; and for the purposes of these enquiries, the Commission and the authorised official shall have all the powers conferred on them by sub-sections (1), (2), (3) and (4).

(8) All materials gathered by the Commission or the authorised official and materials accompanying the reference under sub-section (1) of section 5 may be brought on record at such stage as the Commission may think fit.

(9) Subject to any rules made in this behalf under the Act any authorised official shall at all reasonable times have full and free access to all books, documents and other papers which in his opinion are relevant to the proceedings in any case or cases under this Act, and if specially authorised in this behalf by the Commission, to any buildings and places where he may have reason to believe that such books, documents or papers may be found; and he shall have power to place identification marks on such books, documents or papers and to make extracts or copies therefrom, or, if he considers it necessary, to take possession of or seize such books, documents or papers.

(10) The Commissioners and all authorised officials shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code (XLV of 1860), and the Commission shall be deemed to be a civil Court for the purposes of section 195 and Chapter XXXV of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (V of 1898), references in the said Chapter to the presiding officer of a Court being deemed to include the Chairman of the Commission."

5. Substitution of new section for section 7, Act XXX of 1947.—For section 7 of the said Act, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"7. Procedure of Commission.—(1) The Commission shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, have power to regulate its own procedure (including the fixing of places and times of its sittings and deciding whether to sit in public or in private) and may act notwithstanding a vacancy in the number of the Commissioners; and the powers of the Commission under sub-sections (1), (2), (3), (7) and (8) of section 6 and sub-sections (2), (4) and (6) of this section may be exercised by any member thereof authorised by the Commission in this behalf.

(2) In making an investigation under clause (b) of section 3, the Commission shall act in accordance with the principles of natural justice, shall follow as far as practicable the principles of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (I of 1872), and shall give the person whose case is being investigated a reasonable opportunity of rebutting any evidence adduced against him; and the power of the Commission to compel production of documents shall not be subject to the limitation imposed by section 130 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (I of 1872), and the Commission shall be deemed to be a court and its proceedings legal proceedings for the purpose of sections 5 and 6 of the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1891 (XVIII of 1891).

(3) Any person whose case is being investigated by the Commission may be represented by a pleader, a registered accountant or an employee duly authorised to act on his behalf, provided that no person shall be entitled to be present or to be represented in the course of an enquiry under sub-sections (3) and (7) of section 6.

(4) No person shall be entitled to inspect, call for, or obtain copies of, any documents, statement or papers or materials furnished to, obtained by or produced before the Commission or any authorised official in any proceedings under this Act; but the Commission, and after the Commission has ceased to exist such authority as the Central Government may in this behalf appoint, may, in its discretion, allow such inspection and furnish such copies to any person:

Provided that, for the purpose of enabling the person whose case or points in whose case is or are being investigated to rebut any evidence brought on the record against him, he shall, on application made in this behalf and on payment of such fees as may be prescribed by Rules made under this Act, be furnished with certified copies of documents, statements, papers and materials brought on the record by the Commission.

(5) Save in cases in which the Commission may exercise its powers under section 195 and Chapter XXXV of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (V of 1898),—

(a) no suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall be instituted against any person in any civil or criminal Court for any evidence given or produced by him in any proceedings before the Commission, and

(b) no evidence so given or produced shall be admissible in evidence against such person in any suit, prosecution or other proceeding before such Court, except with the previous sanction of the Central Government.

(6) In any proceedings under this Act, the Commission may, in its discretion, admit in evidence and act upon any document notwithstanding that it is not duly stamped or registered.

(7) Nothing in sub-section (1) of section 54 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), or of that section as applied to excess profits tax by section 21 of the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940 (XV of 1940), shall apply to the disclosure of any of the particulars referred to therein in any proceeding before the Commission or in any report made by the Commission to the Central Government or in any report made to the Commission by an authorised official."

6. Substitution of new section for section 8, Act XXX of 1947.—For section 8 of the said Act, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"8. Power to direct re-opening of assessment proceedings.—(1) Save as otherwise provided in this Act, the materials brought on record shall be considered by all the three members of the Commission sitting together and the report of the Commission shall be in accordance with the opinion of the majority.

(2) After considering the report, the Central Government shall by order in writing direct that such proceedings as it thinks fit under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940 (XV of 1940), or any other law, shall be taken against the person to whose case the report relates in respect of the income of any period commencing after the 31st day of December, 1938; and, upon such a direction being given, such proceedings may be taken and completed under the appropriate law notwithstanding the restrictions contained in section 34 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), or section 15 of the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940 (XV of 1940), or any other law and notwithstanding any lapse of time or any decision to a different effect given in the case by any Income-tax authority or Income-tax Appellate Tribunal.

(3) On a direction being given under sub-section (2), and not otherwise, a copy of the report of the Commission, so far as it relates to the case of the person concerned, shall be furnished to him.

(4) In all assessment or reassessment proceedings taken in pursuance of a direction under subsection (2), the findings recorded by the Commission on the case or on the points referred to it shall, subject to the provisions of sub-sections (5) and (6), be final; but no proceedings taken in pursuance of such direction shall be a bar to the initiation of proceedings under section 34 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922).

(5) In respect of any order made in the course of proceedings taken in pursuance of a direction issued under sub-section (2), the provisions of sections 30, 31, 33 and 33A of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), and the corresponding provisions of the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940 (XV of 1940), shall not apply so far as matters declared final by sub-section (4) are concerned; but the person concerned may, within 60 days of the date upon which he is served with a copy of such order, by application in the prescribed form accompanied by a fee of Rs. 100, require the appropriate Commissioner of Income-tax to refer to the High Court any question of law arising out of such order, and thereupon the provisions of sections 66 and 66A of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), shall as far as may be apply, with the modification that the reference shall be heard by a Bench of not less than three Judges of the High Court.

(6) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section, the Commission shall have power, either of its own motion or on the application of the person concerned or of the Central Government, to correct clerical or arithmetical mistakes in its report or errors therein arising from any accidental slip or omission; and after the Commission has ceased to exist, the Commissioner of Income-tax having jurisdiction over the case may exercise the powers conferred upon him by section 35 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), as if the Commission's report was an order passed by him.

(7) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Act or in any other law, for the time being in force, any evidence in the case admitted before the Commission or an authorised official shall be admissible in evidence in any proceedings directed to be taken under sub-section (2).

(8) Save as otherwise provided in this Act, the provisions of section 54 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (XI of 1922), shall apply to all statements, returns, accounts, documents, evidence, affidavits, depositions or record made, given, produced or obtained in connection with or in the course of the proceedings of the Commission or of any authorised official."

7. Amendment of section 9, Act XXX of 1947.—In section 9 of the said Act, for the words, figures and brackets, "any person authorised by it under sub-section (2) of section 6", substitute "any authorised official."

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE JUTE CROP OF WEST BENGAL FOR 1948.

The Preliminary Forecast deals with the area and the condition of the crop in the early part of the jute-growing season. The estimate of out-turn is shown in the Final Forecast. With the coming into force of the Bengal Jute Regulations (West Bengal Amendment) Act, 1948, every cultivator has been permitted to grow jute without having to take any license in any waste lands or any lands in which no crops have been grown during the jute season in any of the previous three years. The areas shown in columns (5) and (6) give the total area on which jute has been actually found to have been grown this year (i) out of licensed area and (ii) on extra area as permitted under section 17A, Bengal Jute Regulations (West Bengal Amendment) Act, 1948, referred to above.

Area in 1948.—In West Bengal (excluding the States of Cooch Behar and Tripura) the total licensed area comes to 309,330 acres, of which 255,685 acres have been found to be under jute this year. An extra area of 49,850 acres is estimated to have been sown with jute this year under section 17A of Bengal Jute Regulations (West Bengal Amendment) Act, 1948. The total area under jute is thus estimated at 305,535 acres as against 228,985 acres of the Final Forecast last year.

The season.—This year there was timely rainfall for preparatory tillage and sowing in almost all the districts. The weather was on the whole favourable at the time of sowing. In the district of Jalpaiguri, however, heavy and continuous rains fell in the early part of the season destroying the crop considerably and, at places, made the sowing of jute impossible. Drought prevailed in Malda, adversely affecting the crop thereby and, to some extent, in Howrah also. Slight damage to the crop as a result of heavy rains has been reported from West Dinajpur. Early-sown Olitorious variety has suffered slightly in the district of the 24-Parganas and Ranaghat subdivision of Nadia. The present condition of the crop is fair except in the district of Jalpaiguri.

Stock.—The stock in hand of the cultivators is reported to be small.

M. M. BASU,

Director of Agriculture, West Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BIHAR

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE JUTE CROP OF BIHAR, 1948.

[NOTE.—On an average of five years ending 1944-45, the area under jute in Bihar to which this Forecast relates has represented some 7·0 per cent. of the total area under jute in India.]

The present Forecast deals only with the estimated area sown. It gives also a general survey of prospects but makes no reference to the probable outturn either in percentage figures or in bales.

2. Acreage.—I estimate the area sown during the current and four preceding years in round numbers as follows:—

Year.	Acres.
1944	162,900
1945	158,900
1946	144,900
1947	143,500
1948	163,800

3. Weather conditions.—In March light rain fell in parts of all the jute-growing districts of the Province except Muzaffarpur and Saharsa where there was no rain. The fall was below the normal everywhere. In April, rain fell in parts of all the jute-growing districts of the Province. The fall was below the normal everywhere except Darbhanga and Purnea where it was slightly above the normal. In May, rain fell in all the jute-growing districts of the Province; the fall was below the normal everywhere except in Champaran, Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga.

4. District return.—Last year's area under jute was finally estimated at 143,500 acres. The total area under jute this year is estimated by the District Officer at 163,800 acres. The increase in area is mainly due to high prices of jute and propaganda by the department to increase the area under jute crop.

5. Conditions and prospects.—The present condition of the crop is good so far.

6. General.—The quantity of jute, which remains in the Province from the crop of 1947, is reported to be little in the district of the Santal Parganas and the important jute-growing district of Purnea.

The statement below compares the estimated area under jute in this Province this year with the preliminary and final figures of last year—

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND FOOD PRODUCTION, ORISSA

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF JUTE CROP OF ORISSA FOR 1948-49.

[NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1944-45 the area under jute in the territory to which this forecast relates has represented about 0·8 per cent. of the total area under jute in India.]

Explanatory.—The present forecast deals only with the estimates of area sown and condition of the crop up to the 1st week of June, 1948. It makes no reference to the probable outturn either in percentage figures or in bales.

Acreage.—The total area sown is estimated at 22,500 acres against 21,500 acres in the final forecast of the preceding year.

Character of the season and condition of the crop.—The weather was favourable for the crop in the district of Balasore and not favourable in other jute-growing districts. The condition of the crop was on the whole fair.

The statement below compares the estimated area under jute this year with preliminary and final figures of the last year:—

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, ASSAM

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE JUTE CROP OF ASSAM, 1948.

[NOTE.—On the average of the five years ending 1944-45 the area under jute in Assam represents some 8·8 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.]

1. Season.—The weather at the sowing time was generally favourable for early sowings except in the district of Cachar. But the excessive rainfall during May and June interfered with late sowings and inter-culture, hampering the growth of the crop and damaging the crop in low-lying areas in most of the districts. The present condition of the crop is reported to be retarded.

2. Area sown.—The total area under jute, as estimated by the Deputy Commissioners, is 210,300 acres against last year's final forecast area of 202,600 acres. The increase in area occurred in the districts of Nowgong and Garo Hills only and it is mainly due to rise in price of jute.

3. Stock.—According to the reports of the Deputy Commissioners little jute remained in stock from last year's crop in the districts.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 374Lab., dated 11th February 1948, an industrial dispute between the Corporation of Calcutta and their workmen represented by various Unions was referred to this Joint Tribunal for adjudication. In the original Government order, five unions of Corporation employees were named, viz.—

(1) The Calcutta Corporation Employees' Association.
(2) The Calcutta Corporation Workers' Union.
(3) The Calcutta Corporation Teachers' Union.
(4) The Calcutta Corporation Scavengers' and Labourers' Union.
(5) The Calcutta Corporation Workers' Federation.

By Government order No. 633Lab., dated the 3rd March 1948, the Government authorised the Tribunal to permit other registered Trade Unions of the Corporation employees to appear before the Tribunal and represent the workmen. Three more Unions were permitted, on their application, to represent the workmen before this Tribunal. They are:—

(6) The Calcutta Corporation Clerks' Union.
(7) The Calcutta Corporation Collection Department Employees' Union.
(8) The Calcutta Corporation Jamadars', Peons' and Workers' Union.

These 8 registered Trade Unions filed their written statements containing their demands. The Calcutta Corporation also filed its written statement in reply. Before the written statement was filed by the Corporation, the Calcutta Corporation was superseded by an order of the Government and administration of the Corporation vested in an Administrator appointed by the Government of West Bengal, but this change did not interfere with the proceedings before this Tribunal. The written statements on behalf of the Calcutta Corporation were filed on 3rd April 1948 and issues were framed after perusing the written statements and on hearing the parties on 24th April 1948. The hearing of the case opened on 10th May 1948 and was concluded after 12 sittings on 8th June 1948.

(13) Compensation for victims of Calcutta communal riots.

DECISION.

Issue No. I.

Before dealing with the demands of the Unions as regards basic pay and scales of pay for the various categories of employees, it is desirable that the circumstances leading to the present adjudication should be briefly stated:

Before the last World War, the unskilled labour staff including sweepers and scavengers used to receive Rs. 13 as pay, plus Rs. 2 as grain compensation. Before World War I, the basic pay of the labour staff was only Rs. 8 per month. Due to the high prices caused by World War No. I, the basic pay was raised to Rs. 13 and Rs. 2 was granted as grain compensation. This adjustment was made about 1922 when the cost of living index was about 173 on the basis of 1914=100. Though prices steadily fell from 1922 to 1935 when the cost of living index was 96, the grain compensation was not abolished. On the basis of 1914 the cost of living index in 1939 just before World War II started was 105. For present calculations the prices in 1939 are taken as standard (=100). In December 1942 when prices were rising, the associations of the employees pressed their demands for a dearness allowance and at the intervention of Mr. Hughes, the then Labour Commissioner, Government of Bengal, it was decided that the Corporation employees would get dearness allowance on the same scale as the Government servants, the Government agreeing to bear 80 per cent. of the cost of dearness allowance. The associations of employees were not satisfied with the dearness allowance so granted and pressed for a rise in the basic wages. Notices of demands from several Unions were received by the Corporation on 11th November 1945. The Corporation appointed a Special Committee for examining the demands. The Special Committee submitted an interim report which was approved by the Corporation on 22nd November 1945, but the resolution of the Corporation of 22nd November 1945 was not accepted by the employees who went on strike from 23rd November 1945. This strike lasted for five days. On the 27th November 1945 a settlement was signed by the then Mayor and some labour leaders and councillors and the strike was called off and the Corporation began to function normally from the morning of 28th November 1945. The Corporation passed a resolution on the 28th November 1945 accepting the terms of settlement. The terms of that settlement are contained in Appendix VI of the written statement filed by the Corporation. According to that settlement, all employees of the Corporation drawing pay up to Rs. 100 per month were given a flat increment of Rs. 3 from the 1st December 1945, it being understood that the grades of all the employees would be revised and the flat increment absorbed in grade increments. Further, it was agreed that all unskilled labour who had put in one year's service would be given 15 days' sick and casual leave on full pay and the unskilled labour staff would also get the benefit of the Provident Fund. The Special Committee made its report as to the revision of grades and the Corporation by a resolution adopted on the 15th March 1946, sanctioned revised scales of pay for all employees and also gave one grade increment to all employees not drawing above Rs 300 per month, who had not received the flat increment of Rs. 3. The revised scales of pay and the special increments were given effect to from 1st April 1946. The revised scales of pay and the special increments involved the Corporation in an annual recurring extra cost of about Rs. 17 lakhs.

Some omissions and anomalies were detected in the report of the Special Committee; and accordingly another Special Committee, known as the Grades Reconciliation and Rules Advisory Special Committee, was appointed by the Corporation to remove the omissions and anomalies. Before submitting its final report the Committee recommended a temporary special increase in pay on a graduated scale with effect from 1st August 1946 to all the employees drawing up to Rs. 300 per month. The recommendation of the interim increase was made because in the meantime prices were rising beyond the level reached at the time of the strike in November 1945, and it was necessary to make some extra payments to keep the employees satisfied. The Corporation by a resolution, dated 14th August 1946, accepted the Committee's recommendation for a temporary increase on a graduated scale, although it involved the Corporation in an additional recurring cost of Rs. 14 lakhs per year. The special temporary increase was given at the following scale:—

Rs. 3 for pay range not exceeding Rs. 20.

Rs. 5 for pay range exceeding Rs. 20 but not exceeding Rs. 50.

Rs. 10 for pay range exceeding Rs. 50 but not exceeding Rs. 100.

Rs. 15 for pay range exceeding Rs. 100 but not exceeding Rs. 200.

Rs. 20 for pay range exceeding Rs. 200 but not exceeding Rs. 300.

Marginal adjustment for pay range exceeding Rs. 300 but not exceeding Rs. 320.

The Calcutta Corporation Workers' Union on 18th December 1946 submitted a fresh set of demands with a notice of strike from 2nd January 1947. The Corporation referred these demands to the Special Committee with the direction to submit its report by 31st January 1947, and in the meantime induced the Workers' Union to postpone the strike till 31st January 1947. The Special Committee examined the demands carefully and revised the basic wages of the labour staff and menials. By the terms of settlement signed on 27th November 1945 to end the strike of the Corporation employees, the pay of the labour staff had been increased temporarily from Rs. 15 to Rs. 18 per month. By the recommendation of the Special Committee accepted by the Corporation on the 15th March 1946, the labour staff got a graduated pay of Rs. 18—1—20. The Grades Reconciliation and Rules Advisory Committee, to which the demands of 18th December 1946 were referred, increased the basic wages of the unskilled labour staff by another Rs. 3 and fixed the scale, Rs. 21—1—23 per month, for them. For the skilled labour staff, the minimum was fixed at Rs. 25 and various scales were fixed for different categories of skilled workers. These recommendations of the Special Committee are contained in Appendix XI of the written statement of the Corporation. The Corporation accepted the recommendations of the Committee by a resolution, dated 30th January 1947, although the extra cost involved amounted to Rs. 5½ lakhs. It would appear that temporarily the workers were satisfied, because there was no strike on 31st January 1947. The Special Committee then began to examine the case of the other employees drawing pay up to Rs. 300 per month. But before the Committee could finish its labour, a fresh memorandum of demands was submitted on 17th November 1947.

This memorandum signed by 17 Unions and Associations of Corporation employees forms the starting point of the present dispute On the 22nd November 1947, the Corporation employees held a meeting under the auspices of the Joint Committee of the 17 Unions and Associations and passed a resolution requesting the Government of West Bengal to ask the Corporation authorities to settle their demands within seven days under threat of direct action. The Hon'ble Minister in charge of Commerce, Labour and Industries then met both parties, and at the conference, the Corporation agreed to the suggestion that the dispute should be referred to adjudication by a Tribunal. The dispute was then referred to this Tribunal by the Government Order No. 374, dated 11th February 1948.

The memorandum of demands by 17 Unions and Associations of the Corporation Employees, dated the 17th November 1947, is contained in Appendix I of the written statement of the Corporation. So far as the basic scales of pay and dearness allowance are concerned, the demands of the Joint Committee are based more or less on the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission. In their written statements filed before this Tribunal, however, the Unions and Associations have generally gone much further than the joint demands by the 17 Unions. The Corporation has, raised the point that the joint demands by the 17 Unions and Associations being the basis of the present reference, the Tribunal should confine its attention to the claims made in the joint memorandum of demands and should not consider the enhanced claims made in the written statements filed before the Tribunal. We must accept the contention of the Corporation and we do not propose to go beyond the claims contained in the original. memorandum of demands which forms the starting point of the present reference, though we shall refer also to the claims now made by the various Unions before us.

The Corporation has also raised the point of financial difficulties. In Appendix XIII of its written statement the Corporation has given an account of the annual extra recurring cost on account of the increase in pay and other amenities granted to the employees of the Corporation drawing up to Rs. 300 per month between 27th November 1945 and 30th January 1947. The annual recurring additional expenditure on account of these concessions amounts to Rs. 54,49,000. The Corporation has produced its budget for 1948-49 and the Deputy Chief Accountant of the Corporation has filed a summary of the establishment charges on the basis of the provisions made in the said Budget and has also prepared and submitted an abstract of the normal recurring receipts and normal recurring expenditure of the Corporation. The normal recurring receipts are Rs. 3,82,01,000 while the normal recurring expenditure is Rs. 4,32,59,000. Thus there is an uncovered annual deficit of Rs. 50,58,000. The establishment charges come up to Rs. 2,12,60,690, which is 55·6 per cent of the normal recurring receipts and 46·9 per cent. of the normal recurring expenditure. Roughly therefore the establishment charges alone cover half the normal expenditure of the Corporation. Further, the Corporation in its written statement agreed to pay dearness allowance to its employees on the same scales as are paid to employees of the West Bengal Government. Prior to 1st April 1948, the dearness allowance granted to the employees of the West Bengal Government was Rs. 20 per month for menials and 17½ per cent. of the pay subject to a minimum of Rs. 22 per month for the clerical staff. The Government of West Bengal by Finance Department Circular No. 714F-/2A-2/48, dated 10th April 1948, has increased the scale of dearness allowance for Government Employees with effect from 1st April 1948. The scale of dearness allowance has been increased to the standard scale recommended by the Central Pay Commission. The minimum dearness allowance under that scheme is Rs. 25 for pay range up to Rs. 50 and Rs. 35 for pay range above Rs. 50 but not above Rs. 100. This scale of dearness allowance which is to be adopted by the Corporation will involve the Corporation in a further recurring expenditure of Rs. 26,40,000. The case of the Corporation generally is that the Corporation is unable to raise the wage structure any further for there are other heads of essential expenditure that the Corporation must undertake, viz., construction and maintenance of roads, waterworks, the sewerage system, Corporation Schools, dispensaries and hospitals and so on; and that if the Corporation has no money left for these heads of expenditure, after paying the employees, the Corporation might as well not exist. It has been mentioned before us that the Corporation has many outstanding bills for big amounts for essential supplies like coal, stone chips, etc., and that owing to lack of fund, the Corporation is unable to pay the bills with the result that the continuance of supply of these essential materials has been jeopardised. It is, therefore, necessary that the Corporation must reserve a large portion of its revenues for incurring these heads of necessary expenditure.

As regards labour staff and menial staff, in particular, the case of the Corporation is that the pay scales of these categories of employees have been twice revised—once with effect from 1st April 1946 and again on 30th January 1947—and that at the time of the second revision of the scales of pay, the basic wages of the labour staff and the menials were fixed according to the cost of living index prevailing at the time. It was then resolved to meet future variations in the cost of living index by increasing or decreasing the rate of dearness allowance which would be paid at the Government scale, and no consideration was paid to the financial capacity of the Corporation to bear the extra cost. (Paragraph 7 of the Corporation written statement.) Accordingly the Corporation has strongly opposed further revision of the basic wages of the labour staff and menials by this Tribunal.

As regards other categories of employees the Corporation has submitted that the second revision was being done when the memorandum of demands of the 17 Unions was received and so the revision could not be completed and given effect to and that as such there is some scope for revising the scales of pay for these categories of employees, but it has been urged that three points should be kept in view in fixing the revised scales of pay for these employees, viz.,—

(1) Qualifications for the post as prescribed by the Corporation Resolution of 9th January 1948.

(2) Nature of duty and degree of responsibility of the post.

(3) Financial position of the Corporation.

The Unions have urged that the financial position of the Corporation should not be taken into consideration and that fair scales of pay should be fixed on the basis that no category of employee should have less than a living wage, by which is meant a scale of pay sufficient to maintain the particular category of employee at the standard of living to which it is accustomed.

We are of opinion that the financial condition of the Corporation must be taken into consideration. At the same time the principle enunciated by the Central Pay Commission, viz., that no one should be paid less than a living wage must be kept in view. Our award, we are afraid, will increase the uncovered annual deficit in the budget of the Corporation. We cannot help this. The only remedy is that the Corporation must find some means of increasing its annual revenues. The consolidated rates of Corporation tax have duly been brought up to 21½ per cent. of the annual value of the holdings, and though the maximum statutory limit is 23 per cent. we do not think that a further increase in the rates of the tax could be justified. Proper assessment and realisation of the tax may be expected to raise the revenue. It is hoped that the labours of the Corporation Investigation Commission will improve the position in this respect. But additional sources of revenue have to be found, and we would recommend strongly that the Government of West Bengal should favourably consider the suggestions made by the Corporation in Appendix XVI of its written statement for increasing its revenues, namely, that the Corporation should be allocated a share of (i) Amusement Tax, (ii) Electricity Duty Tax, (iii) Sales Tax, (iv) Betting and Totalisator Tax, and (v) a higher share of the Motor Vehicles Tax realised within the Calcutta Municipal area, and that it should be permitted to levy some additional taxes, namely, (i) Town Duty, (ii) Petroleum Tax, (iii) Passenger Tax, (v) Tax on Fire Insurance Companies. We may point out that if the Corporation should be unable to run its administration on its revenues, the Government will be ultimately forced to take over the administration of Calcutta as a district, and that in that case, the Government would have to meet the higher expenditure caused by bringing up the wages and salaries up to the level recommended by the Central Pay Commission, or at least up to the level at which wages of the Government servants of the similar working categories have been fixed.

We now proceed to deal with the minimum basic pay and scales of pay for the different categories:

(a) Unskilled Labour.—There are roughly about 15,000 unskilled labour staff under the Calcutta Corporation. There are at present two scales of pay for unskilled labour, viz., Rs. 21—1—23, and Rs. 23—1—25. The standard grade is Rs. 21—1—23 and the large majority of the labour staff are in that grade. Workers such as Pointsman, Flagman, Stone-weigher, Asphalt weigher have been put in the upper category of unskilled labour staff in the grade Rs. 23—1—25. A list of posts put in this grade is given in Part III of Schedule I of Appendix XI. Several categories of workers, many of whom may be described as unskilled, have been promoted to the grade known as Clerical and Subordinate in the scale Rs. 25—1—30 or Rs. 25—1—35. Lists of posts now termed as clerical and subordinate are given in Appendix XI, Schedule 1, Part I, and Schedule I, Part II. There is also a class of boy coolies, e.g., gully-pit boy, bhisti, boy cooly, pit-boy, who are put in the scale Rs. 16—1—18. These posts are described in Schedule I, Part III, items 1-5 and Schedule I, Part IV, items 1 and 2 of Appendix XI.

The Labour Unions have demanded that the boy coolies like the gully-pit boys should be put in the scale Rs. 30—1—40 for they perform an essential but dangerous duty and it is necessary that they should be properly paid. For the main grade of unskilled labour, most of the Unions have demanded the minimum pay of Rs. 40 in the scale Rs. 40—1—50. For the upper grade of unskilled labour, the Unions have generally demanded the basic pay of Rs. 45, in the scale of Rs. 45—1—55. Some of the Unions have made slightly different demands, for instance, the Scavengers and Labour Union has demanded that the minimum pay including dearness allowance should be Rs. 75, in the scale Rs. 75—2—100. The other Unions demand dearness allowance in addition to the basic pay. Usually they have claimed a minimum dearness allowance of Rs. 45 per month. Thus in respect of the demands presented before the Tribunal, the Scavengers and Labour Union has been slightly more moderate than the other Unions.

In the joint memorandum of demands by the 17 Unions, the minimum basic pay demanded for the unskilled labour staff was Rs. 30 in the scale Rs. 30—1—35. We have already said that we are not prepared to go beyond the claims contained in the memorandum of demands presented by the 17 Unions, for that memorandum forms the starting point of the present dispute. Thus we cannot go beyond Rs. 30 per month in fixing the basic wage.

The Corporation has urged that the Grades Reconciliation and Rules Advisory Committee fixed the present minimum pay, viz., Rs. 21 in the grade Rs. 21—1—23, after fully considering the cost of living index and that there is no reason to revise the minimum basic wage and scales of pay for the unskilled labour thus fixed. It is pointed out that in addition to the cash basic pay and dearness allowance, the labour staff receive other amenities, for instance, food-grains at a concession rate. The Corporation has filed a statement showing that the money value of the concession enjoyed by the labour staff drawing pay up to Rs. 35 per month in the shape of rations drawn at subsidised rates from the Corporation Food Stores, is Rs. 3-8-6 per month. Further all members of the labour staff not provided with accommodation by the Corporation have been allowed a house rent allowance at the rate of Re. 1-8 per month. In some cases the Corporation has provided free quarters to members of the labour staff, e.g., in gowkhanas, mehtar barracks, etc. Some of the labour staff have been given accommodation in requisitioned houses for which the rent paid by the Corporation per head of labour staff housed in them is Rs. 2-8 per month, but the Corporation charges only Re. 1 per head and thus pays in effect a house rent allowance of Re. 1-8 per month. Thus the money value of the cheap food concession and house accommodation or house rent allowance come to Rs. 5 per month for every member of the labour staff. Adding this to the minimum wage of Rs. 21, and the dearness allowance Rs. 20, the total emoluments come to Rs. 46 per month, which is more than three times the total emolument of Rs. 15 per month fixed in 1922, when the cost of living index was 173 on the base of 1914=100, or about 105 on the base of 1939=100. It is therefore urged that even if the cost of living index is now about 340, the rise of the total emoluments from Rs. 15 to Rs. 46 is a rise more than in proportion to the rise in the cost of living index and hence there is no reason to fix the minimum emoluments at a higher figure. It is also urged that till 1942, Rs. 15 per month was regarded by everybody including the labour staff as a fair remuneration, i.e., a living wage, and that therefore Rs. 46 per month at the present time must also be a living wage. We must point out, however, that people in India as elsewhere have been influenced by the trend towards socialism; that higher wages received by workers during the war years accentuated the trend and created a changed outlook; and that working classes which were content with a low standard of living in the past show an intolerance of the old standards and desire to improve their standard of living. The change in the political structure of the country has further strengthened the demand for better living conditions and higher wages. We accept the recommendation of the Central Pay Commission that Rs. 30 per month should be the minimum basic wage paid to the unskilled labour and we think that any rate of payment to the adult worker below this minimum basic wage would not be a living wage in the changed conditions of today. The revised scale of pay adopted by the Corporation for the labour staff, viz., Rs. 21—1—23 plus Rs. 5 as the value of the food concession and the house accommodation or house rent allowance falls short of the minimum basic wage of Rs. 30 per month and we, therefore, consider it necessary to increase the minimum basic wage of the labour staff. In view of the money value of the food concession and the house rent allowance, we fix Rs. 25 per month as the minimum basic wage of the unskilled labour. The Central Pay Commission recommended the scale of Rs. 30—½—35 for the unskilled worker. The Corporation has, however, introduced the system of granting annual increments of Re. 1; and in the case of the menial staff also, the scales fixed by the Corporation are Rs. 25—1—30 or Rs. 30—1—35 and not Rs. 25—½—30 or Rs. 30—½—35. Accordingly we maintain the annual increment of Re. 1 and fix the grade of Rs. 25—1—30 as the standard grade of the unskilled labour staff.

The upper grade of the unskilled labour staff has been Rs. 2 higher than the standard grade of unskilled labour staff. Accordingly for higher grade of unskilled labour, we fix the scale Rs. 27—1—32.

For the gully-pit boys and other boys, we are of opinion that the wages paid together with the dearness allowacne are quite sufficient. We understand that gully-pit boys start work from the age of 12 and when they reach the age of 18, they are absorbed as Trench Coolies or Silt Clearance Coolies. Boys of 12—18 have no families to maintain and for them the three unit family standard does not apply. At the new scale of dearness allowance adopted by the West Bengal Government and which we propose to adopt, the gully-pit boys will also get a monthly dearness allowance of Rs. 25, in addition they get the food concession and house rent allowance; thus their total remuneration comes to Rs. 48 per month. This is more than sufficient, even taking into consideration the fact that boys are engaged in essential but dangerous duty. Thus the scale of pay for the boy workers is kept at Rs. 16—1—18.

(b) Skilled Labour.

The Corporation has no class known as semi-skilled. The workers otherwise known as semi-skilled are included in the skilled category. The minimum basic pay fixed for this class by the Corporation after the second revision is Rs. 25 per month. The different scales of pay adopted as the result of the second revision made on 30th January 1947, are shown in Appendix XI, Schedule II of the Corporation's written statement. It appears that there are altogether 24 scales of pay for the skilled labour staff. These 24 scales are as follows:—

(1) Rs. 25—1—30—Oiler and Cleaner, Greaser, Excavator, Tapman, Hammerman, Boilerman, Coupler, Nursery Mali, Boiler Cooly, Coal Trimmer, etc.

(2) Rs. 25—1—30—1—35—Muchi, Gharami, Turncock, etc.

(3) Rs. 25—1—35—1—40—Head Nursery Mali, etc.

(4) Rs. 25—1—30—2—40—Silt Jointer, etc.

(5) Rs. 25—2—35—2—45—Wheel Maker, etc.

(6) Rs. 30—1—35—1—40—Brick Layer, (Junior), Blacksmith (Junior), Rivetter, etc.

(7) Rs. 30—1—40—2—50—Fireman, Assistant Electric Mistri, Painter, etc.

(8) Rs. 30—2—40—2—50—Engine-room Attendant, Tindel and Bribeman, Fireman, Junior Mistri, Blacksmiths, etc.

(9) Rs. 35—1—40—1—45—Chlorine Khalasi, Sounding Khalasi Serang

(10) Rs. 35—1—40—2—50—Silt Fitter, Low Tension Pump Attendant, Silt Drivers, Gauge Readers, etc.

(11) Rs. 35—2—45—3—60—Fitter, Leading Fireman, High Tension Pump Attendant, Driving Khalasi, Viceman, Turner, etc.

(12) Rs. 40—2—50—2—60—Bricklayer, Junior Electric Mistry, Night Mistri, Lime Mistry, Blacksmith, etc.

(13) Rs. 45—2—55—3—70—Tindel, etc.

(14) Rs. 45—3—60—4—80—Electric Moulder, etc.

(15) Rs. 50—2—60—3—75—Assistant Mechanic, etc.

(16) Rs. 50—2—60—4—80—Electric Mistry, Chlorine Mistry, Plumbing Mistri, etc.

(17) Rs. 50—3—65—3—80—Pattern Maker, etc.

(18) Rs. 60—3—75—3—90—Mechanic.

(19) Rs. 60—4—80—5—100—Steam-roller Driver.

(20) Rs. 65—3—80—4—100—Tubewell Inspecting Mistry, Mill Wright Mistry.

(21) Rs. 65—3—80—4—100—5—110—Craftsman.

(22) Rs. 80—4—100—China Carpenter.

(23) Rs. 80—4—100—5—110—High Tension Mistry, Turbine Mechanic.

(24) Rs. 100—5—125—Head Mistry.

For the skilled categories including the semi-skilled workers, we fix a minimum pay of Rs. 35 per month. We direct that cheap food concession should not be given to the skilled workers as their minimum starting pay is being fixed at Rs. 35.

The Unions have suggested that there should be six scales of pay for the skilled labour staff instead of 24 scales of pay as at present. They have, during the hearing of the case by the Tribunal, suggested the following scales of pay:—

(1) Rs. 50—2—70.

(2) Rs. 55—3—85.

(3) Rs. 60—4—100.

(4) Rs. 65—3—80—4—100—115.

(5) Rs. 70—3—85—5—105—10—125.

(6) Rs. 90—10—230.

The Unions have also suggested the classification of the skilled workmen into the six grades. This classification has been criticised by the Chief Engineer of the Corporation as arbitrary. The Chief Engineer has stated that the present grades were fixed by him after consulting some of the Union Leaders and after considering carefully the nature of the duties of each category and he has urged that the existing grades made by the Corporation should not be disturbed.

In the memorandum of joint demands, the Unions suggested lower scales of pay for the semi-skilled and skilled workers. Five scales were suggested therein, viz.—

(1) Rs. 35—1—55.

(2) Rs. 40—3—70.

(3) Rs. 50—3—65—4—85—5—105.

(4) Rs. 55—3—70—5—95—10—165.

(5) Rs. 80—5—135—8—175.

We consider that these scales also are somewhat too high in view of the nature of duties of the various classes of skilled workmen. The existing 24 scales appear to be fair on the whole and we propose to retain them with some changes, viz., increasing the minimum basic pay to Rs. 35 per month and giving increments of pay to some of the grades in order to achieve a consistent set of scales. For the higher scales from Rs. 60 we consider that no increase in the basic pay is necessary, specially as, by adoption of the revised scales of dearness allowance, the workmen drawing higher salaries will have substantial rise in the total remuneration.

We, therefore, direct that the 24 existing scales of pay for the skilled labour be modified as follows:—

(a) A flat rise of Rs. 10 per month be given both to the starting salary and the maximum salary of the first four scales.

(b) The fifth and sixth scales be amalgamated to form a new scale—Rs. 35—1—40—2—50.

(c) A flat rise of Rs. 5 be given both to the starting salary and the maximum salary of the scales of pay Nos. (7)—(17).

(d) Scales (18) to (24) be left unaltered.

The Unions have claimed that the Mali, at present treated as unskilled, should be transferred to the category of skilled worker. This is opposed by the Corporation. We see no reason to class an ordinary Mali as a skilled worker. The Head Mali is already included in the category of "Clerical and Subordinate" and the Head Nursery Mali as a skilled workman. The Malis under the Head Mali are treated as unskilled. We think that this classification is proper.

The Union has also prayed for inclusion of Ash Cooly as skilled. The Corporation has accepted this suggestion on the ground that Ash Coolies clean boilers and some degrees of skill is required in their work. The Corporation wants to put them with Coal Trimmer in the scale of Rs. 25—1—30, which is now converted into Rs. 35—1—40. We accept this suggestion and direct that the Ash Coolies be treated as skilled workers in revised scale of Rs. 35—1—40.

(c) Menial Staff.

The scales of pay for the menial staff, after the second revision made by the Corporation, are shown in Schedule VII, Appendix XI, of the Corporation's written statement. Peons, Orderlies, etc., have been put in the scale Rs. 25—1—30. Jamadars have three scales, viz., Rs. 25—1—30, Rs. 30—1—35, Rs 35—1—40. There are also duty allowances of Rs. 5 or Rs. 10 paid to some of the menials like Jamadars of the Chief Executive Officer and the Mayor and of Heads of Departments, Durwans, etc., and Motor Ambulance Attendant dealing with infectious diseases. In view of our opinion that Rs. 30 represents the minimum basic wage, we would alter the grade of Rs. 25—1—30 to Rs. 30—1—35, but provide that the food concession now enjoyed by the menials should be withdrawn. The menials may still draw food rations from the Corporation shops but they must pay the controlled price. Menials now on the grades Rs. 30—1—35 and Rs. 35—1—40 will be put on the grades Rs. 35—1—40 and Rs. 40—1—45. The case of maid servants is covered by the next issue.

(d) Maid Servants.

The existing grades for maid servants is Rs. 13—1—18. The maid servants are chiefly attached to primary schools for girls and they are whole-time servants. This fact is also recognised by the Corporation. Their present scale of pay is too low. The Unions have suggested Rs. 30—1—40 for them. In view of the dearness allowance of Rs. 25 per month which would also be allowed to them we consider the scale suggested by the Unions to be too high on the ground that women employees do not generally have to maintain a family equivalent to three adult units. For the maid servants, therefore, we fix the grade of Rs. 20—1—25.

(e) Subordinate Staff.

In this class we are concerned with the subordinate group of the staff known in the Corporation as "Clerical and Subordinate". Members of the unskilled supervisory labour staff are designated as clerical and subordinate; and when settling the strike of November 1945 some additional classes, e.g., Nikashi Sircar, Gangers, Mates, etc., were placed in the category of clerical and subordinate staff. Lists of posts in this category are contained in Appendix XI, Schedule I, Part I, Sheets Nos. 1 and 2, Schedule I, Part II and Schedule VII, page 2 (from Block Sircar to Lorry Trip Recorder). The revised grades fixed by the Corporation for this category are Rs. 25—1—30, Rs. 25—1—35 and Rs. 25—1—40. In our opinion the minimum pay of the members of this category should be Rs. 35, and the food concession should not be given to them (though as in the case of menials, they may obtain food from the Corporation food shops by paying the controlled price for the same). We fix the new grades by adding Rs. 10 both to the starting pay and to the maximum pay, retaining the existing rate of increment, except in the case of the Laboratory bearer, who really belongs to the category of menials, and whose new grade will be formed by adding Rs. 5 to both the starting pay and the maximum pay. In the case of Block Sircars, the Unions have asked for a special scale of pay on the ground that Block Sircars have numerous and important duties to perform. The grade suggested is Rs. 60—4—80—5—130. The Calcutta Corporation Employees' Association has further suggested that the minimum qualification for appointment as a Block Sircar and a Road Sircar should be the passing of the Matriculation Examination. This suggestion has, however, been strenuously opposed by the Scavengers and Labour Union, because some Block Sircars are promoted from the category of Scavengers and Labour Staff, and if the minimum qualification required were the passing of the Matriculation Examination, the promotion to the post of the Block Sircar would no longer be open to the Conservancy and the Labour Staff. We consider it desirable that the opportunity of promotion should be left open. Accordingly we see no reason to fix a special high scale of pay for the post of Block Sircar. In this case also the rule of fixing the new scale by adding Rs. 10 to the starting and maximum pay of the grade should be observed. For the Road Sircar also whose grade is now lower the same scale of pay is fixed.

The salaries of the remaining posts in this category (vide Appendix F and Appendix G) are reviewed as shown below:—

(f) Apprentices in Entally Workshop.

The present system is that 10 apprentices are taken every year in the Entally Workshop. The course of apprenticeship is five years. The students selected obtain theoretical training from Jadavpur Engineering College and practical training in the Entally Workshop of the Corporation. An allowance of Rs. 10 in the first year is paid to each apprentice. It rises by Rs. 5 every year and is therefore Rs. 30 in the 5th year. In the 6th year the apprentices are given a further opportunity of obtaining practical training by being put in charge of various jobs. In that year an allowance of Rs. 40 is given.

The Unions claim that an allowance of Rs. 40 should be given in the first year and that this should be raised by Rs. 10 every year and that further a dearness allowance at the usual rate should be given to the apprentices. This claim is opposed by the Corporation on whose behalf it has been urged that the allowance is in the nature of a scholarship given to encourage meritorious students in getting training in engineering and mechanical processes and that the apprentice is not a regular worker who is to be given a wage and dearness allowance. So far as the claim for dearness allowance is concerned, we must agree that the claim cannot be allowed. Apprentices everywhere are paid at a consolidated rate which is supposed to be in the nature of a scholarship to encourage the apprentice to persist in the course of training without costing his guardian too much. We consider, however, that in the present circumstances, the scale of allowances allowed by the Corporation is rather low. We, therefore, fix the scale of allowance of apprentices at Rs. 20 in the first year. This will be increased by Rs. 5 every year until it is Rs. 40 in the 5th year and in the 6th year, the allowance will be Rs. 50 per month.

(g) Teachers and Instructors.

The Corporation has three classes of Primary Schools, viz., Model schools, Class I type schools and Bustee type schools. In the Model schools, the Head Master is on the scale of Rs. 75—80—5—110 (E. B.)—5—140. The Assistant Head Master is on the scale Rs. 60—65—4—85—5—115, and the ordinary teacher is on the scale Rs. 50—55—60—4—80 (E. B.)—5—100. In Class I type and Bustee type schools, the Head Master is on the scale Rs. 50—55—60—4—80—5—115 and the ordinary teacher is on the scale Rs. 40—45—3—60—4—80—5—90. There are also an Artisan Instructor and a Sewing Instructress, both on the scale of Rs. 35—2—45 and a Gomosta teacher on the scale of Rs. 60—3—75.

The Teachers' Union has suggested that the pay of the Model school staff and the staff of Class I and Bustee schools should be uniform. The Union has further suggested one running grade for teachers, Assistant Head Masters and Head Masters, viz., Rs. 80—5—100—10—220 (S. B.)—10—230 (S. B.)—10—250. The Union suggests that ordinary teachers will draw pay up to Rs. 220 and when a teacher is selected as an Assistant Head Master he will draw the increment to Rs. 230 and that when a teacher is selected for the post of Head Master, he will draw the increment up to Rs. 250.

For the Corporation it is agreed that the teachers of the different types of schools should be put on the same scale, but the Corporation is opposed to a running grade for all teachers including Head Masters and Assistant Head Masters.

We fix the starting pay of the Head Master of Model schools at Rs. 80. This should be the starting salary of Head Masters of all types of schools, and as to the upper limit, we raise it by Rs. 10. For ordinary teachers we consider that the starting salary should be Rs. 60 and the maximum salary Rs. 120. Assistant Head Masters should have a grade Rs. 10 above the grade of the ordinary teachers at all stages. Accordingly we fix the following scales for the teachers of all types of Corporation schools:—

Head Master—Rs. 80—85—5—110 (E. B.)—5—150.

Assistant Head Master—Rs. 70—74—4—90 (E. B.)—5—130.

Teacher—Rs. 60—64—4—80 (E. B.)—5—120.

Head Mistresses and woman teachers will be on the same grades.

The Unions have suggested that the Artisan Instructor and the Sewing Instructress should be on the same scale as an ordinary teacher. This suggestion cannot be accepted, for the minimum qualification for them is not the same as that for the ordinary teacher. The Artisan Instructor and the Sewing Instructress really belong to the category of skilled workmen and their pay ought to be assessed on that basis. We fix their scale as Rs. 50—2—60—4—80. For the teacher of the Gomosta Class we fix the scale Rs. 60—3—90.

The revised scale for the Drawing and Modelling Instructor and the Physical Instructor and Scout Master will be the same as that for the Assistant Head Master; and that for the Arts and Crafts Instructor the same as that for the Artisan Instructor. We propose no change in the scale of pay of the Principal of the Training School The revised scales of the Vice-Principal, the Lecturers and the Officers of the Education Department are given below:—

	Existing pay. Rs.	Revised pay. Rs.
Vice-Principal	165—10—265	200—10—300
Lecturers ..	110—5—135—6 –165	125—5—140—6—200
Inspector .. Inspectress .. Attendance Officer .	110 5—135 -6—165	125—5—140—6—200

(b) Clerical and other staff.

(i) Clerical.

The statement showing the distribution of clerical appointments at page 290 of the current year's budget shows that the Corporation employs 1,168 clerks plus 80 leave reserves, or 1,248 clerks in all. Before the strike of 1945 there were different scales of pay for clerks, viz., Rs. 40—2—50, Rs. 40—2—70, Rs. 40—3—75, Rs. 40—4—100, Rs. 70—5—100, Rs. 100—5—125, Rs. 125—5—150, and some other scales, the highest scale being Rs. 200—10—250. As a result of the recommendation of the Special Committee, the clerical posts were divided into three scales, viz., Rs. 50—60—4—80—5—135—6—165, Rs 165—10—215, Rs. 215—10—265. There is also a superior grade for Personal Assistants, Rs. 250—10—350.

There are only six posts in the highest category and 57 in the next highest category, viz., Rs. 165—10—215. All the remaining clerks are in the first category from Rs. 50—165. This category includes not only the ordinary clerks, but also some superior posts involving supervisory duties like the Divisional Head Clerk of the Collection Department. The second revision of the scales of clerical posts could not be completed by the Corporation, as before the Corporation could consider the report of the Grades Reconciliation and Rules Advisory Special Committee, the Corporation was superseded.

In the memorandum of the joint demands by the 17 Unions, one running grade for clerks was demanded, viz., Rs. 80—5—100—10—250. Before the Tribunal also the Clerks' Union and the other Unions have pressed the claim for the same running grade from Rs. 80—250. It has been suggested by the Unions that superior supervisory posts like the posts of Head Clerk should carry a duty allowance of Rs. 40 per month in addition to the grade pay and that junior supervisory posts like Divisional Head Clerks should carry a duty allowance of Rs. 25 per month. In support of one running grade for clerks, the Clerks' Union has referred to a resolution of the Service Committee, passed in 1939, for one running grade from Rs. 40—200.

The Employees' Association originally suggested a separate grade for Head Clerks and Personal Assistants, viz., Rs. 160—10—300—15—330—20—350. During the hearing of the case, the Employees' Association adopted the case of the Clerks' Union that there should be one running grade and proposed to fit in Head Clerks and Personal Assistants by having a selection bar at Rs. 250 and adding the scale Rs. 250—10—350 for Head Clerks and Personal Assistants. Thus the case of the Unions as presented in the hearing is that there should be one running grade for the Clerks including Head Clerks and Personal Assistants.

The Corporation has opposed the idea that there should be one running scale for all clerks. The Corporation has urged that one running grade for all classes of clerks creates administrative difficulties. The Corporation's case is that the distinction between lower and superior grades should be kept. The Corporation has further suggested that the posts in the existing grade from Rs. 50—165 should be split up so as to have a scale for lower grade clerks and a scale for upper grade clerks below the existing upper grade scale of Rs. 165—10—215. In support of this argument it has been pointed out that Divisional Head Clerks and Clerks holding posts of similar duties have at present a grievance inasmuch as they draw the same scale of pay as the ordinary clerks in spite of their duties being more responsible and of a supervisory nature; and that this grievance has led the Divisional Head Clerks and other clerks having similar duties to demand duty allowances. We are of the opinion that the duty allowance would be justified only when somebody is asked to perform an additional work which does not come within his normal duties; that for normal duties there should be no duty allowance, but that, if necessary, there should be a higher scale. The representatives of the Corporation have left it to the Tribunal to decide how exactly the existing scale of Rs. 50—165 should be split up and whether there should be any rise in the pay of clerical grades. We have, however, been asked to bear in mind the financial position of the Corporation.

We do not approve of the claim of the Clerks' Union and of other Unions that there should be one running scale for clerks of all classes. On the other hand we think that the existing scale of lower grade clerks ought to be split up to form two scales, viz., one scale for lower grade clerks and another scale for subordinate upper grade clerks in view of the claim of the Divisional Head Clerks and Clerks doing similar duties for a duty allowance.

The Central Pay Commission recommends the scale, Rs. 55—3—85(E.B.)—4—125—5—130 as the standard grade for lower grade clerks. Mr. S. N. Modak in his award in the Howrah Municipality Case, accepted this scale for the lower grade clerks. We propose the grade of Rs. 60—4—80—5—150 for the lower grade clerks. For the subordinate upper grade, we propose the grade of Rs. 150—10—200. We find from the resolutions of the Grades Reconciliation and Rules Advisory Special Committee, dated 23rd March 1948, that this Special Committee also suggested the grade of Rs. 150—10—200 for the Divisional Head Clerks and other clerks having similar duties and responsibilities. The posts in the present scale Rs. 50—165 should be distributed so as to have not less than 10 per cent. of the posts in the subordinate higher grade and the remaining posts in the lower grade. The posts in the subordinate upper grade will include the 28 posts of Divisional Head Clerks and 1 post of the seniormost Assistant Keeper of Records, as recommended in the Grades Reconciliation Committee's resolutions, dated 23rd March 1948. Other posts should be included in this grade so as to bring up the number to not less than 10 per cent. of the lower grade clerks. As regards clerks in the existing lower grade, who fail to obtain promotion to the subordinate higher grade of Rs. 150—200, we propose that they should draw pay in the existing scale up to Rs. 165 as personal pay. Typists and Comptometer operators will be in the same scale of pay as the lower grade clerks, viz., Rs. 60—4—80—5—150, and they will be eligible for promotion just like the lower grade clerks. The existing special grade of Rs. 60—4—80 for Telephone Clerks will be abolished; it will be merged with the grade of lower grade clerks; it is suggested that junior lower grade clerks should be put on duty as Telephone Clerks.

The scales for the Higher Upper Division Clerks, viz., Rs. 165—10—215 and Rs. 215—10—265 are raised to Rs. 200—10—250 and Rs. 250—10—300. No change is proposed in the existing scale of pay of Personal Assistants—Rs. 250—10—350.

It is also desirable to fix a special grade for Stenographers who are at present distributed between the scales Rs. 50—165 and Rs. 165—215. For Stenographers we propose the scale of Rs. 100—5—150—10—200. Stenographers will be eligible for promotion to the higher upper division and to the special grade posts.

Finally we direct that all posts in the grades of Rs. 150—10—200 and Rs. 200—10—250 should be filled by promotion from the clerks. Of course not seniority alone, as claimed by the Unions but seniority plus efficiency should be the criterion of such promotion. The posts of personal assistants should also as far as possible be filled by promotion.

Other staff drawing pay up to Rs. 500.

We shall now take up other categories of staff as enumerated in Appendix G to Appendix VII of the written statement filed by the Corporation. The maximum salary of these categories of staff is Rs. 300. The demands of the Association related to the categories of staff drawing salaries below Rs. 300. In the issue, however, we have fixed the maximum at Rs. 500, because the demands of the Unions in respect of some of these categories of staff exceed the maximum of Rs. 300 and reach near about Rs. 500. We do not therefore propose to consider the case of any of the staff not included in Appendix G. We leave it to the Corporation or the Administrative Officer to revise the scales of pay of the superior staff, if such revision is considered necessary in view of the revision of the scales of pay of the lower paid staff as made by us.

The Inspectors of the Collection and Licence Departments and the Sub-assessors of the Assessment Department are at present on a grade of Rs. 110—5—150 (E.B.)—10—300. The Associations have demanded a grade of Rs. 200—10—300—15—450 for these officers, but in the demands of the 17 Unions, dated 1st December 1947, the grade demanded was Rs. 150—10—200—15—260—20—300, which has the same maximum as the present grade. We are unable to accept the starting salary of Rs. 150 for these posts and we think that a starting salary of Rs. 125 would be sufficient. We fix the grade at Rs. 125—5—150 (E.B.)—10—300. For the Assessing Inspectors we fix a grade of Rs. 80—4—120 (E.B.)—8—200 in place of the existing grade of Rs. 60—3—75—4—115 (E.B.)—7—185. It was argued that the Assessing Inspectors had various responsible duties to perform and that their grade should be commensurate with the importance and responsibility attached to the post. It should, however, be remembered that the minimum qualification of Assessing Inspectors is the passing of I.A., I.Sc., I.Com. or Final Survey Examination. It appears that there are several graduates amongst Assessing Inspectors, but we have to fix the grade with reference to the minimum qualifications required and we think that the grade fixed is adequate. Ultimately many of these Assessing Inspectors will be promoted to the post of Sub-Assessors, since it is provided in the rules that at least 50 per cent. of the vacancies in the post of Sub-Assessors shall be filled up by promotion from the rank of Assessing Inspectors. We may mention in this connection that in the joint demands of 1st December 1947, the Unions demanded a grade of Rs. 80—5—100—10—200 for such junior posts requiring under-graduate qualifications. We have accepted both the minimum and the maximum of this grade for the Assessing Inspector. The Valuation Checkers of the Assessment Department are at present on a grade of Rs. 60—4—80, the minimum qualification required for the post being passing of the Matriculation Examination. We fix a grade of Rs. 60—4—100 for these posts. We find from the rules that the Valuation Checkers, who are Matriculates, will be entitled to promotion to the grade of Assessing Inspectors after 10 years' service. The grade now demanded for Valuation Checkers Rs. 80—220 is very high and out of all proportion to the qualifications required and the duties performed. The Stock Verifiers and Audit Inspectors of the Accounts Department are on a grade of Rs. 125—5—135—6—165—10—215. We fix a grade of Rs. 125—5—150—10—250 for these officers, which we consider to be sufficient. For the Bailiffs of the Licence and Collection Departments, we fix a grade of Rs. 55—60—2—80 (E.B.)—4—100 in place of the existing grade of Rs. 50—2—70 (E.B)—4—90. For the Bailiffs also the minimum qualification required is the passing of the Matriculation Examination. We recognise that the Bailiffs do important duties in the matter of collection of revenue for the Corporation, but we cannot accept the grade demanded for them, viz., Rs. 75—200. We think that the grade we have adopted is adequate in view of the qualification required and the duties performed. We propose no change for the Cart Registration Officer of the Licence Department whose present grade is Rs. 250—10—300.

In the Law Department, the Law Assistants and the Conveyancing Assistants are on a grade of Rs. 110—5—135 (E.B.)—10—235. We fix their grade at Rs. 125—10—275. For the Peripatetic Pleader there is no grade, but only a fixed pay of Rs. 200. There ought to be a grade for this post, as there is a grade for the post of the Municipal Pleader attached to the Municipal Magistrates' Courts. We accordingly fix a grade of Rs. 200—10—300 for the Peripatetic Pleader. We understand that the present grade of the Assistant Law Officers is Rs. 250—20—450. Since the maximum pay of the Law Assistants has been increased to Rs. 275, it is fitting that the grade of the Assistant Law Officers should also be revised. We, however, leave it to the Corporation authorities to decide the matter.

The Supervisors or Assistant Engineers, Testing Officer. Inspector and Clerk of Works of the Engineering Department are at present on a grade of Rs. 160—10—220 (E.B.)—10—300. The Associations have demanded a grade of Rs. 200—10—300—15—450 for these posts. In the joint demand of 1st December 1947, however, the maximum demanded was Rs. 350. Though the minimum demanded then was Rs. 160 as at present, we are increasing the minimum to Rs. 200, because it has been represented to us by the Chief Engineer of the Corporation that these posts are to be filled up, according to the Rules by Engineering Graduates or Associate Members of the Institute of Engineers and that such qualified men are not at present available on a starting salary of Rs. 160. We fix their grade at 200—10—300—(E.B)—10—350. The Head Pipe Layer of the Water Works Department, the District Building Surveyor, Encroachment Officer, Constructional Assistant and the Insecure Building Surveyor and the Supervisor of the Lighting Department will also be on this grade.

The Overseers, Plumbers, Levellers, Surveyor (Cossipore), Conservancy Inspector (Cossipore), Assistant Clerk of Works, and the District Building Inspector are at present on a grade of Rs. 110—5—135—(E.B.)—6—165. We fix a grade of Rs. 125—5—140—(E.B.)—6—200 for them. The same grade is also fixed for the Chargemen of Goragatcha Incinerator and the Engineering Overseer, Dhappa. There are certain other posts on different grades, e.g., the posts of Conservancy Inspectors and Inspectors, now called Overseers,' and Estimator and Surveyor, and Estimator of the Engineering Department and Surveyor and Valuer of the Surveyors' Department to which also this grade of Rs. 125—5—140—(E B.)—6—200 will apply. For the Sub-Overseers, Nikasi Sub-Overseers, Bustee Cleansing Sub-Overseers, Leveller of the Surveyors' Department, now called Assistant Surveyor and Valuer, we fix a grade of Rs. 75—4—95—(E.B.)—5—125 in place of the existing grade of Rs. 60—4—80—(E B.)—5—110.

For the Inspectors of Water Works, who were originally Sub-Inspectors, the existing grade is the same as the grade of the Sub-Overseer. There are at present several incumbents of this post who are on the grade of Rs. 50—5—150, as personal grade. It has been represented to us that there should be an intermediate grade for these posts above the grade of Sub-Overseers in view of the nature of their duties. We consider this demand reasonable and fix a grade of Rs. 80—4—100—5—160 for these Inspectors. Overseers of the Water Works Department have also been placed in the grade of Inspectors. The existing Overseers of the Department, even though called Inspectors, will, however, get the benefit of the new scale of pay fixed for Overseers as personal pay, viz., Rs. 125—5—140—6—200. No new Overseer will be recruited direct or by promotion in this department.

For the Draftsman of the Chief Engineer's Office, Mechanical Draftsman and Electrical Draftsman and Estimator, we fix a grade of Rs. 180—10—250 in place of the existing grade of Rs. 165—10—215. For the Architectural Draftsman, who is on a grade of Rs. 250—10—300, we make no change. The apprentice Draftsman on the grade of Rs. 30—1—40 should have a grade of Rs. 35—1—50. For the Tracers and Draftsmen we fix a grade of Rs. 60—4—80—5—135—6—165—175.

For the Physical Instructor and Play Director we fix a grade of Rs. 60—2—80—4—100 and for the Amin Mistri, Mechanic, Motor Mechanic, the grade is fixed at Rs. 45—2- 55—3—70.

For the Municipal Railway employees we fix the following grades:—

The Engineering Sub-Overseer, Dhappa, will be on the grade of Overseers, as already stated. For the Wagon Examiner, we do not consider any change necessary, as regards the standard grade, but so far as the present incumbent is concerned, we think that the grade should be Rs. 60—4—100. For the Loco Foreman and the Permanent Way Inspector no change is necessary. For the Drivers and Guards, the grade is fixed at Rs. 60—4—100 in place of the existing grade Rs. 60—4—80. For the Time-keeper we fix the grade of Rs. 60—4—100 as the standard grade and Rs. 60—3—90 for the present incumbent. For the Weighment Recorder we fix the grade at Rs. 45—2—55—3—70. We do not consider any change necessary in respect of the standard grade of the Platform Inspector, but for the present incumbent we fix the grade at Rs. 60—2—80. The case of Platform Sircars has been dealt with under the sub-issue "subordinate". A good deal of argument was advanced regarding the responsible duties performed by the railway employees and much higher grades, which we need not enumerate in detail, were demanded for them, but it should be remembered that the length of the Corporation Railway is only 17 miles and the employees are not so qualified as the employees of other railways. Where Engineering qualifications are required, the Corporation has already fixed adequate grades.

We now come to the Health Department. We fix the grade of the Head Assistant at Rs. 250—10—300 in place of the existing grade of Rs. 215—10—265 and that of the Statistician at Rs. 200—10—250 in place of Rs. 165—10—215. For the Head Ambulance Driver whose grade is Rs. 110—5—135—6—165 no change is necessary. The present Head Driver is already getting Rs. 175 as personal pay. For the other drivers (ambulance) we fix a grade of Rs. 80—5—130, increasing the maximum by Rs. 20. This will not, however, affect their personal pay. For the Assistant Analysts, Assistant Chemical Analyst, Assistant Bacteriologist and Pathologist, we fix the grade at Rs. 150—10—350, the present grade being Rs. 100—150—10—350. For the Palta Assistant Chemist, the grade is fixed at Rs. 80—5—125—(E.B.)—10—175. For the Laboratory Assistants, the grade is fixed at Rs. 35—2—55. For the Assistant Medical Officers the grade is fixed at Rs. 100—5—150—10—200. For the Compounders we fix a grade of Rs. 55—2—75. For the Dressers, Dispensers, Homeopathic Dispensary Compounders and Female Attendants we fix a grade of Rs. 35—2—55, and for the Assistant Dressers, Drug Pounders and Register Writer, we fix a grade of Rs. 25—1—35. We consider no change necessary for the remaining posts under the Headings "Dispensaries" and "Maternity and Child Welfare Work" at pages 5 and 6 of Appendix G excepting that the allowance of the Part-time Resident Medical Officer is increased from Rs. 90 to Rs. 100. For the Assistant of the Pilgrims' Rest House, Kalighat, we fix a grade of Rs. 55—2—75. The grade of the Entomologist of the Mosquito Control Office is fixed at Rs. 200—10—250. For the Sanitary Officers and Superintendent, Slaughter Houses, we make no change in the existing grades. For the Inspectors of the Mosquito Control Office, the Assistant Sanitary Officers, the Food Inspectors, the Superintendent, Disinfecting Station, the Sub-Registrars of Burning Ghats and Topsia Burial Ground and Overseer and Sub-Registrar, we fix the grade at Rs. 100—5—150—10—200 in place of the existing grades of Rs. 80—90—5—135—6—165 and Rs. 80—90—5—110 as for all these posts the minimum qualification required is the passing of the L.M.F. Examination. The same grade is fixed for the Supervisor, Dhobikhana, and the Inspectors of the Slaughter Houses.

A good deal of argument has been advanced on behalf of the Food Inspectors for a higher grade than that of the Assistant Sanitary Officers and against amalgamation of their grade with that of the Assistant Sanitary Officers. It appears that there are some M.Bs amongst Food Inspectors and it has been argued that their duties are multifarious and much more important and complicated than those of the Assistant Sanitary Officers. They also wanted that there should be no transfer from the post of Food Inspectors to that of Assistant Sanitary Officers or to any other post. But we consider that the initial pay and grade of a post should be fixed with reference to the minimum qualifications required and since the minimum qualification required for the post of Assistant Sanitary Officer and that of a Food Inspector is the passing of the L.M.F. Examination, we do not see why a higher salary or grade should be given to the Food Inspectors. So far as the question of transfer from one post to another is concerned, this is a matter in respect of which we do not intend to interfere or express any opinion. This should be left to the discretion of the employers, i.e., the Corporation authorities.

For the Disinfecting Inspectors we fix the grade at Rs. 70—4—90—5—110 and for the Bustee Cleansing Inspectors at Rs. 55—2—75. The Veterinary Assistants should have a grade of Rs. 65—5—100 and the Vaccinators, Female Vaccinators and the Sub-Registrars, Hindu and Mahomedan Burial Grounds, a grade of Rs. 60—4—100.

For the post of the Superintendent, Drainage and Water-supply Pumping Stations, the grade should be Rs. 250—10—350 and for the Assistant Superintendent Rs. 200—10—300. We do not consider any change necessary in the grade of the Shift Engineers, which is Rs. 110—5—135—6—165—10—215. We understand that they get sufficient overtime allowances. For the Chargeman and Electric Assistant also we do not want to make any change. For the Switch-board Attendants (High tension), we fix a grade of Rs. 55—3—70—5—100 and for those of low tension we fix a grade of Rs. 40—2—60. For the Engine Drivers, Class I, we consider no change necessary in the existing grade which is Rs. 60—4—80—(E.B.)—5—110. For the Engine Drivers of Class II and Class III we fix respectively the grades of Rs. 55—3—70—5—100 and Rs. 40—2—60. The Sub-Overseer will have the same grade fixed for Sub-Overseers of the Engineering Department, viz., Rs. 75—4—95—5—125, and the Electrician should have a grade of Rs. 55—3—70—5—100.

For the Drainage Department, the grade of the Sircar, Outfall Section, is fixed at Rs. 50—3—80, that of the Serang at Rs. 60—4—100, that of the Engine Driver at Rs. 60—3—90 and that of the Computor at Rs. 35—2—55 and for the Sewer Cleansing Section, the grade of the Inspector, Driver and Checking Inspector is fixed at Rs. 35—1—40—2—60. The grade of the Mechanical Assistant of the Electricity Department is fixed at Rs. 200—10—300 and that of the Switch-board Attendant at Rs. 55—3—70—5—100. We consider no change necessary in the grades of the Shift Engineer, Electrical Inspector, Shift Man and Junior Sub-Inspector of this Department.

In the Water Works Department, the grade of the Head Pipe Layer has already been fixed at Rs. 200—10—350. The Pipe Layers are on the grade of Rs. 125—5—150—(E.B.)—10—200. This grade is quite adequate and we do not consider any change necessary. The Clock Repairer and the Workshop Store Keeper should have a grade of Rs. 60—4—100. No change is necessary in the grade of the Ground Hydrant Inspector and Chief Mechanic and Assistant Testing Officer. The grade of the Lorry Trip Recorder has already been fixed at Rs. 35—1—40. The grade of the Superintendent of the Water-supply to Shipping Department is fixed at Rs. 200—10—300 and that of the Driver at Rs. 55—3—70—5—100. We consider no change necessary in the grades of the Gunner and Driver (Water Barge).

In the Entally Workshops, we consider no change necessary in the grades of the Senior Foreman and the Outdoor and Carpentry Shop Foreman. The grade of the Time-keeper, now designated as clerk, should be the same as that of the clerks, viz., Rs. 60—4—80—5—150. The grade of the Tool-keeper and Electric Motor Driver is fixed at Rs. 55—2—65—4—85.

In the Asphaltum Department no change is necessary in the grade of the Charge-Man. The grades of the Engine Driver and Time and Tool-keeper are fixed respectively at Rs. 55—3—70—5—100 and Rs. 55—2—65—4—85.

In the Commercial Museum and Publicity Section we make no change in the grade of the Officer-in-charge. The grade of the Store-keeper is fixed at Rs. 60—4—80—5—100, that of the Interpretor and Agent at Rs. 55—2—65—4—85, that of the Curator at Rs. 200—10—250, that of the Assistant at Rs. 80—90—5—140—6—200 and that of the Operator and Driver at Rs. 55—60—4—100.

In the Printing Department the grades are fixed as follows:—

The Senior Readers' grade is fixed at Rs. 200—10—250, that of the Junior Readers at Rs. 80—90 5—150 and that of the Assistant Readers at Rs. 60—4—80—5—110. We do not think any change necessary in the grade of Lino Operators and Lino Type Mechanic which was fixed at Rs. 80—5—145—10—185 on 15th March 1946. It was strongly argued on behalf of the Lino Operators that their grade should be further increased because their work was dangerous to health and had resulted in casualties in the past and it was demanded that they should have a grade of Rs. 200—15—350. But the grade fixed for Lino Operators by the Tribunal constituted to decide the cases of the Printing Presses of Calcutta, the award of which has been published in the Calcutta Gazette of 20th May 1948, is Rs. 95—200 and the grade in the West Bengal Government Press is Rs. 90—200. The hours of work for Lino Operators in the Calcutta Corporation Press are, however, lower than in other presses, being only 31 hours in a week. Considered in relation to the hours of work, the grade fixed by the Corporation appears to be quite fair and adequate as compared with the grade in the West Bengal Government Press and the grade fixed by the Tribunal. For the Foreman we fix a grade of Rs. 200—10—300 and for the Assistant Foreman we fix a grade of Rs. 150—10—200. The Assistant Foreman's present grade is even lower than that of the Lino Operators being only Rs. 80—165. The Lino Operators and Mechanics are subordinate to him and so he should have a higher grade. The present grade of the Section-holders is Rs. 60—4—80—5—100. We do not consider any change necessary as this grade is quite fair. The Compositors' and Distributors' grade is fixed at Rs. 50—5—95. The grade of the Press and Machineman is fixed at Rs. 40—2—50—3—65, that of the Linoman at Rs. 35—2—45—3—60 and that of the Press Mechanic at Rs. 55—2—65—3—80. We do not consider any change necessary in the grades of the Binders. The grade of the Inkman, Galleyman and Proofman is fixed at Rs. 35—1—40—2—50. The grades sanctioned by the Corporation on 15th March 1946 for the Press Mechanic, Press and Machineman, Linoman, Inkman, Proofman and Galleyman will continue as personal to the present incumbents.

In the Treasurer's Department, we make no change in the grade of the Assistant Treasurer. The grade of the Bailiffs is fixed at Rs. 55—60—2—80 in place of Rs. 50—2—70 and that of the Bank Sircars at Rs. 60—4—100. The Cashier's grade is fixed at Rs. 60—4—80—5—150, the same as that of the clerk.

In the Stores Department, the Coal Supervisiors' grade is fixed at Rs. 150—10—250, that of the Coal Inspector at Rs. 55—2—75, that of the Store-keeper at Rs. 150—10—250, that of the Assistant Store-keeper at Rs. 60—4—80—5—150 and that of the Pakur Sub-Overseer at Rs. 75—4—95—5—125.

In the Secretary's Department, the grade of the Assistant Reporter is fixed at Rs. 250—10—350, the same as that for Personal Assistants. The grade of Stenographers has already been fixed. The Telephone Operator should have a grade of Rs. 80—90—5—125, the Care-taker a grade of Rs. 125—5—140—6—200 and the Librarian a grade of Rs. 150—10—250. The Keeper of Records should be on a grade of Rs. 200—10—300 and the Inspector of Theatres on a grade of Rs. 125—5—140—6—200.

In the Motor Vehicles Department, we make no change in the grades of the Works Foremen and the Garage Foremen. For the Tool and Timekeeper, we fix a grade of Rs. 55—2—65—4—85.

In the Lighting Department, the Supervisor's grade has already been fixed at Rs. 200—10—350. The Inspectors will have the grade of Overseers, viz., Rs. 125—5—140—6—200 in place of the existing grade of Rs. 110—5—135—6—165. The Sub-Inspectors and the Junior Inspectors should be on a grade of Rs. 75—4—95—5—125. The Foreman, Mechanic Foreman, Inspecting Sircar, Pressure Recorder, Repairer and Latheman should be on the grade of Rs. 50—3—65. The Clock Repairer should have a grade of Rs. 40—2—50—3—65 and the Armature Winder, a grade of Rs. 60—4—80—5—100.

In the municipal markets we make no change in the grades of the Superintendents of Entally and Lansdowne Markets. We understand that Gariahat and Lake Road Markets have now grown in importance and we recommend that the Superintendents of these two markets should have the same grade as the Superintendents of Entally and Lansdowne Markets. For the Superintendent of Park Circus Market and the Checking Inspector and Sergeant we fix the grade at Rs. 150—10—300. The grade of the Supervisor, S. C. Allen Market, is fixed at Rs. 110—5—150. The grade of the Checking Sub-Inspector is fixed at Rs. 80—90—5—125 and that of the sircars at Rs. 55—60—2—80—4—100.

The grades fixed will not affect the present incumbent who may have got more favourable grades.

Issue No. 2: Fitting existing employees into the revised scales of pay.

The Unions have suggested the following method for fitting existing employees into the revised scales of pay, viz., that the initial pay of the present incumbent should be fixed at the stage in the proposed grade next above the pay which he is drawing and to this should be added either a special increment at the rate of one increment for every two years of completed service subject to a maximum of Rs. 50 or the difference between the minimum of the proposed grade and the minimum of the old grade, whichever is higher.

The representatives of the Corporation have strongly opposed the proposed method of fitting existing employees into the revised scales of pay. In paragraph 70 of the Central Pay Commission's Report (pages 44, 45) the Commission suggested that for fixing the initial pay of an employee in the new grade, the stage in the proposed scale next above the pay he is now drawing should be taken, and to this should be added a special increment at the rate of one increment for every three completed years of service; but the Central Pay Commission fixed a ceiling to the increase to be thus allowed. This ceiling proposed was Rs 10 for persons drawing pay not exceeding Rs. 100; Rs. 20 for persons drawing between Rs. 101—250 and Rs. 30 for persons drawing between Rs. 251—400. The Unions have demanded a much more liberal scale of adjusting the pay of the existing employees. We find no reason for going beyond the proposal of the Central Pay Commission in this respect. On behalf of the Corporation it has been urged that the special increments allowed by the Corporation and the increments given for fitting existing employees into the Corporation's new scales of pay, must be taken into consideration by this Tribunal. By a resolution of 28th November 1945, the Corporation granted a flat increment of Rs. 3 to persons drawing pay up to Rs. 100, and by a resolution, dated 15th March 1946, all employees drawing pay exceeding Rs. 100, but not exceeding Rs. 300, were allowed one grade increment. By a resolution, dated 14th August 1946, special interim increments ranging from Rs. 3 to Rs. 20 per month were again granted to the employees whose pay did not exceed Rs. 300 per month with the proviso that the special increase would be adjusted when fixing the pay of each employee in the new scales of pay which might be fixed. The Corporation granted also some further increments to fit the employees into the grades which were fixed by the Strike Settlement Special Committee and into the revised grades for labour staff and menials fixed by the Grades Reconciliation Committee. In Appendix XIII, items 1 to 4, the Corporation has shown the expenditure incurred by it for these increments and for fitting the employees into the revised grades. The increases in pay thus given have practically reached the ceilings recommended by the Central Pay Commission in paragraph 70 of its report. Accordingly we do not consider it proper to allow any further special increase for fitting the existing employees into the proposed scales. We direct, therefore, that for fitting the employees into the new grades, they should be given the stage in the proposed scale next above the pay they are now drawing including the temporary special increase given on 14th August 1946. Where the existing pay together with the special increase given on 14th August 1946 exceeds the maximum fixed for the proposed scale, the employee will draw the existing pay including the special increases as personal pay.

Issue No. 3: Dearness allowance for the above categories of workers.

When the case was referred to this Tribunal for adjudication, the employees were receiving dearness allowance at the then scale of dearness allowance of the West Bengal Government, viz., Rs. 20 for employees drawing up to Rs. 30 per month and 17½ per cent. of the salary subject to a minimum of Rs. 22 per month for those drawing salary above Rs. 30 In the memorandum of joint demands, the 17 Unions claimed dearness allowance at the following scale:—

Pay range.	Dearness allowance.
	Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	... 30
From Rs. 51—100	... 40
,, Rs. 101—150	... 45
,, Rs. 151—200	... 55
,, Rs. 201—250	... 60
,, Rs. 251—300	... 75

This demand was made on the assumption that the cost of living index was about 20 points higher than what it was when the Central Pay Commission made its recommendation. Before the Tribunal, the Unions have claimed that the minimum dearness allowance should be Rs. 45 and at each stage they have claimed Rs. 15 more than in the memorandum of joint demands. This claim has been sought to be justified on the footing that the cost of living index at present stands at about 340.

We must hold that there is no justification for claiming dearness allowance at the rate suggested by the Unions before this Tribunal. The rate has been calculated on the basis that the cost of living index was 260 at the time when the Central Pay Commission made its recommendation. It is true that in the body of the report, the cost of living index was taken to be 260, but from Appendix C of the report it appears that the actual cost of living index was 285 at that time, and the Central Pay Commission observed that its recommendation as to dearness allowance should be taken as having been made with reference to the actual cost of living index, viz., 285. Thus the claim now made before the Tribunal must be regarded as excessive and cannot be accepted. It is true that the cost of living index is now higher, and there is some justification for claiming dearness allowance at a scale higher than the standard scale of the Central Pay Commission. The ability of the Corporation to bear the burden has, however, to be taken into consideration. Even the West Bengal Government have considered themselves unable to go beyond the standard scale of dearness allowance prescribed by the Central Pay Commission. Moreover, between the Government of Bengal and the Corporation of Calcutta, there is an understanding that the Government will bear a substantial part—80 per cent. of the expenditure for dearness allowance, if the Corporation pays dearness allowance to its employees at the same scale as the Government of Bengal pay their employees. Accordingly we direct that dearness allowance shall be paid at the scale adopted by the Government of West Bengal by Finance Department Circular No. 714 F/2A-2/48 of 10th April 1948, viz.—

Pay range.	Dearness allowance.
	Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	25
From Rs. 51—100	35
,, Rs. 101—150	40
,, Rs. 151—200	45
,, Rs. 201—250	50
,, Rs. 251—300	60
,, Rs. 301—400	70
,, Rs. 401—2,000	17½ per cent.

Issue No. 4.—Special allowances: Benefits:

(a) City or Compensatory Allowance.

The Unions have claimed that such an allowance should be paid to all the employees. The Corporation has opposed the claim contending that the question of payment of a separate City Allowance as distinct from the basic pay does not arise in the case of employees of the Corporation of Calcutta, who work in the city and are not required to work outside the city. The pay and the scales of clerical and other categories of employees have been fixed by the Corporation and also by the Tribunal at a figure above the standard minimum scales prescribed for the corresponding categories by the Central Pay Commission. We must hold that the element of city allowance is included in the basic pay scales. As regards the labour staff, both unskilled and skilled, it is true that the minimum pay is fixed at the minimum recommended by the Central Pay Commission without taking into consideration the City Allowance, but in this case we are satisfied that no City Allowance is really necessary, because for employees of this class, it would not be correct to say at present that living in the city is more costly than in the mofussil. On the other hand, the employees get foodstuffs at controlled prices in the city, and in the mofussil higher prices have to be paid frequently for the essential foodstuffs Further, the labour staff do not generally use the public conveyances and therefore do not have to spend money for bus and tram fares. The members of the unskilled labour staff have mostly been provided with accommodation by the Corporation at places within 1½ miles or two miles from their places of work. Accordingly, the claim for City Allowance or Compensatory Allowance is rejected.

(b) Free quarters or house rent allowance.

All the Unions have demanded that the Corporation employees should either be provided with free houses by the Corporation, or, in default, they should be given house rent allowance at the rate recommended by the Central Pay Commission, the minimum house rent allowance being Rs. 10 per month.

The Corporation has opposed the claim for free quarters or house rent allowance at the scale recommended by the Central Pay Commission. In the written statement the Corporation has said that it has provided accommodation to a portion of its labour staff in different places and that the Corporation is anxious to provide quarters for all the labour staff and has made a scheme for housing the conservancy staff and asked the Government to make an advance to enable the Corporation to implement the scheme. Pending construction of the quarters for the labour staff, the Corporation is paying house rent allowance at the rate of Re. 1-8 to such members of the labour staff as have not been furnished with quarters. The Corporation has stated that for lack of funds it is not possible to increase the house rent allowance. The Corporation has filed a statement showing the accommodation now provided for the labour staff in Corporation Gowkhanas and Methar Barracks, etc. There are also 27 buildings and seven labour camps, requisitioned under A.R.P. measures, for the accommodation of the Conservancy labour staff; the buildings and the camps are still being retained for housing the Corporation labourers. For the labour staff living in the requisitioned houses, the Corporation has to incur an expenditure of Rs. 2-8 per head per month, but only a net deduction of Re. 1 is made from their pay, and for labourers residing in labour camps, a net deduction of annas 8 per head per month is made. On behalf of the Unions it has been urged that free accommodation ought to be given and that particularly when some workers are provided with free quarters, there is no justification for claiming charges from those living in requisitioned houses. The Corporation has justified the procedure by saying that for the Gowkhanas and Methar Barracks, the Corporation does not incur much expenditure, but for the requisitioned houses, the Corporation has to incur heavy expenditure and therefore the Corporation is entitled to realise a portion of that expenditure.

It may be the duty of the employer to provide for accommodation of the employees, but the employees must be prepared to pay up to 10 per cent. of pay for the accommodation. In big cities, house rent allowance is paid because, ordinarily, the cost of housing comes to more than 10 per cent of one's pay. Thus where a member of the labour staff is being charged annas 8 or Re. 1 per month as house rent there can be no objection because annas 8 or Re. 1 per month comes to less than 10 per cent. of his pay. It would have been logical to charge a small house rent even from those who are accommodated in the Gowkhanas and Methar Barracks, but we cannot recommend that a long standing practice should be interfered with. Where such free accommodation is provided as part of wages, we have taken it into consideration when fixing the minimum basic pay for the unskilled labour staff.

For the other employees of the Corporation, who are not getting house rent allowance at present we cannot also recommend that such an allowance should be introduced, in view of the state of the Corporation's finances. Accordingly the claim for provision of free quarters or for house rent allowance at the scale recommended by the Central Pay Commission is rejected.

(c) Conveyance allowance for outdoor staff.

In respect of the Collection Department, it has been urged that the present conveyance allowance of Rs. 15 paid to bailiffs should be increased to

Rs. 25 per month and that Inspectors who get no conveyance allowance at present, should get a conveyance allowance of Rs. 60 per month.

In respect of the Licence Department, it has been urged that bailiffs, who are getting a conveyance allowance of Rs. 15 per month, should get a conveyance allowance of Rs. 25 per month and Inspectors, who are getting a cycle allowance of Rs 5 to Rs. 10 per month, should get a conveyance allowance of Rs. 60 per month; and that sircars, who are getting no allowance now, should get a conveyance allowance of Rs. 25 per month.

The Scavengers and Labour Union and the Jamadars' Peons' and Workers' Union have claimed that all outdoor peons and all scavengers should have a conveyance allowance of Rs. 10 per month.

The Employees' Association and the Workers' Federation have claimed that those employees who are now getting a cycle allowance of Rs. 5 or Rs. 10 per month should have an enhanced allowance of Rs. 25 per month and those who get Rs. 50 to Rs. 60 per month as motor cycle allowance should get an enhanced allowance of Rs. 75 per month.

So far as the Inspectors of Collection Department and Licence Department are concerned, the Grade Reconciliation and Rules Advisory Committee recommended a conveyance allowance of Rs. 20 per month for them. The Unions have criticised the recommendation of the Committee as inadequate and they have given a list of outdoor duties of the Inspectors. They have also referred to the fact that the Engineering Supervisors get Rs. 60 per month as conveyance allowance and have claimed that there is no reason why the Inspectors of Licence and Collection Departments should get less. But the representatives of the Corporation have pointed out that the Engineering Supervisors have a large area under their supervision; they have 3 or 4 wards on the average to tour over as against 1 or 1½ wards in charge of Licence Inspectors and Collection Inspectors. They have also pointed out that Licence Inspectors have to collect licences only once a year from the shops and are expected to visit 20 houses in the morning in connection with that duty and attend office in the afternoon, and that Collection Department Inspectors similarly have to visit a limited area every day. The usual method of travel is by tram or bus, for the salary of these categories of workers is not high enough to enable them to keep motor cars or motor cycles. The Corporation has urged that the conveyance allowance of Rs. 20 recommended by the Grades Reconciliation Committee is quite adequate.

We have carefully considered all aspects of this matter and we are of opinion that a travelling allowance of Rs. 25 per month should be adequate for the Inspectors of Collection and Licence Departments.

For Bailiffs, we consider the conveyance allowance now paid, viz., Rs. 15 per month, as adequate and propose no increase. For Sircars of the Licence Department, we propose a conveyance allowance of Rs. 10 per month. For menials in receipt of a cycle allowance of Rs. 5 or Rs. 10 per month, we propose a fixed conveyance allowance of Rs. 10 per month. We do not consider it necessary to increase the motor cycle allowance of Rs. 50 or Rs. 60 per month. We reject the claim that all out-door peons and all scavengers should have a conveyance allowance of Rs. 10 per month.

(d) Duty Allowance for Jamadars.

It is urged by the Unions that Jamadars and Orderlies have to wait upon Officers who may work in office up to 7 or 8 p.m. and that such Jamadars and Orderlies should get a duty allowance of Rs. 10; this applies particularly to Jamadars and Orderlies of Heads of Departments who have to attend Committee meetings until late in the evening and are detained till late hour in office. It appears, however, that Jamadars and Orderlies who are detained till a late hour in office regularly have already been granted a duty allowance of Rs. 5 to Rs. 10 by the Corporation, according to the circumstances of the case, and the Deputy Chief Accountant has informed the Tribunal that those who are occasionally detained till a late hour, get a tiffin allowance for that day. Accordingly, there is no justification for a further duty allowance for Jamadars and Orderlies and the claim is rejected.

(e) Tiffin Allowance for Heavy Manual Workers and other categories of workers.

Tiffin Allowances at the rate of Rs. 5 per month have been claimed for heavy manual workers, particularly workshop employees, workers who work in underground trenches and manholes, press workers, waterworks coolies, municipal railway workers and asphalt-weigher and workers of the old Pumping Station and Nikashi Drain coolies.

According to the Corporation, all Engineering Department workers are heavy manual workers and their hours of work are so fixed as not to cause any undue physical strain on them. Accordingly, there is no justification for granting tiffin allowance to heavy manual workers. The hours of work for the labour staff are shown in Schedule V of Appendix XI. The working hours of Nikashi Drain coolies are 5-30 to 12 noon in winter and 5 a.m. to 11-30 a.m. in summer. For Sewer coolies the hours are 6 a.m. to 12 noon both in winter and summer. For G. P. coolies and boys the hours are 5-30 to 10-30 a.m. in winter and 5 to 10 a.m. in summer. The Press workers work only 34 hours in a week. The hours for most of the heavy manual workers are such that they do not have to be at the place of their duty during the tiffin time. As regards the Factory workers, they no doubt stay in the Factory premises at tiffin time, but there are canteens at some of the workshops and workers are given refreshments there at cost price. Therefore there is no justification for a tiffin allowance.

It has been urged by the Unions that the heavy work so exhausts the workmen that they require additional remuneration for keeping up their energy. But in many cases such workers do double work, for instance, G. P. coolies also work as Sewer cleansing coolies. The hours of work are comparatively short in the Corporation. Accordingly the argument that the workers are much exhausted by their work cannot be accepted. The claim for tiffin allowance is therefore rejected.

(f) Overtime and Night Work Allowance.

The Factory workers have provision under the Factories Act for overtime. The Unions claim that other workers should have their hours of work fixed and should have remuneration at 1½ times of their normal remuneration for overtime, and that night workers should be paid at the rate of 1½ times their normal pay. As an instance of night work, reference has been made to the work of Sub-Inspectors and Inspectors of Waterworks, who have to carry out tests of the water-supply pipes on Thursdays and Sundays between 11 p.m. and 1-30 a.m., although from the time of the riots in Calcutta, the hours have been fixed from 8-30 p.m. to 11-30 p.m.

As regards such night work by the Sub-Inspectors and Inspectors of the Waterworks Department, the reply of the Corporation is that such work is part of their normal duty. This is mentioned in Schedule V of Appendix XI, viz., special duties such as Ground Hydrant Flushing and night inspection work from 11 p.m. to 1-30 a.m. for two nights a week. It is also stated that the employees taking part in night work get four hours off-duty next morning and therefore no extra payment is required. In such a case, where the night work is part of the ordinary duties attached to the post and where compensation is provided for the night work by the workers getting four hours off next morning, there is no justification for a special allowance. It is next submitted by the Unions that the drainage staff have also to do night work. Appendix XI, Schedule V shows that Drainage Department coolies have to work five hours altogether during the day or the night. In such a case no special allowance or overtime can be claimed if the work is done at night instead of at day time.

As regards clerical staff and menial staff, the Unions also claim overtime for duty beyond their office hours. It appears, however, from the reply of the representatives of the Corporation that the Corporation already has a system of paying a tiffin allowance to clerks and menials when they stay on duty beyond their office hours. Thus for clerks, if overtime on any day is not less than three hours, a tiffin allowance of Re. 1-2 is paid and for work on Sundays and holidays, where overtime is not less than four hours, a tiffin allowance of Re. 1-8 is paid. The Unions have suggested that instead of a flat rate of payment, the clerks and peons should get overtime at the rate of 1½ times the normal rate of payment for the actual hours of overtime work. We are not, however, inclined to introduce such a system of overtime for the clerks and menials. We may refer to the comments made by the Central Pay Commission in paragraph 98 of its report, that if a system of overtime allowance is introduced for office work, it will encourage slackness during the regular office hours in order to enable the earning of overtime. The Central Pay Commission has recommended that officers should be instructed to avoid detaining the staff in office till late hours and should see that work is completed during the normal office hours. It is, however, possible that the nature of work is such that it cannot be completed within the normal office hours and it is to make provision for such a case that the Corporation has provided for a tiffin allowance for the clerical and menial staff, when they have to work overtime. We see no reason to interfere with this system. We may note also that the Government have not yet introduced such a system of overtime for their clerks and menials, and that the Corporation staff has got some advantage in this respect over the Government employees. In the Collection Department and the Treasury Department there is heavy rush of work at the end of each quarter, but we understand that there is a special scale of overtime for the staff of these departments and no interference is necessary in this case also. The Unions have next referred to the working hours of Durwans and stated that Durwans have long working hours and should get overtime. The Corporation has shown in Schedule VII of Appendix XI that all Durwans get a duty allowance of Rs. 5 on the ground that they are detained several hours each day in the course of their duties. Thus there is no justification for a claim for further overtime for Durwans.

Lastly, there is the case of the Loco running staff, viz., driver, fireman, etc., of the municipal railway. The municipal railway is a small railway system, the total length of the line being 2·17 miles, and the railway is chiefly utilised for carrying refuse from the city area to Dhapa area and in carrying ballast or stone chips for Corporation roads. The Union has urged that the Loco running staff are sometimes on duty for even 12 hours and they have no regular system of overtime. It is urged that the rate of overtime should be prescribed for the Loco running staff.

The Chief Engineer of the Corporation has filed a statement showing the actual overtime work of the Loco running staff. It should be pointed out that the work of the Loco running staff is not continuous, for the trains of the Corporation run over a short line but there is a detention at the terminus, and after some detention the crew returns with the train. Thus the spread-over may be more than 8 hours, but the actual hours of work are not necessarily more than 8 hours in all cases. As regards the employees on the passenger and morning town trains, we find that the total spread-over is only 9 hours. This is less than the spread-over of 10½ hours allowed by the Factories Act. The duty being non-continuous, we are not satisfied that any overtime is payable in such a case. Regarding the evening town train, the total spread-over is only 8 hours and there is no case for overtime. For the staff engaged on Dhapa and Ballast trains, the total spread-over is 12 hours. In this case there is justification for some overtime. The Government of India have recently framed certain rules on the basis of the report of Justice Rajadhyaksha. The Corporation should adopt the overtime rules for the Railways prescribed by the Government of India and pay overtime to the Loco running staff, if such overtime is admissible under the rules.

(g) Maternity Benefit for Female Workers.

It has been claimed that female workers should get one month's maternity leave on full pay before confinement and one month's maternity leave on full pay after confinement. Under the Bengal Maternity Benefit Act of 1939, Factory women are entitled to four weeks' ante-natal and four weeks' post-natal leave with pay. The Corporation is already allowing one month's leave before and one month's leave after confinement with full pay, although the present rule is that one month's leave with full pay should be allowed and one month more in special cases. The Chief Engineer of the Corporation has explained that this rule was adopted because in many cases women workers do not take leave before confinement and apply for leave only after confinement. We, however, direct that the rule should be amended so as to provide for one month's leave with pay before and one month's leave after delivery with full pay.

(h) Uniforms and Washing Allowance.

The Unions have claimed that all out-door staff should get uniforms and further that washing allowance should be given to all the workers who are provided with uniforms.

The Corporation supplies uniforms to Durwans and umbrellas to out-door workers during the rainy season. Nurses and sisters are also supplied with uniforms and are also given a washing allowance. Further the Corporation gives a free supply of soap, oil and napkins to several classes of labour staff. They are mentioned in Schedule VI of Appendix XI of the Corporation's written statement. On behalf of the Corporation, it has been stated that the Corporation is willing to extend the system of giving uniforms to the out-door staff and also to provide long coats to all night workers, but that paucity of funds stands in the way at present. We are satisfied that in the matter of supply of uniforms and granting washing allowance, the Corporation is doing as much as it can in its present financial position and at this stage we are not inclined to give any mandatory direction on this point.

Issue No. 5.—Leave.

(a) Casual Leave.

At present the Corporation allows 10 days casual leave to its employees other than labour staff. The labour staff gets no casual leave although unskilled labour gets 15 days' leave with pay in a year and the skilled labour staff get 21 days' leave with pay in a year. The Unions claim that all classes of staff including labour should get 15 days' casual leave in a year with pay. In most Government Offices, however, 10 days' casual leave with pay is the rule. Further the labour staff is not granted casual leave with pay in any establishment. Accordingly we see no reason to modify the present rules of the Corporation as to casual leave.

(b) Medical Leave for Labour Staff.

The employees other than labour staff already get adequate leave on medical certificate. For the labour staff it is urged that there should be a provision for sick leave on full pay.

In the written statement the Unions have demanded sick leave on full pay for 15 days for the labour staff. We consider the demand for the provision of sick leave for labour staff as reasonable. Under the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948, workmen will get an allowance roughly equivalent to half pay when they are ill. Accordingly we provide that the labour staff should be granted sick leave on half pay for 15 days in a year.

(c) Privilege leave for labour staff and menial workers.

The Corporation has already made provision for privilege leave for 14 days for the unskilled labour and 21 days for the skilled labour staff. It is not demanded by the Unions that this privilege leave should be further increased. It is, however, claimed that privilege leave with pay as sanctioned by the Corporation on 23rd March 1938 for Jamadars and peons be immediately implemented. On 23rd March 1938 the Corporation resolved that employees in inferior service like block sircars, peons, orderlies, durwans and bearers should be given privilege leave of one month in a year with full pay, as in the case of the clerical staff. But the leave rules made by the Corporation for the employees required the sanction of the Government, and the Government insisted that the Corporation should make an amendment providing that leave salary of an inferior servant shall not exceed what remains from his pay after providing for efficient discharge of his duties during his absence provided that the excess over half pay granted to the officiating man may at the discretion of the authorities be disregarded in calculating the leave salary. Under this amendment when a substitute is appointed for an employee in inferior service going on leave, the employee concerned cannot get more than approximately half of his pay. The Unions urge that full pay ought to be given as in the case of the clerical staff. But in this respect the Corporation has merely adopted the Government rule at the instance of the Government. It is desirable that leave rules for the Government employees and the Corporation employees should be similar as far as possible and accordingly we cannot direct any amendment in the leave rules.

It has also been urged that labour staff and other employees of the Corporation, who have to work for 365 days in a year and do not get the benefit of Sundays and holidays at present, should be allowed to enjoy Sundays and holidays or should in the alternative be given double pay on Sundays and holidays. This claim is made for the Conservancy staff in particular, who have to work every day. From the very nature of the work, the work must be performed from day to day without any break. If the Corporation is to give them permission to enjoy holidays, the Corporation will be required to employ additional hands on holidays and this will entail a great deal of extra cost, which the Corporation cannot afford to bear. Moreover the term of their employment is that they will work from day to day without any extra payment. Accordingly this claim is rejected.

Issue No. 6.—Retiring Benefits.

(a) Gratuity, Pension and Insurance Benefits.

Regarding gratuity, the only point urged is that the rule that gratuity will become payable after 15 years' service should be abolished. We, however, do not think that this would be desirable. Gratuity is a retiring benefit and an employee must be put in a certain number of years' service before he can be permitted to retire with gratuity. The limit of 15 years' service is, in fact, more liberal than the rule adopted by Government and by many industrial concerns. There is no justification for modifying the rule.

The Workers' Federation has urged that a combined pension and insurance benefit scheme as recommended by the Central Pay Commission (page 102) should be adopted by the Corporation for its employees. Corporation has, however, no system of paying pension to its employees. It has a system of Contributory Provident Fund plus special contribution or gratuity. The Government also have not adopted a system of combined pension and insurance scheme, as suggested by the Central Pay Commission. Accordingly the claim that the Corporation should start such a scheme is rejected.

(b) Special Contribution to Contributory Provident Fund.

The Corporation grants gratuity or special contribution into the Provident Fund on completion of 15 years' service. The Unions claim that this period should be reduced to 10 years. We, however, consider that this would not be desirable, as already explained when dealing with the issue of gratuity.

It is also urged that the rate of compulsory contribution should be 8⅓ per cent. in the case of inferior and labour staff, as it is in the case of other employees.

At present the rate of contribution is 8⅓ per cent. for employees other than labour staff. For the labour staff, it is Re. 1 per head per month for those drawing pay up to Rs. 30 and Rs. 1-8 for those drawing pay above Rs. 30 and exceeding Rs. 40 and Rs. 2 for those drawing pay above Rs. 40 per month. The Corporation has stated that it has been found difficult to collect from the labour staff even the contribution prescribed under the Provident Fund Rules of the Corporation and in the circumstances it would be undesirable to increase the rate of contribution by the labour staff. Further, the labour staff, many of whom are low paid, cannot afford to spare 1/12th of their salary for provident fund contribution. We consider, however, that the rate of contribution for labour staff should be 6¼ per cent. which is the standard rate of contribution obtaining in many industrial establishments and in many categories of Government Railway Service. Accordingly we direct the following alterations in the Provident Fund Rules, viz., that in the case of the labour staff the rate of compulsory contribution shall be 6¼ per cent.

The Unions have raised the point that there is no provision for voluntary contribution by the labour staff, though there is provision that other classes of employees may contribute an additional voluntary subscription into the Provident Fund. We do not consider it necessary to provide that the labour staff shall be entitled to make an additional voluntary subscription into the Provident Fund, because it has been found difficult to realise even the compulsory contribution from the labour staff Moreover, the Corporation contributes a sum equal to the compulsory subscription and there is no contribution made by the Corporation for the voluntary subscription. We do not, therefore, consider it necessary to extend the rule of voluntary contribution to the Provident Fund to the labour staff as well.

Issue No. 7.—Bonus.

(a) Independence Day Bonus.

This demand has only been made by the Jamadar Peons and Workers' Union. The Corporation has not paid an Independence Day Bonus to any class of employees. The claim for such a bonus does not constitute an industrial dispute. The Corporation is not a profit making concern and its finances are in a bad state. Thus even if it were a matter falling within the definition of an industrial dispute, we would not be disposed to make an award granting an Independence Day bonus.

(b) Id and Puja Bonus.

This demand has been made by the Workers' Union. This claim also does not constitute an industrial dispute and hence it is rejected.

Issue No. 8—Medical Facilities.

The Unions have demanded that the cost of medical treatment for Corporation workers and employees should be borne by the Corporation; that a certain number of beds in hospitals, specially in those institutions receiving Corporation grants, should be reserved for the employees of the Corporation, and that two representatives of the employees of the Corporation should be given seats in the Committee of Management of each institution receiving such grant.

The Corporation has a number of dispensaries where the Corporation workers and employees receive free medical attention and treatment. The Corporation has furnished a list of its charitable dispensaries, charitable dispensaries specially meant for its labour staff, Corporation hospitals, Corporation Maternity Homes and Corporation Maternity Units. There are 12 public charitable dispensaries maintained by the Corporation and 7 more charitable dispensaries meant specially for the labour staff Further the Health Officer passed an order on 19th October 1946 that in connection with the free treatment of the labour staff the Gowkhana Dispensaries should be kept open for three hours daily in the afternoon. It appears, therefore, that the Corporation has made adequate arrangements for medical aid of its employees.

The Unions have urged that there is no dispensary near the Entally Workshop and that one should be provided and that further medical aid facilities should be arranged in Bustees where Corporation workers live.

In this matter we can only recommend that the Corporation should, as soon as funds permit, provide a dispensary near the Entally Workshop.

As regards the question of reservation of beds in hospitals receiving grants from the Corporation, the Corporation agrees in principle that this should be done. We are told that on the recommendation of the Health Officer beds are made available to the employees who want them. Accordingly no further direction in this respect is necessary.

As regards seats for representatives of the Corporation employees in the Managing Committees of the hospitals, we do not think that the claim is justified. Moreover there is a difficulty in the way, for the Managing Committees must be approved by the Government and the rules for formation of the Managing Committees are also made by Government; it may not thus be possible to provide for representatives of Corporation employees on the Committees under the rules. Hence this demand is rejected.

As regards the claim that a fully equipped hospital should be maintained for Corporation employees only, the Health Officer has stated that the Monoshatala Hospital at 6, Monoshatala Lane, is available for the employees and that accommodation in the hospital has never been refused when employees have asked for it. The difficulty is that the Corporation employees prefer to go to the better equipped Government hospitals, rather than to the Monoshatala Hospital. In such circumstances there is no point in asking the Corporation to reserve a hospital for Corporation employees, because if such reservation were made, many of the beds would remain vacant.

Next it is urged that 55 beds of the Jadavpur T. B. Hospital are at the disposal of the Health Officer and that the Health Officer should arrange to reserve at least half the beds for the Corporation employees. We think that the claim is not at all reasonable. The 55 beds of the Jadavpur Hospital are meant for the rate-payers of the Corporation and they cannot be earmarked for the employees. It appears from the statement of the Health Officer that he has provided beds for one employee and 10 relatives of the employees, in other words, 11 out of the 55 beds have been given to the employees or their relations. This is more than what the employees can rightly claim in proportion to the number of rate-payers in Calcutta, who are entitled to the same facilities. Moreover once a patient is admitted into the hospital as an indoor patient, the bed does not fall vacant within a long time. It is not possible that a bed filled up on the recommendation of the Health Officer, should be made vacant, after throwing out the patient occupying it, when an employee of the Corporation or his relative is attacked with T. B. The Health Officer has stated that he gives preference to the Corporation employees in the distribution of beds and that is all that the Corporation can do for its employees.

Issue No. 9—Supply of Cheap Rations.

At present rations at concession rates are supplied to Corporation employees drawing pay up to Rs. 35 per month. On behalf of the Workers' Federation it is urged that the Pulta Pumping Station workers drawing pay up to Rs. 100 per month should get cheap rations and that similar benefit should be extended to all the workers of the Corporation and the anomaly should be removed. The other Unions have also adopted the claim that cheap ration should be given to all employees drawing pay up to Rs. 100. Further it has been claimed that rations should be given on a more liberal scale and that the reduction in the quantity of rations should be restored.

When dealing with the basic wages, we have recommended that rations at concession rate should be given to the unskilled labour staff drawing pay not exceeding Rs. 35 and that the benefit should be withdrawn from the skilled labour staff and menial staff. Accordingly in order to remove the anomaly pointed out by the Workers' Federation, we would recommend that at Pulta Pumping Station also, benefit of cheap ration should be restricted to the unskilled labour staff drawing pay up to Rs. 35 only, but the skilled labour staff may get ration from the Corporation shops at the controlled rate. As to reduction in the supply of rations, this was done by the Corporation when the Government reduced the scale of supply. The Corporation is not at fault in this respect. In view of the present supply position in the city, the Corporation cannot be asked to supply rations at the original scale.

Issue No. 10—Provision of Rest and Recreation Centre.

On this point there is only a claim by the Workers' Federation and the representative of the Workers' Federation has explained that he has asked for provision of a rest and recreation centre only for the workshops. The biggest workshop of the Corporation is at Entally. The Corporation representatives have explained that at Entally there are very few resident workers and that out of about 1,100 workers, more than 800 come from outside. Further the representative of the Corporation has said that a Football and Swimming Club has been started at Palta, but it has not obtained sufficient support from the employees, and that it would be useless to start a rest and recreation centre for the workmen. The representative of the Corporation has also said that previously at Gowkhanas, educational films were occasionally exhibited, and night schools were run for the improvement of the labour staff, and that the Corporation intends that these amenities should be restored; the amenities had to be discontinued during the War years. In view of what has been said on the point by the Corporation representatives, we do not think it necesasry to give any direction on the point.

Issue No. 11—Working hours in Corporation Workshops.

There is a claim that working hours should be reduced to 40 per week. This claim, however, cannot be accepted, for the 48 hour week is the recognised system in India.

Next it is urged that at the Motor Vehicles Department workshop, though work is done for 46 hours in the week, 48 hours' pay is actually given, but that at the Entally Workshop, where 46 hours' work is done in the week, pay for 46 hours only is given, i.e., on Saturday 6 hours' work is done and ¾ of the day's pay is given. We do not think that it is justified. The remuneration of the workman is fixed on the basis that he will have to work for 48 hours in the week and, if he works for 48 hours in the week, he cannot claim any extra remuneration; but if the employer makes a reduction in the working hours for some reason or other, he cannot reduce the pay of the workmen. He must give them the full week's wages, where the fall from 48 hours is not due to any fault of the workmen.

The Chief Engineer on behalf of the Corporation has agreed to introduce the system obtaining in the Motor Vehicles Workshop to the Entally Workshop. We direct that this should be done, so that there is no anomaly.

Issue No. 12—Conditions of Service.

(a) Age-limit in the case of first appointment.

The Unions demand that to prevent corruption and nepotism an age-limit should be fixed in the case of first appointments, an exception being made only in the case of political sufferers, technical posts and people now in the temporary service of the Corporation.

The Corporation has stated that at present there is no age-limit in the matter of appointments and that in these hard times it is not desirable to apply an age-limit in the case of first appointments. An age-limit in the case of first appointment exists, however, in the case of Government service. The conditions of service under the Corporation are analogous to Government service. We agree with the contention of the Unions that the existence of an age-limit would tend to restrict the scope for corruption and nepotism. We understand from the Unions, that an attempt to introduce an age-limit was made from time to time by some Mayors, but that the attempt did not succeed. We direct that an age-limit should henceforth be fixed in the case of first appointments except in the case of the labour staff and the technical staff and that an exception should also be made in the case of political sufferers and people now in the temporary service of the Corporation. Otherwise the minimum age-limit should be 18 and maximum age-limit should be 25 years.

The Teachers' Union has urged that the minimum age-limit for teachers has been fixed at 21 and that this involves hardships for the temporary teachers who are below 21 as they have no chance of confirmation before they attain the age of 21. Where the Corporation has introduced an age-limit, we do not consider it necessary to interfere with the same. As regards the teachers under the age of 21 they may wait till they attain the age of 21.

(b) Retiring age for the different classes of employees.

At present the retiring age for the menials is 60 years and for the labour staff there is no limit. For the other classes of employees, the retiring age is at 55 years.

The Unions want that for the labour staff, there should be no age-limit, that for menials and for the teachers the age-limit should be 60, and that for others the age-limit should be 58, as recommended by the Central Pay Commission. But neither the Government of India nor the Government of West Bengal have accepted the recommendation of the Central Pay Commission in this respect. Now-a-days when there is pressure of unemployment and there is question of making provision for refugees from Pakistan, it is not desirable to raise retiring age above the limit now in existence. Accordingly, we direct that no alternation be made in the rules as to retiring age.

(c) Provision that all new appointments should be at the starting salary of each grade.

The Unions have pressed for such a provision, but the Corporation has objected that discretion must be left to the appointing authority to give the benefit of some increments to suitable candidates. In respect of Government service, all new appointments are made at the starting salary of each grade, but there is provision for giving special increments when an employee shows particular efficiency. We consider that the Corporation should adopt similar rules. Accordingly, we direct that all new appointments should be made at the starting salary of each grade. Only in respect of technical posts an exception may be made to secure the services of a highly qualified candidate.

(d) Preparing a Panel of temporary employees and absorbing them into permanent vacancies.

The Corporation in paragraph 30 of the written statement partially accepted the demand that a panel of temporary employees should be made and that the temporary employees should be absorbed in the permanent vacancies as soon as possible. The Corporation says in paragraph 30 that it is prepared to maintain a panel of qualified persons in temporary service department by department, and fill up permanent vacancies in each department from such panels on the recommendation of the head of the department. At the time of the hearing the Corporation has also agreed that in case of temporary employees not possessing the required minimum qualification, a general list should be made for absorbing them in suitable vacancies, if possible. Accordingly, no further direction is necessary.

(e) Promotion and Supersession.

On this point the Unions have urged strongly that provision should be made for filling up vacancies by promotion as far as possible and that outsiders should not be allowed to be imported into the Corporation in supersession of the claims of existing employees with long terms of service. In the rules adopted by the Corporation by the resolution, dated 9th January 1948, quoted in Appendix XIV of the written statement of the Corporation, minimum qualification, for different posts have been prescribed and it has been provided in many cases that at least 50 per cent. of the vacancies are to be filled up by promotion; in some cases, all the posts are to be filled by promotion. If these rules are properly followed, they would sufficiently meet the objection of the employees that supersession is rampant in the Corporation. We recommend, therefore, that the rules contained in the resolution of the Corporation, dated 9th January 1948, should be strictly followed.

(f) Time-scale for temporary employees.

The Unions have claimed that temporary employees should be given the benefit of time-scales and should not be kept on the same fixed pay from year to year.

The Corporation, in its written statement, has accepted this demand to a large extent and has suggested that it is prepared to make the following rule:—

> "In future all temporary posts, whenever created, shall be deemed to have the usual standard grades attached to them. Annual increments will be earned on the completion of one year's service and on passing the departmental examination, if any, and thereafter after one year's service from the date of last increment subject to the usual conditions attached to the grant of grade increment."

We consider that this rule is reasonable and will remove the grievances of the employees. We direct, therefore, that such a rule be incorporated in the Corporation Rules of Service.

(g) Reservation of percentage of vacancies for children and dependants of employees.

The Unions have claimed that 25 per cent. of the vacancies should be reserved for children and 15 per cent. more for the dependants of the employees. The Corporation has agreed to reserve altogether 25 per cent. of the vacancies for the children and dependants of employees, provided they possess the minimum qualifications necessary for the posts. The claim that 40 per cent. should be reserved for the children and the relatives is too high. We accept the offer of the Corporation to reserve 25 per cent. of the vacancies for children and dependants of the employees provided such children and dependants possess the necessary minimum qualifications.

(h) Conditions under which a worker may be permitted, if at all, to hold double appointment under the Corporation or to hold an outside appointment in addition to appointment under the Corporation.

Normally service under the Corporation should be full-time service. There are, however, certain categories of Corporation employees having very light work. One prominent instance is that of Gas Lamp Lighters. They have the duty of lighting from 35 to 43 gas lamps each in the evening and of extinguishing the lights in the early morning. They are also supposed to report about the condition of the gas lights and mantles at the Corporation office during the day time, but this part of the work is said to be frequently overlooked and it is not insisted upon, so that Government peons or Corporation peons or people in other employment combine their other appointments with the appointment of lamp lighters under the Corporation. Similarly Sewer Coolies, whose hours of work are in the morning from 6 a.m. to 12 noon, and Nikashi Drain Coolies, whose working hours are from 5 to 11-30 a.m., also work as Sewer Cleansing Coolies in the Drainage Department, where the cooly is to put in five hours' work either in the day or at night. O. P. Coolies have only five hours' work from 5 a.m. to 10 a.m. or 5-30 a.m. to 10-30 a.m. Service Privy Mehthars have four hours' work. It is, therefore, possible for these men to do additional work. During the war years a resolution was passed by the Corporation enabling the labour staff to do double duty and get double pay, because the Corporation had difficulty in getting additional men for work in case of vacancies. We think that this resolution should be rescinded when normal times return, because work under the Corporation as under any employer should be full-time work and there should not be time and energy left to take any additional full-time work. The case, however, would be different if some of the workers were regarded as part time workers. However, since the Corporation has a resolution allowing labour staff to do double duty, we direct that in every case double duty should be done with the express sanction of the Chief Engineer, who should report such cases of sanction to the Chief Executive Officer, and that, further, when such double duty is permitted, the workmen should get only one dearness allowance, although he may get the basic pay of the second job in addition to the basic pay of the first job.

As regards permission to hold outside appointment in addition to the appointment under the Corporation, we consider that there is no objection to permission being given for part-time appointment, e.g., when a teacher, though a whole-time worker, is granted permission to do private tuition, but no permission should be given to any Corporation employee for whole-time appointment under any other employer. If it is found that such whole-time service has been taken without permission of the Corporation authorities, dismissal of that employee from Corporation service should be the normal rule.

Issue No. 13.—Compensation for victims of Calcutta Communal Riots.

The Unions have claimed that Corporation employees who were physically injured during the last communal riots should be given proper compensation, and that families of Corporation employees who died as the result of the communal riot should be given compensation. The Corporation in its written statement has accepted the claim and has suggested that applications should be made to the Corporation authorities for such compensation by the employees or by families of Corporation employees who were injured or died in course of their duty during the communal riots. Accordingly no further direction on this issue is necessary.

SUMMARY.

We give below a summary of our Award:—

(1) The minimum basic pay and scales of pay for the different categories of workers are fixed as follows:—

(a) Unskilled Labour.

(i) Standard Grade—Rs. 25—1—30.

(ii) Upper Grade—Rs. 27—1—32.

(iii) Gully-Pit Boys and Boy Coolies—Rs. 16—1—18 (not changed).

The members of the unskilled labour staff will have the benefit of subsidised ration.

(b) Skilled Labour.

The minimum basic pay for the skilled labour is fixed at Rs. 35 per month, but the skilled labour will not have the benefit of subsidised ration. They may, however, take foodstuffs from the Corporation Ration Shops but must pay the controlled price for them. The existing grades for the skilled labour as shown in Appendix XI, Schedule II of the Corporation's Written Statement, are revised as follows:—

Existing grade. Rs.	Revised grade. Rs.
25—1—30	35—1—40.
25—1—30—1—35	35—1—40—1—45.
25—1—35—1—40	35—1—45—1—50.
25—1—30—2—40	35—1—40—2—50.
25—2—35—2—45	35—1—40—2—50.
30—1—35—1—40	35—1—40—2—50.

As regards the remaining grades we make the following amendments:—

(a) Where the starting salary varies from Rs. 30 to Rs. 50, a flat rise of Rs. 5 is to be given both to the starting salary and the maximum salary.

(b) Where the starting salary of the grade is Rs. 60 or upwards we propose no alteration in the scales.

Ash coolies will be included in the category of skilled workers and will be given the grade of Rs. 35—1—40.

(c) Menial Staff.

The scales of the menial staff are revised as follows:—

Existing grade.		Revised grade.
Rs.		Rs.
25—1—30	..	30—1—35.
30—1—35	..	35—1—40.
35—1—40	..	40—1—45.

As regards the menial staff also, the benefit of the subsidised ration is to be withdrawn but, as in the case of skilled labour, the menials may draw foodstuffs from the Corporation Ration Shops at controlled price.

(d) Maid-servants.

The existing scale of Rs. 13—1—18 is revised to the scale of Rs. 20—1—25.

(e) Subordinate Staff.

Employees belonging to this category will not get the benefit of subsidised ration, though they may purchase rationed foodstuffs from the Corporation Ration Shops at controlled prices. The minimum basic pay of employees of this category is fixed at Rs. 35 and the existing scales are revised as follows:—

		Existing scale.		Revised scale.

Other classes of employees included in this class are listed in Appendix XI, Schedule I, Sheet 1 and Sheet 2, and Schedule I, Part II. In their case the new grades are fixed by adding Rs. 10 to both the existing starting pay and the existing maximum pay, i.e., the scales of Rs. 25—1—30, Rs. 25—1—35 and Rs. 25—1—40 are revised to Rs. 35—1—40, Rs. 35—1—45 and Rs. 35—1—50.

(f) Apprentices in Entally Workshop.

The following scale of allowance is fixed for apprentices in Entally Workshop:—

1st Year—Rs. 20.

2nd Year—Rs. 25.

3rd Year—Rs. 30.

4th Year—Rs. 35.

5th Year—Rs. 40.

In the 6th year the allowance will be Rs. 50, when he will obtain practical training.

There will be no dearness allowance payable to the apprentices of the Workshops.

(g) Teachers and Instructors.

The existing scales are revised as follows:—

The Drawing and Modelling Instructor, the Physical Instructor and Scout Master will have the same grade as that of the Assistant Head Master, and the Arts and Craft Instructor will have the same grade as the Artisan Instructor.

(h) Clerical.

The existing scale of lower grade clerks, viz., Rs. 50—60—4—80—5—165, is split up into two scales, viz., Rs. 60—4—80—5—150 and Rs. 150—10—200. The 28 posts of Divisional Head Clerks and one post of Senior Assistant Keeper of Records will be included in the scale of Rs. 150—10—200; other posts should be included in this scale so as to have not less than 10 per cent. of the total number of posts in this scale. Clerks in the existing lower grade who fail to obtain promotion to the Subordinate Higher Grade of Rs. 150—10—200 will draw pay in the existing scale of Rs. 50—165 as personal pay.

The other scales of Upper Grade Clerks are revised as follows:—

215—10—265	..	250—10—300.
250—10—350 (for Personal Assistants).		No change.

For Stenographers a separate scale is fixed at Rs. 100—5—150—10—200. The existing special grade for Telephone Clerks will be abolished and junior Lower Grade Clerks should be put on duty as Telephone Clerks. All posts in the grades of Rs. 150—10—200 and Rs. 200—10—250 will be filled by promotion. The posts of Personal Assistants should also be filled by promotion as far as possible.

Other Staff drawing pay up to Rs. 500.

2. For fitting the employees into the new grades, they should be given the stage in the proposed scale next above the pay they are now drawing, including the temporary special increase given on 14th August 1946. Where the existing pay together with the special increases given on 14th August 1946 exceeds the maximum fixed for the proposed scale, the employee will draw the existing pay including the special increase as personal pay.

3. Dearness allowance will be paid at the following scale:—

Pay range.	Dearness allowance.
	Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	25
From Rs. 51 to Rs. 100	35
From Rs. 101 to Rs. 150	40
From Rs. 151 to Rs. 200	45
From Rs. 201 to Rs. 250	50
From Rs. 251 to Rs. 300	60
From Rs. 301 to Rs. 400	70
From 401 to Rs. 2,000	17½ per cent.

4. (a) The claim for city or compensatory allowance is rejected.

(b) The claim for free quarters or house rent allowance is rejected for the present in view of the financial condition of the Corporation.

(c) Inspectors of the Collection Department and Licence Department are allowed conveyance allowance of Rs. 25 per month. Sarcars of the Licence Department are allowed a conveyance allowance of Rs. 10 per month. Menials in receipt of a cycle allowance of Rs. 5 or Rs. 10 per month will henceforth get a fixed conveyance allowance of Rs. 10 per month. The claim for conveyance allowance or higher conveyance allowance for other classes of workers is rejected.

(d) The claim for a duty allowance for Jamadars is rejected as there is already a duty allowance paid to them when they are regularly detained till late hours.

(e) The claim for tiffin allowance is rejected.

(f) The claim for revision of the Overtime Pay Rules of the Corporation and the claim for night work allowance are rejected.

As regards the Loco running staff, however, the Corporation should adopt the Overtime Rules for Railways prescribed by the Government of India.

(g) The rule granting maternity leave to female workers should be revised, so as to provide for one month's leave with pay before and one month's leave with pay after delivery.

(h) The claim for uniform and washing allowance is rejected in view of the present financial condition of the Corporation.

5. (a) The claim for increasing casual leave to 15 days in a year where 10 days' casual leave is allowed, and the claim for allowing casual leave to workers are rejected.

(b) The labour staff should henceforth be allowed sick leave on half pay for 15 days in a year.

(c) The claim for additional privilege leave for labour staff and menial workers is not pressed and is rejected.

The claim that employees in inferior service should be given full pay during privilege leave, whether or not a substitute is appointed in their place, is rejected in view of the fact that the Corporation Leave Rules in this respect agree with the Government Leave Rules.

6. The claim that gratuity or special contribution to Contributory Provident Fund should be payable without the limit that the employees must complete 15 years' service is rejected. The rate of contribution to the Contributory Provident Fund in the case of labour staff is fixed at 6¼ per cent. of their pay. The claim for pension and insurance benefit is rejected.

7. The claim for Independence Day Bonus and Puja and Id Bonus is rejected.

8. The claim for additional medical facilities is rejected as the medical facilities provided by the Corporation are considered sufficient. It is recommended, however, that the Corporation should provide a dispensary at or near the Entally Workshop as soon as possible.

9. The claim that the supply of subsidised ration should be extended to Corporation employees drawing up to Rs. 100 per month is rejected. On the other hand, it is recommended that at Palta Pumping Station also the benefit of subsidised rations should be restricted to the unskilled labour staff drawing pay up to Rs. 35 only.

10. It is not considered necessary to give any direction on the Corporation as to the provision of Rest and Recreation Centres.

11. The claim for reducing working hours to 40 per week in the case of the Workshops is rejected. It is, however, directed that the system obtaining at the Motor Vehicles Department Workshop as to pay for 48 hours for 46 hours' work should be extended to the Entally Workshop also.

12. (a) In the case of first appointment, except in the case of labour staff and the technical staff, the candidate must be between 18 and 25 years of age. This, however, may be relaxed in the case of political sufferers and people now in temporary employment of the Corporation. In the case of teachers the existing age limit of 21 years may be retained.

(b) As to retiring age, the existing rules of the Corporation are retained.

(c) We direct that all new appointments should be made at the starting salary of each grade, except that in the case of technical posts an exception may be made to secure the services of a highly qualified candidate.

(d) The Corporation will prepare and maintain a panel of qualified persons in temporary service, department by department, and fill up permanent vacancies in each department from the panel of that department, on the recommendation of the head of the department. In the case of temporary employees not possessing the required minimum qualification, a general list should be made for absorbing them in suitable vacancies, if possible.

(e) In the matter of promotion, the rules adopted by the Corporation by the resolution, dated 9th January 1948, quoted in Appendix XIV of the Written Statement of the Corporation should be strictly followed. Promotion should be made on the basis of seniority plus efficiency.

(f) Regarding temporary employees, the Corporation should adopt a rule providing that temporary employees will be eligible to annual increments as in the case of permanent employees of the corresponding grade.

(g) 25 per cent. of the vacancies will be reserved for the children and dependants of the employees of the Corporation, provided such children and dependants possess the necessary minimum qualifications.

(h) Holding of double appointments under the Corporation should be discouraged. Duties of certain categories like Gas Lamp Lighters who have light work at present, should be revised so as to provide full-time work for all classes of employees. In special cases holding of double appointments under the Corporation may be permitted, but in each such case there should be express sanction of the Chief Engineer who should report each such case to the Chief Executive Officer, and further when the holding of double appointments is permitted the employee concerned will get only one dearness allowance, though he will draw the basic pay for both the jobs.

Permission to hold whole-time outside appointment should not be granted and where it is found that whole-time employment under any other employer has been taken by a Corporation employee, the dismissal of that employee from the Corporation service should be the normal rule.

13. The Corporation having agreed to give proper compensation to employees who were physically injured during the last communal riots and to families of Corporation employees who died as a result of the last communal riots, it is directed that applications for such compensation should be made by the employees or the families of the employees to the Corporation authorities for necessary action.

Application of the award.

The award in respect of dearness allowance will come into force from 1st April 1948. The other portions of the award will come into force from 1st July 1948 or any other date prescribed by the Government.

No. 2466Lab.—21st July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 941-Lab., dated the 30th March 1948, the industrial dispute between F. N. Gupta & Company, 12, Beliaghata Road, Calcutta, and its employees as represented by F. N. Gupta Workers' Union, 11, Beliaghata Road, post office Tangra, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri N. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri N. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri N. C. Chakraborty, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of its publication.

ANNEXURE.

AWARD.

This industrial dispute between F. N. Gupta & Company, 12, Beliaghata Road, Calcutta, and its employees as represented by F. N. Gupta Workers' Union, 95/4/1, Narikeldanga Main Road, Calcutta, has been referred by Government order No. 941-Lab., dated 30th March 1948, to me for adjudication under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

2. Sri S. Roy, Counsel, instructed by Messrs. K. K. Dutta & Co., Solicitors, appeared for the Company and Sri Dwijendra Lal Sen Gupta, Pleader, appeared for the Union.

3. The Company manufactures pen-holders, nibs, fountain pens, pencils, etc., and employs about 160 workers. The workers had grievances in respect of wages and other conditions of service. For the purpose of securing better terms of service the workers formed themselves into a Union on the 31st August 1947. On the 31st October 1947 the Union submitted a Charter of Demands to the Company. The demands did not receive favourable consideration from the Company. Between 29th December 1947 and 18th February 1948 steps were taken by the Labour Commissioner for conciliation. The conciliation proceedings having failed the present reference was made.

4. The following issues indicate the details of the disputes as they appear in the written statement filed by the Union:—

(1) Recognition of the Union.

(2) Security of service.

(3) Minimum basic wages.

(4) Dearness allowance and city allowance.

(5) Grades above minimum basic wages.

(6) Bonus.

(7) Gratuity, pension and provident fund.

(8) Leave and holidays.

(9) Free uniform.

(10) Medical aid.

(11) Housing accommodation or house rent allowance.

(12) Rest and recreation centre.

(13) Free tiffin.

(14) Standing Orders.

(15) Wages to be paid at the end of the month.

(16) Compensation during involuntary unemployment.

(17) Reinstatement of the discharged workmen:—

(a) Sankar Routh.
(b) Gangadhar Ghosh.
(c) Niranjan Chakrabarti.
(d) Bholanath Ghosh.

Issues Nos. (5) Grades above minimum basic wages—(9) Free uniform—(11) Housing accommodation or house rent allowance—(12) Rest and recreation centre—(13) Free tiffin—(14) Standing Orders—(15) Wages to be paid at the end of the month.

On these issues the contention of the Company was that no such disputes had been referred to the Tribunal by the present reference. The Company referred me to the charter of demands, dated 31st October 1947, Ext. A, which contained some only of the present demands in dispute. The conciliation proceedings were based on this charter of demands. There is no indication in the evidence that on the date of the present reference there was any other demand, not included in the charter of demands, which was the subject matter of dispute. In the circumstances, I must hold that there was no dispute on the subject of the present issues on the date of reference. It is not open to the workers after reference of the disputes to the Adjudicator to widen the scope of the demands or to alter their nature. Issacs J, in King vs. Ex parte Whyprow and Company and others reported in 11 (Australian) Commonwealth Law Reports (1910-11), page 1 at page 61, dealing with this subject had expressed himself as below:—

> "There is nothing in the world to prevent employers and employees from making their respective demands as wide as they please; but when they choose to select one particular limited demand as the subject or point of dispute, and refer that to the Court, then that is what the Court has to decide. It may be anything between the maximum and the minimum limits of the dispute, but it can pass neither further forward than the maximum, nor further back than the minimum."

It is clear therefore that the charter of demands must for the purpose of the present adjudication be the maximum limit of the dispute further forward than which the Adjudicator has no jurisdiction to go. For the Union it was argued that to avoid multiplicity of proceedings and that in so far as the workers had grievances more than what appeared from the charter of demands, it was expedient that the Adjudicator should go further forward and decide the points though not covered by the present reference. The jurisdiction to be exercised by the Adjudicator is limited by the points of dispute as existing on the date of reference. Therefore no amount of expediency will vest the Tribunal with the jurisdiction to adjudicate on disputes not referred to it. My award is therefore that on the present issues there cannot be any adjudication on the present reference.

Issue No. (1)—Recognition of the Union.

6. The Union claims that it is representative of the workers. The Company doubts its representative character and is not agreeable, for that reason, to recognise the present Union. The dispute is not however "an industrial dispute" within the meaning of the term as defined in the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Investigation into the subject and adjudication of the dispute can be made only by a Labour Court under the procedure laid down in the amended Trade Unions Act. My award therefore is that this Tribunal cannot adjudicate on this issue.

Issue No. (2)—Security of service.

7. The present claim of the Union on this issue runs into five heads. They are—

(1) Confirmation after three months' service;

(2) Procedure for punishment by discharge, dismissal and retrenchment;

(3) Filling up of vacancies;

(4) Retrenchment; and

(5) Transfer of the workers from one job to another.

In the charter of demands, dated 31st October 1947, already referred to, the claim on this subject was limited to merely a demand for confirmation on completion of one year's service. None of the other 4 points were mentioned in it. For that reason the Company contended that the Union should not be permitted to increase its demand and to alter the nature of the dispute at this stage. I must uphold the contention of the Company for reasons already advanced in deciding issues Nos. 5, 9, 11 to 15. The dispute under this issue must therefore be limited to the original demand for confirmation after one year's service. The Company offered to confirm a workman after two years on his rendering efficient and satisfactory service. The Union objected to the imposition of the efficiency test. I consider however that efficiency test is imperative. My award is that a workman will be entitled to confirmation, if found efficient, after a minimum of one year's service.

Issues Nos. (3)—Minimum basic wages, (4)—Dearness allowance and city allowance, (6)—Bonus, (7)—Gratuity, pension and provident fund.

8. The Union demanded that the workers should be classified into three categories: unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled. The minimum wages demanded were Rs. 40 for the unskilled, Rs. 60 for the semi-skilled, and Rs. 80 for the skilled. There was also a demand for grades above the minimum. At present there is no classification of the workers into unskilled, semi-skilled or skilled. By far the largest number of workers are receiving a minimum basic wage of less than Rs. 25. With regard to dearness allowance the claim of the Union was that it should be 60 per cent. of the basic wages subject to a minimum of Rs. 40 per month. In the charter of demands, the claim with regard to minimum basic wages was for Rs. 30 per month with a demand for adjustment above the minimum. Dearness allowance was claimed at Rs. 25 per month. There was no claim for city allowance made. There was also no claim for grades. With regard to bonus the present claim is for a sum equivalent to three months' wages. This was also the claim made in the charter of demands. In the charter of demands there was no claim made for gratuity and pension. For the reasons already advanced in deciding issues Nos. 5, 9 and 11 to 15 I limit the disputes on the present issues to the claims as made in the charter of demands.

9. On behalf of the Union I was referred to the 1943 Famine Commission Report and to the Health Survey and Development (Bhore) Committee Report on the dietary standards considered to be ideal for working class people. I was also referred to the Pay Commission Report which has fixed Rs. 30 as the minimum basic wage for unskilled workmen. Pay Commission's approach to the subject of fixing the minimum basic wage for the unskilled workmen has been considered, for certain reasons, to be beyond reasonable challenge. Where an industry is capable of paying the minimum wages at the rate recommended by the Pay Commission, I should also consider that there are no arguments available in favour of fixing the minimum wages below that rate. In such a circumstance the employer has the obligation to pay minimum basic wage at that rate. In the present case the Company has taken the plea that it is unable to pay the workmen minimum wages above Rs. 20 per month. Looking to the obligation that the Company has to its workmen the plea taken requires a very strict scrutiny. If after such a scrutiny it transpires that the Company is really unable to pay minimum wages to the workmen to keep them above the poverty line as recommended by the Pay Commission, a problem will arise which for its complications may well be baffling. It was contended on behalf of the Union that a Company which could not pay the minimum wages as demanded had no right to exist. Looking to the scope of an adjudication proceeding over an industrial dispute, an Adjudicator can have no right to say that the Company should be closed down. To say so would be to go against the fundamentals; because there cannot be an industrial dispute unless the Company exists and is permitted to continue. The workmen have come to me for better terms of employment and for better conditions of labour while remaining in employment. I cannot issue directions that the Company should be closed down and the workmen should be unemployed.

10. In the year 1945-46 the Company had earned high profits. In the year 1946-47 also the profits were fairly high. In the year 1947-48, according to the Company, it has incurred a loss of about Rs. 50,000. In tracing its history the Company, in its written statement, stated that it was established in the year 1905 by late Fanindra Nath Gooptu, an ardent supporter of the Swadeshi Movement. At the initial stage the business was said to have suffered enormous losses due to foreign competition. In so far as the Company had as its scheme not money making but establishment of an industrial organisation first of its kind in India owned, organised, managed and worked by Indians, the losses were said to have been suffered ungrudgingly till the year 1914. During the first World War, 1914-18, the Company was said to have for the first time earned profits. The profits were said to have been utilised mainly in enlarging the business and in improving the lot of the workers. There was said to have again set a depression from 1919 to 1939 during which period the Company met with heavy losses and it had to be run by the proprietor with advances made by him personally or with borrowed money. During the World War No. II and in 1940-46 in particular, the Company admittedly made large profits. With these profits the debts of the Company were alleged to have been repaid. In 1935 the late Fanindra Nath Gooptu died and the business was inherited by his four sons and was being run on a partnership basis. The case of the Company was that owing to shrinkage of Government orders after the World War II and competition from imported goods, particularly those imported from U.S.A., the articles produced by the Company have no ready market. As a result it was alleged by the Company that it suffered a loss of about Rs. 50,000 in 1947-48. The Company apprehended further losses during the present financial year. The Company produced its balance-sheet prepared by Messrs. Ray & Ray, Chartered Accountants, for the year 1947-48. I was requested to keep the contents confidential except to the extent to which the Company had to refer while placing its case during the hearing. I was referred to the balance-sheet to show a loss of about Rs. 50,000 in the year 1947-48. On behalf of the Union, the balance-sheet was challenged on the ground that it was a strange event that after years of lage profits the Company had incurred a loss in exactly the same year when this Tribunal was in session. To meet this suspicion the Company produced its accounts for inspection by the Union representatives. The Union representatives did not inspect the accounts saying that they had neither the time nor the requisite knowledge in account keeping. I should say that it was unfortunate that the Union representatives took that view. An inspection of the accounts might have satisfied them that the Company's version was true or might have also disclosed that it was untrue. In the latter event the version of the workmen would have received the strongest possible support even from Company's accounts. In the circumstances I am compelled to rely upon the audited balance sheet as filed before me. Looking to the losses incurred in 1947-48 one must say that the Company is just passing through a depression. The Company hoped that it would be able to overcome it as they expected larger Government orders this year. The Company however lodged a complaint that the workers had adopted "go slow" tactics which were preventing it from producing goods at a reasonable price as to be able to compete with the imported articles. As to what Government orders the Company expected, it was not in a position at the moment to anticipate. But it was hopeful of securing substantial orders to bring in a fair profit. The Company urged that till the Government orders were secured and the profits therefrom were earned the workmen might have more patience because the exact nature of the benefits that the Company might be in a position to confer on the workmen out of the expected profits was incapable of calculation in terms of money so much in advance. The Company expected however that it would be able to undertake a further obligation of Rs. 12,000 per year as the increased wage burden on the basis of the expected profits. This would give to the workmen a flat rate increment of Rs. 5 per month per head in wages and a sum of Rs. 20 as dearness allowance at a flat rate up to the salary of Rs. 100. Above the wage of Rs. 100 the Company offered to pay 20 per cent. of pay as dearness allowance. On the subject of bonus the Company stated that in 1944-45 it had paid bonus equivalent to 3 months' pay, and in 1945-46 and 1946-47 it had paid bonus at 2 months' pay. For 1947-48, in spite of losses, it had paid bonus equivalent to 1½ months' pay just to purchase industrial peace. The Company offered to pay bonus as additional remuneration but it contested the claim of the Union that bonus must be paid irrespective of any profit made. The Company maintained that bonus as additional remuneration must be linked with profits. The offer was not acceptable to the Union. The offer made by the Company at the present day cost of living is certainly low and the Company also admitted this but it was not in a position to offer any better terms. The Union representatives to whom the audited balance sheet was shown could not point out any source from which money was available to meet the demands of the workers. Though the partners have invested a large amount as capital they have drawn the four together, a sum of Rs. 2,300 only as allowance in 1947-48. Of the four partners two work in the Company wholetime by rotation. This works out at less than Rs. 50 per month for each partner. It cannot therefore be said that the partners had appropriated to themselves a larger sum than what they could fairly claim as compared with the claims of the workmen. A dispute over pay and allowance is really on the subject of distribution of the income of the Company. To this income, the capital, the management and the workmen have all contributed. All that can be done to satisfy the workmen is to assure to them a fair share of the income. There was no complaint that the low income of the Company was due to inefficient management. On the other hand the Company had the grievance against the workmen that they were going slow with the result that goods were being produced at a cost for which there were no large buyers at present available owing to cheaper imported goods. Why goods cannot be produced at a fair price is a question which ought to agitate not only the employers but also the minds of the workmen. An industry is a social institution. The employers and the employees are immediately affected by it. But the community, in which are included the consumers, has also an equal interest in the industry. It has a right to receive goods at fair prices. It has a right to resist anything that goes unfairly to inflate the price. The employer cannot expect to make a profit beyond reasonable limits by charging unfairly high prices for its goods. The workmen also have no right to remain unproductive to the extent of producing goods at an unreasonably high price. Industrial peace can best be attained by an adjustment of the just rights of the employers, employees and of the community. Where the workmen cannot produce goods at a reasonable price so as to bring in a sufficient income to pay them fairly they have no just right still to demand higher remuneration in spite of their unproductivity. They cannot be paid at a fixed rate unrelated to their production either from subsidy from Proprietor's personal money or by burdening the consumers with high prices. As I have already said what can be distributed amongst the employers and the employees is the income of the Company. In the present case it appears that owing to losses there is no income which can be distributed to increase the wages of the workmen at the present moment. During the hearing the Company cited an instance as to how the workers were going slow. Penholders are being punched at present at the rate of 30 to 35 grosses a day. A son of one of the Proprietors, to ascertain how this particular work may be speeded up, is said to have finished at the rate of 90 grosses per day. The Proprietors demanded that production should be speeded up and 90 grosses per day should be aimed at. There was a stir among the workmen over this and the Secretary of the Workers' Union is said to have tried his hands and to have finished at the rate of 48 grosses per day. The son of the Proprietor and the Secretary of the Workers' Union were both new to the job. Therefore one may reasonably expect that workmen, who are for many years at the job and have educated themselves properly for it, will be able easily to reach a standard much higher than the existing. If the workers can reach that standard of production, the goods produced by this Company have a very fair chance of competing in the open market with the imported goods. After the above disclosure the proprietors pressed for speeding up production and the workers in reply have lodged a complaint against them saying that there was an attempt at altering the condition of service during the continuance of the Tribunal proceeding. I should consider that this was unfortunate even after the demonstration by the Secretary of the Workers' Union doing the job himself. It is to the interest of both the employers and the employees to see how by their combined efforts better income may be fetched by the Industry. If they can by such combined efforts increase the income of the Company, the employers ought not to have any difficulty to satisfy the just demands of the workmen. To do this the employers gave an assurance during the trial and made a further proposal. The proposal, in its broad outlines, was that a minimum rate of profits should be reserved for the capital invested. The Company claimed that 8 to 10 per cent. was a fair rate of profits. For the two partners who work wholetime by rotation, the Company suggested a sum of Rs. 500 per month each as salary. After having reserved out of the profits a sum sufficient to cover payment on these two heads, the Company offered to pay to the workmen a remuneration to be fixed as fair by the Tribunal. If there would remain a surplus, the Company offered to pay bonus up to a maximm of 3 months' basic wages. This proposal can be brought into operation only if the employers and the employees combine to make the Company earn profits. At present the Company is being run at a loss. Therefore, till the time the profits are expected I have got to make an ad interim arrangement. On the expected Government orders the Company has offered a flat rate increment of Rs. 5 per month in the basic wages. I expect that the workers will now appreciate that their future is at their hands and that they will speed up production to bring in further profits. With that expectation I feel justified in giving to the workmen a flat increase of Rs. 10 per month over the existing basic wages. For the present the dearness allowance shall be at Rs. 20 up to a salary of Rs. 100. Above Rs. 100, it shall be at 20 per cent. of the pay. I do not consider that at the present the Company can be burdened with a heavier wage bill.

11. If the workmen line up with the Proprietors in their efforts to speed up production and bring in the expected profits, it will be possible for them to earn additional remuneration payable within a year from now. Out of the profits earned, I direct that 6 per cent. should be reserved as dividend on the capital invested. The two partners shall receive Rs. 500 per month each as salary. I was told that the Income-tax Department allowed rebate at that rate. Out of what remains after making the above payments all the workmen shall be paid a flat rate increase of Rs. 5 per month to make up the minimum basic wage of Rs. 30 per month. This will also maintain the differentials in the wages as at present. No materials were placed before me for categorising the workmen into unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled groups. I cannot therefore at the moment group them according to skill. It is therefore necessary to maintain the existing differences in so far as there was no complaint that the existing differentials were not established by mutual and natural adjustment of demand and supply. Dearness allowance shall be increased from Rs. 20 to Rs. 30. If the profits are found to be insufficient to cover payment of basic wages and dearness allowance as recommended above, the basic wages and the dearness allowance shall be increased rateably as far as the profits permit. If however on payment of basic wages and dearness allowance as above there remains a balance, it shall be utilised in payment of bonus which shall be three months' basic wages as the maximum. If there shall remain a surplus, the Company shall contribute at the rate of 6¼ per cent. of the basic wage towards a Provident Fund to which the employees shall also contribute an equal sum monthly. If there would still remain a surplus out of the profits, that shall be utilised in creating a Reserve Fund. I was satisfied that the Company was sincere in advancing the scheme above. I shall be glad if the workmen will appreciate that the scheme offers to them a favourable prospect. It all depends how by their labour they earn higher remuneration and satisfy their needs. This is my award on these issues 3, 4, 6 and 7.

Issue No. 8—Leave and holidays.

12. On this head the demand of the Union was that the workmen should get privilege leave for one month with pay, casual leave for 15 days with pay, festive holidays for 15 days with pay and sick leave for one month with pay and next two months with half pay. The Union claimed further that leave and holidays should be allowed to accumulate for three years. The present demand is much in excess of that made in the charter of demands. At present the Company allows 21 days' leave inclusive of festive holidays but exclusive of 10 days' statutory leave under the Factories Act. The Company was unwilling to offer better leave terms. This industry at present stands in the need of speeding up of production. Therefore I do not consider that the number of leave and holidays should be increased at the moment. The employees are now entitled to 31 days' leave and holidays excluding 52 Sundays. This does not appear to me to be unfair. I direct therefore that leave and holidays as at present shall continue to be granted.

13. At the hearing the Union raised a point against the practice followed by the Company for calculating monthly wages and deductions for

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 1307F.—19th July 1948.—In exercise of the powers conferred by clause (b) of the sub-section (2) of section 241 of the Government of India Act, 1935, read with section 276 of the said Act, the Governor is pleased to make the following amendment in the Rules for Recruitment of Stenographers in the Secretariat and in certain other Government offices:—

Amendment.

For rule 11 of the said rules the following shall be substituted:—

"11. In order to determine whether he has maintained the required standard of efficiency, a permanent or a temporary stenographer will be required to sit annually at the Stenographers' Recruitment Examination to be held in the month of January by the Public Service Commission, West Bengal. He will be examined in the third paper only (Dictation and Transcription), as shown in rule 4 of these rules, and must secure a minimum of 40 per cent. in order to pass the proficiency test;

Provided that in the case of a stenographer who has held a lien for not less than ten years on a permanent post of stenographer, recruitment to which is made under these rules, the Hon'ble Minister under whom he is working, the Secretary of the department at whose disposal his services have been placed or, in the case of a stenographer in one of the offices included in paragraph (2) of Schedule C of the Bengal Public Service Commission Regulations, 1937, the head of the office may, if he is satisfied that the stenographer has maintained the required standard of efficiency, intimate in writing to the Finance Secretary that he considers it unnecessary for the said stenographer to sit for the annual test, and on receipt of such intimation the stenographer will be exempted from appearing at that year's test.

A permanent or a temporary stenographer who sits for and fails in the annual test, or who not being duly exempted from appearing at the test does not sit for the test and is unable to prove to the satisfaction of the Government that his absence was due to reasons beyond his control, will have his increment stopped until he requalifies.

No fee will be payable by a stenographer who sits at the Stenographers' Recruitment Examination under the provisions of this rule."

Labour

ORDER.

No. 2397Lab.—17th July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 238-Lab., dated the 29th January 1948, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Sur Enamel and Stamping Works, Limited, 9, Middle Road, Entally, Calcutta, and their employees represented by the Sur Enamel and Stamping Workers' Union, 6, Panbagan Lane, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of this order.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Sur Enamel and Stamping Works, Limited, 9, Middle Road, Entally, Calcutta, and their employees represented by the Sur Enamel and Stamping Workers' Union, 6, Panbagan Lane, Entally, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Chairman, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company—Sri P. K. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

For the Union—Sri Dwijendra Lal Sen Gupta, Pleader.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 238-Lab., dated the 29th January 1948, the above dispute has been referred to me for adjudication under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

Notices were issued both on the Company as also on the Union and both of them submitted their written statements on which the following issues were framed:—

(1) Is the Union to be recognised?

(2) What provision should be made for—

(a) Security of service.

(b) Gradation of pay.

(c) Dearness allowance.

(d) Special allowances for workers' duty with pickling works affecting health.

(e) City allowance.

(f) Bonus.

(g) Gratuity.

(h) Pension.

(i) Provident Fund.

(j) Insurance.

(k) Leave rules.

(l) Working hours.

(m) Free uniforms.

(n) Free quarters.

(o) Medical aid.

(p) Maternity benefit.

(q) Rest and recreation.

(r) Compulsory Free Primary Education.

(s) Cheap food or free tiffin.

(t) Compensation to workers suffering from diseases due to work in factory.

(u) Special privileges.

(v) Co-operative system.

(w) Standing Orders.

(3) Are the orders of discharge of the workers mentioned in paragraphs 9, 10, 13 and 17 of the statement still justifiable?

(4) Are they to be reinstated?

(5) If wages denoted for the workers mentioned in paragraphs 1, 20, 21 and 22 can be awarded?

(6) Is suspension of Sadananda Das in paragraph 1(23) justifiable? If not, is he entitled to pay for period of suspension?

HISTORY OF THE DISPUTE.

The present Union was formed in 1947 and registered on 11th October 1947 under the Trade Unions Act, 1926, and a Charter of Demands was submitted by the Secretary of the Union to the Labour Commissioner whereupon some 4 dynamic workers of the Union were discharged without notice. Shortly after when the matter was being considered by the Labour Commissioner, some 4 other workers were victimised for their Union activities. The matter went on in this way until it had been referred to this Tribunal.

I shall now proceed with the issues one by one and pronounce my award on each of them.

Issue No. 1.—Recognition of the Union.

According to the Company, the Sur Enamel and Stamping Workers' Union is not a bona fide Union, but that there is another Union styled "Sur Enamel and Stamping Works, Ltd., Employees' Association", which has on its roll of members about 80 per cent. of the total number of employees and is thoroughly representative in character. According to the Company, the Workers' Union who has come before this Tribunal is a creation of a number of dissatisfied employees with the sole object of harassing the Company. I find that the Stamping Workers' Union has allegiance of the majority of the workers and has been recently started. I shall, however, leave the question of recognition of the two rival Unions to be decided by the Labour Court under Act XLI of 1947.

Issue No. 2.

(a) Security of service.

The Company has a Standing Order and Rules of Service, a copy of which has been submitted before me and I find that ample safeguards have been made and it is provided that a temporary worker who has completed a period of 12 months' service, will be made permanent. The period is fixed with regard to the nature of work connected with the Enamel Industry. The Company also allows facilities to dismissed or retrenched workers to defend their cases. The Company also acts on the principle of filling up vacancies by promotion according to the prevailing circumstances. The principle of "Last come, first go" is followed, and modified according to the circumstances. The Company alleges that the transfer of a worker from one department to another is sometimes necessary in order to keep him fully engaged or in order to relieve a department which is overworked. No change of this rule is desirable. The Company alleges that they derive no special advantage by this transfer system as the new recruit to the department has to learn the nature of work and thus cannot be fully efficient. I see no reason to introduce any change in this rule of the Company. There are several safeguards for security of service.

(b) Gradation of pay and (c) Dearness allowance.

The Company has already implemented the recommendations of the Pay Commission.

The Company pays minimum salary of Rs. 30 per month (basic pay) and dearness allowance Rs. 25 per month up to a salary of Rs. 30 Rs. 55.

On a pay above Rs. 30 dearness allowance at the rate of 50 per cent. of the pay and an extra sum of Rs. 10 is paid by the Company. I, however, am glad to find that this scale of pay which is being paid by the Company is quite fair, nice and a decent living wage.

From the following form it will be clear that the Company has the following class of workmen in its firm. The chart will show the number employed and basic wages per mensem and this will show that all categories of workers are nicely paid and secondly, pay is quite in tune with the recommendations of the Pay Commission. I do not see any reason to interfere with this:—

1	2	3		4
		Number employed—		Basic wages per month.
Designation or occupation.	Nature of work.	(a) on permanent basis.	(b) on temporary basis.	(a) Maximum.	(b) Minimum.
				Rs.	Rs.
Supervising Mistri	.. Supervision ..	6	Nil	135	90
Furnace and Enamelling Sardars ..	.. Chargemen ..	6	Nil	49	34
Latheman	.. Technical ..	6	Nil	57	30
Viceman	.. Do. ..	8	Nil	58	30
Welder	.. Do. ..	6	Nil	63	30
Electric Mistri	.. Do. ..	2	Nil	58	40
Metal Spinner	.. Do. ..	29	1	38	30
Machinist	.. Do. ..	30	Nil	35	30
Blacksmith and Tinsmith	.. Do. ..	30	1	60	30
Workmen	.. Non-technical ..	507	65	40	30

It will thus be evident that the minimum basic wage of the unskilled manual labourers is Rs. 55 including dearness allowance. This requires no revision. It is also clear from the above chart that the Company has already also a grade which is shown in the maximum column of the above chart. It will be thus evident that the maximum of unskilled workers (non-technical) is Rs. 40 and that the maximum basic wages of the Supervisors is Rs. 135. The Union has submitted a demand in which the grades from Rs. 50—180 for Assistants, Rs. 100—210 for Assistant Mistris and Rs. 125—250 for Mistris have been claimed. I must at once say that this demand is too high and in this case I have noticed that there are 22 categories of demands and one is inclined to say that the Union is veritably crying for the moon. This Company is generous enough in the matter of payment of wages, leave facilities and other amenities. This demand must be rejected. I see no reason to substitute any other grade for the skilled workers, for it is very difficult in the engineering industry to fix a particular grade for skilled workers. It is the duty of the Tribunal only to fix the bare living wages and to see that the payment of wages is above the poverty line. Beyond that, it is not desirable for reasons more than one to fix a regular grade or time-scale, for in doing so, the Tribunal would usurp the function of an employer who best knows how to pay his efficient workers. It will be also handicapping a particular industry by thus fixing a higher grade of pay for it may financially hit the Company. There is also a great risk in raising the salaries in engineering industry by leaps and bounds for that will evidently increase the cost of production which will ultimately but surely hit the unknown third party, i.e., the consumers who always remain in the background. It is the consumers who will be mainly hard hit by this sort of increasing cost of production, and in our country where the industry is yet in a stage of infancy, a Tribunal should think thrice before raising the scale of wages. The capacity of the Company to pay must be considered in every case nevertheless what Pigou and other Economists say to the contrary. The views of those Economists hold good in Western Countries where industry reigns supreme. Unfortunately in this land of ours where industry is yet in its stage of infancy, the Tribunal should be slow in granting very high wages or in satisfying the fantastic claims of the Union.

No case has been made out that any of the workers suffered or died in consequence of occupational disease. I had been taken to the factory to look to the conditions under which the workmen work in Tezabghar (Acid Room) and I was shown several furnaces and I found that the temperature of that room was as normal as could be expected in the month of April in Calcutta. I went there in mid-day heat and found nothing alarming or unusual nor did I find the heat of the furnace excessive. The furnace man works at a safe distance from the door of the furnace and the temperature of the furnace is not at all shared by the furnace man—the distance is sufficiently protective. The claim is rejected.

(e) City allowance and (n) Free quarters.

Regarding city allowance, the claim must be rejected as the financial position of the Company is not at all sound and the scale of wages as already found is quite decent.

Regarding free quarters, most of the labourers come from suburbs and distant places. This place in which the factory is situate is in a congested area of the metropolis and a portion of the firm has been acquired by the Calcutta Improvement Trust. The financial position of the Company will not allow such claim being entertained. The claim is rejected.

(f) Bonus.

The Company, however, so far paid 2 months' basic pay as bonus. The Company is also paying two other classes of bonus, i.e., special ability bonus and prize bonus, in order to create healthy competition and to raise the standard of production.

The future of this Company is not very bright as it is going to lose the Pakistan market. I doubt if the Company will be able to maintain the payment of bonus in future. Whatever that may be, the matter is best left to the discretion of the Company and it is hoped that the Company who is already paying bonus will continue to do so in case profits are earned in future.

(g) Gratuity.

Gratuity is allowed according to the scheme prevalent in the Company to persons whose basic wage is below Rs. 40. The following scheme for gratuity is prevalent in the Company:—

(1) Employees who have served the Company with clean records for at least three years without break and whose basic emoluments are below Rs. 40 and who does not get any benefit of provident fund are entitled to a gratuity benefit payable at the termination of their service owing to reduction or abolition of the department concerned or at retirement.

(2) Employees eligible to the benefit under rule 1 above shall be paid as gratuity by the employer as per schedule below:—

(i) 8 days' salary for each complete year of service up to 5 years.

(ii) 9 days' salary for each complete year of service up to 10 years.

(iii) 11 days' salary for every complete year of service up to 15 years.

(iv) 12 days' salary for every complete year of service up to 20 years.

(v) 13 days' salary for every complete year of service up to 25 years.

(vi) 14 days' salary for every complete year of service up to 30 years.

(vii) 15 days' salary for every complete year of service up to 35 years.

In calculating the gratuity, the average daily salary of last three years of service shall be the basis of calculation.

Service to the Company will be reckoned from the 1st of January 1948 and 1st of January every year thereafter.

(3) In case of termination of services earlier than 3 years the following rules will apply:—

(a) Retrenchment by the Company.—Full Company's benefit will be payable to the particular worker according to the length of his service as per schedule above.

(b) Dismissal owing to gross misconduct.—Will not be eligible for any benefit.

(c) Termination of service due to worker's wilful resignation.—Will not be eligible for any benefit.

(4) Workers under the above gratuity rules will be eligible for provident fund as soon as they reach Rs. 40 as their basic emoluments, and they will be paid off their accrued gratuity amount calculated up to such time as per schedule under rule 2. Workers once eligible for such provident fund will have no further claim on gratuity.

The Company agrees to maintain this gratuity benefit.

I direct that this gratuity benefit should prevail.

(h) Pension.

The Company has already a gratuity and provident fund scheme. The claim for pension is rejected.

(i) Provident Fund.

The Company has already a scheme of provident fund in force and the employee who has served the Company for a period of full one year without any break of service and whose monthly basic emoluments are not below Rs. 40 is eligible to subscribe in the Company's Provident Fund. Each subscriber is to subscribe monthly to the fund 6¼ per cent. of his monthly basic emoluments and similar contribution is being made by the employer. I see no reason why there should be any further amendment in the above rules. I only direct that the scheme should be maintained by the Company.

(j) Insurance.

I am of opinion that the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948, is going to make provision for the following benefits:—

(1) Sickness benefit,
(2) Maternity benefit,
(3) Disablement benefit,
(4) Dependants' benefit, and
(5) Medical benefit.

The matter may be left to be decided later on when the Act comes into operation.

(k) Leave rules.

The Company already grants in all 39 days' leave on full pay distributed as follows:—

7 days' casual leave.
7 days' sick leave.
10 days' statutory leave.
15 days' festival holidays provided they are not Sundays.

This shows that the Company allows 29 days more than the statutory provision contained in the Factories Act. Dr. Mukherjee in his book "Indian Working Class" has recommended only 21 days' leave in the case of engineering industry. I may say that the Company is generous enough in the matter of granting leave. I do not see any reason to interfere with the existing rules.

(l) Working hours.

In this factory 45 hours of work in a week is done though under the Factories Act it is 48 hours. The Tribunal should not go ahead of the legislation. In the recent Bill to amend the Factories Act, which is before the Central Legislature, it is interesting to point out that, the period of work has been kept at 48 hours under section 51 of the Bill. The Unions urge that the work in this factory is hazardous and risky and as such want reduction of the hours. I may say that if the works are hazardous (in my opinion it is not so) the Provincial Government may be moved for providing safeguards under section 33(4) of the Factories Act if such case is made out to their satisfaction.

(m) Free uniforms.

The claim is rejected.

(o) Medical aid.

One retired medical officer of the Bengal Medical Service regularly attends the factory. The Company has also a well furnished dispensary from which free medicine is supplied. It is a preposterous demand to ask for establishment of a hospital for the employees when there are so many hospitals in the city of Calcutta of outstanding quality and to demand a well equipped hospital from this Company is a rocket high demand of the Union which should be rejected.

(p) Maternity benefit.

There are only 8 female workers. The Company follows all that is required under the Bengal Maternity Benefit Act, 1939.

(q) Rest and recreation.

It is not possible for the Company to provide football ground or other sorts of outdoor games for the workers as the space is limited.

(r) Compulsory Free Primary Education.

The claim must be rejected as there are too many free primary institutions of the Calcutta Corporation.

(s) Cheap food or free tiffin.

The Company has implemented the recommendations of the Pay Commission—the basic wages and dearness allowance incorporate allowances on these heads. I cannot direct the Company to supply free canteen and cheap food. The financial position of the Company is also to be considered and at the present moment the Company is faced with a great peril.

(t) Compensation to workers suffering from diseases due to work in factory.

No case has been made out by the Union that any of the workers died or suffered for any occupational disease. This demand is more speculative and there is no foundation for the claim. Moreover, provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act are sufficiently wide enough to cover up such cases.

(u) Special privileges.

The Union wants that the enamelwares and products may be sold to its workers at some concession. This is a matter on which the Tribunal can make no award. It is purely an ex-gratia demand. It may be best left to the discretion of the Company.

(v) Co-operative system.

Workers are free to start such co-operative shops, etc., as they desire but the Company cannot help or afford workers with any space. This is also not a legitimate demand. The claim is rejected.

(w) Standing Orders.

The Company has already some standing orders. I think that where there is statutory provision, the matter may be better left to be dealt with under that clause.

Issue No. 3.—Order of discharges mentioned in the written statement of the Union, and Issue No. 4.—Are they to be reinstated?

Most of the cases of discharge alleged in the written statement had been made before the Industrial Disputes Act came into force, i.e., before 1st April 1947. The Tribunal has no jurisdiction to decide the cases of discharge before reference to this Tribunal. The Union went so far as to bring to the notice of the Tribunal cases of discharge near about the year 1936.

None of the discharged workers was examined nor any material was placed before the Tribunal to show the date of discharge, the number of card the workers held and as such the employer was not in a position to know definitely the case of each of the so-called discharged workers.

It is, however, alleged by the employer that some of the persons were discharged as the department in which they were working were abolished—a portion of the factory having been acquired by the Improvement Trust. It is clear that the Company has been forced to make retrenchment for circumstances beyond their control as will be evident from the following chart:—

Labour strength in different years.

	(Approximately.)
1943	1,900
1944	1,250
1945	1,000
1946	970
1947	855
1948	750

This will show that there had been gradual reduction in staff and retrenchment due to various reasons, viz., abolition of departments, acquisition of factory land by Improvement Trust forcing the Company to close down a portion of the Factory, absence of War contracts, absence of Foreign Oversea Market and the creation of Pakistan and the consequent reduction and restriction of goods movement.

Issue No. 5.—Non-payment of wages.

A complaint had been made by the workers that the Company did not pay half day's wages for 15th December when the Company declared half holiday as a mark of respect to Pandit Nehru's visit in Calcutta as the First Prime Minister of Independent India. It is also alleged that the workers were paid at a lesser rate, i.e., at the rate of Rs. 45 when they were actually getting Rs. 55 per month. The remedy of the workers is quite open and they can bring their case before the Registrar appointed under the Payment of Wages Act.

Issue No. 6.—Suspension of Sadananda Das.

It is alleged that one Sadananda Das, a worker of the Union, was wrongfully suspended by the Company and was not paid any wages. It is urged that his wages were deducted. But if the wages were deducted, remedy lies before the Payment of Wages Court. When there is a special legislation for enforcement of a particular breach of law, I think that the matter should be left to be decided in that forum. According to the Company, this Sadananda was taken to task for some faulty act by the departmental Supervisor who was assaulted at the factory gate by the former on 9th January 1948. That day was the weekly holiday of Sadananda Das. An enquiry was held and it was found that he was guilty but out of consideration, the assailant was suspended for 2 weeks and given another chance. I want to make it quite clear that if the Tribunal interferes with any such case of disciplinary action, it will be very difficult to maintain order in the factory. Unfortunately there is already prevalent disorderly conduct, indiscipline and flouting of authorities in most of the factories. The Tribunal should give free scope and free hand to the employer to deal with the case of breach of discipline or misconduct. Only in cases where the workers are victimised very unjustly on ground of Union activities or vindictively without any shadow of justification that the Tribunal should interfere. In my opinion, no case has been made out by the Union regarding question of reinstatement. The issue be answered accordingly.

Conclusion.

In this case the Company had sought the permission of the Tribunal to retrench some of the workers, as the Company has lost the Pakistan market and the statement submitted by the Company before me show huge fall in monthly sales. The Company has also made out a case that there had been sufficient accumulation of stock. There is no trade outlet. Movement of goods is restricted. It is a matter of common experience that the Mohammedans of the lower class use enamelwares and as such they are the greatest consumers of the enamel goods. The loss of the Pakistan market is a heavy blow on this industry and the accumulation of stock may have a disastrous effect later on. It is also pointed out before me that the monthly expenses towards pay and wages amount to Rs. 55,000—no sales to the corresponding amount. Overdrafts have gone up to Rs. 1,72,000. Bank is refusing to allow further overdrafts. Unfortunately, the Company is not being allowed any market beyond Indian Dominion—Government having restricted the movement. It is also clear from the papers submitted by the Company that the Government of India has allocated 397 tons of steel, i.e., raw materials on 1st May 1948 but on 13th May 1948 the allocation was cut down to 130 tons. The Company is financially hit for want of raw materials and for other reasons already noticed and the Company brings to my notice that it is essentially necessary that 50 per cent. of the workers should be retrenched. In my opinion, it is not the duty of the Tribunal to direct retrenchment but the Tribunal will not interfere in the case where bona fide retrenchment is necessitated by the circumstances as above. No Tribunal can ask the Company to maintain the full strength of men when it is not in a financial position to make payments. I leave the matter to the sound discretion of the Company and I hope the Company will very carefully consider the case of the workers and retrench them if necessary on the principle "Last come, first go". I would also like to advise the Company to follow the policy of retrenchment only if it is so necessary and with great caution and with a sense of justice, and it is also highly desirable that as soon as the Company is in a position to increase the strength of the workers later on, it will extend a call to the discharged workers if they are then available. The workers will also be well advised to leave their addresses with the Company so that with the better days returning, if they like, they may join here over again.

Summary of the principal points.

Minimum salary (basic pay) Rs. 30 per month and dearness allowance Rs. 25 up to a salary of Rs. 30=Rs. 55 per month.

On pay above Rs. 30, dearness allowance will be paid at the rate of 50 per cent. of pay and an extra sum of Rs. 10.

Regarding scale of wages of the different classes of workers the chart mentioned in the body of the award will be adhered to.

Bonus to be paid at the rate to be decided by the Company if there is profit.

Gratuity to be paid as per directions given in the body of the award.

Scheme of Provident Fund is also to be followed as embodied in the award.

Leave and holidays.

7 days' casual leave.
7 days' sick leave.
10 days' statutory leave.
15 days' festival holidays provided they are not Sundays.

Working hours.

45 hours of work in a week.

ORDER.

No. 2470Lab.—22nd July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 1112Lab., dated the 9th April 1948, the industrial dispute between the Dhur Tin Factory, Akshoy Mukherjee Road, Baranagar, 24-Parganas, and its workmen as represented by the Engineering Workers' Federation, Bengal, 115E, Dharmatalla Street, Calcutta, in connection with the cases of Sri Sambhu Halder and five other workmen of the said Company as mentioned in the list attached therewith was referred for adjudication to Sri P. K. Sarkar, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. K. Sarkar, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri P. K. Sarkar, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of this order.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Dhur Tin Factory, Akshoy Mukherjee Road, Baranagar, 24-Parganas, and its workmen as represented by the Engineering Workers' Federation, Bengal, 115E, Dharmatalla Street, Calcutta.

PRESENT:
SRI P. K. SARKAR,
Judge, Industrial Disputes Tribunal.

Present for the Factory—Sri P. Ghosh, Manager.
For the Engineering Workers' Federation—Sri Panchanan Bhattacharyya and Sri Swadesh Gupta.

AWARD.

By Government order No. 1112Lab., dated the 9th April 1948, an industrial dispute between the Dhur Tin Factory and its workmen as represented by the Engineering Workers' Federation was referred to me for adjudication as a Tribunal constituted under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The dispute related to the dismissal of six workers of the factory, namely—

(1) Sambhu Pada Haldar,
(2) Anath Chandra Das,
(3) Kishori Mohan Mandal,
(4) Anurodh Kouri,
(5) Gostha Behari Sarkar, and
(6) Rash Behari Ghosh.

The first four of these six were dismissed on 4th December 1947 and the last two on 6th December 1947. The Engineering Workers' Federation stated that the six workers were discharged for Trade Union activities and demanded their reinstatement and also award of compensation to them for the period of unemployment. The Dhur Tin Factory submitted in its written statement that these persons were discharged owing to slackness of business on payment of 15 days' pay and allowance and denied that they had been discharged because of their connection with the Union.

On 22nd June 1948, the date fixed for hearing, both parties stated that the case was likely to be compromised and on 7th July 1948 the parties filed a statement signed by Sri P. Ghosh as Manager of the Dhur Tin Factory and Sri Swadesh Gupta on behalf of the Engineering Workers' Federation, Bengal, according to which the Dhur Tin Factory agreed to reinstate all these workers. It was stated that one of them had already joined and that another had promised to come back within a week. The Engineering Workers' Federation, on behalf of the workers, agreed to these terms. Subsequently the Dhur Tin Factory, informed the Tribunal by a letter that letters had been sent to the four workers who had not yet joined to come and join immediately. Thus the Dhur Tin Factory having agreed to reinstate these six workers, as soon as they come and join, to their former posts and the Engineering Workers' Federation having agreed to the same, I direct in terms of the agreement that the abovenamed workers be reinstated to their former posts as soon as they come and join. One of them, Sambhu Pada Haldar, has, as I understand, already joined.

In conclusion, I congratulate both the proprietors of the Dhur Tin Factory and the Engineering Workers' Federation for this happy conclusion of the case and I hope that the spirit of goodwill shown in this matter will endure and benefit permanently both the employees and the employers.

Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

ORDER.

No. 2477Lab.—22nd July 1948.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 902Lab., dated the 24th March 1948, the industrial dispute between the Managing Agents, Bengal Rolling Mills, Ltd., and Bengal Rolling Mills, Ltd., 86-B, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, Room No. 47, and their workmen as represented by the Bengal Rolling Mill Mazdoor Union, 6, Peary Mohan Mukherjee Street, Belur, Howrah, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge, has given the award as shown in the annexure hereto;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of section 15 read with sub-section (3) of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to make the following order and to direct with reference to section 17 of the said Act that the award be published in the Calcuttta Gazette.

The award made by the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Additional District Judge, shall bind the Company and their workmen aforesaid as specified therein and shall remain in force for a period of one year with effect from the date of this Order.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Managing Agents, Bengal Rolling Mills, Limited, 86-B, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, Room No. 47, and their workmen as represented by the Bengal Rolling Mill Mazdoor Union, 6, Peary Mohan Mukherjee Street, Belur, Howrah.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE,
Chairman, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company—Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

For the Union—Sri Taradas Bhattacherjee, Secretary, Bengal Rolling Mill Mazdoor Union.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 902Lab., dated the 24th March 1948, the above dispute has been referred to me for adjudication under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Notices were issued both on the Company as also on the Union and both of them submitted their written statements on which the following issues were framed:—

Issues.

(1) Has the Tribunal jurisdiction to decide the issues?
(2) Basic wages.
(3) Dearness allowance.
(4) Leave or holidays.
(5) Security of service.
(6) Bonus.
(7) Provident Fund.
(8) Free quarters or allowance
(9) Monthly salary in lieu of daily wage basis.
(10) Contract system.
(11) Discharge of Ram Prasad and Rash Behari, if cases of victimisation. Are they liable to be reinstated?
(12) Was strike or lock-out justified? Are workers entitled to pay or wages for the above period?

Issue No. (1)—Has the Tribunal jurisdiction to decide the issues.

The dispute that has been referred in the order of reference is between the Managing Agents, Bengal Rolling Mills, Ltd., and their workmen. The Managing Agents, it is pointed out, may not have got any workmen and a dispute between the Managing Agents and their workmen cannot be considered to be a dispute between the Bengal Rolling Mills and their workmen. The Managing Agents (1) and Bengal Rolling Mills are two separate entities in the eye of law. Award passed upon the Managing Agents cannot be binding on the Bengal Rolling Mills, Ltd. (vide 29 C.W.N. 614—Agent, Bengal Nagpur Railway, and Behari Lal Datta). In my opinion, the reference is bad in law and in future the Government would be well advised to make the Company a party and not the Managing Agents, if so stated by the Union. However, in this case the Company had been good enough to admit before me that any award passed in this case would be accepted by the Company, nevertheless the legal defect that besets the reference. I, therefore, make it clear that this award will bind both the Managing Agents as also the Bengal Rolling Mills, Ltd.

Issues Nos. (2) and (3)—Basic wages and dearness allowance.

Regarding basic pay and dearness allowance, it is admitted, a settlement had been arrived at in the course of a conciliation proceeding before the Labour Commissioner on 19th February 1948. The terms of settlement are given in paragraph 9 of the Company's written statement and also in Company's letter, dated 25th February 1948, addressed to the Labour Commissioner. At his intervention it was agreed as follows:—

(1) The minimum pay of the workers of the factory should be raised to Rs. 50.
(2) All workers receiving pay over Rs. 50 should be given an increment of Rs. 5 on their existing pay.
(3) All the other disputes should be referred to the Tribunal.
(4) Production and discipline in the Mills should be maintained.

It is evident that the Company has got some 28 workers in the roll. It is clear that the Company was previously paying minimum pay at the rate of 12 annas and dearness allowance 12 annas per day, i.e., Re. 1-8 in all or Rs. 39 per month (for 26 days in the month). It was thereafter agreed by the settlement that the total minimum of pay plus dearness allowance would be Rs. 50 per month. This converted into daily wage comes to basic wage of Re. 1 per day and dearness allowance 15 annas per day.

This settlement had been accepted by the workers only in February last and there is no reason why there should be a further increment of wages and dearness allowance unless there is a material change of circumstances. No such case has been made out. Under section 19(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, the parties are precluded from re-agitating the agreement arrived at in the conciliation proceeding before the expiry of 6 months. I am afraid the Tribunal has got no jurisdiction to revise the same before that period.

The Union relied on an award given by my learned colleague Sri P. K. Sarkar in Sun Rolling Mill which is situated just close to this Mill. The award was published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated 8th April 1948, page 214. The Sun Rolling Mill is a "B" class Mill whereas the Bengal Rolling Mill is a "C" class Mill, i.e., inferior both in its capacity and in its financial position to Sun Rolling Mill. Mr. Sarkar fixed the minimum basic pay at Re. 1 per day and Rs. 25 dearness allowance at a flat rate for all class of workers. The conciliation proceedings before the Labour Commissioner in this case also terminated almost in a line with the above award. It is thus clear therefore that the minimum basic wages and dearness allowance as fixed in conciliation proceedings are on a par with the rate fixed in class "B" Rolling Mill though the present Mill is of "C" category. I see, therefore, no reason to revise the wages as agreed upon in February 1948.

Issue No. (4)—Leave r holidays.

The Union demanded—

(1) 10 days' statutory holidays under the Factories Act.

(2) 21 days' casual leave with full wages including dearness allowance.

(3) 21 days' sick leave with full wages including dearness allowance.

(4) 15 days' sick leave with half wages and full dearness allowance.

(5) 10 days' festival holidays.

Regarding leave, I would like to follow the award given in the Sun Rolling Mill and the Company is also agreeable to follow the same. The Mill should grant 7 festival holidays. This should be distributed as follows:—

1 day for Dewali.
1 day for Bisvakarma Puja.
1 day for Doljatra.
1 day for Mahatma Gandhi's Birthday.
1 day for Netaji's Birthday.
1 day for Independence Day.
1 day for Swaraswati Puja.

Workers in addition should get 10 continuous holidays with full pay and allowance under the Factories Act and these holidays, if it is agreed on both sides, will cover the period during the Durga Puja. The Mill Authority should announce the holidays beforehand on the notice board. The festival holidays are liable to alteration on the prayer of the Union and they may urge change of festival days provided the limit of 7 days is not exceeded.

Casual Leave.

The Union demanded casual leave for 21 days. This is an exaggerated demand. I allow only 10 days' casual leave in a year with full pay and allowance.

Sick Leave.

Regarding sick leave, the workers will be entitled with full pay and allowance for 10 days in a year on production of medical certificate. The certificate may be obtained from the medical officer of the Company or from any other registered medical practitioner, if it is not possible to consult the medical officer of the Company.

Issue No. (5)—Security of service.

Regarding this, the award in the Sun Rolling Mill will sufficiently meet the ends of justice of both the workers and the Company. The Standing Orders framed by the Engineering Association have been submitted and the Company wants to abide by the same. In my opinion, this will be sufficient safeguard, and I make the following essential directions on the basis of the award of the Sun Rolling Mill:—

(a) A worker should be confirmed after a probationary period of three months, provided that his work is found to be satisfactory during that period.

(b) There should be no dismissal of workers except on misconduct and that the worker affected should be given an opportunity to explain his conduct.

(c) Proper notice and compensation in case of retrenchment or discharge.—The monthly paid workers should be given one month's notice or compensation and the daily rated workers should be given 7 days' notice or compensation in the event of retrenchment or discharge for justifiable reasons.

Issue No. (6)—Bonus.

No question of payment of bonus can arise as this Mill had made no profit last year or this year.

Issue No. (7)—Provident Fund.

The Company is not in a position to introduce Provident Fund as the financial position is not very steady.

Issue No. (8)—Free quarters or allowance.

The claim must be rejected. House allowance will be deemed to be a part of the wages. The financial position of the Company will not allow of any further increase in wages.

Issue No. (9)—Monthly salary in lieu of daily wage basis.

This is not seriously urged. This system of payment of daily wage is prevalent in Rolling Mills. No case of abolition of this system has been made out. I cannot make any direction regarding abolition of this system. The present arrangement is to continue.

Issue No. (10)—Contract system.

The Managing Agents state that the contract labour is employed only for certain type of work as, for example, loading and unloading of wagons, and from the very nature of the work it is not possible and economic to abolish the contract system. The system prevails generally in other factories of the same type. Evils of the contract system have been pointed out by the members of the Royal Commission on labour and on several reports of the Government. It is highly desirable that this system should be abolished. Evils of the contract system are apparent for the contractors do not pay living wages to the workers and as such deprive the sweating labourers of thier legitimate dues. It is not at all possible to eradicate this system all at once. In my opinion it is desirable that the Mill Authority should look to the grievances of the workers employed by the contractors and, if the workers are not properly paid by the contractors, the evil can be obviated to some extent if the Mill at the time of making contracts with the contractors insists that the workers employed by the contractors should be paid their proper wages and keeps a close eye of supervision at the time of making payment to the contractors that they have in their turn paid living wages to the workers employed on contract basis.

Issue No. (11)—Discharge of Ram Prasad and Rash Behari, if cases of victimisation. Are they liable to be reinstated?

Not pressed.

Issue No. (12)—Was strike or lock-out justified? Are workers entitled to pay or wages for the above period?

Admittedly the workers went on strike from 18th January 1948 till 18th February 1948 for arrest of some workers on theft charge. On intervention of the Factory Inspector, no charge sheet was framed against them. It is alleged that the charge was maliciously false. Whatever that may be, it is clear that no notice was given to the employer for such a course of action by the workers. So the strike was illegal. No wages or compensation accordingly can be claimed.

Lock-out.

The factory was reopened on 19th February 1948 but the Company, according to the Union, locked out the factory from 22nd February 1948. This lock-out continued till the 14th May 1948. It is evident that the Government had sent this case to the Tribunal on 11th May 1948 with a direction that the lock-out should cease. It was after this direction that the factory had been opened by the employer. The Company submitted that there had been no lock-out in the Mill and that due to the unhelpful attitude of the workers and their contravention of the terms agreed upon before the Labour Commissioner, they had no other alternative but to close the Mill and discharge its wor-[illegible]. That the factory was closed is admitted and at the time of argument an attempt was made to convince me that after the workers joined in strike, the workers adopted "go slow" tactics. This was sought to be proved by the production register which no doubt shows a fall in production for two days only. This is not sufficient to show that there was steady fall for a long time, and there is no sufficient reason to hold that this was due solely to the "go slow" tactics of the workers. According to the workers, it was due to the inefficient management of one Berjson who was quite inexperienced and put a different iron in the machine than what is usually placed. Whatever that may be, in my opinion there is only oath against oath and I am not in a position to say that there was any justification for the lock-out for no notice was served as required under section 22. It reflects no credit on the factory to close the Mill indefinitely for a long period after the Labour Commissioner had persuaded the workers to return to work and when they accordingly had resumed their duties in the Mill. The workers had worked for full 3 days after strike and a sudden closing of the Mill and keeping of the same closed so long till the matter went to the Government has no justification in fact or law. The Company was utterly indifferent to the fate of its workers for such a long period, and it throws on the Company the major share of the blame and entitles the workers to compensation. I would have imposed full wages and compensation for this period but having regard to the fact that this Company is not financially very strong, I think the ends of justice will be sufficiently met if 2 months' wages including dearness allowance be paid to its workers. The number of workers in the Mill is less than 30 and so the amount to be paid as wages and dearness allowance will not be a heavy burden on the Company. The granting of wages for the period of lock-out has been upheld by many Tribunals in Bombay and in Calcutta. The Award given by Dr. H. G. Waight in the India Paper Pulp Company may be cited as a very good authority for the above view (vide Calcutta Gazette, dated 4th September 1947, Part I, page 66).

Summary of the principal recommendations.

Minimum wages of the workers including dearness allowance.

Basic wages plus dearness allowance—Rs. 50 per month.

All workers receiving pay over Rs. 50 including dearness allowance should be given an increment of Rs 5 on their existing pay.

Leave and holidays.—As in the body of the award.

Security of service.—The workers should be confirmed after a probationary period of 3 months.

No dismissal except misconduct: A worker to be given an opportunity to explain his conduct.

Proper compensation in case of retrenchment or discharge.

Bonus.—Claim rejected.

Provident Fund.—Scheme rejected.

Regarding contract labour.—The Company is to see that the contractors pay proper wages to the workers.

No pay for strike period.

For lock-out period.—Only 2 months' wages including dearness allowance to be paid to the workers.

P. R. MUKHERJEE,
Chairman, Industrial Tribunal.

The 5th July 1948.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 2519Lab.—24th July 1948.—Whereas the leave rules applicable to the workers in the Factory of the Steel Corporation of Bengal, Ltd., Napuria Works, Burnpore, provide benefits substantially similar to those for which Chapter IVA of the Factories Act, 1934 (XXV of 1934), makes provision;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 49G of the Factories Act, 1934 (XXV of 1934), the Governor is pleased to exempt the said Factory from the provisions of Chapter IVA of the said Act.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 2521Lab.—24th July 1948.—The following draft of an amendment which, in exercise of the power conferred by section 38 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor proposes to make in the Bengal Industrial Disputes Rules, 1947, published with notification No. 1869Com., dated the 28th April 1947, in the Calcutta Gazette Extraordinary, Part I, of the 28th April 1947, at page 417, is published for the information of all persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 19th August 1948, and any objection or suggestion with respect thereto which may be received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered:—

Draft amendments.

1. For rule 12 of the said rules substitute the following:—

> "12. Service of Summons, etc.—Any notice, summons, process or order issued by the Court or Board or Tribunal may be served in the following manner:—
> (a) It may be sent by registered post; or
> (b) where there are no Trade Unions among the workmen it may be served by affixing it on the notice board of the office of the employer at the address mentioned in the order of reference; or
> (c) if such notice, summons, process, or order is to be served within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court of Small Causes, Calcutta, it may be sent to the Registrar of that Court for service and in every other case it may be sent to the District Judge of the district in which the place of service is situated. The Registrar of the District Judge, as the case may be, shall, on receipt thereof, proceed as if it had been issued by his Court, and shall then return the same to the Court or Board or Tribunal together with the record (if any) of the proceedings with regard thereto. The notice, summons, process or order to be served shall be accompanied by a conveyance charge of annas 4 in respect of each."

2. After rule 15 of the said rules insert the following rule, nemely:—

> "15A. Procedure when both parties fail to appear.—If without good cause shown both the employers and the workmen fail to appear before the Court or Board or Tribunal after due service of notice, summons, process or order, the Court or Board may submit a suitable report to the appropriate Government, and the Tribunal may submit an award to the appropriate Government on the footing that the industrial dispute under reference is no longer in existence."
